NINETEEN-FOUR MORTARBOARD.

The Nineteen-Four Mortarboard appeared on March 20. Beside the usual lists of instructors and officers of the University, class histories, societies, and grinds, it contains several new features. The Board of Editors are Harriet Estelle Werts, Editor-in-Chief; Elsie Julia Cohen, Helen Erskine, Charlotte Boyd Fountain, Edith Joan Haas, Ethel Marjorie Hughan, Margaret Holmes Stone, Mauderine Swift Doty, Business Manager; Clara Marguerite Applegate, ex-officio, and Jean Dunbar Egleston, ex-officio.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The entertainment for members of the Young Women's Christian Association that was to be given on March 23d, has been postponed to March 30th on account of the Freshman Play.

The Choir of St. Bartholomew's Church has kindly offered its services for a concert of secular music to be given on April 30 at 8 o'clock in the theatre, for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A. It is hoped that many will avail themselves of this unusual opportunity of hearing a fine programme rendered by one of the first choral organizations in the city. Tickets will be one dollar each.

The American Committee is considering issuing a hymn-book for the use of conferences, conventions and in local associations. A short time ago a circular letter was sent to the various Y. W. C. A. chapters, requesting them to send in a list of the five hymns that were most sung and found of the greatest value in their meetings, and which they would like to see in the proposed hymn-book. Our Barnard Chapter sent in the following list: "How Firm a Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord," "Peace, Perfect Peace," "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "The Son of God Goes Forth to War."

TRUSTEES' MEETING.

At the meeting of the Trustees of Columbia University held March 2, 1903, Miss Gill was appointed Adviser to Women Graduate Students. This appointment was made upon a purely individual and personal basis, and is intended in no way to combine permanently the two positions of Adviser of Women Graduate Students and Dean of Barnard College.

Miss Gill will hold afternoon office hours at Earl Hall as may suit the convenience of the graduate women—probably from 4 to 5 o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The final arrangements will be announced as soon as the wishes of the women have been expressed.

1903 NEWS.

The Class Day Committee has decided that the competition for the Ivy Song shall be closed on April 15, 1903.

The lockers in the Senior Study have been apportioned alphabetically.

COLLEGE SETTLEMENT NEWS.

The Play.

There was a large audience to see "A Midsummer Night's Dream" presented by the Associate Clubs of the College Settlement on Friday evening, March 20. Owing to the distance which the players had to come there was a slight delay in starting, but after the curtain had once been drawn the performance proceeded without a hitch. It is seldom one has an opportunity to witness a play performed with so much spontaneity and good will. The actors entered heartily into their parts and carried them off so confidently that the necessary limitations of an amateur performance almost became attractions rather than hindrances to the general enjoyment. Where all was well done it is hard to discriminate, but no one could have seen the play without especially noting the work of The Hard Handed Men of Athens. Between the acts Mendelssohn's music was rendered sympathetically and acceptably by the College Settlement Orchestra.

It is too soon for perfectly accurate figures regarding the proceeds of the play, but the returns are roughly as given here. There were 185 tickets sold in college, 85 by Miss Lockwood, Graduate Elector, and in the settlement, and, it is thought, about 10 in the sub-chapters which have not yet been heard from. As the expenses were $90, this leaves a profit of something like $50 for the summer home at Mount Ivy.

The Chapter wishes to express its gratitude to all those who interested themselves in the sale of tickets or the arrangements as well as to those who bought tickets.

NOTICE.

On Friday afternoon, March 27, Katharine Goodyear, Student-elect, will take a party of girls to visit the settlement in Rivington street. Any girls who wish to go will be welcome. For information regarding the place and hour of meeting apply to Katharine Goodyear, '05.

BASKETBALL NEWS.

The Freshman basketball team will play the Sachs's School team on Thursday afternoon, March 26, at Dr. Savage's gymnasium on Fifty-ninth street. Since this gymnasium is not far from Barnard, it is hoped a great many students will be present at the game to cheer for 1906.

The basketball game between Barnard and Smith Alumnae will be played as scheduled, on Tuesday afternoon, March 24, in the Barnard gymnasium.

1906 NEWS.

On Friday, March 13th, there was a social meeting of the Class of 1906. The committee in charge had arranged a very original program. One of the chief features of the entertainment was the impersonation of the class mascot by one of the girls.

RECEPTION TO M. MABILLEAU.

The reception given by the Societe Francaise to M. Mabileau on March 18 was one of the most successful entertainments which has taken place at Barnard this year. The theatre was well filled, the audience consisting of both members of the college and their outside friends. In addition a number of alumnae were back. With M. Mabileau were M. George Cante, Secretary of the New York Branch of the Alliance Francaise, Professor Adolphe Cohn, and Professor Woodward, honorary president of the society. After a graceful and suggestive address on the education of French women and our relation to them, refreshments were served.

NEW PROFESSIONS.

At the lecture given on Saturday, March 14, 1903, under the auspices of the League for Political Education, to which Barnard students were specially invited, Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer gave a comprehensive classification of new professions for men and women. These new professions, Mrs. Spencer said, are a response of the philanthropic impulse to meet the new social conscience. According to her they may be divided into five large classes:

1. Departments of philanthropic work in which are included superintendents of schools for defective adults and children, officers of state and city boards of charity, and official investigation for the placing out of children.

2. Departments of expert personal service where there are new needs for secretaries and agents of public officials, of wealthy men and women and as rent collectors.

3. Economic and help inspectors in factories, industrial agents, and tenement house inspectors.

4. Departments of regulation of public morals. Mrs. Spencer laid special stress on the need of a "higher police" to look after the more extensive reforms in our prisons, courts, and educational systems.

5. New openings in the department of social secretary in our department stores.

Mrs. Spencer concluded by stating that there was great need for schools of special training for special work, and by expressing the hope that official positions would be held in future only by those who are on the civil service list.

ALUMNA TRUSTEE ELECTION.

Mrs. Frank Gilbert Bryson, '94, has been elected by the vote of the Associate Alumnae to the office of Alumna Trustee, to serve from May, 1903, until May, 1907. It is expected that the decision of the Alumnae will be confirmed by the Board of Trustees at their meeting on April 17th. Following such action, official announcement will be made by mail to the Associate Alumnae. The election was conducted by a committee appointed by the Directors, at the request of the Board of Trustees.

BARNARD BULLETIN,

BARNARD COLLEGE,

Broadway & 119th Street,

COLUMBIA UNIV., N. Y.

MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1903

In order to increase the live interest of the BULLETIN and to eliminate some of the less important information, we have decided to publish Alumnae news from time to time as it comes to us. Under this head are included items of information suitable for publication regarding any member of the alumnae, and we shall be grateful to anyone who knowing such personal news concerning past members of the college will let us have it. We shall on our part bind ourselves to restrict information of this sort within the limits desired by the giver and in every way endeavor to respect the wishes of those concerned. Barnard notes must be handed to one of the editors or signed by the name of the sender; otherwise they will receive no attention.

The Nineteen-Three Mortarboard is out and we welcome it for it is a distinct success. From the attractive cover of green Japanese grass-cloth stamped in gold with the Barnard Seal to the clever and varied illustrations, the appearance of the book is unusually artistic. Among the drawings we should like to call particular attention to the heading of the Greek Club, the class drawings, and the barnyard scene which precedes the Nineteen-Three class history. But no criticism of the book would be complete without mention of the graceful dedication and the two photographs of the Board of Editors—"Idealism" and "Realism"—which are its introduction to the reader.

On the literary side it is harder to discriminate. The points one sees are so apt that one is tempted to lay the blame of those which miss the mark on the limitations of personal experience. However, the numbers which demand special recognition are the "Catalogue," "The Idealists," by James Henry, "The Mysteries of Handwriting," "Fables of College," "Naughty-Four's Progress," "Toasts of Nineteen-Four," and "The Lost Leader."

The most noticeable thing about the Mortarboard as a whole is its originality. So far as possible traditional features have been omitted and the book is full of new ideas originally worked out. It is significant that this Mortarboard appeared on the very day of the year when Nineteen-Three brought out its annual. Nineteen-Three had set a high standard but there need be no hanging of heads in the Class of Nineteen-Four.

We learn with great pleasure that, in the new schedule of lectures for future academic years, the hour from 12:30 to 1:30 is left free from lectures and laboratory work. Under our present system of lectures, there is no time, until very late in the afternoon, when a majority of the students can be assembled. Therefore, it is becoming more and more difficult, and at times even impossible, to obtain a quorum for a meeting of a society, of a class, or of the undergraduate association. However, under the new schedule, with an hour free for all students in the middle of the day, it seems that there should be no trouble in obtaining a quorum for any meeting. It will also be less difficult for the students to attend Chapel. This year, on Tuesdays and Fridays, at 12:30, there are several large classes, so that many girls find it impossible to be present. One objection suggests itself. With the hour from 12:30 to 1:30 free from lectures and laboratory work, it is probable that most students will lunch at that time, and thus the dining-rooms will be greatly crowded. However, a remedy may possibly be found for this inconvenience, and, when we consider the many advantages to be derived from the innovation, this one disadvantage seems of little importance. We are sure that this new arrangement will be gladly welcomed by the students.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Although we are glad to publish letters signed by their writers, we are not responsible for the sentiments expressed. Unsigned letters will receive no attention.

To the Editors of the BULLETIN:

Last week you published in one of your editorials a criticism of several Barnard societies, among which was the Barnard Botanical Club. This club is composed mainly of graduates, not of undergraduates, and therefore we have little to do with the management. The club holds four meetings each year according to its constitution. One very entertaining meeting has already been held, and the social which comes next was postponed out of respect to Miss Dunn. It is also obvious that a club composed largely of busy people cannot hold as frequent gatherings as one in which all the members are college students and can more easily find a time and place of meeting. If the college is not cognizant of the work of the club, the Barnard Botanical Department is aware of the earnest work it is doing.

OPENING EXERCISES NEXT AUTUMN.

Beginning with next autumn, the opening of each academic year will be marked with formal exercises. As it is now planned, there will be held a short religious service followed by a brief address of welcome by the President, and a more formal address by some member of the faculty designated for that purpose. Separate exercises for the Medical School will be held on the day after those held for the whole University.

Next fall the exercises at Morningside Heights will be held in the largest auditorium at 3 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, September 23. The Trustees of the University and the members of the faculty will attend the opening exercises in academic dress. The formal address will be delivered by Professor Henry Thurston Peck, of the chair of Latin Language and Literature, on a subject hereafter to be announced.

150TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION.

The Trustees and the University Council have taken formal action in regard to the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the granting of the original charter to Kings College, which celebration will take place on October 31, 1904. The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of three of the Trustees and five representatives of the University Council appointed by the President. The members of the committee are: George L. Rives, chairman of the Board of Trustees; John B. Pine, clerk of the Board of Trustees; President Butler, Dean Van Amringe and Professors Harry Thurston Peck, Monroe Smith and R. S. Woodward.

REQUIREMENTS FOR SUMMER SCHOOL.

The Trustees of the University have finally decided about the work at the Columbia Summer School. Through summer work, no student can get credit for more than three points. All the extension courses which the University will recognize must be given under University supervision, and must be integral parts of courses given in the University. A residence of not less than one academic year is required for the degree of B.A. or B.S., and during this year, not less than twelve points must be obtained.

CHANGE IN THE LECTURE HOURS.

Upon the request of the University Council, the Faculties of the University have arranged that, in the schedule of exercises for future academic years, the hour from 12:30 to 1:30 daily shall be left free from all lectures, class-room exercises and laboratory work.
