GREEK GAMES.

Amid much enthusiasm and class spirit, the Greek games between Sophomores and Freshmen were held in the theatre on Wednesday afternoon, March 29. ceremonies began with an invocation to the gods by the sophmore president. Let were then drawn from an urn by the presidents of the two classes, and the omens were cast in favor of 1908.

The first contest of the afternoon was in epic poetry. Two poems from each class were read. The judges awarded first place to Gertrude Cannon, 1907, second place to Agnes Miller, 1908.

A running broad jump was next on the program. This was won by Rmily Mc-Ewan, 1907; second, Nana Moste, 1908.

In the wrestling, the contestants were not very well matched, and none of the matches lasted for more than a few moments. First and second place were won by Agnes Ernst and Juliet Ponits, both of

Perhaps the most interesting, because the most exciting event of the afternoon, was the running high jump. Rleanor Hunsdon, 1908, won, reaching 3 ft. 8 ins.;

Cora Bennett, 1907, was second. The contest in quoits was not very satisfactory. A wooden peg and tope rings were used. No one succeeded in ringing the peg, and owing to the slippery floor the rings slid far away from the spot where they first landed. First place in quoits was awarded to Eva Johnson, 1908; secoud place to Fannie MacLane, 1907.

After the quoits came archery, in which Anne Carroll, 1907, won. Eva Johnson, 1908, came second.

The last event was a tug-of-war. At first the freshmen seemed stronger, but soon began to yield to their opponents who won, owing to superior weight, and larger numbers.

First and second place, in any event, counted five and three points. Laurel wreaths tied with class colors, awarded to the victors in each event. The class of 1907 won the games, gaining 37 out of a total of 56 points.

The judges for the epic poetry were Miss Gildersleeve, Miss Hirst and Miss Loomis. For all other events the judges were Elsa Alsberg, 1902; Edith Handy, 1905, and Elizabeth Bradford, 1906.

The amusing feature of the afternoon was the presence of 1907's class mascot, a live rooster, which was kept on the stage throughout most of the games.

Outsiders and upper classmen were invited to view the games from the gallery. Seniors and juniors took up positions on opposite sides of the gallery. They draped the railing with flags, and aroused considerable enthusiasm by singing and cheering their sister classes

RALLY.

Other colleges have semetime during the Spring an entertainment to get the girls interested in Silver Bay. This is usually in the form of a social afternoon, a good time together, when some well-known speakers address the girls on the many-sided importance of the Conference and the great influence it has on the College and the individual.

The Silver Bay Committee is planning such a Rally for Barnard, to be held on Friday, April 7, from 3.30 to 6 o'clock. Every girl is urged to come. Even if she has no great personal interest in the Conference she can try to interest her friends so that, for the honor of Barnard, the delegation this year will be a strong one.

Miss Janet A. McCook will speak on the Intercollegiate Importance of Silver Bay, and Agnes L. Durant will present another phase.

LOAN EXHIBITION OF RARE PRINTS.

The rare manuscripts, prints and pamphlets in the collection loaned by Mr. E. B. Holden, of this city, and now on view in room 307 of the Columbia Library, are well worth a visit. Even if one has time only for a hasty look, they will amply repay the slight trouble necessary.

In production, chiefly American, in subject-matter and interest they are entirely so. Most of them pertain to matters of public interest during the Revolutionary period, with which all Americans are familiar, so that it needs no great erudition to appreciate the "cartoons," as some of them may be called. An especially interesting cut of this type shows the figure of a woman with an enormous headdress. A glance at the title; "Bunker Hill America's Headdress." reveals the fact that the immense pile of hair is arranged with the outlines of that

There are included in the collection a number of original autograph letters from notabilities whose names have been familiar to all since childhood. Perhaps the most live feeling is roused by the letter from Lord Fairfax authorizing Washington to make a certain survey, and by the plot and notes for a survey which Washington made sometime during his youth.

historic mound. The significance at once becomes obvious.

Several copies of the New York Mercurv are to be seen, one of which attracts special attention. It is the issue of Monday, June 3, 1754, which contains an advertisement of the opening of King's College. Of greater national importance are the minatures and medals, nearly all bearing ing the familiar likenesses of old patriots. dark with age, and the same painter's sketch for his "Battle of Bunker Hill." are especially precious, as early products of American genius.

Besides the article mentioned, which happened to strike the fancy of one observers there are not only some very famous proc lamations, such as the Boston Port Bill. and the Stamp Act, but many other object. equally worthy of attention, that are here passed over in silence.

GREEK GAMES.

After the games, lemonade and cake, termed nectar and ambrosia, were served.

The Sophomores celebrated their victory the following day from 12:30 to 1:30. They marched through the college halls and about Milbank Quadrangle, singing, cheering, and carrying trophies of their triumph.

STUDENTS' AID COMMITTEE.

As it is only a few years ago that the Alumnæ began to loan this money, little has as yet been paid back, and much cannot be expected before 1907. It is estimated that if enough money could be raised to support the work till 1907 from that time on the returns would be enough to carry on the work, and therefore the Committee is making every effort ro obtain the necessary money. If this amount were raised, the Alumnæ would not have to subscribe each year and the association could turn its efforts to other objects.
