SENIOR THESIS CELEBRATION.

Graduation Theses were due on Monday, April 3, at four o'clock. About half-past four the senior class assembled in the theater to triumph over the completion of their Theses.

A potato race and other games were played for about an hour, then the class formed in procession, marched around the building singing class songs written for the occasion, then had several pictures taken in front of the college by one of the members of the class. Miss Evelyn Goodyear was a welcome guest at the party.

At six o'clock the class marched to the lunch room, where a five course dinner was served. Between the courses several impromptu speeches were given, and a number of members of 1905, among them Annie Fisher, Florence Nye, Alice Smith, Margie Hoffman, Laura Parker and Elizabeth Boorman entertained the class with songs.

After dinner was over the procession again formed and marched first through the entire building, then to the theatre. The celebration ended about 8:30 with a Virginia reel.

The Seniors were glad to have Elan Alsborg, '02, present with them during the afternoon and evening, as guest of honor.

PLANS FOR FIELD DAY.

The date for Field Day has been changed from April 17 to May 1.

The events are to consist of a basketball game, baseball throw, running high jump, standing broad jump, free throw for basket, relay race and baseball game. Two preliminary basketball games will be played before Field Day between Freshman and Sophomore, and between Junior and Senior teams. The final match will be played on Field Day between the two winning teams.

In the baseball game Juniors and Seniors will play against Freshmen and Sophomores.

The Alumnae Committee on undergraduate athletics, has been asked to assist in judging the games.

Students are to wear caps and gowns as usual, and are to be requested to wear white shirt waists and skirts, with ribbons of their class colors.

UNIVERSITY NEWS.

President Butler and Miss Gill will attend the inauguration of Dr. Edwin Anderson Alderman as first president of the University of Virginia, on April 13th. President Butler made the address when Dr. Alderman was inaugurated President of the University of North Carolina, in 1866 and President of Fulane in 1900.

BASKET BALL GAME.

A practice game of basketball was played on Wednesday afternoon, April 5, between the college team and the freshmen. The college team won by a score of 7 to 3. The line-up was as follows:

College	Position	Freshman
C. Dorrian, '05	Forward	M. Maxim
H. Cooley, '05	Forward	A. Miller
A. Fisher, '05	Centre	H. Loeb
I. Seligman, '05	Guard	F. Martin
A. Reiley, '05	Guard	J. Prahl

In the second half Abigail Talbot and Florence Sammett took the places of Annie Fisher and Agnes Miller respectively.

Two field goals and one foul goal were thrown by Helen Cooley, two foul goals by Annie Fisher. For the freshmen, Mary Maxim threw one, Helen Loeb two foul goals.

The playing on both sides showed lack of team work, but a number of the players did good work individually. To secure more unified playing, it will be necessary for members of both teams to attend practice regularly.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Clara de Lisa Bergs '98, will sail for Europe on Tuesday, April 4, for a five months' tour.

Mary L. Eaton, '01, has received the appointment of secretary to the American Girls' club at Paris.

Frances E. Berkley, '02, now assistant in English at Mount Holyoke College, has been appointed an instructor in English at the University of Wisconsin.

Katharine S. Doty, '04, will teach next year in the Veltin School, New York City.

Marian E. Latham, '03, has been appointed assistant in the Department of Botany.

1907.

At the regular meeting of the class of 1907, held on Thursday, April 6 the following elections were made:—President, Jean Disbrow; Vice President, Jessie Patterson Cooke; Recording Secretary, Emily MacEwan; Corresponding Secretary, Sophie Woodman; Treasurer, Helen Goodhart; Historian, Gertrude Cannon; Editor in-chief of the Mortarboard Juliet Stuart Points; Business Manager, Katherine Louise Rapp. The remaining members of the editorial staff of the Mortarboard will be elected on Thursday, April 13, at 12:20.

The Class of 1907 will entertain the seniors on Friday, April 14, at 3:30 in the theatre.

BARNARD UNION ELECTIONS.

On April 3d and 4th the nominations for the election of officers of the Barnard Union were held with the following result:

Graduate President—Emilie Hutchinson, '05 and Helen Cooley, '05.

Undergraduate President—Alice Haskell, '06 and Belle Russell, '06.

First Vice-President—Evangeline Cole, '07 and Agnes Ernest, '07.

Second Vice-President—Agnes Miller, '08 and Elizabeth Fox, '08.

Elizabeth Fox, '08.

Secretary—Juliet Points, '07 and Lottie Oesterlein, '07.

Treasurer—Clarette Armstrong, '08 and Elizabeth Fox, '08.

Graduate Editor—Hope Purdon, '05 and Louise Peters, '04.

Undergraduate Editor—Dorothy Brewster, '06 and Faith Chipperfield, '06.

Executive Committee—Faith Chipperfield, '06; Edith Somborn, '06; Belle Russell, '06; Juliet Points, '07; Kathleen Hurty, '07.

The elections will be held on Tuesday, April 11, from 9:30 to 11:30 and from 12:30 to 2:30, and on Wednesday, April 12, from 9:30 to 11:30 and from 12:30 to 1:30.

~~The student will be permitted to vote until she has paid her dues.~~

Owing to the form of the Constitution of the Union, some proposed amendments have been necessarily deferred till after the elections. Among these are changes in the Editorial Board of the Supplement. It has been proposed to substitute a board of five for the present graduate and undergraduate editors. The proposed board consists of an editor-in-chief who shall be an undergraduate, two other literary editors, one of whom shall be an alumna and one an undergraduate; a business manager and an assistant business manager who shall be undergraduates.

It is important that the members of the Union should not elect to other offices the girls who are specially fitted for positions on the Board of Editors.

On Wednesday, April 12th, at 3:30, the Union will hold its regular meeting in the Theatre, and will vote on the amendments proposed on March 22d, which appeared in last week's Bulletin. Members are requested to attend promptly, so that the business may be finished before four o'clock. At that time, Mr. Richard Watson Gilder, editor of the Century, will deliver a lecture on "The Brownings: A Romance of the Nineteenth Century." All are cordially invited to be present.

LECTURE BY PROF. NEILSON.

On Friday afternoon, March 31, Professor William A. Neilson of the English Department lectured before the Woman's Graduate Club on "Ballads and Ballad Problems." An informal reception followed.

MONDAY, APRIL 10,

For the past month the Bulletin has not appeared on time. Nobody regrets this more than we do, yet we do not like to make excuses. Every week something extraordinary happens which upsets our carefully laid plans. Sometimes an over-worked senior editor forgets to write an editorial. She has spent such energy on her thesis that she fears penman's paralysis. Then again so much leaded type is required that the printer cannot manage the work in the allotted time. The reasons for the various delays are real enough, but nevertheless not adequate, we admit. In the future we will try to reform.

DEBATING SECTION OF BARNARD UNION.

On April 3 there was a debate on the following subject:—Resolved, that State Boards of Arbitration with compulsory powers should be appointed to settle disputes between employers and employees. The affirmative was upheld by Marjorie F. Brown, '06, and Clara Schmidt, '06; the negative by Rosa Fried, '06, and Lucie Mayo-Smith, '06. The affirmative won.

C. S. M. A

There will be an important meeting of the C. S. M. A. on Monday, April 10, at 12 20 in Room 215. The business of the meeting is the election of officers.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Some time ago the Committee on Undergraduate Athletics of the Barnard Alumnae Association wrote to the members of 1905, asking how the present state of their health compared with that when they entered college, and to what they attributed any change which might have taken place. The purpose of these questions was to find out how the physical condition of Barnard students compares with that of students at the other leading American colleges for women, and should the comparison prove unfavorable, to consider ways of making up the deficiency.

Unfortunately, the statistics so far received are not very encouraging. A little more than half the seniors have answered. Nearly half of these say that their health seems to be the same; next come those who have fallen off since entering college, while the smallest group of all is that which can report an improvement. Yet it is the boast of colleges such as Vassar, Bryn Mawr and Smith, that their seniors far surpass their freshmen in health and strength, and carry to whatever life may follow their graduation, an equipment as far above the average physically as it is mentally. Nor is this an idle boast, but one borne out by statistics. It is, of course, true that the Barnard curriculum is particularly exacting and the conditions of life in New York particularly unfavorable to physical development, but the last year or two has seen an increase in opportunities for exercise and recreation open to our students, which justifies the belief that, if proper use be made of these facilities, the Barnard student ought soon to be able to hold her own, physically as well as intellectually, with her sisters from the out-of-town colleges.

There are more reasons than pride in one's own Alma Mater to make such a state of affairs desirable. The higher education of women is still in many quarters considered an experiment, and many are its opponents, lying in wait to pounce on any luckless girl or group of girls who may be made to serve as a "horrible example." To be thus forced to bear witness against one's faith is surely a lot that anyone would gladly escape.

In view of all this, those seniors who have not yet answered questions sent them are urged to do so as soon as possible, that the committee may shape its course from a full knowledge of the facts in the case. The questions are brief, and ought not to be difficult to answer, but are perhaps of vital importance to the welfare of our college.

FLORENCE THEODORA BALDWIN,
Chairman, Committee on Undergraduate Athletics.

1905.

At the regular April meeting of the senior class held April 6, the following graduate officers were elected to serve for a term of five years. President, Frances Hope Purdon; Secretary-Treasurer, Helen W. Cooley, three other members of the Executive Committee, Margaret Byrne, Emilie Hutchinson and Cecil Dorrian.

BARNARD BOTANICAL CLUB.

The Barnard Botanical Club will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. A. B. Hepburn, 205 West 57th Street, on Saturday afternoon, April 15, at four o'clock.

The club will be addressed by Miss May M. Brackett, Barnard, '99; Subject, "A Summer at the Tropical station of the New York Botanical Garden at Chinchona, Jamaica, illustrated by lantern slides."

Those interested in botanical subjects are cordially invited to be present.

MARGARET HOLMES STONE, Secretary.

TEACHERS COLLEGE.

The difficulty of judging in a large institution the fitness of advanced students for receiving the degree of Doctor of Philosophy has been so largely removed by a plan inaugurated during the present year that this will be made a permanent part of the College's procedure, and will probably be adopted elsewhere. It consists, in addition to the usual requirements of class work, original investigation, and final and oral examinations, of requiring, in the autumn of the year in which the degree is desired, written examinations, extending over several days, and covering both the specific field of each student's research and the general subjects of his entire study.

The cost of living in New York has usually been considered a serious offset to the city's superior advantages for students. Recent investigation by the College has shown that, while the average cost is somewhat above that in other cities, it is possible for students, with care, to bring the amount even below the average elsewhere. Estimates based on statements of actual expenditures during the past year show that $375.00 may be made to cover all expenses of College charges—about $160.00; board for 35 weeks, $112.00; lodging for 38 weeks, $52.00; laundry, $16.00; and books, stationery and incidentals, $35.00. $600.00 is a liberal allowance.

SOUTHERN CLUB.

There will be a social meeting of the Southern Club on Thursday, April 13, at 4:30 in Earl Hall. All members of the University are cordially invited to be present.
