Inauguration Ceremonies.

The installation of Miss Gill, the new Dean of Barnard College, will take place on Wednesday afternoon, May 1st, at 3:30 o'clock, in the Barnard College Theatre. Invitations will be limited to the Trustees and Associate Members of Barnard College, to the Faculty and students of Barnard College, to the Trustees of the Columbia University Corporation and of Teachers' College, and to the University Council.

The exercises will be opened with prayer, and at the end a benediction will be pronounced. Mr. Hewitt, as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Barnard College, will preside, and will make a few remarks on behalf of the Board. He will be followed by other speakers, in the following order:

The President of the University.

The Acting Dean as the representative of the Faculty.

A representative of the students, to be named by them, who will make an address of welcome in their behalf.

A representative of the Alumnae Association.

Miss Gill.

After the ceremonies tea will be served in the College Parlor and the Trustees' Room, and those who wish may have the opportunity to be presented to the new dean.

It is hoped, also, that the Barnard chorus and the students at large will be able to sing two or three songs during the exercises.

A special meeting of the Undergraduate Association will be held at 12:20 o'clock punctually, Thursday, March 21st, to choose a representative for the occasion.

Dean Robinson will excuse all students from classes for fifteen minutes, in order that they may attend this meeting.

Smith College Alumnae 6, Barnard College 14.

On Monday afternoon, March 11th, the Barnard Basket-Ball Team played a match game against the Smith Alumnae Team in the Barnard Gymnasium. During the first half, the visitors were clearly outplayed, the score being: Smith, 2; Barnard, 10.

But in the second half, Smith did some clever passing and swift playing, the result being two goals for each team.

The final score was: Barnard, 14; Smith Alumnae, 6. The line-up for Smith was as follows: Forwards, the Misses Sherrill and Hall; guards, the Misses Smith and Coyle; center, Miss James. The Barnard line-up was as follows: Forwards, the Misses Budd and Kroeber; guards, the Misses Lyon and Alsberg; center, Miss Ware.

New Study Rooms.

The Trustees have decided to open the rooms which formerly were the dean's apartments, to the undergraduates, for purposes of rest and study.

Just when this change will take place is not definitely known.

Columbia vs. French Cadets.

At the last meeting of the Athletic Committee of Columbia University, Professor Woodberry submitted plans for the arrangement of a gymnastic contest between the naval cadets of a French ship, which is to be stationed on the Hudson, and the students of the University. At the meet, which is to be held in the Columbia Gymnasium about the middle of April, addresses will be made by President Low and by the French Ambassador, who, it is said, is coming from Washington for the occasion. The contest will be followed by a ball.

Women's Graduate Club Reception.

At the reception of the Graduate Club of Columbia University, held on Thursday afternoon, March 13th, the guest of honor, President Low, delivered an informal address on "The Graduates of Columbia University." Mr. Low gave a humorous and interesting account of Columbia as it was from 1866-1870, when he was a student there, and then proceeded to trace the development and expansion of the College since that day. He dwelt particularly on the great advantages to students, which have resulted from the opening of graduate courses, the enlargement of the corps of instructors, and the consequent increase of the scope of their work.

In conclusion, he stated that students must recognize the fact that work ought not to be pursued in college indefinitely, for those who spend too much time in the acquisition of learning as a preparation for life might "go stale," as will the athlete who overtrains for a contest.

After the talk tea was served, and the guests enjoyed the opportunity of meeting President Low.

Columbia Comic Paper.

A number of Columbia students, desiring to have a college comic paper somewhat like those of other prominent universities, have decided to edit such a paper. Mr. W. B. Schoemaker, 1902, was chosen temporary business manager, so that the first issue might appear in April.

This paper will be called the Columbia Jester. Those interested in the paper are: W. N. Grace, 1901, who has been selected editor-in-chief; K. Durham, 1901; R. Kelley, 1902; W. P. S. Earl, 1904; B. M. L. Ernst, 1902; H. M. Cane, 1903; W. J. Heilmann, 1901.

Class-Day Officers Elected.

The class of 1901, at its meeting on Tuesday, March 12th, elected officers for their Class-Day exercises in June. Those elected were: Miss Wendt, presentation orator; Miss Sanville, class prophet; Miss McKim, valedictorian, and Miss Eaton, statistician.

A Poem to the Deutscher Kreis.

When, on December 20th, the Deutscher Kreis gave an entertainment to the Deutscher Verein. Mr. Tombo addressed the poem printed below to the hostesses.

This song will be sung by members of the Deutscher Kreis to the tune of "Die Lorelei."

Am hohen Hudsonstrande,
Da steht ein Schloss von Stein,
Wie in dem ganzen Lande,
Kein schoeneres mochte sein.

Dies Schloss so stolz zu schauen,
Es herrscht kein Koenig drin,
Es ist ein College fuer Frauen,
Und Koenig is der Dean.

Hier thut man nicht hofiren,
Und preist der Schoenheit Pracht,
Hier heisst es nur sturdiren,
Und Wissen ist hier Macht.

Studentinnen die Menge,
Der Facultaeten Zier,
In hastigem Gedraenge,
Zieh'n sie von Thuer zu Thuer.

Hier Earle und Trent zu hoeren,
Und dort Professor Price;
Auf Calvin Thomas schw hoeren,
Wird stets der Deutscher Kreis.

Habt Dank, des Kreises Glieder;
Dass deutschen Sinn ihr pflegt
Und singet deutsche Lieder
Und deutsche Sitte flegt.

Habt Dank fuer eure Guete,
Dass Ihr uns ludet ein
In gastlichem Gemuethe
Zu traulichem Verein.

Columbias Soehne kamen
Gar gern auf euer Geheiss
Und rufen: Hoch die Damen,
Hoch Barnard's Deutscher Kreis!

On Tuesday, March 5th, when the minor parts in the college play were to be distributed, so few candidates were present that the trials had to be postponed until the following Thursday.

Minor Parts in the Play.

The following students have had minor parts assigned them in the college play: Miss Eaton, 1901; Miss Berry, 1901; Miss Heughan, 1904; Miss Schuyler, 1901; Miss Alsberg, 1902, and two or three others. Miss Ware, 1903, has been assigned the rôle of Tony Lumpkin.

BARNARD BULLETIN,
BARNARD COLLEGE,
COLUMBIA UNIV., N. Y.

MONDAY, MARCH 18, 1901.

The reception of Miss Gill at Barnard will be one of the most important affairs in which the student body has ever taken part. Both for this reason, and also that we may do ourselves credit before the new dean, and before the Trustees and Faculty, we should make every effort in our power to have the inauguration ceremonies as successful as possible.

Toward this end it is necessary that every member of the chorus shall attend rehearsals regularly. For, if it is to sing on May 1st, it must do so to the best of its ability.

Furthermore, it is important that we shall elect, at the meeting of the Undergraduate Association on Thursday, a really able and representative student, who shall, according to the present Dean's request, make the address on behalf of the student body.

Therefore, we must all be at the meeting, especially as our absence from lectures at the time it is held will be excused.

The song "Morningside," while it is very pretty and acceptable, yet it is not sufficiently general, nor is it enough of a specifically undergraduate song, to make it suitable to be sung at all college functions.

It is not, for instance, the exact thing wanted for singing at the new Dean's advent. And, as Professor Robinson would like the chorus to sing on that occasion, it is high time that we got another song.

We have had good proofs of the fact that there are those among us who have sufficient poetic instinct to write another song, if they only had energy, coupled with sufficient enthusiasm. Those who have the poetic gift should remember that any poem they may write, and which is accepted as the college lyric, is destined to a longer and more appreciative existence than if it were merely printed in one number of a university periodical, or even a regular magazine. The knowledge that they may thus never be forgotten by the undergraduates ought to be sufficient inducement to urge our poets to write another college song, which shall, however, be generally applicable.

There has lately been much annoyance felt by students and instructors who are busy in the rooms on the third floor, left end of the hall. Girls passing through Milbank Hall to and from the dormitories, have evidently forgotten that classes are being conducted while they noisily go by the rooms. Instructors have had to stop lecturing until the noise of talking and laughing in the hall has stopped. This is especially annoying when the doors are open for the sake of ventilation.

Any student, we feel sure, as soon as she realizes that she is perhaps disturbing classes, when she laughs and talks in the hall, will correct this annoyance as far as she is able.

In speaking of athletics, the question of a "college yell" naturally comes to one's mind. We have, to be sure, two that the Basket-Ball Club has used from mere necessity, at match games. But there is no reason why Barnard shall not have a recognized "college yell," which every one, not merely one organization, shall know.

So we hope that some energetic student will compose a suitable verse which the Executive Committee may be willing to present to the Undergraduate Association for adoption.

It is truly a matter of much congratulation, on the part of the students, that the Dean's apartments are going to be turned over for their use. We have felt so crowded and inconvenienced this year, with the increased growth of the College, that the prospects of room adequate for study is to be hailed with enthusiasm.

As our need is really very great, the sooner that the rooms are given us the better it will be. We earnestly hope that the Trustees will place them at our disposal shortly.

Social Meeting of 1904.

A social meeting, in the form of a Book Party, was held by the class of 1904, on Friday, March 8th, in the Theatre. The girls who represented the various books stepped out one by one before the audience, and guesses were made as to their identity. Miss Nutt, who had the largest number of correct guesses, received a pretty and appropriate prize. After refreshments were served, dancing filled the remainder of the afternoon.

Notice

For the remainder of the University year one of the bulletin-boards in the catalogue-corridor of the Library will be reserved for notices of educational and other positions open to Columbia graduates and students.

For details concerning the positions posted, those interested should consult the Librarian, between the hours of 10 and 12, each week-day except Saturday.

The Chinese.

Our conception of the word "missionary" has been greatly, if not radically, changed since Mrs. J. Howard Taylor addressed us on Tuesday, March 12th. Mrs. Taylor is of English birth, a woman of culture, and a cousin of Edward Fitzgerald, the translator of the Rubayat. Preeminently, however, she is a Christian, to whose spiritual life the Christ is a reality. At chapel, at 4.30 and at 7.30 o'clock, we had the privilege of hearing of her experience in China. In the morning she explained that the essential difference between Christ and all other philosophers consisted in the fact that, instead of offering to men a system of ethics alone, he offered himself. It was "Come unto me," and "I am the living bread." The ideal set forth by Confucius no Chinaman attempts to reach, for he realizes that the power to embody it in his own life is not to be obtained. For this reason do the Chinese, especially the poor and suffering, gladly accept the Teacher who gives both ideals and power to overcome in the midst of unfavorable environment.

The afternoon talk described the journey from Shanghai to the interior of China, where the China Inland Mission is established. The adoption of Chinese customs, demon-possession and its remarkable cures by the faith of Chinese converts, experiences of her husband, Dr. Taylor, ideas of the Chinese concerning the "foreign devils," were some of the things which Mrs. Taylor touched upon.

In the evening the subject was "The Educated Class of China—the Confucian Gentleman." The life of one of these who became a convert to Christianity, Mrs. Taylor has written. Those who could meet death with joy must, in the Chinese estimation, possess some secret worth knowing and accepting.

One fact Mrs. Taylor emphasized particularly: The women in China are not unlike the present Empress Dowager. They rule the men, even if it be behind the scenes.

After each talk there was impressed upon us the privilege and necessity, if any influence for good was to be exerted, of becoming conscious of the reality of Christ, and as Miss Shearman, at the Mission Study Class next morning said: "Mrs. Taylor made us feel that we not only ought to do more for missions, but that we want to."

Notice.

All graduate students, both men and women, are cordially invited to be present at a series of talks arranged by the Woman's Graduate Club of Columbia University, on topics interesting to graduates. These will take place in Room 211 West Hall, at 4.30 o'clock, on the following dates:

March 27th—"The Association of American Universities and Graduate Work," Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler.

April 3rd—"Should Graduate Students go Abroad?" Professor James H. Robinson.

April 24th—"Opportunities for Graduate Students," Dr. James H. Canfield.

The dates and subjects for the last meetings will be announced later.

1904 Notes.

The Freshman Entertainment Committee for the second half-year is as follows: Miss Wick, Chairman, Miss Bacon, Miss Beifeld, Miss McCormick, Miss Lena Miller.

Undergraduate Notes.

A word of explanation in regard to the vote taken on the college pin design is necessary. This vote, at the last meeting, did not mean that the old idea of the Barnard seal in combination with the University colors, is to be rejected. But it simply meant that the Pin Committee is to get a design with the simple shield only, before the final decision is made.

No notices except those of the Undergraduate Association may be placed in the entrance of Milbank Hall. All class and society notices must be placed on the bulletin boards.

Barnard Chorus Notes.

In order that the singing may be as hearty as possible at the installation of the new Dean, all students are invited to be present at the coming chorus rehearsals, Tuesdays at 2.30 o'clock, in the Theatre. Several dates will be arranged later for special rehearsals, at which all are urged to attend.

Columbia University in the City of New York.

Columbia University includes both a college and a university in the strict sense of the word. The college is Columbia College, founded in 1754 as King's College. The university consists of the Faculties of Law, Medicine, Philosophy, Political Science, Pure Science and Applied Science.

The point of contact between the college and university is the senior year of the college, during which year students in the college pursue their studies, with the consent of the college faculty under one or more of the faculties of the university.

Barnard College, a college for women, is financially, a separate corporation; but educationally, is a part of the system of Columbia University.

Teachers College, a professional school for teachers, is also, financially, a separate corporation; and also educationally, a part of the system of Columbia University.

Each college and school is under the charge of its own faculty, except that the Schools of Mines, Chemistry, Engineering and Architecture are all under the charge of the Faculty of Applied Science.

For the care and advancement of the general interests of the university educational system, as a whole, a Council has been established, which is representative of all the corporations concerned.

I. THE COLLEGES.

Columbia College offers for men a course of four years, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Candidates for admission to the college must be at least fifteen years of age, and pass an examination on prescribed subjects, the particulars concerning which may be found in the annual Circular of Information.

Barnard College, founded in 1889, offers for women a course of four years, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Candidates for admission to the college must be at least fifteen years of age, and pass an examination on prescribed subjects, the particulars concerning which may be found in the annual Circular of Information.

II. THE UNIVERSITY.

In a technical sense, the Faculties of Law, Medicine, Philosophy, Political Science, Pure Science, and Applied Science, taken together constitute the university. These faculties offer advanced courses of study and investigation, respectively, in (a) private or municipal law, (b) medicine, (c) philosophy, philology, and letters, (d) history, economics, and public law (e) mathematics and natural science, and (f) applied science. Courses of study under all of these faculties are open to members of the senior class in Columbia College. Certain courses under the non-professional faculties are open to women who have taken the first degree. These courses lead, through the Bachelor's degree, to the university degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy. The degree of Master of Laws is also conferred for advanced work in law done under the Faculties of Law and Political Science together.

III. THE PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS.

The Faculties of Law, Medicine, and Applied Science, conduct respectively the professional schools of Law, Medicine, Mines, Chemistry, Engineering, and Architecture, to which students are

1. The SCHOOL OF LAW, established in 1858, offers a course of three years, in the principles and practice of private and public law, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

2. The COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, founded in 1807, offers a course of four years, in the principles and practice of medicine and surgery, leading to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

3. The SCHOOL OF MINES, established in 1864, offers courses of study, each of four years, leading to a professional degree, in mining engineering and in metallurgy.

4. The SCHOOLS OF CHEMISTRY, ENGINEERING, AND ARCHITECTURE, set off from the School of Mines in 1896, offer respectively, courses of study, each of four years, leading to an appropriate professional degree, in analytical and applied chemistry; in civil, sanitary, electrical, and mechanical engineering; and in architecture.

5. TEACHERS' COLLEGE, founded in 1888 and chartered in 1889, was included in the university system in 1898.
