President Butler's Inauguration

A committee representing Barnard at the Student Day Celebration of President Butler's inauguration consists of Miss Allen, 1902, Miss Elizabeth Allen, 1902, and Miss Helen Rogers, 1903. So little more than a general scheme of entertainments has been arranged. On Thursday evening, April 17th, a dance for the whole University will take place in Columbia Gymnasium. Notice of the method of application for cards of admission to the dance will be given later. Friday afternoon, April 18th, will be given over to athletics. There will probably be track events in South field and a baseball game. This will be followed by a musical evening in the Gymnasium. It is expected that President Butler will be present throughout the student celebration. The official inauguration ceremonies will take place on Saturday, April 19th.

Departmental Changes

Consequent upon the election of Professor Butler to the Presidency and upon the death of Professor Mayo-Smith, various changes have been made in the departments of Philosophy and Economics.

The Department of Education is set off from the old Department of Philosophy and Education, and becomes a separate department of the University. Teachers' College is recognized as the Department of Education, with Dean Russell at its head. The courses in philosophy, which have hitherto been given by Professor Butler, will be given by Professor Woodbridge, who has recently been appointed to the Professorship of Philosophy at Columbia.

President Butler will continue to meet the advanced students in Philosophy and Education. For 1902-1903 he offers one graduate course and a seminar. The graduate course, which is announced in the Teachers' College Circular as Education 102, will be designated in the announcement of the division of Philosophy and Psychology as Philosophy 12. It will be an advanced course open to graduate students only.

The undergraduate work in Political Economy will be considerably extended next year. Professor Henry L. Moore will come from Bryn Mawr to take charge of the department at Barnard.

Choir Notes

Effort is being made to establish a chapel choir. There are to be two divisions: the Tuesday division will meet at the Theatre for practise every Thursday at 7:30 o'clock; the Friday division will meet Wednesday at the same hour. As there has been very much needed, it is hoped that all who can assist in such an enterprise will join.

China and Chinese Civilization

The third lecture on China and Chinese civilization was delivered in the Assembly Room of Earl Hall, Monday, March 10th, by Hubert Allen Giles. Professor Giles gave a most interesting and vivid account of "Democratic China." He spoke in detail of the Provincial Government, the circuits, the magistracies, the head boroughs, the viceroys and the governor, and told also of their unique method of taxation. For justice of government, Professor Giles distinctly favors "Democratic China."

French Lecture

On Saturday, March 10th, M. Hughes Le Roux delivered a lecture on "The French Family of Yesterday and To-day." Professor Cohn introduced the speaker, who began his lecture by saying that the French people have been misjudged because their family life has not been known by the public. M. Le Roux said: "There arose at the court of Louis XIV. an apparently superficial class. This class still exists. Therefore we are called superficial; but it is not true, for the French people conceal their deepest thoughts under a polite exterior."

Monsieur Le Roux then spoke of the present bourgeois class produced by the revolution, and the death of the nobility. He said: "There is a great deal of happy home life in this bourgeois class, but they are not open to advancement. They are wealthy, but exclusive." M. Le Roux concluded by saying that he hoped that the present transition of society in France would aid her to keep her place among the great nations.

Glee Club

The new Glee Club held its first business meeting on Friday, March 7. The club elected a temporary chairman, Miss Dorrian, who appointed a committee to draw up a constitution. The members of this committee are: Miss Durant, '04, Chairman; Miss Fountain, '04; Miss Van Ingen, '04; Miss Mott, '05; Miss Talbot, '05, and Miss Dorrian, '05, ex-officio. These members met on Monday at 4:30 and framed a constitution to be presented to the club as soon as possible. Two meetings have been held for practise, on Tuesday, March 4, and March 11, at 11:30, in the theatre. College songs were practised, but no music was definitely chosen. Hereafter the club will meet at two different times, one hour to be devoted to singing and the other to the stringed instruments. These periods will be chosen to suit the convenience of the majority of the members.

In order to compensate for the one week examination system, classes will be suspended at Teachers' College from March 26 to March 31.

Report of the Toronto Convention

A report of the Toronto Convention of the Students' Volunteer Movement was given in the Theatre last Thursday at 12:30. The meeting was conducted by Miss Dutcher, who expressed the thanks of the delegates to those whose generosity had made it possible for them to attend the convention.

Miss Cheeseman spoke of the practical side of the convention. She said that the speakers at Toronto had aimed to urge upon those who were fitting themselves for missionary work the broadest possible preparation—spiritual, mental, and physical.

Miss Laura Parker summarized the responsibilities of those who remain at home under three heads: intelligent knowledge of foreign missions, financial support, and prayer.

The chief purposes of the movement were given by Miss Rogers.

Miss Jean Miller described the influences of the convention upon the lives of those who attended it. She specially cited the happiness of the missionaries and said that by the inspiration of their presence the value of prayer was brought home to the delegates.

Dean Gill then gave an account of the convention from the point of view of the faculty. She said that the faculty had decided to take no official part in the movement; that, individually, members of the faculty could do much, however, in advising students as to the kind of work for which they were fitted, and in furnishing stimulus to those whose prospect of going to the foreign field was delayed. She closed by saying that the effect of the convention upon her had been to make her realize that the motto of the movement, "The Evangelization of the World in This Century," was a real possibility.

Professor Lord then pronounced the benediction.

No French Play

After long discussion and on the advice of the Dean, the French Society has decided to sever its official connection with the Columbia organization. Although the giving up of the traditional annual performance of a French play by the joint efforts of the Columbia and Barnard French societies is a matter of regret, the College has decided that it will be necessary for the welfare of its own organization to have it a distinctly Barnard society, on the same footing as the Deutscher Kreis, the Greek Club, etc.

A committee consisting of Miss Alsberg, chairman, Miss Waugh, and Miss Fountain has been appointed to suggest means and plans for entertaining the College.

BARNARD BULLETIN,
BARNARD COLLEGE,
COLUMBIA UNIV., N. Y.

MONDAY, MARCH 17, 1902

We regret that the French Society has so long delayed in deciding to live an existence independent of the Columbia organization. This severing of the connection of the two societies was inevitable, but it is unfortunate that the men should have planned and even begun preparations for the annual play and then, without being consulted, have been notified that we are unable, owing to our particular conditions, to continue our connection with them.

We hope that the Columbia French Society will understand that the Barnard College organization has been strongly urged to this step by the Dean, by the French Department, and by that student sentiment which wishes that undergraduates of Barnard and of Columbia shall be independent of each other. Moreover, there is every reason why the societies shall remain friendly, since there is not the faintest intention on the part of Barnard to offend the Columbia College French Society.

The present issue of the BULLETIN sees the retirement from all active work of the founders of the paper, and the election of Miss Sadie F. Nones as Editor-in-Chief. The members of 1902 on the Board think that the BULLETIN is to be congratulated for having attained its present form of management, extend their heartiest congratulations to the editor, and wish her all success in her undertaking.

As there seems to have been considerable misunderstanding concerning the purpose of the new Barnard Glee Club, a few words of explanation may be in place.

The club was originally formed by members of the Class of 1905, but it was subsequently found that some of the members of the upper classes were willing to join. It was therefore decided to annul what had already been done toward organization, and to start the club again as a college affair. Success seems to await the club, as a great many have signified their willingness to join. The only difficulty now is to arrange hours of meeting when all can come. The members will rehearse in two divisions, the vocal music at one time and the instrumental at another. All those who can play any kind of instrument are encouraged to join, and are requested to give their time cards as soon as possible to any of the members of the committee whose names are mentioned elsewhere in this issue.—Popular music will be performed by the club, and will be chosen by the members themselves.

Although the Glee Club intends to work, it will afford many opportunities for good times. Therefore, it is hoped that all who can possibly spare the time will join and help the new club to success.

Earl Hall Opened

Earl Hall was formally opened and turned over to Columbia students on Saturday, March 8th. In the afternoon the building was opened to the Faculty, and Mr. Dodge received them and his friends informally.

In the evening, the building was thrown open to the students. After the various rooms had been inspected, a short program was rendered in the auditorium. Dr. Canfield, chairman of the Earl Hall Committee, officially presented the building to the students. Dean Van Amringe gave a brief talk on the relation of the College to the University. Mr. J. A. Edwards, president of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. A. B. A. Bradley, president of the Senior Class, and Mr. W. R. Morley, the new football coach, also spoke briefly.

On Monday evening, March 10th, a reception was given to the women students of the University. On this occasion the entire building was thrown open to the visitors. Hereafter the only part of it to be used by women is the basement, the entrance to which fronts on Broadway. The rooms on this floor have been most attractively furnished and supplied with books and magazines by Miss Dodge.

The Reception Committee consisted of Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler, Miss Laura D. Gill, Mrs. James H. Canfield, Miss Woodhull and Mrs. Frank G. Bryson, representing the Alumnae; and from the undergraduates, Miss Malvina Peters, representing the Christian Association; Miss May A. Johnson, representing the College Settlement; Miss Katherine S. Doty, representing the C. S. M. A., and Miss Clark, representing the Phillips Brooks Guild of Teachers' College.

These rooms will be used on Monday afternoon by the Barnard Christian Association, and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons by the Graduate Club. Any organization desiring to use the rooms on other afternoons should apply to Dr. McCracken, the Secretary of Earl Hall.

The Literary Society

The founders of the new Literary Society consist of the editors of the 1902 and 1903 "Mortarboards" and the editors of the BARNARD BULLETIN. The members of these boards are the Misses Elliman, Belcher, Carll, Phelps, Alsberg, Hutchinson, Howard, Pool, King, Moen, Miller, Allen, Seward, Van Cott, Earle, Nones, Curtis, Gruening, Rogers, Calm and Ware.

At a recent meeting of the society, Professors Price, Carpenter, Robinson, Trent, Brewster, and Jackson, were elected associated members, and the Misses Logan, Gildersleeve, Gillespy, Reiley, Sanville, Wendt, Berkley, Skinner, Shainwald, Doty, Erskine, Stone, Van Deursen, Lexow, Corey, Colt, Alsop, Kaufman, Armstrong, Spencer, and Cohn were elected active members.

The annual election of officers of the Y. W. C. A. will be held Thursday, March 27th, at 12.30. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance, as a quorum of two-thirds is necessary before any business can be done. All members having nomination to make will kindly hand them to the nominating committee before March 20th. The members of this committee are Miss Clark, '02, chairman; Miss Dutcher, '02; Miss Ware, '03; Miss Van Slyke, '04; Miss Hutchinson, '05.
