The 1903 Mortarboard

"The 'Mortarboard' is out," and this time we can omit the usual "at last." As a whole, the book has a distinctly fresh flavor. Though not eminently fitted for practical purposes, the cover is extremely artistic. The steel engraving of the College, in brown half-tones, and the red lettering on Japan vellum, makes a dainty and effective combination. In many ways, attention has been paid to form as well as subject-matter. As illustrations, we would note the rough paper, the mounting of the duotones, the scroll-work design on the title page and the various conventional designs scattered throughout the book. The sketches heading the society, class and club lists are, most of them, extremely original and appropriate. We especially appreciate the privilege of viewing the editorial devotions.

The class histories are all remarkably apt. 1903's rolling verses recall those others it had in the 1901 "Mortarboard," but perhaps it is true to say that the idea of the 1905 A B C is especially new and striking.

Although there are certain "remarkable omissions in the 1903 'Mortarboard,'" it has not forgotten its keen sense of humor, and "whatnot." This "Mortarboard," we should say, inclines strongly to drama and literary burlesque. The "Taming of the Shrew" and "Elsie's College Days" parody some extreme types we have met, while "The Professors at the Tea-table" is a delightful bit of imaginary realism. Two pieces of recent literary criticism are "Elizabeth and Her College Garden" and "Rhapsody." There are several rhythmical songs which, we would suggest, the Glee Club might profitably set to music and practice, as a nucleus for some future "Barnard Song Book."

The grinds, many of them puns, seem to have been evolved with a sometimes overwhelming regard for facts.

The spirit of this year-book, while full of wholesome fun, is sane and restrained, and free from objectionable personalities, and its literary quality is worthy of the Barnard ideal it so successfully upholds.

While we cannot but recognize in it parts of our personal experience, it has the advantage of not being so unintelligibly local as to preclude the interest of outsiders. All in all, we have little but praise to offer to the editors and their work.

Press Notices

The University Press will soon issue a book containing the lectures recently delivered upon the Dean Lung foundation by Professor Giles. The title of the book will be "The Chinese and the West." The press will also issue, as a volume in the Columbia University biological series, the lectures on "The Dynamics of Living Matter" now being delivered by Professor Jacques Loeb.

Inauguration Ceremonies

In addition to the athletics in South Field on the afternoon of April 18th, Students' Day, an informal reception will be held at the same time in Earl Hall, and the building will be open for inspection. All who desire cards of admission for the dance in the Gymnasium on April 17th, will apply to Miss Mary D. Hall, 1902. A small subscription, probably of one dollar, will be charged for these.

There will also probably be cards of admission issued for the musical entertainment to be given in the Gymnasium on the evening of April 18th.

In order to accommodate the alumni and others entitled to be present at the installation ceremonies on April 19th, only officers of organizations have been invited, as student representatives. These include all the officers of every organization, and at Barnard number almost fifty students.

No Out-of-Door Courts

A letter just received from Messrs. Lawson & Hobbs, to the effect that they regret their inability to give us further use of the lot on Riverside Drive and 119th street, will, of course, bring to a stand the nearly-consummated plans of the Athletic Association for getting into readiness for playing the basketball and tennis courts.

Sunday Services

Services will be held on Sundays at 11 a. m. and 4.30 p. m. in the Brick Presbyterian Church, Fifth avenue and Thirty-seventh street. The Rev. Henry Van Dyke, D.D., and Mr. Shepherd Knapp, Jr., will conduct the services.

A Bible class for young women will be held on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, in the church rooms.

Tea Committee

The following students will serve on the Working Committee for the next tea: Miss E. Finnigan, 1902, chairman; Miss B. Thompson, 1903; Miss Van Ingen, 1904; Miss F. Nye, 1905. The Reception Committee will consist of the Working Committee of the last tea—Miss Alsberg, 1902, chairman; Miss Howe, 1903; Miss Glenn, 1904, and Miss Fettrich, 1905. Miss Gill will act on the Reception Committee as the Faculty representative.

Mr. Rockefeller's Gift

On March 25th, Mr. George A. Plimpton, the Treasurer of Barnard College, announced that $15,000 was lacking of the amount necessary to secure Mr. J. D. Rockefeller's gift of $200,000. This amount must be raised by Tuesday, April 1st. The students, who are deeply interested, and the many friends of the College, will await with anxiety the outcome of the last few days' canvass.

Professor Loeb's Lectures

Professor Jacques Loeb, of Chicago University, has just delivered a series of lectures at Schermerhorn Hall on "The Dynamics of Living Matter." Professor Loeb's scientific investigations have caused a great sensation. He claims to have started the germ of life in the lower animal classes by chemical processes.

Professor Loeb gave up his first lecture, on Tuesday, March 18th, to the discussion of the chemical characteristics of life. He said that until recently no one had been able to produce that chemical energy which all living organisms possess. He dealt especially with the oxidation which goes on in the body, and explained the storing up of fat in time of plenty and its utility in time of need.

In his next lecture Professor Loeb took up "The General Physical Constitution of Living Matter." He said that Pasteur had made many discoveries along this line, but unfortunately had left no notes. Pasteur discovered several valuable facts about the fermentation of molecules. Professor Loeb then went on to say that the action of changing alcohol into acetic acid is performed by bacteria and is therefore brought about by life; but, he said that a like result could be brought about by finely divided particles of platinum, and that somewhat successful attempts at imitating digestion had been made through the use of platinum.

In his third lecture Professor Loeb talked about "The Effects of Ions upon Various Life Phenomena." He spoke briefly on narcotics, and especially of their action upon fatty tissues; he said that electric ions seemed to bear a close resemblance to narcotics in their action upon living matter. He concluded the lecture by a short talk on muscle. He said that the action of the heart could in a measure be controlled by calcium.

On Monday, March 24th, Professor Loeb lectured on "The Effect of a Galvanic Current on Life Phenomena." He spoke first of the effect of the change of temperature on bodies. He said that the electric current is the most powerful and least harmful stimulant that has yet been discovered, and he explained in detail how the electric current is carried through the body.

Professor Loeb's lectures, while not always clear to those who are not familiar with chemistry and biology, were yet intelligible enough to be most interesting and instructive to every one.

At the festival and bazar given at the Waldorf Astoria on Saturday, March 29th, by the "College Mothers' Aid Association," the following College girls served at the Barnard-Columbia table: Miss Howard, 1903; Miss Stone, 1904; Miss Armstrong, 1902; Miss Finnigan, 1902; Miss McKenney, 1902, and Miss Rogers, 1903.

MONDAY, MARCH 31, 1902

The fact that our prospects of tennis and open-air basketball playing at present are nil, certainly casts rather a damper on our spring ardor. This is, above all others, the time of year when work without exercise is both flat and unprofitable. We owe a vote of thanks to the real estate firm that owns the field, for their kindness in permitting us to use it a year longer than we had at first expected. The Executive Committee of the Athletic Association was last week about to make preparations to have work begun on the courts, though nothing had yet been done. This committee is now taking steps to secure some other lot in the vicinity of the College for use as an athletic field. It is urged that every student who has at her command any knowledge of an available site, or the means for securing its use, will not fail to make strenuous and immediate efforts in aiding the committee. If athletics at Barnard are to be more than a mere empty phrase, we must rise to the occasion. Every one realizes the importance of the out-of-door field. Tennis playing for the past few years has become a factor in our college life. Our opportunities for exercise are of necessity extremely limited in kind, and every one must realize that, in this, we cannot afford to take a backward step. Being deprived of a field for even one year would mean a great loss in this respect. We hope that every girl in College will feel this a matter of personal concern.

We have more than once commented on the strangeness of the fact that Barnard is almost entirely devoid of college songs. This state of things is due partly, perhaps, to a lack of college spirit; but the compelling cause, we believe, has been the need of proper means to handle the matter. Last year an undergraduate song committee was appointed and authorized to receive songs written by any student. But, as usual, what was everybody's business proved to be nobody's business, and very few songs were handed in for approval. The result was only one song really appropriate for undergraduates.

But now, with the almost simultaneous rise of the Barnard Bear and the Glee Club, a solution of the problem seems near at hand. It would be perfectly possible for the former of these societies to take vigorous measures to provide songs, which the Glee Club could learn and spread through the College. We hope that hearty and prompt cooperation between these two organizations will bring about this desirable end.

According to the constitution, a monthly meeting will be held at which well-known authors will be invited to speak. The program committee appointed to arrange a schedule for these consists of Miss Skinner, 1903, Chairman; Miss Nones, 1903; Miss Stone, 1904, and Miss Howard, 1903, ex-officio.

Many seem to have forgotten that at 12.30 on Tuesdays and Fridays chapel exercises are held in the Theater, and that at least a moderate degree of quietness in the halls adjoining the Theater is expected. The undue amount of noise, especially during the last few weeks, has been most annoying to those present at chapel. It has been a source of regret and chagrin to all, that at nearly every service some one is forced to get up and close the door because of the loud talking, laughing and running in the halls. We trust that this is due only to thoughtlessness and that hereafter the chapel exercises may be undisturbed.

Philharmonic Concert

On Saturday evening, March 22nd, the fourth annual concert of the Philharmonic Society was given in the Brinckerhoff Theatre. The audience that filled the theatre received the nine members on the program with enthusiastic approval.

The work of both the orchestra and the Barnard Chorus was excellent, and showed the results of Mr. Gustav Hinrich's careful training. The songs by Mrs. Katherine Fleming Hinrichs and a piano solo by Mr. J. P. Langs were very much enjoyed. Following is the program:

- I. Marche Russe Ganne
- II. Overture, "Martha" Flotow
- III. Song, "Summer Night" ... Thomas
Mrs. Katherine Fleming Hinrichs.
- IV. Concertstück (Piano and Orchestra) C. M. von Weber
Tempo di Marcia Presto Giojoso.
Mr. J. P. Langs.
- V. (a) Greeting Mendelssohn
(b) On the Shore Widor
The Barnard Chorus.
- VI. Ballet Music, from "Faust," Gounod
- VII. (a) Mainacht Brahms
(b) Waldlied Hinrichs
Mrs. Katherine Fleming Hinrichs.
- VIII. Spinning Song, from "Flying Dutchman" Wagner
The Barnard Chorus and Orchestra.
- IX. The Mill in the Forest ... Ellenberg

To the Editors of the BULLETIN:

It is much to be regretted that the new literary society, with praiseworthy striving for originality and local color, has chosen the startling and grotesque name of "The Barnard Bear." This title, which would be ludicrous were it not painful, will assuredly expose the society to ridicule before it has time to establish a reputation. It is certainly not too late for the members to reconsider their action, and attempt, at least, to christen themselves more creditably.

The Literary Society

The Literary Society met on Tuesday, March 26th, the business of the meeting being to choose a name. After some discussion the name, "The Barnard Bear," was adopted.

Mrs. Taylor Addresses the Students

Mrs. Howard Taylor, of the China Inland Mission, spoke to Barnard students on Wednesday, March 24th, in the Students' Parlor. Mrs. Taylor described the deplorable condition of women in China and showed that this can be ameliorated only by means of Christianity. The purpose of her address was to induce students to volunteer as missionaries.

In the evening Mrs. Taylor gave an informal talk to the students at Fiske Hall. She described in a most graphic and interesting manner some of the manners and customs of the Chinese—their houses, dress and food. She said that the missionaries, on going to inland China live in Chinese houses and adopt the manners and customs of the people, by so doing more easily gaining access to their homes and to their affection and esteem.

She spoke also of the four great religions of China, and in conclusion said that the Chinese were and had always been a highly intellectual people and have a deep reverence for ancient things. Thus the missionaries often draw their attention to Christianity by telling them that the story of Christ is a fact most strongly attested by ancient history.

Performance of "Pinafore"

The College students are urged not to forget that the performance of "Pinafore" announced in the BULLETIN of last week will take place Friday evening, April 4th.

College Play Committees

The following sub-committees have been appointed to take charge of the College play: Programs, Eleanor Phelps, 1902, Chairman, Jean W. Miller, 1903, and Theodora Curtis, 1904; Tickets, Anna G. Ware, 1903, and Romola Lyon, 1904.

Y. W. C. A. Elections

At the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday, March 27th, the election of officers resulted as follows: President, Miss Jean Miller, 1903; vice-president, Miss Mary Harrison, 1903; recording secretary, Miss Mary Gray; corresponding secretary, Miss Reede, and treasurer, Miss Mabel Denton. The minutes of the cabinet meeting were read, as was also a letter from Miss Burr, stating that the Y. W. C. A. of Barnard College had been affiliated with the Y. W. C. A. of the States of New York and New Jersey.

Chapel Notices

Dr. Paul Vandyke, of Princeton, New Jersey, will address chapel on Tuesday. It is expected that President Seely, of Smith College, will speak on Friday.

Bishop Andrews at Chapel

Bishop Andrews, of the Methodist Episcopal Church of New York, addressed chapel last Tuesday. The subject of his talk was faith as related to opinion. Bishop Andrews said that intellectual opinion, though imperfect, must be the basis of faith, but that correct opinions sometimes indicated indolence in taking up the great life problems. Faith is the response of the whole man—intellect, conscience, heart, and will to the knowledge of God.

Toronto Delegates Speaks at Teachers' College

On Thursday, March 25th, the Barnard delegates to the Student Volunteer Convention at Toronto spoke at the chapel service in Teachers College. The program on this occasion was identical with that given here in Barnard two weeks ago.

Glee Club

The Glee Club met on Wednesday at 2.30; the instrumental part at 1.30. The latter section is already doing satisfactory work, but the other is not well attended as yet. The members are urged to come regularly and promptly. The new music is being chosen, and it is important for all to be present.

Teachers College Notes

Professor John Dewey will speak in Teachers College Chapel on "Experimentation in Education" at 4.30 p. m., on Tuesday, April 1st.
