Dormitory Regulations for 1902-03.

The following are the regulations for the management of the Dormitory for the year 1902-03:—

1. A uniform rate has been established for all rooms similarly located on all floors, except the second and eighth.

2. Rooms will be rented only to those who take their meals in the dining-rooms.

3. Applications will be received at any time by the Manager. Assignments of rooms will be made beginning May 1st. Applicants should state in writing their first, second and third choice. This order will be followed so far as possible in the assignment. In general the younger students will be assigned to the sixth and seventh floors. Women who are not connected with the University will be assigned at present to the eighth floor only; after September 1st, vacant rooms on other floors will be open to them in the order of application.

4. The playing of musical instruments will not be permitted at hours that may interfere with the study of residents.

5. Rooms rented for the academic year may be occupied from September 20, 1902, to June 20, 1903, a period of nearly forty weeks. Payments will be made half-yearly in advance. A deposit of ten dollars will be required on the acceptance of the assignment of each room. This sum will be credited towards the rental for the first half year; it will not be refunded in case of failure to occupy the room, unless the applicant is refused admission to the college.

According to the regulations to be announced in the catalogue for 1902-03, all students of the College who are neither resident with adult relatives or under the regulations of the Teachers' College Dormitory must have the approval of the Dean to their arrangements for living.

Chapel Address.

On Friday last Prof. W. H. Carpenter spoke in Chapel of the persistence of early impressions and a moral code. He emphasized the importance of an acceptance in early life of a true system of morals. Christian Ethics, Prof. Carpenter said, is everywhere the same, no matter what the creed.

Undergraduate Notice.

The notice in the last number of the BULLETIN was incorrect as regards nominations for President and Treasurer. Candidates for these offices must come from the Junior and Freshman Classes respectively, but nominations may be made by any member of the Association. Nominations for Executive Committee officers, however, must be made by the respective classes.

E. M. POOL,
Secretary

Program of Graduation Events.

June 3. Mrs. Annie Nathan Meyers will take the Senior Class for a trip up the Hudson to West Point.

June 4. Senior Class Luncheon at Hotel Manhattan.

June 6. Barnard Class-day Exercises and Dance.

June 8. Baccalaureate Sermon in Columbia Gymnasium.

June 9. Columbia Class-day Exercises and Dance.

June 11. Commencement. Reception to the Class of 1902 by the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College.

Tennis Court.

Work on the new tennis court is being started this morning, and the court will probably be ready for use by the end of the week.

Senior Notice.

All Seniors who intend to be present at the Class luncheon at the Manhattan Hotel, June 4, must sign their names to the paper posted for that purpose in the Senior Study, before Wednesday, May 7.

1904 Elections.

The Class elections of 1904, held on Thursday, May 1st, resulted as follows: President, Marguerite Applegate; Vice-President, Jeanne Eggleston; Recording Secretary, Jane Hawes; Corresponding Secretary, Charlotte Fountain; Treasurer, Minnie Beifeld; and Historian, Anna Waring.

The 1904 "Mortarboard" editors will be Harriet Werts, Editor-in-Chief; Katherine Doty, Business Manager; Margaret Stone, Marjory Hughan, Effie Cohen, Helen Erskine, Edith Haase, and Charlotte Fountain.

1903 Class Meeting.

At a regular meeting of 1903 on Thursday, May 1st, it was decided to have a Class luncheon on Saturday, May 31.

The business manager of the "Mortarboard," reported that while all expenses have been paid, the full receipts are not yet in. Notwithstanding this, there is a surplus of some six dollars.

The following members of the Executive Committee for 1902-1903 were chosen: Miss Bamberger, Miss Ware and Miss Kroeber.

Notice. Athletic Association.

A regular meeting of the Athletic Association will be held on Thursday, May 8th, at twelve thirty, in Room 414. Business: Election of officers.

"H. M. S. Pinafore."

On reading a criticism of the performance on Friday evening, May 2d, of "H. M. S. Pinafore," it will be necessary to keep in mind the fact that the cast of characters was made up of young men and women who had had practically no musical training of any kind before. It was purely a desire to help in the support of the Settlement summer home that led the clubs to devote much time and trouble to the production of the well known operetta.

The associated clubs of the College Settlement cleared something more than three hundred dollars from their original performance on Fourth Street a month ago, and the whole affair proved to be of such interest that the Barnard College Chapter decided to make an effort to have the production repeated at college. Under the management chiefly of Miss Margaret Stone, '04, satisfactory arrangements were made, and the affair was successfully carried through in less than a week with the kind encouragement and active interest of the Dean.

Whether the performance was successful financially or not, the cast certainly did its work admirably. Of Mr. Raymond Wheeler Smith, who took the part of Ralph Rachstraw, nothing more need be said than that he sang well, since he is a "professional." Mr. O. C. Bécht, as the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B., Admiral in the British navy, was perhaps the best of those who took part. A good strong voice, clear enunciation, and a dignified presence, made him all that could possibly have been expected.

Mr. Philip Langel impersonated Dick Deadeye in a remarkably clever and realistic manner. He was decidedly the best actor in the cast. Mr. Charles Emil Rueckstuhl was rather a weak voiced Capt. Concoran and hardly looked old enough to be the father of Josephine; but he sang correctly and sweetly. Mr. Rudolph Schoene, though he had some difficulty in reaching the deep notes, did his part well.

Of the women, one must of course mention the heroine first. Miss Laura Bank has a clear, full voice, looked pretty, and sang her difficult "solos" admirably. But Miss Margie Connors, as Little Buttercup, received perhaps the heartiest applause. Though a trifle stiff, her clear and sweet tones more than compensated for this. Miss Florence Sanders played the part of Hebe, Sir Joseph's first cousin.

The most finished part of the production, however, was the choruses of sailors and "The Admiral's sisters, cousins, and aunts." Together, they made quite a volume of sound; and they sang in perfect and with great spirit. A word about the College Settlement Orchestra will not be amiss in a survey of the performance. Under the direction

MONDAY, MAY 5, 1902.

It should be a matter of satisfaction, not only to the Junior Class, but to Barnard at large, that the "Mortarboard" this year has proved a financial success. The advisability of continuing the publication, when considerable loss seemed probable, was beginning to be questioned in some minds. Such doubt, however, must now be entirely at an end.

THE Sophomore-Freshman Debating Society, in so altering its constitution as to make all undergraduates eligible to membership, has taken what seems to us a wise and sensible step. A well-organized club of the kind is a part of almost every college, and is, indeed, one of the most important of all student societies. The formation of the Sophomore-Freshman club, therefore, marked an effort in the right direction; but the fact that membership was open only to the two lower classes proved a serious limitation on the value of the society. Regarded in the light of an experiment, it has proved decidedly useful. Its chief merit, however, lies in its having opened the way for an organization of broader college interest.

WE wish to state that the mistakes in the BULLETIN of last week were due to the fact that the place of printing had been changed.

Lecture on Astronomical Photography.

On Wednesday, April 30, John R. Rees, Professor of Astronomy at Columbia, delivered a lecture on "Some Recent Remarkable Results of Astronomical Photography," illustrated by stereopticon views. He began by saying that the science of astronomy had taken great strides in the last ten years by the use of photography. He then asked his audience to give their attention first to the moon, about which some of the most interesting things have been found out. He said that two New York men, one of whom was Draper, had some years ago made the best photographs of the heavenly bodies that the world had ever seen and that among them were very valuable ones of the moon. At least three distinct parts in the moon are shown by these photographs, the rugged or honey-combed part, the mountainous portion and that part which is supposedly water. There are ranges of mountains which correspond to the Alps, Appenines and Rockies. Perhaps one of the most interesting features of the mountainous region are the Wrinkle Mountains, which startlingly resemble the wrinkles of the human skin.

Professor Rees then took up the discussion of the sun, showing how, by photography three definite regions in the sun have been discovered, the central or white mass, the colored region and the outside or corona. The exact colors of these regions has not yet been ascertained and cannot be until photographic instruments are devised which will reproduce color.

After showing many photographs of the moon and fully explaining, Professor Rees took up the Planets, Jupiter and Saturn, and the asteroids. The most valuable fact discussed about the planets is that the ring system is not, as has always been conjectured, composed of either solid or liquid matter, but of myriads of small bodies floating about like little moons. Professor Rees spoke especially of the discoveries of the late Professor Keeler, who ascertained that the Nebuli were spiral.

During the course of his lecture, Professor Rees also showed views of the great observatories of the world, and the astronomical instruments which are used in them. In closing he showed a picture of the Observatory at Manila, in the Philippines, and said that we were accustomed to think of the Phillipines as a place devoid of culture and learning but that it was a striking and deplorable fact that Columbia University, situated in the great metropolis of the New World, did not have anything like so good an observatory as the one he was showing in Manila, at which the Jesuit Fathers have made some very valuable discoveries.

The Class Luncheon Committee of 1903, has been appointed as follows: Madeline Skinner, Ethel Pool, May Johnson, Florence Cheesman, and Helen Cohen.

Anna Ware and Mary Moen, ex-officio. The first meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 6th, at one o'clock in the Junior Study.

of Mr. Louis M. Dresler, the musical instruments rang out clearly and emphatically. The boys and girls of the orchestra certainly contributed largely to the success of "Pinafore."

Gift to the Reading Room.

Twenty-five books have just been received in the Reading Room, according to the wish of Jessie Kaufmann, 1903, that all her text books be given to the College. The following is the list:

- Fisher—Outlines of University History.
- Emerton—Introduction to the Middle Ages.
- Emerton—Mediaeval Europe.
- Stephens—Modern European History.
- Wakeman—European History, 1598-1715.
- Macdonald—Select Documents of United States History.
- Wells—College Algebra.
- Ames—Theory of Physics.
- Bullock—Introduction to the Study of Economics.
- Sedgwick and Wilson—General Biology.
- Carpenter—Exercises in Rhetoric and English Composition.
- Gow—A Companion to School Classics.
- Goodwin—Greek Grammar.
- Liddell and Scott—Greek, English Lexicon.
- Morgan—Lysias, Eight Orations.
- Merriam—The Phaeacians of Homer.
- Merry—Homer, Odyssey, Books I-XII.
- Peck and Arrowsmith—Roman Life in Latin Prose and Verse.
- Müller—The German Classics, 3 Vols.
- Goethe—Faust, 2 Vols.
- Robinson and Rolfe—Petrarch.
- Robinson—Original Sources of European History, (The French Revolution).

Graduate Club.

On Thursday, May 1, Mrs. Raymond Brown gave a lecture-recital before the members of the Graduate Club and their friends. Her subject was Wagner's Musical Drama, "Parsival." She first gave the theme of the drama and then told in a vivid and interesting way about Bayreuth, where these dramas of Wagner's are always given. She spoke especially of the almost sacred way in which people regard this performance of "Parsival." Seated at the piano, she described the opening scene of the drama as it looks when the curtain goes up at Bayreuth. She then played the various motifs, stopping every few moments to describe the scenes as they follow one another. Mrs. Brown interprets the drama in a most appreciative and stirring way, and the friends of the Graduate Club, who were present, were indebted to her for a very pleasant and instructive afternoon.

1905 Elections.

At a meeting of the Class of 1905, on May 1st, the election of the Executive Committee and of the historian for 1902-1903 took place as follows: Executive Committee, Florence Nye, Katharine Goodyear, and Irene Van Buren; Class Historian, Ruth Reeder.

College Settlement.

The Second Annual Meeting of the College Settlement was held in the theatre, Monday, April 28, at 12:30. The chief business of the meeting was the election of officers for Barnard Chapter. Katherine Goodyear, 1905, was chosen Elector; S. Lily Murray, 1905, Secretary; Miss Williams, the head worker of the Settlement, was present and spoke about the summer home, Mount Ivy, for the benefit of which "Pinafore" was given last week. Miss Williams spoke in particular about the uses of the home in its relation to the lives of the people who visit there. To them it is Home, and much of the interest of their lives centres there. The boys and girls of the Settlement Clubs are not the only ones who enjoy the privilege of Mount Ivy. Excursions for the tired mothers and fathers, and those who must remain in the hot city all the time, are arranged for Sundays and holidays. Last year the older boys of one of the clubs had a camp there. It was a very successful experiment, and this year another club will follow the example of the first one. There will also be a camp for the smaller boys. Miss Williams then spoke of the inner life of the home and its influence. There is an opening for students interested in the work, for summer residents are needed. The group of visitors change every two weeks, so that one could fit in for any length of time, however short, and still be of great service and assistance. The Settlement would be very glad to accept the services of any of the girls who feel able to give to this work any portion of their summer vacation.
