Scholarships for Teachers.

By the aid of George Foster Peabody, V. Everit Macy, and John Crosby Brown, seven special scholarships have been established in Teachers' College, for the assistance of Southern teachers. During the past year these men have provided special scholarships of a similar nature and, following the recent educational conferences in the South which they attended, they have voluntarily decided to continue their gifts as a special contribution to the cause of popular education. These scholarships are of the annual value of $300 each.

No distinction of race or sex will be considered in making the awards. Any teacher in the Southern States may become a candidate by filing proper credentials with the Secretary of Teachers' College.

Statistics of 1902.

It may be a matter of general college interest to know of the plans of the Graduating Class of this year. Of the members of 1902 who have so far been heard from, one will teach English in Barnard, one has secured the scholarship for teaching Latin at Horace Mann School, and still another will teach Mathematics at Miss Baldwin's preparatory school at Bryn Mawr, while continuing a course of study in mathematics at Bryn Mawr. Five more expect to teach in High Schools, but do not know where, as yet.

One member of the Class will do work in the Settlement next year, as well as graduate work at Columbia. Two others expect to work for an M. A. One will take graduate work in Mathematics at Harvard, and will later go abroad for further study, and another intends to enter the Woman's Medical College in 101st street, to pursue a course of study leading to an M. D. degree.

Several have not yet made any definite plans for next winter, and two are going to "simply stay at home."

This does not by any means account for the entire Class. Possible additions to the list will be given next week.

Chapel Exercises.

At the chapel exercises on Tuesday, May 6th, Professor Lord made a short address upon the subject of the many attitudes of the soul toward God. Professor Lord said that religion is universal, but of various forms. The aesthetic temperament leads to ritualism, the logical temperament toward theology, while the man of action is impelled to seek the moral laws which regulate conduct. The realization of these different points of view, is the achievement of the modern spirit of tolerance.

Dean Gill to the Junior Class.

In a talk to the Junior Class last Thursday, Dean Gill explained that, while the new schedule of Courses was far from satisfactory, it was a decided advance in one way. It carried out the plan of a University scheme of attendance, in which Columbia, Teachers' College and Barnard were co-operative.

This scheme, when it is perfected, will prevent one college from having the advantage over either of the other two, so far as the arrangement of courses is concerned.

Dean Gill also explained that the authorities were trying to arrange so that work in Philosophy could be begun earlier in the college course, by those who were fitted for it, than had hitherto been the case.

1902 Elections.

At a meeting of 1902 on Friday, May 9th, it was decided to elect Class officers every five years, instead of permanently. Three officers for the next five years were chosen as follows: President, Elizabeth Allen; Vice-President, Margaret G. Elliman; Corresponding Secretary, Mary Hunt Budd.

The remaining officers will be chosen next Wednesday at 4:30.

Undergraduate Notice.

At the Undergraduate meeting held on May 5th, election of officers resulted as follows: President, Anna Goodwin Ware; Chairman of Executive Committee, May A. Jonnson; Treasurer, Frances Hope Purdon; Sophomore member of the Executive Committee, Alice V. Smith.

The regular May meeting of the Association will be held on Monday the 12th. A fine of $25 is charged for absence from regular meetings. The business on Monday will be the election of Vice president, Secretary and Junior member of the Executive Committee.

E. M. Pool,
Secretary.

Tennis Regulations.

The tennis court is now finished and open for use to members of the Athletic Association. Members are reminded to wear tennis shoes when playing and to be sure to return the net and balls to the telephone room. Only members are permitted to use the court.

1902 Notice.

The Senior Class will assemble in the theatre on Thursday, May 15, to attend to class-day matters. A full meeting is absolutely necessary. Every member of 1902 is urged to be present at 3:30 punctually.

New Catalogue.

With the coming out of the catalogue for '02-'03, it is interesting to all to note the changes and additions which have been made both in faculty and in courses. Henry Rogers Seager, Ph. D., and Henry L. Moore, Ph. D., have been added to the department of Political Economy; Frances Campbell Berkeley, to the department of English; and Dr. Henry A. Sill will give courses in history at Barnard. There have also been several promotions. Dr. W. A. Nitze has been made Tutor in the Romance Languages and Literatures and Mr. William E. Kellicott, Tutor in Zoölogy.

In the Chemistry Department, one new course in Advanced Organic Chemistry has been added.

In the Department of Economics and Social Science there are two new courses.—Economics 6—The Labor Problem, to be given by Professor Seager, and Sociology 16, by Dr. Parsons. This course now known as Sociology 16 was formerly included in Sociology 15, but the work has now been so divided that students may study the principles of Sociology without doing the field work.

In the English Department there are three new courses—English 10, The English Essayists of the Nineteenth Century by Professor G. T. Carpenter, and English 20, Victorian Poetry, by Professor Trent. These two courses are to alternate with English 21 and English 23. The third new course, to be given by Professor Trent, English 47, English Literature in the Seventeenth Century with Special Attention to Milton and Dryden.

In the department of Germanic Languages one new course is to be given, German 3b, which is intended for students who have already some acquaintance with the works of Goethe, Selville and Lessing.

One new course has been added in the Greek Department—Greek 8, a course in the New Testament.

In the History Department three are two new courses, History 50, Greece and Rome, and History 51, The Roman Empire, both given by Dr. Sill.

In the Psychology Department, Analytic Psychology has been added, and is a continuation of Psychology A.

One new French course is to be given, French 3, Historical French, by Mr. Bargy, and also an advanced course in Spanish.

Two entirely new courses will also be given next year, one in Physiology by Dr. Crampton and Mr. Kellicott, and in Geology by Mr. Finlay.

Every one on looking over the catalogue seems much gratified that so many much needed courses have been added, and that greater scope for doing advanced work has been given.

BARNARD COLLEGE,
COLUMBIA UNIV., N. Y.

MONDAY, MAY 12, 1902.

ONE of the most encouraging developments of the year now almost at a close is the increased attendance at chapel. This heightened interest, undoubtedly, is due to the fact that control of the chapel was given over, several months ago, to Dean Gill; for, although the difficult task of initiating the bi-weekly service was achieved by the Christian Association—and that, too, after a long period during which the authorities of the college had thought proper to ignore the necessity of such action—yet the service, as conducted by the students, was somewhat lifeless and perfunctory. It is gratifying to the entire college that the Dean has taken such pains to make the service more attractive, especially by securing as speakers many prominent clergymen of New York.

THE editors of the BULLETIN have been much interested in a copy of the pamphlet published annually by the Senior Class of Vassar, announcing the plans of each member of the class for the ensuing year. Out of 127 girls about half had no profession in view. More than 30 expected to teach, and among the other fields of labor represented were those of architecture, journalism, missions, philanthropy, and medicine. This announcement is regularly followed at the end of a year by a similar pamphlet telling how far the members of the class have been able to carry out their intentions.

Such a publication is of interest not only to the class that issues it, but to the entire college as well, and also to anyone who cares to learn what college women are actually doing. We have attempted to give a slight expression to the idea here in Barnard by asking each senior to state her plans for the coming year. The result, indeed, has not been altogether satisfactory, since some of those to whom the request was sent have ignored or misunderstood it; but such statistics as we have been able to gather are printed in this issue.

The idea of a senior year-book, we would suggest, is certainly worthy of consideration among Barnard students.

Debating Club.

At a recent meeting of the Sophomore-Freshman Debating Society, it was decided to open the membership of the society to the four classes, thereby making the society an undergraduate organization.

The following constitution has been adopted for the new club:

ARTICLE I.

Name.

This Association shall be known as the Barnard College Debating Club.

ARTICLE II.

Object.

The object of this society shall be to promote an interest in debating.

ARTICLE III.

Meetings.

Sect. 1. The Club shall meet in two sections.

Sect. 2. Regular meetings for debate shall be held once in two weeks.

Sect. 3. There shall be a debate between the two sections every fourth meeting.

Sect. 4. All business shall be transacted at the joint meetings.

ARTICLE IV.

Membership.

Sect. 1. All undergraduate students and special students, belonging to class organizations, who have a general average of at least C, shall be eligible for membership.

Sect. 2. Members may be elected at joint meetings by a three-fourths' vote of those present.

Sect. 3. Members who fail to attend for five consecutive meetings shall be dropped from the roll.

Sect. 4. The membership of the Club shall be limited to forty.

ARTICLE V.

Sections.

Sect. 1. Each section of the Club shall consist of twenty members.

Sect. 2. Those eligible to Section I shall be Juniors and Seniors.

Sect. 3. Those eligible to Section II shall be Freshmen and Sophomores.

Sect. 4. If either section be over-crowded, the President shall, at her discretion, assign some members to the section whose number is not yet complete.

ARTICLE VI.

Dues.

Sect. 1. Dues shall be for each member twenty-five cents a year.

ARTICLE VII.

Officers.

Sect. 1. The officers of this Club shall be President, Vice-President, Clerk and Assistant Clerk.

Sect. 2. The President, and the Clerk shall be chosen from Section I.

Sect. 3. The Vice-President and the Assistant Clerk shall be chosen from Section II.

Sect. 4. Officers shall be elected at the last regular business meeting of the College year.

Sect. 5. New officers shall enter upon their duties at the first regular meeting of the College year.

ARTICLE VIII.

Duties of Officers.

Sect. 1. The President shall preside at the meetings of Section I. She shall have power to call meetings and to debate in turn.

Sect. 2. The Vice-President shall preside at the meetings of Section II.

Sect. 3. The Clerk shall perform the duties usually incumbent upon that position. Both shall have power to collect dues and pay bills.

The Clerk shall select the debaters of Section I in alphabetical order.

The Assistant Clerk shall select the debaters of Section II. in alphabetical order.

ARTICLE IX.

Committees.

Sect. 1. There shall be an Executive Committee consisting of the Vice-President, Chairman, a Junior, a Sophomore, and a Freshman member, together with another member chosen from any class, and the President ex-officio.

Sect. 2. The President shall appoint all other necessary committees, and be a member ex-officio of every committee.

Sect. 3. The Executive Committee shall present to the society at least five questions for debate at the regular meetings and shall fulfill other duties usually assigned to such a committee.

ARTICLE X.

Quorum.

Sect. 1. One-third of the members shall constitute a quorum for debate, and one-fourth of the members shall constitute a quorum for business.

ARTICLE XI.

Judges and Critic.

Sect. 1. The judges for the debates shall be chosen by the Executive Committee.

Sect. 2. Section I shall choose their critic.

Sect. 3. Section II. shall choose their critic.

ARTICLE XII.

Amendments.

Sect. 1. A three-quarters' vote shall be necessary to amend this Constitution.

ARTICLE XIII.

Authority.

Sect. 1. For all points not covered in this Constitution, Cushing's Manual of Parliamentary Practice shall be the authority.

Notice.

All students who have gymnasium suits in the dressing-room are requested to remove them as soon as possible. Nobody will be responsible for the clothes left in the room after this month.

Glee Club.

Owing to the approach of examinations, the Glee Club has discontinued rehearsals. The Club had intended to entertain the college before the end of the year, but will postpone its intentions with all future work, until next Fall. The Club wishes to extend its hearty thanks to Mr. Hinrichs for the kind interest he has shown in it.

French Society.

There will be a meeting of the society next Tuesday, at 1:20, in Room 304.

1905 Notes.

The Class of 1905 will have a class luncheon, the time and place of which are not to be announced. The Class picnic will be held on Thursday, May 29th. The Committee on Arrangements for the picnic consists of Katharine Goodyear, chairman; Alice Smith, Elsie McKee, Laura Parker, and Bertha Seward.

Chorus Notice.

The Chorus will hold a regular meeting for the election of officers on Tuesday, May 13th, at 2:30, in the Theatre.

Closing Chapel Exercises.

At the last Chapel exercises of the year, which took place on Friday, May 9th, Dean Gill spoke of the advantages that the students had enjoyed during this half year in listening to men who represent nearly all the denominations in the city, and who are leaders in its religious thought. She also said that there would be an opportunity in the next few weeks to make a practical application of the high ideals which had been set before the college by these men. Mrs. Raymond Brown then rendered the closing chorus from the St. Matthew's Passion Music of Bach.

Honors in Mathematics.

The examinations for Juniors and Sophomore honors in Mathematics will be held on Thursday, May 29, at 2:30 p. m. in Room 302.

C. S. M. A. Notice.

On May 15, the last meeting for the year of the Church Students' Missionary Association will be held in the Alumnae Room. Mr. John W. Wood, Corresponding Secretary of the Church Missionary Society, will give an informal address and it is to be hoped that all members of the Association will make an especial effort to be present.
