Entertainment of the College Settlement Association.

The Barnard Chapter of the College Settlement Association gave a tea to the College on Wednesday, October 28th. The most interesting feature of the afternoon was an address by Miss Williams, head worker of the Settlement. Miss Williams gave a concise but comprehensive survey of her field. She spoke of the density of the population in the neighborhood which had been proved by recent statistics, to be the most thickly settled region in the world. The people used to be chiefly Germans, but these are rapidly giving place to Russian and Polish Jews. The Russians and Poles are much harder to reach than the Germans, owing to the difficulty of their language and the fact that their nature and institutions are less easily understood by Americans. The most successful way to gain the confidence of the men, women and older girls is through the children. The children take home ideas regarding cooking, house cleaning and sanitary conditions which they have gained at classes in the Settlement, and succeed in most cases in getting them put into practice. The house at 95 Rivington street is looked upon as a neighborhood home and the workers as friends; so that, though beggars in the district are few, nevertheless the people go to the Settlement for all kinds of assistance and advice for themselves and their friends.

Miss Williams spoke earnestly of the value of personal contact between the workers and those they are trying to help, and made an urgent appeal for student lectures. She asked that more girls keep the work in mind while perfecting themselves in a special line of study, in order that they may be able to give out as well as absorb knowledge. The need of informal talks on subjects of interest are very great; the young men and women of the clubs carry away much more from such talks than the mere information which they gain, for they are deeply impressed by the personality of the speakers, and look back with pride and pleasure for many years, on an evening spent in the company of one who has enjoyed wider experience or more extensive travel than they.

After Miss Williams had finished her talk, Miss Lockwood, the graduate elector, spoke. Miss Lockwood said that she wished all to understand clearly that the College Settlement Association of Barnard was not an isolated affair, but was one of a group of associations in thirteen eastern colleges, which carried on this work in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, and that in joining the association, therefore, each student became a member of a large body of earnest women. She also extended a cordial invitation to all students to visit the Settlement at Rivington street, and become acquainted with the work, even though it would not be possible for them to identify themselves actively with it.

Dancing and refreshments followed.

Margaret Stone, '04, will be glad to take parties of girls to the Settlement on Saturdays. Those who prefer to go at any other time are invited to confer with Katherine Goodyear, '05, or with any of the class electors.

The Associate Alumnae.

The Associate Alumnae of Barnard College held their annual meeting on Saturday, October 25th. In order that the work of the Students' Aid Committee might be more advantageously transacted the association has recently been incorporated. The business of the day was the adoption of by-laws for the incorporated association and the election of officers. The by-laws provide for five officers, viz.: President, Vice-president, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary and Treasurer; four standing committees, viz.: The Finance Committee, the Ella Weed Memorial Reading Room Committee, the Statistics Committee, and the Students' Aid Committee; and a Board of Directors, consisting of eleven members, viz., the officers ex-officio, the Alumna Trustee and five additional directors to be chosen from the association.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mary Stuart Pullman, '93; Vice-President, Louise B. Dunn, '97; Recording Secretary, Mabel Parsons, '95; Corresponding Secretary, Janet A. McCook, '02; Treasurer, Caroline S. Brombacher, '95. Directors: Until 1903, Mrs. George McAneny, '99; until 1904, Mrs. Frank G. Bryson, '94; until 1905, Madalene Heroy, '01; until 1906, Alice M. Keys, '93; until 1907, Virginia C. Gildersleeve, '99; Alumna Trustee, until May, 1903, Florence Colgate, '95.

After the business was disposed of a light lunch was served in the Alumnae Room.

The following books are missing from the Reading Room:

Ehrke. German passages for translation into English.

Goethe. Sämtliche Werke.

Gildersleeve. Syntax.

Taylor. Classical Heritage of the Middle Ages.

Lavisse. Political History of Europe.

Von Holst. Constitutional History of the United States. Vol. I.

Henderson. Mediæval Documents.

Ward. English Poets. Vol. I.

White. Latin Dictionary.

Allen & Greenough. Latin Grammar.

Lowell. French Revolution.

Will the students who have these books kindly return them at once.

L. D. BLOODGOOD, Librarian.

Deutscher Kreis.

At a special meeting of the Deutscher Kreis, held on October 20th, the new members were voted into the society. A social meeting will be held on Friday, November 7th, at 3.30. All members are requested to attend.

Meeting of the Barnard Bear.

On Wednesday, October 28th, a meeting of the Barnard Bear was held in the BULLETIN office. The President, Clare Howard, '03, was in the chair. A motion was made to reconsider the name of the organization and was lost. It was decided to ask Mr. Hamilton Mabie to address the society at some time in the near future. Another meeting will be held on Monday at 12-30.

C. S. M. A.

At a meeting of the Church Students' Missionary Association on Friday, the program for this year was arranged. A meeting will be held every Wednesday morning at 8:30. For the first month there will be missionary addresses by different prominent speakers, and for the second month a mission study class. On the third Wednesday of each month, the members will attend service at St. Luke's.

The annual convention of the Association will take place this year at the General Theological Seminary, December 9th to 11th. The Barnard Chapter will entertain the women delegates to the convention.

Notice.

Any student who wishes to purchase any of the Hinds & Noble's publications can do so through the BULLETIN. Application should be made to Theodora Curtis, Business Manager.

Regular meeting of the Undergraduate Association will be held on Monday, November 10th, at 4.30 P. M., in Room 139. A fine of twenty-five cents is imposed for absence. The business will be the election of the Freshman member of the Executive Committee.

Chapel Notice.

Rev. Dr. Henry M. Sanders, the former pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, will speak in Chapel on Friday, November 7th.

Sophomore Dance.

The class of 1905 held a special meeting October 28 to consider the question of giving a dance. The Dean was consulted and gave her hearty approval. December 19th is the date set, and the dance will be held in the Theatre. The class of 1905 is the first class to have a Sophomore dance, but this will probably become an annual affair.

Senior Bible Class.

The Senior Bible Class, to be led by Janet McCook, '02, will hold its first session on Tuesday, November 10th, at 9:30. The course will be The Teachings of Jesus. All seniors are invited to join and other students who cannot, the Bible Class of their own year will also be welcomed.

BARNARD BULLETIN,
BARNARD COLLEGE,
COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, N. Y.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1902.

EDITORIAL.

We have the following elections to announce: Editor-in-Chief, Jean W. Miller, 1903; Managing Editor, Louise Peters, 1905; Associate Editors, Helen Erskine, 1904; Helen Gooley, 1905; Anna Fisher, 1905, and Hope Purdon, 1905.

That interest in athletics is increasing at Barnard has been evidenced this fall by the attitude of the entire college toward the tennis tournament. A fair number of girls have entered into the tennis tournament, and most of those who did not do so have shown the utmost enthusiasm in the matter. When contrasted with the somewhat apathetic spirit of last year, this feeling is to be warmly commended. There has been, however, considerable delay in playing off the preliminary matches. The experience of last year, when the tournament was not completed because so many girls put off playing till cold weather had set in, should serve as a warning.

While we realize that it is the duty of the Self-Government Committee to see that the halls are kept quiet, it does not seem out of place to say a few words here in regard to the matter. We have heard many remarks since the opening of the college to the effect that there is much more noise than usual in the halls, especially on the second floor. We know, of course, that the class studies are on this floor, and that there is necessarily more or less walking back and forth. Nevertheless, the loud talking and laughing which has been noticed by those trying to do work in the Ella Weed Room could hardly be called necessary. But we trust that it is due to thoughtlessness, and that the halls will be more quiet in the weeks to come.

The Barnard College Mandolin Club entered upon its new career last Wednesday. A great deal of enthusiasm was shown, and a large number applied for membership, and the future of the club looks very bright. Certainly all those who heard the club play last year most heartily wish them success. But this success cannot be assured unless each one of its members considers it her duty to be present at all rehearsals and support the club in every way. We urge the members of the club to keep in mind that this is one way in which they can show their college spirit.

The suggestion of the Dean, made recently in chapel, to the effect that music should be made a far more prominent feature of the service, will be greeted with pleasure by all girls who take an interest in the impression their college gives to outsiders. For the sake of our own personal satisfaction, indeed, we might well make an effort to improve our chapel singing; but when to this consideration we add the important one that some distinguished clergyman frequently is present at the service, it seems obvious that the best music possible is none too good for the occasion. The good work done by the choir in the latter part of last year should be an incentive now to something even better. We hope that a large number of girls will show their college spirit by joining the choir immediately.

Southern Club.

There will be a meeting of the Southern Club on Monday, November 3d, at 4.30, in Room 204. The Club desires to change its constitution and widen its scope, so as to include all southern women of the University.

The Problem of China.

At a meeting of the Academy of Political Science, held in 401 Library last evening, Dr. T. Iyenaga, of the University of Wisconsin, made a very interesting address on "The Problem of China." The speaker traced the rise of the present Eastern question, and severely criticised the methods of the great powers in partitioning China among themselves. He thought that great good might be done in China by the missionaries, but that their methods will have to be much changed. They must learn that the Chinese temperament requires a different treatment from that of the negro or American Indian.

"The future of China," he said, "rests with the United States, England and Japan. With these three powers united China will stand; divided, she will fall. Whether the understanding now in happy existence among these powers will continue and whether every member of the union will prove faithful to the common cause—these are the great questions for China."

Basket Ball Practice.

The first basket ball practice of the year was held last Tuesday. Owing to the condition of the gymnasium, the playing was not wholly satisfactory. Mr. Trevanion G. Cook will continue to coach the team this year.

University News.

KINGS CROWN.

The Constitutional Committee of Kings Crown Has Completed Its Report.

By the new constitution Kings Crown is made a college society in contrast to a departmental society as in the past. At the same time it is intended that the society shall have a room, or suite of rooms, to serve as a sort of general club-room for members. Kings Crown will now be in a position to give a public entertainment of some kind each year. Possibly the Varsity Show will be continued by the society, or some English play of historical or literary interest may be given. The committee is heartily in favor of some such expansion of the society's work.

New Books in Columbia Library.

During the summer there have been numerous valuable additions to the Columbia Library in the way of old books and periodicals. Among the most important are a complete copy of the first edition of Aristotle's works, printed in five volumes by Aldus in 1495-1498, and a rare Latin edition of Aristotle's great commentator Maimonides. The biographical collection has been extended by the addition of a complete set of catalogues of Quaritch from 1858 to the present. Full sets of early socialistic and anarchistic periodicals have been procured, among the rarest of which is Pendhom's "Le Peuple," published in Paris in 1848-'9. The Library has also secured the famous 1487 edition of Dante, the first edition of Aristophanes, printed by Junta in 1515, and the choice edition of the Canons of the Council of Trent, published by Aldus in 1564, a volume of great interest and rarity.

The new department of Chinese language and literature has during the summer received, through the Viceroy at Nanking, a most important gift from the Chinese Government. This is the collection known as the "T'u Shu Chi Ch'eng," the genuine and first issue of the great Chinese encyclopaedia, comprising 5,200 volumes. The books ordered for this new department form an interesting collection, containing not only Chinese literature but works on China and the Orient by eminent foreign authors, as well as Chinese periodicals and a fine collection of dictionaries.

Valuable works of American history have been procured, consisting of histories of townships, genealogies of old and well-known families, and statistics and data relating to the early history of the Northern and Southern States.

Gifts have also been received from the Imperial German Embassy, the Duc d'Alva, Mr. Lewis Einstein, Mr. Samuel P. Avery, and Mr. Charles H. Senff.

Kindergarten Club.

The Kindergarten Club held its first meeting last Friday when the new comers united formally with the club and were welcomed by the old members.

It was voted to make the club open to any outsiders interested in kindergarten work, and arranged that at the next meeting volunteers should relate to the club any experience which they had had with children aside from regular college work.

Social Settlement Work.

The first week of the Boys' Club, which has been founded by the Social Settlement Committee of the Columbia Christian Association, has been very successful. The work is at present conducted in the Teachers College School at 555 West 129th street, but the new Speyer School building will be used as soon as it is completed. About seventy-five boys have been in attendance each evening, and at least five men have been on hand to take charge of the work. A different group of boys is assigned to each evening of the week.

The possibilities of the field are practically boundless, and the only limitation at present is that imposed by the cramped quarters in the old school building. The yard has been fitted up as a basket-ball court; a game-room and room for regular club meetings also are immediately available, as well as a shop for the manual work. The work is looked on with great interest and enthusiasm, not only by the boys, but by their parents as well, and the whole situation is full of promise.

Missionary Address.

On Wednesday, October 15th, Miss Anna B. West, a Missionary from Tokio, Japan, addressed the students in the Theatre. Miss West described the wonderful progress of Japan in civilization during its comparatively few years of communication with the outside world, and urged the use of the mission study class as the most effective means of becoming thoroughly acquainted with conditions in Japan and other heathen countries.

First Chapel Service.

The first chapel service of the year was held on Friday, October 10th. The Rev. Dr. Grosvenor, the only clergyman on the board of Trustees, made a short address. He spoke first of his pleasure at beginning the services for the year, and of his desire to help any student who needed aid in a religious or other way. He then went on to say that the purpose of a college education was to train the character and the mind so that in after life we might be able to give the very best that was in us for the attainment of some high ambition.
