The Barnard Bear held a business meeting on Thursday, November 20. At this meeting the following girls were elected members of the Society: Edna Simpson, 1900; Ellice Fitch, 1903; Agnes Durant, 1904; Charlotte Morgan, 1904; Mabel Denton, 1904; May Parker, 1904; Elsie Ehrich, 1905; Alice Draper, 1905; Lily Murray, 1905; Ruth Reeder, 1905.

A letter from Mr. Hamilton W. Mabie was read in which he accepted the invitation of the Society to speak before its members and their friends on Monday, November 24th. The following committees were appointed to take charge of this meeting:

The Reception Committee—Eleanor Phelps, 1902, chairman; May Moen, 1903; Margaret Stone, 1904; Annie Fisher, 1905.

The Refreshment Committee—Madelaine Skinner, 1903, chairman; Hope Purdon, 1905; Helen Cooley, 1905.

"The Barnard Bear" extends to the undergraduate body of Barnard College a cordial invitation to attend a lecture by Mr. Hamilton W. Mabie on "Books and their Authors" on Monday, November 24th at four o'clock, in the theatre, Brinckerhoff Hall.

At the meeting of the Barnard Bear on November 21, "Beauchamp's Career" was discussed and parts of the book were read aloud. It was decided to read and discuss the following books: Gilbert Parker's "Pierre and His People," Henry James's "Portrait of a Lady," and "The Wings of a Dove."

Alumnæ News.

The president of the Associate Alumnae has appointed a committee of three, with Miss Gildersleeve as chairman, to confer with the Dean on the needs of the college.

Some years ago the alumnae gave an entertainment, the proceeds of which were devoted to the equipment of the Ella Weed Memorial Room.

Within recent years, the proceeds of a concert were given to the Students' Aid Committee.

The committee which conferred with Miss Gill reported the results of their joint deliberations to the Board of Directors of the Associate Alumnae in order that an effort may be made to raise the money necessary to fill the most important need of the college.

Chapel.

On Friday, November 14th, Mr. W. A. Braun spoke in the chapel on the subject, "Courageous Christianity."

On Friday, November 21st, Dr. Jefferson, of the Broadway Tabernacle, spoke on "The Power of Influence."

New Lockers.

In response to a unanimous request of the Undergraduate Association, a new arrangement will shortly be made to supplement the accommodations of the coat-room. The class studies are to be fitted out with lockers, each one of which will be twelve by fifteen inches in depth. This space will be large enough to hold books, fountain pens, etc. The door of each locker will be provided with a space for the owner's card and a drop for mail. In order to avoid the inconvenience of carrying keys, combination locks will be used. The Senior Study will be the first one to be thus equipped.

1906 Notes.

A special meeting of the Freshman Class was held on November 20th. At this meeting the Freshmen chose for their motto: "Esse quam videri;" for class flower, the marguerite, and for colors, white and gold. They elected for historian, Hazel Plate, for Freshman member of the Undergraduate Play Committee, Elizabeth Post; and for members of the First Tea Committee, Mary Murtha and Jessie Condit.

The Freshmen also held their first class party on Thursday, November 20th. The program consisted of a piano solo by Lovenia Dorsett; a song by Elizabeth Donigan, and several tableaux representing different advertisements, as "Sunny Jim," and "Jim Dumps." The members of the entertainment committee were Josephine Paddock, chairman; Elizabeth Donigan, Elizabeth Evans, Eleanor Holden, and Lilian Howard.

Athletic Association.

A special meeting of the Athletic Association was held on Wednesday, November 19. Edith Somborn, '06, and Lillian Howard, '06, were unanimously elected Freshman members of the basket-ball and tennis executive committees respectively. It was agreed that Mr. French, who had asked for the use of the tennis court on holidays and during the summer months, be given permission to play on the court at such specified times whenever it was not in use by Barnard students.

The Southern Club.

At the meeting of the Southern Club, held on November 20, at Teachers College, the new constitution and by-laws were adopted. The name was changed to the Woman's Southern Club of Columbia University. A vice-president and corresponding secretary from Teachers College were elected. The election of the graduate vice-president was indefinitely postponed.

University News.

Farewell Visit of M. Cambon.

M. Jules Cambon, French Ambassador to the United States, paid a farewell visit to Columbia yesterday before leaving this country for good. In honor of the occasion exercises were held in the Horace Mann Auditorium. Professor Cohn met M. Cambon at the Holland House and escorted him to the Horace Mann School, where he was received by President Butler and the members of the Romance Department.

Among those on the platform were the Duc de Loubat, M. Velten, French vice-consul at New York; M. de Margeri, of the French Embassy in Washington; Professor Aubert, representing the Alliance Francaise; M. Maillard, representing the Societe Francaise de Bienfaisance, Professor Violette Scharf, representing the Alliance Francaise de Brooklyn; Dr. Fournier, of Tulane University; Dr. Kane, representing the Cercle Francais Franco-American; and Dr. Bahlsen, of Teachers College. President Butler made the opening address, welcoming M. Cambon. He spoke of the distinguished services Ambassador Cambon had rendered during his term of office, to the United States, to France and to the cause of education. He said:

"As French Ambassador his relations were not merely sentimental, but he had exerted a powerful influence in many fields, especially as an exponent of true republican ideas.

"Now, when he is leaving, the whole world is at peace, and the great leaders in the world are all working for the benefit of humanity. M. Cambon has contributed largely to extend this friendship among the peoples of the world.

"M. Cambon has been a true friend of education, and has materially aided in fostering commerce between men of science and between men of letters. He has always responded to Columbia's calls, and by his services has proven himself a man full of intellectual life. In bidding farewell we can only hope that his services in the future may win the admiration of mankind as in the past.

M. Cambon then spoke, emphasizing the importance of universities in the United States.

"The United States, like France, is a composite of many different races. This, far from being a defect, increases the solidity of the nation. For instance, Turkey is composed of but one race, yet lacks unity, while France has this unity.

"The United States has a great work before her. She must carry on the work only begun by France; upon her rests the duty

BARNARD BULLETIN,

BARNARD COLLEGE,

Broadway & 119th Street.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, N. Y.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1905.

The promised locker system will be received with enthusiasm by every girl in Barnard. By the present arrangement, safety is ensured to our property, but the inconvenience of keeping books in the coat-room is so great that very few care to avail themselves of the privilege. Then, too, though notes placed in the letter boxes are not likely to be lost, it is extremely troublesome to wait while one's mail is found and handed over the counter. Communication between students has been much hindered of late for this reason. The new plan, however, will do away with all these difficulties and will even mark a decided improvement over the old arrangement of leaving mail in the telephone room. The possibility of losing or forgetting keys, moreover, is excluded by the fact that combination locks are to be provided. There is much cause for satisfaction on the part of all students, and thanks are due to Mr. Goetze for his prompt solution of the problem.

Whether the editors of the Mortarboard, in deciding to charge the Undergraduate Association and each class for representation in the year-book, have remained strictly within the limits of their rights, is scarcely a doubtful question. The method introduced last year of charging a small sum from every society represented, exclusive of organizations devoted to philanthropic work, is, indeed, quite justifiable in view of the heavy expense involved in publication. But the Mortarboard is the annual of the entire college and not of the class that issues it. The task of publishing it was originally undertaken by a committee of undergraduates and later, for the sake of convenience, was allotted to the Junior Class. To charge the Undergraduate Association, therefore, for the page given to it in its own book is plainly an absurdity; and it is hardly more sensible to expect that each class, which is merely a fraction of the whole Association, should pay for being represented. We have not inquired whether the Junior Class will pay the same tax as that levied on the classes, but such is doubtless the case.

The course open to the Undergraduate Association and each of the classes is so completely obvious that we do not feel called on to indicate it.

It has come to our notice that many of the girls who are interested in the social and educational betterment of New York are working under various philanthropic organizations. Although we do not wish to say anything derogatory to the interests of any of these organizations, yet we should like to call particular attention to the needs of the College Settlement Association. This Association is strictly a college affair, and for the success of the Barnard Chapter, at least, we, as a college, are responsible. It seems to us, therefore, that some of the students who have time for such work should feel an obligation toward an organization which is strictly their own and which needs assistance.

It must not be thought, however, that active work is the only help that the College Settlement Association needs. Those who are unable to work may help by joining the Association and by showing sufficient interest to attend the meetings. The workers in the field greatly need the inspiration of a generous and enthusiastic support.

Everyone in the college will be heartily glad to see by the notice in another column of the BULLETIN that "La Societe Francaise" is again coming to the front and intends soon to begin active work. For the French society, if properly organized and supported, ought to become a very important factor among the college organizations and afford an opportunity for those who are especially interested in the study of French to meet together both for literary and social purposes.

While the society has done nothing especially this fall to show the college that it is still alive, it has been quietly planning and consulting with the French department as to its future career. The society hopes to develop into something larger and more useful than it has been before and to create a higher standard for itself. The executive committee deserves the co-operation of all members in these aims. Not only the support of the members, however, but also the sympathy and interest of the college at large will be necessary if the new aspirations are to be realized.

The amendment to the constitution of that the debaters shall, each week, choose the Debating Society, which provides that the debaters shall, each week, choose their own subject, has, so far, proved rather disappointing. Last year, when the club chose the topics to be discussed the debaters were distinguished for their present interest, and aroused much enthusiasm. The subject for November 21st, however, was not of a character which permitted of much enthusiasm. It was too academic, too hackneyed to be very interesting and the debaters themselves seemed to feel no very strong convictions in the matter. Still, the ability displayed in the debate convinces us that were the subjects appropriate, the debates would be of great interest.

We take pleasure in announcing the election of Caroline Lexow, '04, to the board of managing editors.

Correspondence.

Although we are glad to publish letters signed by their writers, we are not responsible for the sentiments expressed. Unsigned letters will not be published.

To the Editor of the BULLETIN:

Some weeks ago you made a kind offer in these columns to establish a students' bureau, and asked for suggestions as to the details of the plan. As this practical idea of Miss Berg has not yet been acted upon, I give these hints, hoping for a speedy establishment of a bureau. Now, in some of the colleges, there is a bulletin board, similar to those in our studies, upon which students place notices of what they would like to do to gain a little more pin money. Such things as making turn-over collars, washing dishes after class parties, doing typewriting, etc., seem to me feasible. The board might be placed in the "Bulletin Room" and consulted by the students. Also samples of work could be kept there, and shown to possible purchasers during the daily hours when the editors are "at home." This merely offered as a suggestion, if no better is forthcoming.

A JUNIOR.

La Societe Francaise.

There will be a meeting of La Societe Francaise on Wednesday, November 26, at 12.20, in Room 204. The business of this meeting will be the discussion of a new constitution, dues, and time for social meetings.

All of the members are especially urged to come to this meeting promptly.

University Council Meeting.
 The stated meeting of the University Council was held last Tuesday afternoon at 3.30 in the Trustees' room. A great deal of business was transacted. Among other things the question of changing the Academic Calendar was discussed. This matter has to do with a possible lengthening of the college year and the creating of an Easter vacation. It was brought up for consideration last year and was then referred to a committee. The question has not been decided as yet, however.

The Debating Society.
 At the first regular meeting of the Debating Society, held Friday, November 21, the question of Hamlet's madness was argued before the club. Miss Draper, 1905, and Miss Farley, 1905, upheld the affirmative; Miss Denton, 1904, and Miss Boulger, 1904, the negative. Both sides produced strong arguments to make their points and the club decided that the negative was the stronger of the two.

Professor Cohn concluded the exercises with an eulogy of M. Cambon. He referred to him as the living demonstration of all that the members of the Romance department had told their students, of the genius, large comprehension of humanity, and clearness, of the French genius.

Honors in German.
 Candidates for final honors in German to be awarded at the close of the current academic year will submit an essay upon "Schiller's Attitude Toward the French Revolution," or upon "The Herrmannschlacht of Klopstock Compared with that of H. von Kleist."
 Candidates for junior honors will prepare for examination upon "The Ballads of Goethe and Schiller."
 CALVIN THOMAS.

The constitution was amended to read that instead of the club, four debaters should each time choose their own subject.
 Professor Brewster and Miss Gildersleeve are the coaches; Miss Gildersleeve acts also as the critic.

Dr. Loeb to Leave Chicago.
 Dr. Jacques Loeb, head of the department of physiology of the University of Chicago, has accepted the offer of the University of California to become head of its new department of physiology. Dr. Loeb will be remembered by many students who attended his lectures at Columbia last win-
