JUNIOR BALL.

On Wednesday evening, February 11th, the Class of 1904 held its Junior ball in the Columbia Gymnasium, which was handsomely decorated by Nicholas. Palms were banked in various places, and blue and white bunting was draped around the running track and the visitors' gallery. On the walls were hung Barnard banners and American flags, and couches with cushions were placed in different parts of the room. From the centre of the ceiling was suspended a huge ball of daffodils, the class flower, and during the supper dance, this ball suddenly opened and tiny Barnard flags were showered on the dancers.

At nine o'clock the reception began, at which the patronesses and the members of the committee received. The dancing commenced and ended at an earlier hour than customary heretofore. After the twelfth dance, supper was served around the Swimming Pool.

The music was furnished by Muller and his orchestra of ten pieces. On the covers of the dance orders, which were of rough pale blue paper, the Barnard pin was embossed in gold, and the orders were fastened with white silk cord and tassel.

The members of the committee, who had entire charge of the affair and who are to be congratulated on their careful arrangements which were so successfully carried out, were: Jean Loomis, chairman; Edith Appell, Lucy Embury, Helena Fischer, Lena Miller, Clara Applegate, ex-officio, and Jean Egleston, ex-officio.

The patronesses of the ball were: Mrs. George C. Appell, Mrs. Octavius Applegate, Mrs. Morris Beifeld, Mrs. Frank Muchler Chapman, Mrs. Mortimer Lamson Earle, Mrs. Melville Egleston, Mrs. Adolpho Hedrick Fischer, Mrs. George C. Fountain, Miss Laura D. Gill, Mrs. George L. Miller, Mrs. Henry Fairfield Osborn.

THE TEA COMMITTEE.

The members of the committee in charge of the Undergraduate tea on Friday, February 20th, are as follows: May Johnson, chairman, and Laura Van Aise, 1903; Caroline Lexow and Theodora Curtis, 1904; Mildred Farmer and Ethel Hendricks, 1905; ~~Patricia~~ James and Edna Stitt, 1906.

UNDERGRADUATE TEA.

Tea cards for the Undergraduate tea, February 20th, may be obtained from Caroline Lexow, '04, or Theodora Curtis, '04.

LOCKERS.

The order has been given for lockers for the Senior and Junior studies. The Senior lockers are expected in about two weeks, those for the Junior study may not be ready quite so soon.

DEBATING SOCIETY.

There was no quorum at the regular joint meeting of the Debating Society held February 13th. Nevertheless the debate proceeded as usual. The subject was: "Resolved that a gymnasium course of two years be prescribed at Barnard. Florence Hubbard, '04 and Hope Purdon, '05 argued on the affirmative. May Parker, '04 and Anna Ware, '03 argued on the negative. The negative won. The debate was one of the most entertaining ever presented before the society. This was due in large measure to the fact that it was entirely extemporaneous.

THE UNDERGRADUATE ASSOCIATION

The following report of the Play Committee was accepted by the Undergraduate Association on February 13th:

ARTICLE I.

The play shall be "The Honeymoon," by John Tabin.

ARTICLE II.

There shall be two performances on Friday and Saturday afternoons, April 17th and 18th.

ARTICLE III.

The expenses shall be about $300.

ARTICLE IV.

The Undergraduate Association shall appropriate $100 toward paying the expenses.

ARTICLE V.

Tickets for students of the college shall be $0.50; for outsiders $1.00. Students must buy tickets for each performance attended.

The chairman of the Play Committee announced that Mr. Sanger would hold trials for parts on Wednesday afternoon, February 18th, in the theatre at 4 o'clock. Students who wish to try for the play should put their names together with the parts they wish to take in the box placed in the Senior Study for that purpose. Students should be prompt in coming to the trials on Wednesday.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA ENTERTAINS.

On Monday, February 9, the Alpha Zeta Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta entertained the members of the college and their friends. Mrs. Haynes, who was formerly Minna Gale of Booth's company, recited the following numbers:

- I. The Ballad of East and West,
Rudyard Kipling
- II. (a) "If all the Ships I Have at Sea,"
Ella Wheeler Wilcox
- (b) Incident of the French Camp,
Robert Browning
- (c) Seein' Things,
Eugene Field

- III. The Rajput Nurse,
Shakespeare
- IV. (a) Othello's Speech to the Senate,
Shakespeare
- (b) Paraphrase of the same by a Frenchman.

- V. Lady Macbeth's Letter Scene,
Shakespeare

There was music before and after the program, and between several numbers and after the recitations refreshments were served.

CLASS DAY COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of 1903, Friday, February 13th, the Class Day Committee was elected: Ethel Wilcox, chairman; Helen King, Anita Cahn, Ethel Pool, Gulielma Alsop. The dance committee will be elected later. The dance will take place on June 3d. Class day will be the 5th of June.

EDITORIAL.

That the Junior ball was a success was shown by the enthusiasm of the guests and the whole-hearted way in which everybody entered into the fun of the evening. Everything possible was done to increase the enjoyment which could be derived from the entertainment, and the greatest praise and thanks are due to the committee for the successful carrying out of its undertaking. Effective decorations, music, and the natural exuberance of spirit always found among college students after the depressing ordeal of midyears combined to create the atmosphere necessary for a thoroughly enjoyable dance. If we compare this ball with those of previous years we find that, with much to praise, there are still some unfavorable points of difference. The tank room, where supper was served, was a great improvement over the crowded quarters of last year and the unusually long intermission between the first and second parts of the ball was a great boon to weary dancers. On the other hand, the orchestra, placed in front of the north entrance was at times almost too clamorous, and many longed to have it removed to its old position in the northwest corner of the gymnasium. The crowds in the cloak room appeared to be badly managed, but all classes have found this a most difficult problem to solve, and 1904 with its large numbers and hosts of friends could hardly be expected to meet the difficulty. These things were minor matters, however, the dance as a whole was one of the pleasantest ever given by a Barnard class.

There has been a feeling among a certain number of students that the Junior ball should continue till daylight as it usually has in former years. These students feel that it is wholly their right to decide upon the duration of the ball. Nevertheless the opinion that early hours should be kept is prevalent among some students as well as among some of those in authority. The matter should be looked at from an unpersonal point of view. It is possible to get as much enjoyment out of an early dance as out of a late one, even though at first thought it may not seem so. The tone of a dance is certainly not improved by keeping it up till daylight. During the last hour or two the spirit of both dancers and musicians is apt to lag. Then too many students find it impossible to become thoroughly rested in time to take up their regular college work; even the intervention of a holiday often does not suffice. Although this question as to when dancing shall cease at the Junior balls seems to be rather an important one, like all small matters connected with the college, it helps to give the general atmosphere that must be peculiar to Barnard.

We are delighted to see that "The Honeymoon," by John Tabin has been chosen by the Undergraduate Association to be presented in April. This is the first attempt to give a modern play and the change will be a welcome one to the students and their friends. "The Honeymoon" has good dramatic action and nothing but the hearty cooperation of the students with the Play Committee and Mr. Sanger is necessary to ensure its success.

1901 LUNCHEON.

Twenty-two members of the class of 1901 met at the Hotel St. James on Thursday, February 12. The luncheon partaken of there was very pleasant. Souvenirs in the shape of red hearts had been cleverly decorated with drawings of college girls by one of the class members. After the luncheon, the gatherings adjourned to the Garrick Theatre where they enjoyed Miss Russell's production of "Mice and Men."

C. S. M. A.

The regular monthly meeting of the C. S. M. A. was held on Wednesday, February 11th. A description of the serious atmosphere of the C. S. M. A. convention, and of the earnest spirit shown by the delegates was given by Miss Rogers and Miss Draper. Afterwards a brief account of the progress of missionary work in Africa, China, Japan and Brazil was furnished by Miss Beeckman.

BARNARD VS. ADELPHI.

The Barnard basket-ball team is scheduled to play Adelphi college on Saturday morning, February 14th, at 11:30 in Brooklyn. Any one desiring to go to the game may meet with the team at South Ferry at 10:15. It is urged that there will be a large number of Barnard sympathizers at the game.

BARNARD, 1906 VS. SACHS'S SCHOOL.

On Saturday, February 14, Barnard defeated Sachs's school in basket-ball, 9 to 1. The winning team did fine passing. The field goals for Barnard were thrown by Edith Semborn (2), Belle Russell (1), Caroline Hall (1). One foul goal was thrown by Lina Seligman, one by Miss Clark for Sachs's team. Barnard had a white dog for mascot.

ENGLISH GRADUATE CLUB.

The English Graduate Club was organized during the first weeks of last term with the purpose of bringing the students in the Graduate Department of English into closer touch with each other. Mr. J. Erskine and Mr. O. B. Capen, were elected president and secretary of the club. The following executive committee was appointed to arrange for meetings, etc.; A. M. Lederer, 1904L., W. E. Thomas, Ph. and H. E. Goddard, Ph.

So far there have been three meetings which have resulted most satisfactorily. It has been decided to hold meetings the second Tuesday of each month at which time some prominent literary man will be invited to speak. There has been no definite schedule made out, except that Mr. Hamlin Garland will speak at the next meeting to be held February 17.

CLASSICAL CLUB MEETING.

The Classical Club held its last regular meeting Friday, February 6. Professor Perry gave a very interesting talk, illustrated by lantern slides, of his travels through the Peloponnesus and the Greek Islands. Professor Earle discussed in Latin the text of the first chapter of Book I. of Caesar's Gallic Wars. The regular meetings of the club take place on the first and third Fridays of each month.

LECTURE ON WAGNER.

On Wednesday, February 11th, Dr. E. Baruch delivered a German lecture on "Wagner as a Poet." The rainy weather did not seem to lessen the attendance which was unusually large, and included several opera singers.

The lecturer said that it was a common misconception that Wagner was first and foremost a composer, his music overshadowing his poetry. But Wagner used music as a reinforcement of his dramatic productions. In fact, the very earliest works of Richard Wagner were novels of unusual literary merit. He also wrote a satirical drama. These works have not yet received their merited recognition.

Dr. Baruch next took up the operas in order and dwelt on the admirable development of their plot and the tremendous conception of tragic force in the words. He emphasized also the wonderful characterizations of the personages, especially of Elsa in Lohengrin, Elizabeth, in Tannhauser, and Isolde in Tristan and Isolde, characterizing the last named as the embodiment of Wagner's ideal of love.

At the same time Dr. Baruch strengthened his claim for the master as a great writer by numerous striking quotations from the famous operas; these were delivered in a very charming manner.

PROF. JACKSON LEAVES FOR PERSIA.

Leave of absence has been granted to Professor Jackson so that he may make a visit to Persia for study and research. Through the kindness of Secretary Hay, Professor Jackson has been furnished with letters to the important government officials. His trip should be an unusually successful one. During his absence his course of instruction will be carried on by his colleagues and by Dr. Louis Herbert Grey, of Princeton University.
