DEATH OF PROFESSOR PRICE.

Thomas R. Price, M.A., LL.D., Professor of English Language and Literature in Columbia University, died at 7 o'clock on May 7, at his apartments in the Nevada. The funeral services took place on Sunday, May 10, at 2 o'clock, at Old Trinity. Members of the Department of English acted as pall-bearers and the University Council attended the services in a body.

UNDERGRADUATE MEETING.

At the meeting of the Undergraduate Association on Monday, May 4, the chairman of the executive committee reported that the Dean had almost decided upon Room 216 for the work of the Students' Exchange, and that the Dean suggested that the students change Field Day from March 6 to April 17, on which day the Trustees accepted the gift of land. The students decided not to change the date, since it was on March 6 that the news was announced to them, and they had their first celebration. In answer to the suggestion that the weather in April would be more suitable for a Field Day, the students said that, as there are so many undergraduate affairs in April, they could better spare the time in March.

The chairman of the Play Committee could not make a financial report as the business is not all settled. It was moved that a vote of thanks be sent from the Undergraduate Association to Mr. Daniel Frohman and to Mr. Eugene Sanger.

The following elections for next year then took place: President, Clara M. Applegate 1904; Chairman of the Executive Committee, Katharine S. Doty 1904; Treasurer, Alice Haskell 1906, and the Sophomore Member of the Executive Committee, Virginia Taylor 1906.

1903 NOTES.

Elections.

At the meeting of 1903 on Wednesday, May 6, the alumnae officers were elected: President, Jean Miller; vice-president, Anna Ware; secretary, Marion Latham; treasurer, Helen King.

It was decided to invite the Junior Class to the Class Day exercises.

Concert.

A concert will be given by the Columbia University Glee Club on Thursday, May 14, at 8:15 in the theatre. Tickets 50 cents. The proceeds of the concert will go toward lessening the expenses of the Barnard Class Day.

THE SOPHOMORE PLAY.

The mystery which has been puzzling Barnard for the past month is at last cleared up. Shakespeare, himself, it seems, was not too pretentious for the dramatic ability of 1905. The original play was somewhat abbreviated to be sure, but still 1905 has broken the record and given us Shakespeare at last. The audience was rather mystified by the handbill. No one knew but what some clever Sophomore had satirized the Taming of the Shrew; but, as the play went on, the spectators began to realize that Ye Taming of Ye Shrew was the real thing. A copy of the Handbill will explain, perhaps, the mystification of the audience.

Old English songs were sung between the acts by Elizabeth Boorman and Laura Parker. They were accompanied by the Glee Club. The presentation as a whole carried out the old English method of staging. The scenery consisted of a dark red background, a few pieces of tapestry and a small balcony which was never changed. Two pages, whose graceful movements added much to the beauty of the entertainment, put up the signs indicating the locations of the scenes, gathered up the plates broken by Petruchio, arranged tables and chairs when the occasion demanded, and made themselves generally useful.

Taken as a whole, the play was interesting, and the blank verse seemed to present no difficulties for the actors. The recitations were rarely if ever jerky or sing-song. When the reviewer attempts to criticise the individual performers, however, her task

WOMEN'S UNIVERSITY CLUB.

Notice.

The Women's University Club of the City of New York was established in 1901 for the social welfare of college-bred women. The clubhouse at 13 East 24th street, was opened in November, 1901. It contains attractive bed-rooms, assembly-rooms and dining-room. The facilities of the restaurant have proved to be particularly convenient for club members. The assembly-rooms may be rented for the use of college or other social organizations. During the past two years, entertainments of a literary or musical character have been given at the clubhouse and have been a means of pleasant social intercourse for the many college women of New York.

The present membership of the club is about six hundred. The annual dues of resident members are $10. Of non-resident members, $5.00. The initiation fee is $10. In applying for membership in the club the candidate's name should be proposed and seconded by club members in letters stating the candidate's qualifications for membership, to the chairman of the Committee on Admission (13 East 24th street).

Tea.

On Thursday, May 14, Miss Flornce Colgate, who is now retiring from service as the Alumna Trustee of the College, will give a tea at the Women's University Club in order to introduce her successor, Mrs. Frank G. Bryson, to the permanent members of the board.

MONDAY, MAY 11, 1903.

It is with deep regret that we announce the death of Professor Price. Aside from the loss that the University has suffered from the death of one of its foremost scholars, the students will feel his loss individually, for he had greatly endeared himself to all his classes by his gentle and inspiring personality.

There are some things about college which through the influence of custom one learns to accept as inevitable. Many of these are not inevitable and when inconveniencing a large number of persons demand a word of protest. Of this nature is the delay in the appearance of the catalogue. Every year the appearance of the catalogue is delayed until just before the final examinations, yet so far as the students are concerned, no more unfortunate time could be chosen for its appearance. The making out of a schedule is a matter which should demand care and thought. After a student finds it necessary to make extensive enquiries about a course before deciding whether or not it exactly meets her needs. Though it may be objected that it is as easy to decide this before the appearance of the catalogue as after, yet such a decision could never be more than provisional. No student can be sure that among the new courses introduced every year there will not be some which she will wish to elect, and, in addition, conflict in the hours of lectures which are almost sure to occur, would make the most carefully planned schedule utterly useless. Why may we not have our catalogue earlier in the spring?

CORRESPONDENCE.

Although we are glad to publish letters signed by their writers, we are not responsible for the sentiments expressed. Unsigned letters will receive no attention.

To the Editor of the BULLETIN:

To the Editors of the BARNARD BULLETIN: Before making any suggestions as to the regulation of future "Greek Games," I want to say that I agree with the majority in believing that the festival was a success and a novel and appropriate idea for an annual Freshman-Sophomore meet. In fact, it is generally hoped that the annual contest will become a permanent feature of college life.

Nevertheless, there has been some unfavorable criticism, especially by the upper classes, of the details of management. My point, in short, is that there would be greater harmony and even better regulation than heretofore if the "Greek Games" were conducted by a committee of Seniors and Juniors with perhaps the Freshman and Sophomore presidents.

AN ALUMNA.

DEPARTMENTAL CHANGES.

Several new courses will be given in the Department of English next year. Professor Trent will give a course on Literature of the Eighteenth Century, which will be open to seniors who have taken two English courses. Professor Brewster will lecture on Nineteenth Century Fiction and also on Prose Writers of the Nineteenth Century to graduate students. Miss Gildersleeve will conduct a course in argumentation as has already been announced.

In the Department of Germanic Languages and Literatures there will be two new lectures: Dr. Frederick W. J. Heuser, lecturer, and Annina Periam, assistant.

In the Department of Romance Languages there is the addition of Richard Thayer Holbrook, who will lecture on French literature.

Stephen A. Hurlbut, lecturer, will teach in the Department of Classical Philology.

Miss Marie Reimer will lecture in the Department of Chemistry.

Dr. Gertrude M. Hirst and Miss Julia Nelson Colles have been advanced to the rank of tutor in their departments.

SOUTHERN CLUB.

On Monday, May 4, the Woman's Southern Club elected these officers for the following year: President, Elizabeth Coltin, Teachers College; first vice-president, Mary D. Lee, Barnard; second vice-president, Sarah Rogers, Teachers College; third vice-president, Frances Berkeley, graduate student; recording secretary, Anne Gash, Teachers College; corresponding secretary, Lucy L. Powell, Teachers College; treasurer, Alice Rheinstein, Barnard.

On Tuesday, May 12, the club will give a reception to the honorary members, the faculty, and the friends of the members at Earl Hall.

NOTICE.

There are three fountain pens in the cloak room waiting to be claimed by their owners.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ELECTIONS.

The regular spring meeting of the Athletic Association was held on Monday, May 4. Before the meeting was called to order, Cecil Dorrian 1905, was re-elected captain of the college team by the members and substitutes of the present team. The association then elected the following officers and committees for next year: President, Helen W. Cooley 1905; vice-president, Abigail A. Talbot 1905, secretary; Edith B. Handy 1905; treasurer, Caroline Hall 1906; tennis executive committee—Jean Egleston 1904, chairman; Helena Fischer 1904, and Annie Fisher 1905; basketball executive committee—Irma Seeligman 1906, chairman, and Anna Riley 1905. Cecil Dorrian, being captain of the team, is a member, ex-officio, of the basketball executive committee. According to the constitution of the Athletic Association, the fourth members of the executive committees are elected in the fall, so that they may be elected from the Freshman Class, if desired.

After the election of officers and committees, it was decided that the trustees of the college be asked to fix up a basketball field on the newly acquired land south of the college. The trustees offered to arrange for a tennis court or basketball field, whichever the association most desired. As the college already has a court, but no outdoor basketball field, the Association voted to ask for the latter.

TENNIS.

The class matches of the tournament have been played off. Class champions are: Elsbeth Kroeber '03, Jean Egleston '04, Edith Handy '05, and Lilian Howard '06. The interclass matches will be played this week.

EXCHANGE BUREAU.

From Monday, May 11, until Friday, May 15, from 11:30 until 12:30, there will be one member of the Exchange Bureau Committee present in the Alumnae Room ready to transact business. It is proposed that the girls bring the books that they wish to sell or rent in the fall in order that they may be catalogued now. The committee also desires to get whatever articles the girls of the college may wish to sell, in order that they may be better prepared to continue the work in the fall. It is hoped that the girls of the college will do all they can to help the bureau to be a success.

J. M. Wick, Chairman.

"AS YOU LIKE IT."

On Thursday afternoon, May 14, at 3 o'clock, "As You Like It" will be presented at South Field. This will be the first open-air performance ever given in New York City. The proceeds will be given to the Kindergarten of the University Settlement. Reserved seats at $2 each may be procured from R. C. Megrue at the Columbia Spectator office. In the event of rain, the performance will be postponed until May 15.

UNDERGRADUATE MEETING.

grows difficult. Shakespeare, presented by Sophomores was even more startling than The Adventures of Lady Ursula, given by Freshmen. It looks as though 1905 were trying to "out-Herod Herod" and it will be interesting to see how 1906 will compete, next year, with this very ambitious performance. Petruchio deserves unqualified praise for his pluck in appearing in spite of a voice which certainly caused him much trouble. It is certain that it proved a source of more inconvenience to him than of annoyance to the audience, who soon forgot it in their interest in his bright and vigorous acting.

Shrewish is not quite the adjective, perhaps, to apply to the petulant, rather than stormy, character of Katharina as depicted by Florence I. Nye. A little more exaggeration and abandon would have suited that role better. Grumio was excellent. The part was well worked up and exceedingly amusing. His scene with the Tailor, and indeed the Tailor himself, demand special mention.

The space unfortunately does not admit of detailed criticism of each individual actor. Suffice it to say that, considering the very ambitious character of the performance and the disadvantages under which several of the actors labored, the rendering was fairly creditable. Under ordinary circumstances it might justly be said that 1905 would have done well to choose a less pretentious play—one more clearly within the powers of the performers—but owing to the disabilities mentioned above such a criticism is hardly warranted.
