UNDERGRADUATE MEETING.

A regular meeting of the Undergraduate Association was held on Thursday, November 12, at 12:30, in the Theatre.

The Treasurer reported that the balance in the treasury was $338.72.

The following resolutions, read by the Chairman of the Executive Committee, were adopted:

Whereas the opening of the tennis courts on Milbank Quadrangle has afforded a much-needed addition to the opportunities of Barnard students for exercise; and

Whereas the value of these courts to Barnard students is shown by the fact that since they were opened the demand for them has frequently been greater than could be satisfied; and

Whereas the opportunities of Barnard students to use the courts have been curtailed by granting to Teachers College students the exclusive right to the use of these tennis courts on Milbank Quadrangle on Tuesday and Saturday afternoons, be it

RESOLVED, That the Undergraduate Association of Barnard College regrets deeply the exclusion of Barnard students from the tennis courts on Milbank Quadrangle on Tuesday and Saturday afternoons, and hopes that the action by which the exclusive right to the courts on these afternoons was granted to Teachers College students may be reconsidered; and be it

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Dean and be inserted in the minutes.

The President announced that the Sub-Treasurers of the classes are as follows: Mildred Adey, 1904; Nina Schultz, 1905; and Elizabeth Brautigam, 1906. The Freshman Sub-Treasurer has not yet been elected.

The members of the Play Committee are: Lizzette Metcalfe, Chairman, and Helen Erskine, 1904; Annie F. Fisher and Pamela Lyall, 1905; Ella J. Reaney, 1906. The Freshman member has not yet been elected.

The Chairman of the Tea Committee reported that the expenses of the tea of Friday, November 6, were $124, and the receipts from the sale of tea-cards were about $90.

The Undergraduate Association then elected Katharine Rapp, the Freshman member of the Executive Committee.

THE BARNARD BEAR.

There will be a meeting of the Barnard Bear on Friday, November 20, at 4:30, in the Bulletin Room. The subject for discussion will be Kurtz's "Five Nations." A copy of this book may be found on the Bear shelf in the Bulletin Room.

DEUTSCHER KREIS.

On Tuesday, November 17, at 4 o'clock, the Deutscher Kreis will give a play. All are invited to be present.

DEBATING CLUB.

At the meeting of the Debating Club, Friday, November 13, the subject for debate was "Should the students of Teachers College be allowed the exclusive use of the tennis courts two afternoons a week?" May Parker and Charlotte Morgan took the affirmative, Grace Parvly and Elizabeth Lyall the negative side. The affirmative

DEMAND FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES.

In a recent address at Boston University, Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer brought out the fact that in three professions, at least, there is a demand for trained college women. Notwithstanding the great number of cases in which such women are needed, it has so far seemed impossible to find them. Among the many women who have had scientific training, few take up medicine as a profession. Trained nursing is a profession which is practically that of a physician and which also calls for women who have had scientific discipline. Moreover, when one remembers the great number of hospitals which have been and are being built throughout the country, it is easy to see that the demand for trained nurses will be continually greater. This is a very great opportunity, and one which offers a far more remunerative salary than is possible for the average teacher to obtain.

The third of the professions to which Mrs. Palmer called attention is the science of home economics. This, though a new profession, is one for which women are very much needed in our city life. In institutions there is a growing demand for women housekeepers, and salaries of from a hundred, eighteen hundred, and two thousand dollars are offered to women who can fill such positions satisfactorily.

SENIOR ELECTIVES.

The elective courses chosen by the senior class this year, may, in a measure be considered indicative of the influences that have been at work on its members during the past four years. The most popular elective with them is philosophy. English is next in favor, followed by economics and education courses. History is the fifth most popular study. There are more girls choosing courses in science than there are girls choosing foreign languages, and among the foreign languages, modern tongues are chosen more often than Greek and Latin. German is the most popular of the modern languages, and anthropology is the most popular science. This anthropology class, since its transportation from Columbia, has tripled the attendance from Barnard. Among the special method courses given at the Teachers College, the class in the teaching of English in Secondary Schools is the most favored by Barnard students.

PUBLIC LECTURES.

Columbia University will offer two important courses of public lectures this winter—one at the American Museum of Natural History and the other at Cooper Union. At the former, Henry Fairfield Osborn, Sc.D., LL.D., DaCosta Professor of Zoology, will deliver a series of five lectures on "The Horse," to be given on the following dates: February 16, 18, 17, 19, 24, 26.

The Cooper Union lectures will be given by Professor John Bates Clark, Ph.D., LL.D., of the Department of Economics and Social Science, on "The Problem of Monopoly." These lectures will be eight in number and will be delivered on successive Monday evenings in February and March, beginning February 1.

After their completion both series of lectures will be brought out in book form by the Columbia University Press.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The lecture on Beaumarchais, by Professor Cohn, announced for November 12, will be postponed to a later date, and the following will be given in its place: November 12, Comment j'aime à lire Victor Hugo; Mr. Robert L. Dupouey, Agrégé de l'Université de France, Travelling Fellow of the French Ministry of Public Instruction.

F. P. KERR,

Secretary of the University.

The third and fourth lectures in the course, by Professor Stephen Duggan, on the "Slavic Archipelago," will be given on Saturday, November 14th of this month, and on Wednesday and Thursday of the following week, November 18th and 19th.

A. D. F. HAMLIN.

SOCIÉTÉ FRANÇAISE.

The regular social meeting of the Société Française will be on the last Monday in the Month at half-past four. The Société has a number of plans for the entertainment of its members under consideration, but desires that they shall not be announced until they have been definitely decided upon.

1903 NOTES.

At a meeting of the class of 1903 on Monday, November 9, the following elections took place: Junior Sub-Treasurer of the Undergraduate Association, Nina Schultz; Junior members of the Undergraduate Play Committee, Annie Fisher and Pamela Lyall; Junior Show Committee, Edwina Levy, Chairman; Anna Reiley, Blanche Reitlinger, Alice Smith, Mildred Farmer.

BARNARD BOTANICAL CLUB.

The annual business meeting of the Barnard Botanical Club will take place November 21, at half-past three, at 604 West 115th street.

BARNARD BULLETIN,

BARNARD COLLEGE,

Broadway & 119th Street. COLUMBIA UNIV., N. Y.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1903.

The questions which arise as a result of the discussion over the tennis courts are seemingly innumerable. Does the Athletic Association control Milbank Quadrangle? If so, why was not the matter of the tennis courts brought before it? If not, what right has it to restrict the use of the Quadrangle to its members? Is the use of the basket-ball courts two afternoons a week sufficient return for the services of the Teachers College coach? If so, what reason can be assigned for giving up the courts at all? If not, why did not the question of further remuneration come up at the meeting when the agreement was decided upon? Is it just to the girls who play tennis and do not play basket-ball, that the privilege of the tennis courts be given as part payment for the services of the coach, in that they are forced to give that for which they receive no return? These questions we have endeavored to set forth faithfully as they came to us, without, however, attempting to answer them, not, indeed, from any lack of willingness, but from sheer inability.

And, during the past week another query of an entirely different character has arisen. Grant that it is right or inevitable that Teachers College students should have the privilege of our courts two afternoons each week. Yet, suppose that they do not fully avail themselves of this privilege? Last Tuesday one of the courts was vacant during all, or the greater part of the time after half-past one. If both courts had been vacant the whole afternoon, would it have been permitted to Barnard students to make use of them, at least till they were wanted by our neighbors? We surely do not wish to see the courts unused when we cannot ourselves enjoy them, nor do we attribute such a desire to anyone else. Yet any other course might be followed by complications more serious than those which have already arisen.

The fact that the affirmative won in the debate last Friday afternoon throws an interesting side light on the value of these debates for training in argumentation. Whether or not the victory was due to the greater strength of the affirmative position or was a result of superior skill in the presentation of that side, the judgment was presumably just and, therefore, in this particular case, indicative of thorough and honest thinking on the part of the club.

Last spring the Sophomores challenged the Freshmen to meet them in Greek games, and, as most of the students probably remember, these were most successful in developing class spirit, and in deciding the class supremacy. These games were considered so fitting a climax to the usual inter-class hostilities that it was decided to continue the contests from year to year. If 1906 intends to challenge 1907, we urge them to do so at once, so that the games may take place as soon as possible. Last year they occurred in the late spring, when all the students were extremely busy with the Undergraduate Play and the entertainments which necessarily come at the end of the second term; but this time of year is most suitable for the Greek games. The Sophomores should remember also the long time which had last year to be spent in preparation.

MEETING OF ENTRANCE EXAMINATION BOARD.

At the annual meeting of the College Entrance Examination Board, held Saturday, November 7, important business was transacted.

The constitution of the Board was altered so as to permit colleges and universities in all parts of the United States to become members. In future representatives of the secondary schools may be elected not only by the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Middle States and Maryland, but also by the New England, the Southern, and North Central Associations.

The officers of the Board for next year are as follows: Chairman, President Butler; Vice-Chairman, Professor Tyler; Secretary, Professor Thomas S. Fiske. The Executive Committee is Dean F. T. Crane, President Mary E. Wooley, and Principal J. G. Croswell.

The Board announced the list of examiners for '04. Only the Chief Examiners are given here. In each subject two Associate Examiners were announced, but these have been omitted for lack of space:

Botany: William Francis Ganong, Professor of Botany, Smith College.
