THE BARNARD CLUB OF WHITTIER HALL.

A new Barnard club has been started in Whittier Hall for the purpose of supplementing in some measure the lack of true dormitory life to the students of our college who are living there. One of the founders of the club says: "Some of the things this club hopes to accomplish are the unifying of the Barnard girls in the dormitory, so that when we have a hall of our own we may go into it with some sort of college life already started; the development of a Barnard spirit and idea, so that we may stand for something in the dormitory and in the eyes of strangers who come from outside to visit us. Then, too, we think it should be specially helpful to new girls, for hereafter they will come at once into a definitely organized social life, and need not waste time trying to get acquainted."

The active interest already evinced in the arrangements for informal social gatherings in the reception room assigned to the club by Mrs. Farnsworth, the head of the Hall, seems to prophecy well for the future. The membership of the club consists at present of one from the faculty, three alumnae, and thirty-four undergraduates. The officers are: President, Abby Porter Leland, '05; vice-president, Ella R. Peiffer, '04; secretary, Helen A. Tracy, '07; and treasurer, Florence M. Stapf, '06.

DEAN GILL'S RECEPTION.

The Alumnae of Smith College, the women graduate students of Columbia University, and the faculty of Barnard College were the guests of Dean Gill on Friday afternoon, January 15, in the Barnard Theater. Dr. Yamei Kin, the first Chinese woman to take a doctor's degree, talked on Chinese novels, tales and folk-lore. A reception and refreshments followed the address.

BASKET-BALL PRACTICE.

The freshmen have recently been practicing basket-ball every Monday and Thursday afternoon at half past three in the gymnasium of the Horace Mann School, instead of in the Barnard basket-ball room. The change was made through Miss Burchenal, the coach, because the School gymnasium is larger, and therefore better adapted for playing the game.

MRS. NATHAN SPEAKS AT CHAPEL.

Last Friday, at chapel, Mrs. Frederick Nathan, the president of the Consumers' League of New York, made an address on the opportunities which women have to moralize the industries. By the control which the consumer has over all industries and commerce, he can compel the manufacturers to observe certain rules in their factories, such as the abolishment of sweat shops and child labor. The object of the Consumers' League is to raise the standard of the industries by ameliorating the condition of women and children in employment. Mrs. Nathan closed her address by making an appeal to the students to observe the principles of humanity in regard to their shopping, namely, to do their buying early in the day, and, if that is impossible, at least to prevent the atrocities of the Christmas rush by doing all their shopping early in the season.

BARNARD BULLETIN,

BARNARD COLLEGE,

Broadway & 119th Street. COLUMBIA UNIV., N. Y.

MONDAY, JANUARY 18, 1904.

We desire to make the following announcements:

At the annual meeting of the BULLETIN on Tuesday, January 8, the resignation of Louise E. Peters, '04, as Editor-in-Chief, was read and accepted. Emilie J. Hutchinson, '05, was elected Editor-in-Chief in her place. Edith G. Van Ingen, '04, was elected Managing Editor to fill the vacancy which had been caused by the resignation of Caroline Lexow, '04. Anne D. Greene, '05, Emma S. Calhoun, '05, Helen A. Hocheimer, '05, and Elizabeth Brautigam, '06, were made Associate Editors. The following elections to go into effect next fall also took place: Business Manager, Faith Chipperfield, '06; Managing Editors, Frances Hope Purdon, '05, Caroline D. Hall, '06, and Edith Somborn, '06.

The senior theses subjects are always of particular interest as an index of the line of thought which predominates in the graduating class. No one who knows or has known the present seniors will be surprised, therefore, that of all the subjects represented economics is the most popular. Perhaps, one may say, a little more definite indication of the interest which has been manifested in the science courses of the college might have been expected of this class. Yet because the scientific interest of 1904 has always had a philosophic trend the popularity of evolution, anthropology, and philosophy proper may, in part, account for this deficiency. English is second on the list, while history, Latin, Greek, mathematics, German, education, esthetics, botany, and geology have a smaller representation. Two things moreover are noticeable in the selection of these subjects: the class is awake to the interest of live topics and a large proportion of the subjects chosen are such as to require original work and serious individual thought.

We note with pleasure that the Barnard students of Whittier Hall have at last awakened to the fact that something can be done to make the dormitory life there more attractive. As the Barnard girls in Whittier Hall are those who feel most keenly the lack in the present system, they may be expected, when organized, to work most earnestly for the establishment of a dormitory spirit. This club should help to fill a serious deficiency, and may even by persistent and concerted action be the means of keeping before the minds of those interested in Barnard the need of a dormitory of our own.

MR. NICHOLS' ADDRESS AT CHAPEL.

An interesting talk on "The Christian Use of John's Gospel" was given by Rev. Henry P. Nichols, of Holy Trinity Church, at Chapel, Tuesday, January 12. Mr. Nichols touched upon the much-discussed question of the authenticity of the Gospel according to John, indicating the differences between John and the Synoptists and remarking upon the studied and scholarly structure of the last of the four Gospels. John's interpretation of Christ's character is noble and lofty, and his treatment of the deeper signs of Christ's life is embodied in an elaborate and formal style. Mr. Nichols, in outlining the proper use of John's Gospel, urged that the Synoptists be not disparaged—a fault of many great thinkers—even arguing that Matthew's human picture of the Christ who "went about doing good," is perhaps of more practical value than the exalted analysis of Christ as "The Word made Flesh," as seen in John the mystic. The first three gospels are the stepping-stones which pave the way for John's more elaborate work. Mr. Nichols concluded by suggesting that the greatest value of John's Gospel is its answer to the psychological question "Who is He?"

The talk of Deaconess Sloane before the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday, January 13, was a typically missionary one. Deaconess Sloane spoke of the superior advantages which college girls enjoy and urged them not to forget their responsibility toward the missionary cause.
