THE VARSITY SHOW.

Kirgs Crown of Columbia announces that the Tree of Illusia" the annual varsity show will be presented at Carnegie Lyceum, Seventh avenue and Fifty-seventh street during the week beginning March 14th. The managers have decided that the parformance on Saturday afternoon will be a Barnard Matinée and request that all who are interested in the welfare of university dramatics will patronize the "show." Tickets are on sale at the BULLETIN office.

NOTES FROM OTHER COLLEGES.

The six honor students, with the highest standing for general excellence, in the Senior Class at Vassar, are the speakers at Commencement. Each speaker acters her own subject; and the six students who will make addresses at the Commencement this June have recently been announced. They are Florence Belton, Poughkeepsie; Anna Prentiss Stearns, Bangor, Maine; Mary Yost. Staunton, Virginia; Emily Hamilton Welch. Brooklyn; Isabel Wheeler, Toledo, Ohio: and Alice Forman Wyckoff, Dutch Neck. New Jersey.

Bryn Mawr has recently adopted a college seal. The drawing for this seal was made, with the advice of the Chief Herald, at the English College of Heraldry. It is a shield half gold and half ermine, and three owls, drawn full face, are on this shield: two are above and one below. The heraldic lantern, upheld by the Bryn Mawr daisy, is on the top of the shield. When used as a seal proper, the shield is changed to a circle, and around it runs the motto of the college, "Veritatem Dilexi."

COLLEGE SETTLEMENT NOTICE.

On Saturday evening, March 19, at 8 o'clock the Associated Clubs of the College Settlement will present "Mr. Bob—A Comedy" at Clinton Hall, 153 Clinton street near Grand Alt is hoped that many Barnard students will wish to go, not only to help to make the entertainment a success, but also for the sake of seeing this new hall, which has recently been opened. It is very accessible and has many features connected with it which are going to make it of great value as a center of creation-for the lower East Side Tickets (thirty-five cents each) may be at and from Lily Murray, 1905.

MR. HOTCHKISS' MISSIONARY TALK.

The Chapel services were conducted en Tuesday, March 1, by the Rev. Willis R. Hotchkiss, who has been for eight years a worker in the mission field of Central Africa. Mr. Hotchkiss dwelt at considerable length spon the horrors of the complitions of life and civilization in the region, upon the dangers incident to the life of a missionary there, and particularly upon the low position occupied by the women. Mr. Hotchkiss's illustrations of this deplorable state of affairs were most graphic, and his account of his experiences in acquainting himself with the language of the barbarous tribes of Central Africa was intensely interesting. Previous to Mr. Hotchkiss's work among them, one of the most savage of these tribes had had absolutely no written language, and it was only after several years of incessmit labor that Mr. Hotchkiss succeeded in working out, from association with the people, a grammar and vocabulary, which are now in press. The speaker further illustrated his own dangers as a missionary by stating that he had, during the time spent in Africa, been stricken with fever thirty times, attacked by lions three times, several times also by rhinoceri, and had been a number of times ambushed by natives; that for fourteen months he never saw a piece of bread, but had eaten everything from ants to rhinoceri, but that all these dangers and difficulties were more than counterbalanced and amply repaid by the joy which he had felt in the enlightenment of the savage tribes.

gentle hints put forth deprecatingly in the fear of being alone in the opinion that the need of a dormitory was made pressing by the evident deficiency in generous loyalty and unity of college spirit. Now, however, we gain courage. The founding of a Barnard Club at Whittier Hall and the adoption by the Undergraduate Association of the resolution of its Executive Committee regarding a collection of Barnard Songs, are indications that this lack in our academic life is more widely recognized than we had at first supposed.

Next to a dormitory, perhaps the acquirement of a first-rate collection of songs is the thing most calculated to meet this need. Does the committee in charge realize that it is about the most important committee which has been appointed for a long time? February 29, the members discussed "The And does every Barnard girl-alumna or undergraduate-who is capable of poetic expression of any sort realize that she has failed in loyalty if she has not at least tried shelf in the BULLETIN Room.

There is also a small model of a lapanese house one story high, and composed of but two walls, the other two being formed by means of blinds which may be removed April 27, Principal Wilson Farrand, of during the day and slid into a frame attached to one side of the house for that purpose.

> Their embroidery and painting, particularly the latter on uncut velvet is unusually interesting on account of its extreme elaborateness and intricacy. In this part of the collection are several "fukusas" or large squares of silk, which serve as coverings for gifts, and are returned to the owners a few days after the arrival of the gift to signife that it has been safely received. These vary from plain cloth ones with a coat-of-arms as their decoration to one of very exquisite dark blue satin on which is embroidered in gold and silver thread and brightly colored silks the picture of a ship laden with gives This particular "fukusa" is about fifty years old and is the property of Teacher's Cel-
