Y. W. C. A.

On account of Miss McCook's Bible Class, which will be held on Mondays at 12:30 in Room 213, the weekly devotional meetings will be changed from Monday to Wednesday noons at 12:45.

The subject of Miss McCook's class this year will be "Paul and His Epistles." She has prepared this course with great care, and will use her own syllabus. Certainly the Barnard girls will show their appreciation of her continued interest in them by making her class a large and enthusiastic one, and will show the other colleges, too, that they feel their privilege in having her with them every week. For it is a privilege that no one in college ought to forego.

A regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held on Thursday at 4 o'clock in Room 139. Miss McCook spoke on the value of Bible study and what the Christian Association can and must stand for in the college.

As yet only five Freshmen have handed in signed registration blanks for the Y. W. C. A. Perhaps they do not realize that about one-third of the college belong to the Association, and that it looks to every entering class to swell this number. No Freshman class has ever been so slow about joining, and it is difficult to understand the attitude of 1905. The Association hopes that this class will hasten to make up this deficiency.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS OF THE Y. W. C. A.

The Finance Committee has set the present week for the collection of the yearly dues of 55 cents. The dues of all who are now members of the Association must be in by Friday, Nov. 10. Different girls will collect the money personally, and then turn it over to the treasurer.

HARLEM Y. W. C. A. NOTICE.

Laura H. Parker '05, who holds a secretaryship in the Harlem Y. W. C. A., invites Barnard girls to come over to the Association house on 124th Street east of Lenox Avenue, and help entertain the children and young people of the Girls' Clubs. The next Rally is for girls 13-17 years of age, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 8, at 7:30.

FINALS OF THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The fall tennis tournament, which has been running for some weeks, was finished last Monday. In the semi-finals Clairette Armstrong, '08, defeated Alice Haskell, '06, with a score of 8-6, 6-0, and Julia Tiffany '09, defeated Louise Rapp, '07, 6-3, thus bringing Clairette Armstrong and Julia Tiffany against each other in the final. Owing to the position of the sun, the freshman had a decided advantage in the first set and won out, 6-3. In the next set the Sophomore, of course, had the same advantage and tied the sets with a score of 6-1. In the last set they changed courts on the odd games, and each had a fair show. The playing was exciting. Each won her own serve until the score was five all. Then Clairette Armstrong won her serve and her opponent's also. The playing in the first two sets was ragged, with here and there a streak of brilliant work. In the last set, however, the playing was continuously good. Julia Tiffany's form is excellent, but her back-hand stroke is weak, while Clairette Armstrong is unusually good in this respect.

DR. ROBINSON'S TALK TO THE BARNARD UNION.

The first open meeting of the Barnard Union was held Wednesday, Nov. 1, 1905, at 4 o'clock. After a few words of greeting to the friends and members of the Union, the Graduate President, Miss Hutchinson, introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Professor Robinson. The subject of Prof. Robinson's talk was the lack of aesthetics in modern education. It seems that, though we are in the midst of the greatest educational revolution of the western world, and are rapidly changing the old order for the new, by substituting for the classics, sciences, political economy, sociology and kindred subjects, we have not yet felt the necessity of providing for our hours of relaxation. Art in some form, literary or musical, but especially that which appeals to the eye, is what we need,—a refuge and solace for worn and tired souls.

By way of illustration and contrast, Prof. Robinson spoke most interestingly of the Japanese. Here is a people who possess, not only those things which we pride ourselves for possessing, but also a high democratic appreciation of the aesthetic, and with whom art is an important part of education. He showed pictures and prints to demonstrate this appreciation. They were not representative of the highest forms of the art of the Japs, but of that artistic form which is seen everywhere among their common, everyday people. The books, beads and lacquer plate which were passed around further showed the Japanese love of simplicity, and the absolute elimination of the unnecessary. Because the Japanese still hold to their hand work rather than machinery, they are able to bring the simplest thing to its highest perfection.

We, as a nation may not love the aesthetic, but nearly everyone of us has something of the artistic in him, and it is this side of our life that we should cultivate.

At the end of the talk there was a social gathering over the lemonade and small cakes, while Professor and Mrs. Robinson very kindly explained the objects they had brought from Japan, and answered any questions concerning them.

The regular meeting of the Class of 1906 was held Thursday, Nov. 2, at 12:10 o'clock. The chief business was a discussion of the lesser details of the Senior Entertainment given to the Freshmen. Miss Florence Schlageter was elected sub-treasurer of the Undergraduate Association. By a unanimous vote Miss Emily Butz was made an associate member of the class.

1907.

At the regular November meeting, the resignation of Jessie P. Cooke as vice-president was accepted, and Grace C. Trumbull was elected to fill that office. Cora Bennet was elected chairman of the Junior Ball Committee on nomination.

Helen C. Perry was elected associate member of the class.

At the regular meeting of the Class of 1908, held on Thursday, November 2, Maude Klein was elected undergraduate sub-treasurer.

The following committee for the Sophomore dance was appointed by the president: Margaret Yates, Chairman; Ellen O'Gorman, Laura Armstrong, Elizabeth Zangler and Nina Moore.

1909 ELECTIONS.

At the first regular meeting of the Freshman class, held last Thursday, Ruth Childs was elected president, Florence Wyeth, vice-president, and Winifred Barrows, recording secretary. Elections for corresponding secretary, treasurer, historian and executive committee will be held at the special meeting on Thursday, November 9th.

1905 MEETING.

The regular fall meeting of the Class of 1905, called originally for October 21, will be held on Saturday afternoon, November 11, at 2 o'clock, in Room 139, Barnard College.

There is a great deal of important business to be transacted, and several interesting matters will be considered.

After the business meeting there will be a 1905 class party in the Theatre, the entertainment for which will be afforded by various amusement makers in the class. Georgina G. Bennett is Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements.

BARNARD CLUB OF WHITTIER HALL.

At a recent meeting of the Barnard Club the following officers were elected to fill the vacancies made by the resignation of Florence M. Stapf and Edna Gieber: Vice-president, Daisy I. Yale, '07; treasurer, Maude L. Marren, '08.

The Club would remind its friends that it is at home every Tuesday at 4 o'clock in the Barnard Club room.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1905.

A special addition to what was said last week in the BULLETIN on the subject of contributions may not be out of place here. The directors of the Associate Alumnae have decided to ask all alumnae class secretaries to send official reports of class news to the BULLETIN. This measure, we think, should be strongly recommended to secretaries of all undergraduate organizations also. The principal interest in the BULLETIN lies in the fact that it serves as a permanent place of record for various happenings at college: news of which, when announced on its pages, circulates not only among undergraduates, but also among the alumnae and the members of the faculty. We feel, therefore, that if these instructions to the alumnae secretaries are generally adopted, there will be an increase of interesting news in the college newspaper, and that moreover, the welfare of the various societies will be furthered by a wider knowledge of their doings.

The news that the alumnae association has submitted to the Board of Trustees for approval plans for a temporary dormitory to be maintained by the alumnae will be a cause of rejoicing to every Barnard student. The need of a dormitory is certainly the greatest one confronting the college at present. Therefore the activity of the alumnae towards obtaining one, continued even during the summer months, deserves the most sincere and hearty thanks from the students. Whether or not these plans will materialize cannot as yet be foreseen: but it is certain that the desire to help on the college which has prompted both these and many other of the alumnae's plans for Barnard has been constant and gratifying. It may indeed be counted among the advantages of a city college that after graduation interest in one's Alma Mater cannot fail to be kept up by the opportunity of working for it with a well-organized alumnae association, who, by virtue of their near residence, can prove in many ways the depth and steadfastness of their loyalty.

In behalf of all college publications, as well as the BULLETIN, we would urge students who have business to do for any society or other organization to conduct it with those firms who advertise in Barnard periodicals. We recommend them as reliable and convenient, and in dealing with them students will not only find themselves well suited, but will at the same time give material help to the college papers, which are largely dependent on advertisers for their financial success.

To the Editor of the Barnard Bulletin:

The usual lack of enthusiasm on the part of the student body as a whole in all sorts of athletics has been very evident this year, as in others. Basket-ball especially has had very little support from upper classmen, though it was hoped that the interest in general, would increase rather than decline, through the compulsory gymnasium for the Freshmen.

In a college such as ours, handicapped as we are, without the campus life, it is not easy to keep both the college and class spirit up to the desired pitch, and it is such a grave mistake not to take advantage of the few opportunities which present themselves for the enhancement of that spirit. Interclass contests of any kind (carried on in the right spirit, of course) are such a decided factor in this respect that they ought to be encouraged wherever possible. It has been decided to make interclass basket-ball games quite a feature this year, and I should like to make this a most urgent plea to each individual class to do all in its power to help make them more than a farce.

It is not unnatural, I think, to suppose that the Seniors will set the good example and organize a team immediately. We have looked in vain, each week on practice days, for some Senior among the basket ball "enthusiasts," so that we have come to the conclusion that they are practising in secret. If that be the case, they would greatly honor us if they would come and swell our members each Thursday, and we'll promise not to upset their dignity. If it be not the case, and nothing has been done toward the organization of a team, we have only one thing to say: "Seniors, get busy."

ALUMNAE MEETING.

The regular annual meeting of the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College was held in the Theatre, Saturday morning, Oct. 28.

The meeting was called to order by the President of the Association, Eva S. Potter, '06. After the reading of the minutes, the reports of the various officers were read, then the reports of the four standing committees, the Finance, Ella Weed Memorial Reading Room, Statistics, and Students' Aid Committees, and after these the reports of the special committees.

The new business before the meeting was the election of three officers of the association, which resulted as follows: Annie E. H. Meyer, '08, vice-president; Carita Spenser, '02, recording secretary, and Anna G. Chase, '06, lay member of the board of directors.

After the business meeting adjourned, there was a social meeting for an hour or more, when coffee, bouillon, and sandwiches were served.

The Association will present "The Belle's Stratagem," by H. Cowley, on the afternoons of December 7, 8 and 9, under the direction of Mr. Eugene B. Sanger. Tickets will be sold at $1.00 to outsiders, and at 75 cents to Alumnae and undergraduates.
