THE UNDERGRADUATE ASSOCIATION.

A regular meeting of the Undergraduate Association was held Thursday, October 11, in the theatre. The main business before the meeting was the report of the executive committee, which, after amendment, was accepted in the following form:

ARTICLE I. SONG PRACTICE.

Section 1. That undergraduate song practice be held twice a month on the second and fourth Thursday.

Sec. 2. That a committee be appointed by the president to consist of two members from each class to supervise this practice.

Sec. 3. That the duties of this committee shall be:

(1) To absorb the duties of the song committee at present authorized to preserve college songs;

(2) To collect fines for absence from song practice;

(3) To keep an account of the attendance.

Sec. 4. That cheer leaders be elected one for each class by their respective classes.

ARTICLE II. FINES.

Sec. 3. That the second delegate be elected at this meeting from the Junior class.

Marguerite Newland was elected delegate to the Self-Government Association.

THE DORMITORY.

A temporary committee of three was elected a week or more ago to draw up a provisional set of rules for the direction of the Barnard girls in Marjopol Court. This committee made a report Friday evening, and among the regulations adopted were the following:

1. The house shall be quiet after 10.30 P. M.

2. No student shall be out of the building after 8 P. M. or over night without the approval of the matron.

1907.

The first regular business of the year of the class of 1907 was held Thursday, October 4, at 12 o'clock. Elizabeth Lord was elected treasurer in place of Louise Rapp, who had resigned from that office. Lottie Oesterlein was elected sub-treasurer of the Undergraduate Association, and Anna Goldhoop chairman of the Freshman Entertainment Committee. It was decided that members of the class who had transferred to Teachers College should still have all the privileges of a member except that of holding office. Following the usual custom, tea will be served in the senior study every Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

1908.

At a special meeting of the class of 1908 held on Monday, October 8, the following committee for the Junior Show was elected: Irma Alexander, chairman; Florence Ernst, Dorothea Eltzner, Elizabeth Fox, Jessie Houston and Florence Wolff.

1909.

The Sophomore Play Committee is as follows: Olga Lee, chairman; Helen Hoyt, Mary Swenson, Sara Rome, Hannah Falk, and Florence Wyeth, ex-officio. The play is to be given on Friday and Saturday, November 9 and 10.

1910.

Maud Penrose, 1910, has been elected to serve as temporary chairman of the Freshman class until November.

THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

At the regular Fall meeting of the Athletic Association held October 3, Harriet Fox, '10, was elected Freshman member of the tennis committee, and Dorothy McCann, '10, Freshman member of the Basketball Committee.

It has been decided that only tennis players may use the lockers in the Barnard Gymnasium locker room. As it is there will be several girls using the same locker. All those who wish lockers (including girls having lockers at Barnard) may use those in the Thompson Gymnasium.

All basketball games will now be held in the Thompson Gymnasium. Women's rules will be used.

PROFESSOR SHOTWELL'S RETURN.

There were a few classes at least able to welcome Professor Shotwell back to Barnard after his two-years' visit abroad. While in England (part of which time he lived at Oxford) Dr. Shotwell was connected with the London Times, and also did important work for the new edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica.

In France, the next stage of his pilgrimage, he spent most of his time at the Sorbonne, "L'Ecole des hautes études" and "L'Ecole des Chartes." Later, in Rome, Professor Shotwell was for a time the guest of the French School and also attended the American School there. During the summer he studied at Heidelberg.

Later on students will be able to hear some of the details of Professor Shotwell's experiences, for he has very kindly promised to speak at some of the Barnard Union meetings.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1906

It is likely that a new custom was inaugurated at Barnard, when, last Wednesday, some of the Silver Bay girls met in the cloister to sing college songs. Sophie Woodman, '07, called them together, as they, more than most girls in college, know our songs, because they have had to practice them each year at the conference. It is hoped that they will form a nucleus and that every girl in college will come out and sing after a regular day is set for practice. Of course during the winter we shall have to have college song practice in the theatre, but when warm weather comes we can go outdoors. Perhaps we can have inter-class singing, with special places assigned to each class: the Seniors on the Fiske Hall steps, for instance, with the Juniors on the Brinkerhoff steps, and the Sophomores and Freshmen in the Milbank Court. Barnard has not so many traditions that she can afford to lose a chance of establishing a custom that promises to add very much to the picturesque side of the college life.

THE STUDENTS' EXCHANGE.

On Monday, October 8, the Students' Exchange was reopened. The following girls have, very kindly, promised to help in the work of the Exchange: Irma Alexander, Martha Hoermann, Jessie Houston, Maud Klein, Mary Maxon, Agnes Marshall, Ada Muller, Ellen O'Gorman, Mabel Peterson, Marguerite Strauss, and Louise Tattersall, all from 1908.

The only change in the business policy of the Exchange is that hereafter the girls who sell their goods through the Exchange shall pay a tax of one cent for every ten cents' worth sold. Heretofore the buyers were obliged to pay the tax.

Girls wishing to sell goods at the Exchange will please bring them to room 208 between ten and eleven any day except Fridays, or between half-past twelve and one o'clock on Mondays and Wednesdays. All goods brought to the Exchange should be marked with the seller's initials, the price of the article and the date.

The hours of the Exchange are printed in the weekly Bulletin, page 3. It will not be open Saturdays.

FIFTH AVENUE NEW YORK*THE RAND SCHOOL.

Barnard students will be interested to know that two of the University instructors, Professor Franklin H. Giddings and Dr. Charles A. Beard, have taken classes in the Rand School of Social Science, a new Socialist school, which opened October 2, in the lower part of this city. Ninety students were enrolled at the start, about seventy of whom attended Professor Giddings' Wednesday evening class. The majority of these were from the surprisingly well-read and thinking class of East Side men and women.

To all desirous of entering upon such subjects are open well-arranged courses in the accurate study of socialism, its history and ethics; political and social science and economic theory, composition and public speaking. As the school is the first of its kind in New York City, its progress will be noted with considerable attention and pleasure by all interested in this branch of study.

JUNIORS ENTERTAIN FRESHMEN.

On Friday, October 12, the juniors gave 1910 their first college party. It consisted of a County Fair, held in the gymnasium which was followed by vaudeville and dancing in the theatre. The gymnasium was filled with tents in which visitors might see such wonders as the Second Samson, the fat lady, the bearded lady, the giant, and the snake-eater. Scattered among the tent were stalls where various rustic refreshments were served. The vaudeville consisted of songs by Laura Armstrong, Margar Golde, and Josephine Prah, a recitation by Alice Herschfield, and a clever take-off on display of hypnotic powers by Helen Loeb and Florence Wolff. This last number contained many local illusions, and made a distinct hit. At the close of the afternoon the girls joined in singing college and club songs.
