UNDERGRADUATE MEETING.

A regular meeting of the Undergraduate Association was held in the theater, Wednesday, February 13. The president made an address, in which she informed the association of the intention of student council to submit its decrees to the student body for approval, should a written petition be sent informing them that such was the pleasure of the students.

The report of the tea committee was read and accepted as follows: Total expenses for the tea, $84.79; received for the sale of tickets, $58.17; amount to be paid from the treasury, $26.62.

The report of the play committee was made and accepted as follows: The play shall be "Old Heads and Young Hearts," by Boucicault; the coach shall be Engene B. Sanger; the performance will be given Friday afternoon and evening, April 26.

The executive committee submitted the following report:

ARTICLE I. RULES OF CONDUCT.

Section 1. After the second bell there shall be absolute quiet in the halls.

Section 2. There shall be absolute quiet in the reading-room and in the hall directly outside the reading-room at all times.

Section 3. No one shall sit on any part of the main stairway.

Section 4. The members of the executive committee shall see that all self-government rules be enforced.

ARTICLE II. PENALTIES FOR BREAKING SELF-GOVERNMENT RULES.

Section 1. The first offense shall be reported to the executive committee.

Section 2. The second offense shall be punished by a fine of 50 cents.

Section 3. Further punishment will be according to the discretion of the executive committee.

ARTICLE III. BULLETIN BOARD.

Section 1. That $25 be appropriated from the undergraduate treasury for a bulletin board.

Section 2. That the Undergraduate Association and the Barnard Union be the only organizations allowed to have posters at any other place than on this board.

Section 3. That special exceptions be made at the discretion of the executive committee.

ARTICLE IV. FIELD DAY.

Section 1. That a committee of five be appointed from among its own members by the Athletic Association for Field Day.

Section 2. That reports of the committee be made to the Undergraduate Association.

ARTICLE V.

That the constitution of the Inter-collegiate Association for Student Government be accepted and ratified by the Undergraduate Association of Barnard College.

BARNARD UNION.

On Wednesday afternoon, February 13, Mrs. McClurg gave an illustrated lecture on "Panoramic Colorado," at an open meeting of the Barnard Union. Mrs. McClurg and her husband have given a number of these lectures throughout the United States and Europe. Indeed, the knowledge of their subject is based on first-hand information, since both have made many explorations and discoveries in the historic Southwest.

Beginning with pictures representing the Pueblos at the time of Cortez, and concluding with views of the present Pueblo, Mrs. McClurg gave a very clear representation of her subject.

Many of the pictures were richly colored and very beautiful, but perhaps the most interesting were those of the Pueblo houses, the pottery and woven articles. The pottery especially was very artistic, and, with the simple designs of the Indian blankets, show to what a high stage of development these uneducated people had attained.

Those who attended the lecture, thoroughly appreciated it and the Barnard Union is very grateful to Mrs. McClurg. It is rather a pity that more were not present to enjoy the views and their description.

Y. W. C. A.

At the weekly tea in Earl Hall on Monday, February 11th, Mrs. Benjamin Labaree, of Persia, was the guest of honor. A large number of girls came out to meet Mrs. Labaree informally. She described some very interesting features of her work, and the afternoon passed very pleasantly.

On February 14th there was an organization meeting of the Alumnae members of the Y. W. C. A. This meeting had been called by the Alumnae committee appointed last fall by the Y. W. C. A. president, consisting of Susan I. Myers, '98, chairman; Janet McCook, '02, Jean Loomis Frame, '04, Lily Murray, '05, and Eleanor Holden, '06. Mrs. Frame was the chairman of the afternoon. The business of the meeting was to elect a committee to conduct the affairs of this new side of the association's work. The result of the election is as follows: Miss Myers and Miss McCook to serve three years; Mrs. Frame and Miss Holden to serve two years, and Miss Murray to serve one year.

After the meeting adjourned tea was served by the cabinet in the Alumnae Room. A number of the members were present to meet the Alumnae, in spite of the lateness of the hour, and were amply rewarded by a pleasant hour over the tea-cups.

NOTICE.

Attention is called to the new arrangement of professors' office hours on the last page.

PROFESSOR SHEPHERD'S SOUTH AMERICAN TRIP.

All members of the college who have in any way come into contact with Professor Shepherd, and especially those who heard his very interesting and able lecture on South America before the Barnard Union this year, will be delighted to hear of his appointment and honorable mission to South America. They will be still more delighted to hear that the execution of this mission will not interfere with his work in the university.

Professor Shepherd intends leaving for South America at the end of May to remain about four months. Via the Isthmus of Panama, he will sail down the western coast of South America, visiting as many seaports as possible, especially capitals. As his plans stand at present, he hopes to see something of all the capitals of the South American states with the exception of Paraguay, Columbia and Las Vegas. The great drawback of the trip is that Professor Shepherd will have to spend about two and a half of his four months' absence on the ship out of sight of land, but enthusiasm for his object outweighs any such temporary discomfort.

His object is this: He wants to show the South Americans that the United States takes an interest in the culture, as well as in the shining dollars and cents of their neighbors. Hitherto the relations between the two countries have been purely commercial, and no attempt has been made on either side to establish any other connection between them. As a matter of fact, the culture of the South Americans is well worth studying. They have fully as many, if not more, universities than we, one even older than Harvard! Their intellectual interests are strong and widely diversified. Professor Shepherd will meet and compare notes with many of their most prominent intellectual leaders, and try to impress upon them not only the fact that culture exists in the United States, but also that the United States are interested in their development and desirous of learning from them, as well as helping them. A man so peculiarly well fitted for the work as Professor Shepherd cannot fail to achieve these results, and it is with best wishes and confidence in his success that the Barnard shall bid him god-speed next spring.

NEW COLUMBIA PROFESSORS.

At a recent meeting, the Board of Trustees of Columbia University appointed four new professors: Nathan Abbott, dean of the faculty of law in Leland Stanford Junior University, and Harry A. Cushing, LL.D., and Dickinson S. Miller, Ph.D., were appointed professors of law. Gary N. Calkins, at present professor of invertebrate zoölogy, in recognition of his admirable work as investigator, was appointed professor of protozoölogy.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1907

The report of the Student Council given last week in the Undergraduate Meeting was of a nature calculated to furnish food for much thought and discussion. To begin with, it seemed to many present that if the Council had done much worth discussing this year it could have sent in a report definite enough to inform the student body just what it had done. As the case was, undergraduates knew about as much of the Council's proceedings at the end of the meeting as they did before they entered the theater. It is true that little of interest could have been told about the routine work of arranging dates, and equally true that the application of the Exchange to be allied formally with the Undergraduate Association is already well known. We may well ask, then, what has the Student Council been doing all the year? If it has been accomplishing anything, why not report on it? If nothing has been achieved, what is the excuse? Again, the statement in the report regarding the influence of undergraduate sentiment on the Council's transactions was not very satisfactory. It seemed little more than a solemn formulation of a fact which has been perfectly obvious ever since Student Council began, and is no truer now than then, namely, that whereas it would be neither policy nor propriety on the part of the Council to go against student opinion arbitrarily, such has never been and never will be their intention. Neither do we see that the offer of the Council to reconsider measures on petition is going to convince anyone that the body has nothing of an oligarchical character about it. Why, pray, should not undergraduate opinion have weight even with the association's supreme governing body? It really might seem logical to say that it ought to have so much weight that no important measures could pass in the Council which had not been previously voted upon by the whole Undergraduate Association. The Council does well to desire a comprehensive knowledge of student opinion. This, however, is only a step in the right direction. Even better is the announcement of the application for a self-government charter—in fact, that was the best part of the report. But it seems inconceivable that there could have been no more statements of things accomplished by the Council this year, after so much agitation of so many different reforms and proposed changes of policy.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS.

The following course of lectures in Mathematical Physics will be given in Room 301, Fayerweather, by Otto Lummer, Ph.D., Professor of Experimental Physics in the University of Breslau, Lecturer in Mathematical Physics in Columbia University, 1906-07.

THE LAWS OF RADIATION OF THE BLACK BODY. THEIR THEORETICAL ESTABLISHMENT AND PRACTICAL IMPORTANCE.

Friday, February 22, at 4 P. M.—The Stefan-Boltzman law and radiation pressure. (1) Stefan's law of total radiation. (2) Boltzman's deduction of Stefan's law for black-body radiation. (3) Experimental confirmation of the Stefan-Boltzman law by Lummer and Pringsheim. (4) Existence and consequences of radiation-pressure. (5) Experimental establishment of the existence of radiation-pressure by Lebedew, Nichols and Hull. (6) Theory of comets of Lebedew, Arrhenius and Schwarzschild.

Saturday, February 23, at 10 A. M.—The maximum law in black-body radiation and measurements of energy in the spectrum. (1) Deduction of Wien's law of displacement. (2) Measurements of energy in the spectrum of the black body; (a) The bolometer and Langley's contributions; (b) Researches of Paschen and Rubens on the dispersion of rock-salt and fluor-spar; (c) Reduction of observations in the prismatic spectrum to the normal spectrum; (d) Experimental results of Lummer and Pringsheim.

Friday, March 1, at 4 P. M.—The equation of the spectrum of black-body radiation. (1) Deduction of a spectrum-equation by A. A. Michelson and W. Wien from theoretical considerations. (2) Experimental confirmation of Wien's equation by Paschen and the theoretical establishment of it upon an electromagnetic basis by Planck. (3) Irreconcilable observations of Lummer and Pringsheim. (4) Planck's deduction of an equation in accordance with the observations of Lummer and Pringsheim. Investigation of the same by Rubens and Kurlbaum. (5) The significance of the constants in the equation of black-body radiation.

Saturday, March 2, at 10 A. M.—Determination of the temperature of the Sun, and recent solar theories. (1) Sun's temperature deduced from the solar constant on the basis of the Stefan-Boltzman law. (2) Determination of the Sun's Temperature and that of artificial sources of light, from the location of the energy-maximum.

TIFFANY & Co.
