SELF-GOVERNMENT AT BROOKS HALL

At an informal house meeting held at Brooks Hall on Friday evening, October 11, Miss Weeks gave a short talk on the government of the house. To begin with, there is self-government at the dormitory, as there is at college. The dormitory is governed by representatives elected by the resident students. Each of the five bedroom floors has a representative, called the floor representative. These five floor representatives form the student government. The chairman of this committee, together with the hall mistress, Miss Weeks, and the faculty representative, Miss Hubbard, form the Hall Council.

The duties of these representatives and committee are as follows: The floor representatives are responsible for the order on their floors in times of panic or fire. They are expected to let Miss Weeks know if any one on their floors is ill. Furthermore, individual girls wishing to make suggestions to the house as a whole first make them to the floor representative, who brings the matter before the Student Government Committee. It is the duty of this committee to discuss and act upon all questions concerning the house as a whole. The Hall Council is an advisory board to which the Student Government Committee may refer any questions of unusual importance.

THE BROOKS HALL REGULATIONS

The college and all who favored and opposed the girls' hall of residence have eagerly awaited the way in which the Brooks Hall girls would solve the difficult problem of regulating a New York dormitory. How would they reconcile the desired freedom with the need of great discretion? The house committee, with Miss Weeks ex officio, decided that it would be better to let the girls deprive themselves of a few pleasures than risk the good name of the Hall, for they realized how speedily the world raises its eyebrows and shrugs at women communities. In presenting the rules to the house in this light, Miss Weeks, in a short address on Friday evening, urged every one who was not satisfied with the new rules to go to the floor representative, the house president, or herself, to fully discuss matters, and not to waste time in fruitless debate with her own friends. If this is done, either the girls or the committee will be convinced, and the rules will conform to the general sentiment of the house. Then, and only then, will the self-government organization be what it aims to be—a true democracy.

The rules drawn up by the House Committee at its meeting on Monday evening, October 7, were as follows:

No undergraduate shall go to theatre at night unchaperoned.

JUNIOR PARTY TO THE FRESHMEN

Friday afternoon proved that the Juniors are not too grown up to blow soap bubbles and play baby games with the Freshmen. The soap bubble party began in the gymnasium, where the Junior committee, dressed as nurses, distributed soap bubble pipes. The girls found places at tables, where bowls of soapsuds were presided over by Juniors in juvenile attire, and the blowing contest began. Barnard pennants were the prizes given the four best blowers in 1911. Next came dancing in the theatre, accompanied by ice cream and cake—and the piano. After the inner Barnard girl had been satisfied, the two classes assembled on either side of the theatre and had a mutual serenading party. The class of 1911 responded to the welcoming songs of 1909 with songs, proving the affection to be heartily returned, and proving also that 1911 bids fair to become the "prima donna" of the classes now at college. The rest of the afternoon was spent in dancing, and ended with the Freshmen singing "Good-Night, Juniors."

1910

At the first class meeting of 1910 Gertrude Hunter was re-elected class leader for the year. The six new sophomores who have been transferred from other colleges were welcomed and incorporated in the class. Helen Worrall was appointed chairman of the decoration committee.

The sophomore play has been decided upon and the cast chosen.

1911

A special meeting of the class of 1911 was held on Thursday at 12:30. Red and white were adopted as class colors, and carnations of these colors were chosen as class flowers. A tax of twenty-five cents was levied to furnish decorations for the study, and a committee consisting of Katherine Gay, chairman; Katherine Sickles and Madeline Hirsh was appointed to oversee the decorating.

THE DEUTSCHER KREIS

The Deutscher Kreis will begin activities for the winter with a german on Wednesday afternoon, November 6. All members of the Kreis are cordially invited to bring a friend from the student body with them, and a special invitation is extended the faculty as well as the freshmen.

Y. W. C. A. SECRETARY'S OFFICE HOURS

Mrs. Merrett will have office hours in the college building from now on from 9:50 to 12 o'clock on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Any students who wish to consult her will find her in the Bulletin Room during this time.

UNDERGRADUATES' MEETING

At a special meeting of the Undergraduate Association the following reports were read and accepted: Treasurer's report, Students' Exchange report, song practice report, in which it was stated that song practice will be on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month in the hall on the second floor; Student Council report, stating that juniors must not interfere in the Mysteries; and the report of the Executive Committee, which was as follows:

REPORT OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Article I. Teas.

Section 1. In addition to the two regular undergraduate teas, scheduled for December 6 and February 28, respectively, two informal teas shall be given by the Undergraduate Association at Brooks Hall during the academic year 1907-08.

Section 2. The first of these two teas shall be given as a house-warming for the new dormitory.

Section 3. The dates for these teas shall be set by Student Council.

Section 4. A permanent Tea Committee shall be appointed to take charge of all four teas, which shall consist of two representatives from each class, appointed by each class president; the chairman to be one of the senior members, and to be chosen by the senior president.

Article II. Printed Matter.

Section 1. The constitutions of the Undergraduate Association, the Student Council and the Intercollegiate Self-Government Association shall be printed and bound under one cover at the Undergraduate Association's expense, and distributed to all members of the Association.

Article III. Third Delegate to Intercollegiate Association Convention.

Section 1. The junior president shall be the third delegate from Barnard College to the Intercollegiate Association Convention at Vassar this fall.

Article IV. Expenditures.

Section 1. Money shall be appropriated from the treasury to buy the following articles for the use of the Undergraduate Association: Fifteen dozen plates, fifteen dozen teaspoons, six dozen lemonade glasses and two bread knives.

Section 2. Fifteen dollars shall be appropriated to pay the membership fee of the Intercollegiate Student Self-Government Association.

Article V. Penalty for Non-Payment of Dues.

Section 1. If any subscriber to a publication or member of an organization refuses to pay subscription or dues within the time stated in the contract signed, if such be stated, or within two months after subscribing, if not stated, or within two months after date of joining said organization, her

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1907

The question of college dues has so often been treated as if it were merely an excellent subject for a joke that the serious attitude recently assumed by the Executive Committee regarding the matter has met with much surprise and some displeasure. That government body has passed the following resolution: That, unless valid excuse be given, any student who does not on joining a society or subscribing to a publication, pay the required dues or subscription price within the time set forth in the contract or (if no such contract exist) within two months of her assumption of such obligation, shall have her name handed to the Executive Committee to be posted on a delinquent list on the main bulletin board of the college.

Such a step, we may believe, has not been taken without serious consideration on the part of our student government. Thoughtlessness is undoubtedly, in almost every case, the cause of delay in the payment of promised dues; but neglect of the ordinary points of business honesty is hardly to be excused on such grounds. No organization can be based on the gratifying length of its membership list. Contracts with publishers and other business firms cannot be sealed with promises. It is unjust that the few officers responsible for an organization should (as has actually happened) be obliged to bear the brunt of financial difficulties besides the greater part of the labor connected with the regular society affairs.

In a recent issue of the BULLETIN we commented unfavorably on the singing at the opening chapel exercises. We take infinitely more pleasure in the task of commenting very favorably indeed upon the singing at undergraduate song practice last Thursday. It was good—undeniably, unmistakably good. Heartily as we welcome the improvement, we think still more highly of the spirit that brought about the change. We would not put the excellence of last Thursday's singing down to mere chance. It was no coincidence that an exceptionally interested and wide-awake meeting followed within a week of the exceptionally poor performance referred to previously. Barnard has recognized her shortcomings in the way of singing, at least, and has set about bettering herself. And, best of all, last Thursday proved that Barnard CAN sing, if she wants to; and now that she has decided to want to very badly, we have no doubt as to the final outcome.

The establishment of a chapel choir is another step in the right direction. If the choir is faithful to its duty it will render several important services to Barnard, not the least of which will be increasing Barnard's courtesy towards clerical visitors, who have heretofore been allowed, sometimes, to do more than their share in accompanying the organ.

But, as we said before, we are satisfied that a change for the better has begun and will be carried on.

ALUMNÆ NEWS

The class of 1902, with the assistance (advisory and financial) of their honorary member, Mrs. Annie Nathan Meyer, has presented to the Reference Reading Room of Brooks Hall a copy of the Standard Dictionary. Many books are needed, as the shelves of the reading-room are practically empty, and 1902 finds her gift greatly appreciated.

BARNARD CONFERENCE ON MISSIONS

During the past few years a large number of week-end conferences have been held at various times in different colleges under the auspices of the College Christian Associations. These conferences are usually on missions or subjects connected with religious work. Their object is to present the problems and opportunities of such work to students in a true and practical light, to give accurate information about what is being accomplished in the fields of labor, and in general to interest the rising intellectual leaders of this generation in the claims of a universal work.

It has occurred to many Barnard students that now is a favorable time for Barnard to show her interest in such matters. Accordingly, the Y. W. C. A. has applied for and obtained permission from the college authorities to hold a week-end conference for the dates of November 16, 17. The subject will be the general one of missions, and efforts will be made to secure as speakers men and women who are not only authorities in their own phases of missionary work, but will also be interesting to college students for their broad general culture.

It has further seemed particularly fitting, in view of the fact that Barnard has now a home of its own, to invite other colleges to visit that home and share the privileges of the conference. Delegates will be invited to attend from Vassar, Wellesley, Bryn Mawr, Wells, Holyoke, Smith, Baltimore, Syracuse, Brown and Cornell. A number of these will stay in Brooks Hall, and the remainder will be entertained at the girls' homes.

The program for the conference has not yet been fully decided on, but the meetings have been scheduled as follows: Saturday morning, November 16, at 11 o'clock, in the theatre; Saturday evening at 8, in the theatre; Sunday afternoon, at 4, in St. Paul's Chapel, and Sunday evening, at 8, in Earl Hall. On Saturday afternoon the delegates will be entertained in Brinckerhoff Theatre, and it is expected that the whole college will turn out and meet them socially. The Sunday afternoon meeting is to be an open one for all students and members of the faculty of the University and their friends.

Among the speakers to be invited are Mr. Robert E. Speer, Mrs. Benjamin W. Labaree, who will be entertained in Brooks Hall; the Rev. C. A. R. Janvier, of Philadelphia, and the Rev. Charles Cuthbert Hall, D.D. Additions and any necessary changes in this list will be announced in the BULLETIN from time to time.

The Conference Committee consists of Elizabeth Fox, '08, chairman; Mary Murtha, '08; Winifred Barrows, '09; Elizabeth Nitchie, '10, and Agnes Miller, '08, and Annie Turnbull, '08, ex officio. Any of these will be glad to tell any one interested further details of conference plans. It is expected that the whole college will take much interest in the matter, since, although given under the auspices of one organization, it is in reality a college affair. Its success, both in the eyes of visitors and as far as Barnard itself is concerned, depends on the support which the whole body of undergraduates gives it.

NOTICE

The New York Medical College and Hospital for Women offers to teachers and others employed during the day an "extension course" leading to the degree "Doctor of Medicine."

The scope of the course is the same as the usual four-years course in medicine, but lectures, laboratory-work and clinics are given daily from 4 to 6 p. m., and all day Saturdays.

The session begins September 23, 1907, and ends May 22, 1908, the usual legal holidays being observed.

The lecture hours are planned to meet the requirements of the extension students, and every effort is made to so apportion the work that the course may be taken with ease by those otherwise employed.

ESSAY COMPETITION

The following communication has been received at the office:

WEEDSPORT, N. Y.,

October 4, 1907.

MISS LAURA D. GILL,
Barnard College, New York.
My Dear Miss Gill—

The trustees of a fund left by Miss Mary S. Anthony, of Rochester, have decided to offer a competitive prize of fifty dollars for the best essay written by any member of the senior or junior classes in our leading state colleges and universities.

The prize will be given in the name of the N. Y. State Woman Suffrage Association, and will be called the Anthony prize.
The subject for this year will be "Woman's Ballot, a Needed Factor in Municipal Reform."

The number of words must not be less than 1,800 nor more than 2,000. The essays must be in the hands of the undersigned by April 1. The judges will be Dr.
Stewardson, President of Hobart College,
Dr. W. C. Gannett, of Rochester, and probably Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, of New York.

Will you not present this matter to your students at as early a date as possible, and request them not to sign the essays, but to enclose their names in separate envelopes?

Hoping for your kind co-operation, I am

Very sincerely yours,

ALICE WILLIAMS.

ager or treasurer of the paper or society to the chairman of the Undergraduate Executive Committee, except when satisfactory excuse for non-payment shall have been given previous to the expiration of the time limit.

Section 2. All names handed in in this manner shall be posted conspicuously on the main bulletin board, together with the reasons for their posting.

ENTERTAINMENT

Miss Chamberlain will recite "Capt.
Brassbound's Conversion," by George Bernard Shaw, in the Horace Mann Auditorium on Friday evening, October 18, at 8 o'clock.

Tickets at fifty and seventy-five cents may be obtained from members of the committee at Teachers' College.

DR. LEONARD'S LECTURES

The course of lectures on German Social Legislation by Dr. Leonhard, Kaiser Wilhelm Professor in Columbia University, will be given in room 415, Library, on Wednesdays at 5:10 p. m. The lectures are open to women. The lectures on the social experiments of Germany are of the highest interest and practical value to students of economics, sociology and social reform.
