HALLOWEEN AT BROOKS HALL

In celebration of Hallowe'en Miss Weeks entertained the dormitory girls last Thursday evening. The party started directly after dinner. The first feature of the evening was the lighting of the grate-fire in the blue room by Miss Stowell, while the other girls gathered round the fireplace singing "Beside the Waters of the Hudson." When the fire was well started the music began, (it was due to Miss Weeks' thoughtfulness that there was a professional pianist), and after the girls had danced themselves out of breath Miss Weeks proposed some games. The first consisted of taking walnuts out of a dish with one's teeth. On opening the walnuts the girls found that they contained fortunes. With a little ingenuity on Miss Haskell's part, these were all proven to be very appropriate. Then the girls were blindfolded and made to plunge their hands into bowls containing flour, meal and air, to see if they would marry for love, for money or not marry at all. This proved very exciting and popular, except to those girls to whom single blessedness was prophesied.

The next thing on the program was a Virginia reel, which served as an appetizer for the supper. The dining room looked wonderfully inviting when the girls went in. There were nuts and apples and cider in abundance, and best of all a huge cake, so huge that each of the sixty girls who were there had a chance to cut a good sized piece out of it. There was great excitement while the girls were cutting the cake to see who would get the ring, the thimble and the dime. The girls who did get these symbols were Marjory Harrison, Dean Smith and Kang Tung Pih, respectively.

When the appetite of each girl was satisfied the party broke up and after saying good night to Miss Weeks they sought their rooms, some to study and others to sleep.

At a meeting of the Barnard Philosophy Club held October 30, it was decided that there shall be a meeting on the second Monday of every month, from five to six o'clock. Some books on philosophy will be discussed at these meetings, after which tea will be served. Dr. Montague will be present to lead the discussions. All members of the classes in ethics and the History of Philosophy are eligible to membership. Names should be given to Marguerite Strauss, '08. On November 11 Professor James' lectures on Pragmatism will be discussed.

GIFT TO THE BOTANICAL DEPARTMENT

By gift, from Mrs. N. L. Britton of the New York Botanical Garden, the Botanical department has acquired a large part of the herbarium of the late Mrs. S. B. Clarke. Mrs. Clarke was a member of the Barnard Botanical Club, having studied with Dr. Gregory in the early days of the department.

The Barnard Botanical Club has presented a sum of money to be spent in extending the collection of photographs of typical floras, which hang in the corridor.

C. S. M. A.

There are three meetings of the convention of the Church Students' Missionary Association which are of special interest to Barnard students, and at these anyone who is interested in missionary work will be most welcome. They are as follows:

On Friday, November 8, at 8 p. m. General Meeting. Subject, "The Mission of the Church to the City." Columbia University. Chairman—Dr. Wm. Jay Schiefelin, Ph. D.; Mr. Robert Watchorn, Commissioner of Immigration, New York; Mr. Clinton R. Woodruff, Secretary National Municipal League; Rt. Rev. David H. Greer, D. D., Bishop Coadjutor of New York.

On Saturday, November 9, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. Conference on Women's Work. Barnard College. Chairman—Deaconess Knapp, Dean, New York Training School for Deaconesses; Mrs. Logan H. Roots, of Hankow, China, and Miss Lindley will speak.

On Sunday, November 10, at 3 p. m., for women, at the New York Training School for Deaconesses, 228 E. Twelfth street. Chairman—Deaconess H. R. Goodwin, Secretary for Woman's Work, C. S. M. A.; Speakers: Mrs. Logan H. Roots, Hankow, China; Miss Irwin, Dean of Radcliffe College.

ELECTIONS

At the recent elections for alumnae officers, Virginia Gildersleeve, '99, was elected vice-president for a term of two years; Agnes Durant, '05, recording secretary, for a term of two years, and Helen Cooley, '05, director at large, for five years.

SOPHOMORE PARTY

On Thursday afternoon, Oct. 31, the class of 1910 gave a Hallowe'en party in the theatre. Everything was carried out in due observance of the day. Jack-o'-lanterns gave a weird and ghostly light in the darkened room. From the stage shone a large yellow moon. And it was a most wonderful moon, for each girl discovered that he knew her affinity, and gave forth his picture when a paper with her name was dropped in his mouth. The Sybil scattered abroad her mystic leaves, which revealed prophecies of the future when held over the sacred fire. The usual Hallowe'en tricks, ducking for apples, and cutting the flour to find the ring, penny or thimble afforded plenty of fun. The afternoon was ended by dancing and singing, and the refreshment of the inner woman by cider, doughnuts and apples.

BARNARD CONFERENCE ON MISSIONS

The conference committee regrets to announce that it will be impossible for Mr. Robert E. Speer to address the Sunday afternoon session of the conference on November 17. Mr. John R. Mott, chairman of the executive committee of the Student Volunteer Movement, has been invited instead to speak at this meeting, which will be held at four o'clock in Earl Hall, and to which all students of the university and their friends, as well as members of the faculty, are cordially invited.

The finance committee, which consists of Mary Murtha, '08, chairman; Anna Holm, '09, Lois Kerr, '09, Bertha Firebaugh, '10, and Louise Allen, '11, is at work collecting funds for the expenses of the conference. It is estimated that about $60 is needed, and surely it ought to be possible to raise this sum among four hundred students, without appealing for outside help. Every student will be personally asked to contribute a small amount toward the proper entertainment of the delegates from other colleges, for the raising of the requisite sum is a matter in which the honor of the college is concerned. Contributions may be handed to any member of the committee or left in locker 55, Senior Study.

At a special meeting of the class of 1908, on Thursday, Oct. 31, it was decided to give another performance of "The Rose and the Ring" on Saturday, Nov. 16, for the delegates at the Barnard Conference. Half of the expenses will be paid by the Y. W. C. A. and the Undergraduate Association has been asked to pay the other half.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The drawings for the tennis tournament have been made. Florence Wolff, '08, plays Julia Tiffany, '09; Lilian Egleston, '10, plays Vera Fuesslein, '11.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1907.

The subject of noise in the corridors during the hours in which classes are in session is so well worn that one hardly dares to broach it without first offering some sort of an apology for saying again what has been so often said before. The necessity, however, for a little more care in this direction may justify a few words of remonstrance.

Last year the Undergraduate Association passed a number of rules, in the hope of remedying this matter, which involved correction for the first offence and fines for continued violations. The results, however, were not markedly successful and there continued to be the usual amount of laughing and talking in the halls during class hours. This year has not mended matters. Particularly in the corridors on the second and third floors the noise causes no little annoyance to both instructors and students, while even the classes meeting on the fourth floor complain of the noise from the floor below.

No one would think for a moment that the girls intentionally and wilfully disturb the classes which are in session. The real trouble seems to be thoughtlessness and the situation calls not so much for preaching as for an honest, frank view of the matter by all Barnard girls in general and by those who spend their free hours in the halls, in particular. Is it fair, first to the college, then to the instructors and to the other girls of the college, to disturb their classes by unnecessary laughing and talking during class hours? Would not a little thoughtfulness for others relieve a situation, which threatens to become more serious unless something is done to improve matters?

Y. W. C. A.

The Christian Association held its annual recognition meeting for new members in Earl Hall on Monday, October 28. The names of seventy-seven new members were read. The meeting was very well attended, especially in view of the bad weather. Those who came out were well rewarded by hearing an address from Miss Louise Holmquist (Vassar, 1901), the State Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. for New York and New Jersey. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

The executive committee has appointed Violetta Jackson, '10, recording secretary, to take the place of Gertrude Hunter, '10, resigned.
