THE INTERCLASS STUDY.

The new Interclass Study was received very appropriately last Tuesday by an informal tea. Interclass Study was the "tea" at all—the serving of the tea was incidental, not an essential part of the sociability of the afternoon.

Professor Brewer, Dr. Braun, Miss Hirst, Miss Meyer, Miss Opdyke, several alumnae and many students came to the Study, and everyone seemed to speak favorably of the new scheme under trial. This first afternoon serves as a perfect illustration of the new plan. There was no stiffness, no formality, yet on the other hand there was not the too great freedom from formal restraint that has lately crept into the girls' manners at their social gatherings.

During the afternoon the following seniors poured: Mary Budds, Ethel Everett, Ada Muller, Gladys Quinby, May Quinn and Gertrude Wells.

The regular committee in charge of the Interclass Study consists of Cora Flack '08, chairman; Bertha Firebaugh '10 and Molly Conroy '11.

Y. W. C. A.

It will be remembered by a number of students that the week-end conference held at Princeton last February, which was attended by a Barnard delegation, was convened for the purpose of forming an Eastern Volunteer Union among the colleges of New York, eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey. A letter has recently been received from the president of this union asking that Barnard should be represented on the executive committee, and Elizabeth Fox '08 has been appointed to serve as a member.

The Intercollegian and The Association Monthly have been placed on one of the tables in the reading room, and are for the use of all students who wish to read them.

The mission study committee has added two books to the mission library, namely, "A New Era in the Philippines," by the Rev. Arthur J. Brown, D.D., and "The Religions of Mission Fields," as reviewed by various missionaries; also some pamphlets, among which are "The College Woman's Opportunity," by Mrs. Lawrence Thurston, and "The Non-Christian Religions Inadequate," by Robert E. Speer. These books have all been placed in the Ella Weed room, and are at the disposal of all students.

PERSONAL.

John to Mr. and Mrs. William Fane (née Elizabeth Finnigan '02) on December 10, a daughter.

BASKETBALL.

The first game of the series recently arranged between Barnard and Teachers' College took place last Friday afternoon in the Thompson Gymnasium. It was won by Teachers' College by a score of 11-8. The line-up was as follows:

T. C.	B.
	Forwards.
Miss Strope.....	Herlinda Smithers '09
Miss Sherman.....	Adelaide Smithers '09
	Center
Miss D. Treat.....	Lillian Schoedler '11
	Side-Center
Miss Cutting.....	Daphne Dieterich '10
	Guard
Miss M. Treat.....	Hortense Murch '09
Miss Pernessin.....	Mollie Conroy '11

During the second half Josephine Pahl '08 played guard in Miss Conroy's place.

Barnard was the first to score as Herlinda Smithers made a goal from the field early in the game. She also made two goals from fouls, and as Teachers' College scored once from the field, the game stood 4-2 in Barnard's favor when time was first called. The playing during this half was ragged, and there were a surprising number of fouls made, principally by the Barnard team.

During the second half the playing was much swifter and more exciting. There was a great deal of excellent passing, and Barnard kept the ball down at her end most of the time. In this connection honorable mention should be made of the good quick work done by Hortense Murch and Lillian Schoedler, who never seemed to miss an opportunity to send the ball down to their goal. Barnard scored two baskets from the field, made by Adelaide Smithers and Josephine Pahl respectively. But in spite of Barnard's efforts, the opposing team succeeded in making three field and three standing goals, bringing the final score up to 11-8 in their own favor.

The attendance from Barnard was excellent, and so was the singing. The two other games of the series will be played within the next few weeks.

CORRECTED ANNOUNCEMENT OF HONORS IN LATIN.

LECTURE ON "THE MODERN BANK"

That the university authorities regard the interests and needs of the public correctly by offering a series of lectures on "The Currency Problem and the Financial Situation" was amply demonstrated by the crowd that thronged Have-meyer Hall last Friday afternoon. The audience, of which the greater part by far were men, exceeded the capacity of the room by about two hundred persons.

Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip, vice-president of the National Bank, spoke very clearly about the conditions prevailing at present, pointed out many defects and compared our methods of banking with those used in other countries where disturbances such as we experience every year are not felt, although the industrial and commercial life is just as complex as here.

On Friday, Dec. 20, Mr. Thomas F. Woodlock, former editor of the Wall Street Journal, will speak on "The Stock Exchange and the Money Market." A complete list of the lectures of this series was given in the BULLETIN of Dec. 11.

By arranging these lectures just now when the recent financial crisis has caused so much havoc, and securing as speakers men prominent in the financial world and representative of its wisest and best members, the university shows its willingness to recognize its responsibility in forming public opinion, and of being an educator in the broadest sense and in a most generous way.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Undergraduate Executive Committee wishes to announce the following regulation recently made:

No alcohol lamp shall be used in the building unless a metal tray or asbestos plate has been placed on the table underneath it. Every lamp must be wiped off before lighting.

Chairmen of entertainment committees and those who serve tea at any function are requested to enforce this rule.

NOTICE.

The Barnard Bear offers a prize of five dollars for the best metrical translation of a Latin ode, to be handed in not later than February first. The poems should be placed in the box anonymously as usual. All manuscripts for the third issue of the Bear must be in by February first.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1907.

It is announced that the infirmary has been moved from room 110 to room 109, and that from henceforward the door will be left unlocked. This latter statement will be true only temporarily, however, unless every student does her own part toward using the room properly. The recent trouble about the continually locked door, which was opened only for privileged persons on rare occasions, has been due to the fact that so many students abused the privileges of the room by using it for purposes of dancing, conversation, studying together, or some other sort of intercourse. Not only did the condition of the room suffer greatly by such conduct, but it was impossible for anyone who really needed rest to obtain it under such circumstances. The abuse naturally caused the college authorities to withhold the privileges of the room for a time, so that many innocent girls have been obliged to suffer for lack of a needed place to rest on account of other people's offenses. We ascribe the recent state of affairs to no other cause than pure thoughtlessness on the part of the transgressors. But now that we have seen the unfortunate results of such carelessness, may we not plead for a little more consideration from each individual girl? Especially now, when we have the inter-class study, as well as our four class studies, there is surely plenty of space to amuse ourselves in besides the room distinctly set apart for people who are tired or ill.

We have been asked to urge the girls once more to guard against noisiness. It is not our wish nor do the college authorities desire to institute primary school discipline in college. Neither does any one expect or wish four hundred healthy, happy girls to walk on tip-toes through the building or talk in whispers. We plead for nothing that it is not easy for any one possessing a little bit of consideration and average good manners to comply with.

It is against reason to expect the college authorities to tolerate the things that have been going on lately. Reports of real misdemeanors have been brought to us from six different sources—not tales from individual girls, but formal complaints from different departments. We wish to put the matter to the students in three lights:

First, In view of the education which we have received, should we not know better than to act in a way at variance with common standards of good conduct?

Second, In view of our social standing, due in great part to this same education, is it not in the nature of a disgrace to be accused of unmannerliness?

Third, Is there any excuse for inconsiderateness in a small and sheltered community where the very keynote is culture?

The abuse of the resting-room privileges, the breaking of the reading-room rules, the annoying of classes in session by unwarranted noisiness in the halls, all point to a tendency among the girls at present to run wild. Again and again we have said, as we do in the editorial above that we ascribe the conditions to thoughtlessness, but thoughtlessness is no excuse, nor does it describe exactly the cause of offenses that have been criticised time and time again. In this case thoughtlessness becomes heedlessness, and heedlessness soon looks like indifference. Is this the truth? Are we indifferent? We hope not. We all love Barnard and all say we want to serve her, and yet we are indifferent to her reputation? Surely this is not the case. Once more, just once more, let us say that "we ascribe the prevailing conditions to thoughtlessness," and then let our New Year's resolution be "I will be thoughtful."

If we are not wise enough to use our privileges well, they will and must be taken from us. It is for us to decide whether we wish to run riot a month or two and then be asked to adopt the decorum of a young ladies' finishing school, or whether we wish to keep our liberty and our self respect among other colleges. Our standing is too high for us to trifle in this way—it is unworthy of us. "We are too good to be so bad"—therefore let us check this incipient fault immediately. It is the business of every individual girl in college to watch herself closely and to help others too in remedying this flaw in our character, and to bring conditions back to their normal state. There is no girl in college, no matter how quiet, whom this message does not touch in some way.

CLASSICAL CLUB.

A special meeting of the Classical Club was held December 11, at which Mr. Edgar Sturtevant was elected to honorary membership. The following girls were elected to the play committee: Ada Muller '08, chairman; Marie Young '08, Mildred Kerner '08, Alice Grant '09.

1910 CLASS PARTY.

On Wednesday, December 11, 1910 gave a phost party in the theatre. The darkened room, lighted only by the glow of a few shrouded electric lights, supplied an atmosphere of "spookiness" which was quite in keeping with the events of the afternoon. The sophomores, all in ghostly white, entered silently and marched around the theatre. A "dim, religious light" was shed by the candles carried by each girl; but the solemnity of the march was slightly marred by the fact that the dim, religious light dripped greasily upon the ghostly night-gowns. After the girls had formed a ring, each one was called forward and given a "grind." Ghost stories were next in order, and 1910 shuddered deliciously as sepulchral voices told weird, supernatural tales. It was discovered that the delight of telling ghost stories is much enhanced by munching ice cream, sandwiches and pickles during the process.

A jolly dance ended the affair; and after a hearty cheer for the entertainment committee the party broke up.

The committee in charge was Elsie Plant, chairman; Grace Reeder, Ethel Shaw, Laura Stryker and Helen Crossman.

SONG PRACTICE.

At undergraduate song practice last Thursday the girls were drilled on three new songs. The rhythm or the metre of one of them caused great difficulty in the rendering, but after several determined endeavors the warblers scored a triumph for themselves.

The spirit at undergraduate song practice this year is better than it has ever been before, and the quality of singing has improved proportionately.

NOTICE.

The next number of the BULLETIN will be issued on January 8, 1908.

DR. LEONHARD'S LECTURE.

The Deutscher Kreis was so fortunate as to have Dr. Leonhard, Kaiser Wilhelm Professor at Columbia, address the society on Thursday afternoon. The title of the lecture, "The Position of Woman in Ancient Rome" was misleading in that it suggested a dry and pedantic statement of facts, whereas Dr. Leonhard's address showed so much real scholarship, wide culture and such delightful gleams of humor that the lecture was one of the most charming ever heard at Barnard. It is to be regretted that a larger audience was not present to enjoy and applaud Dr. Leonhard. Dr. Braun, Mr. Bechert, Dr. Heuser and Mr. Porterfield were present and were for once rewarded for their constant interest in the Kreis and in college social affairs in general.

BROOKS HALL NOTES.

Miss Weeks entertained Professor Richards, Dr. Hazen, and Miss Latham and Miss Thompson of the Department of Botany, at dinner last Thursday evening. After the dinner the guests met the girls and inspected the dormitory. Miss Weeks's second tea was as enjoyable as the first, and was attended by many of the students.

NOTICE.

It has been requested that the students' attention be called once more to the rules of the reading room. It is desired that the students will in the future return books on time, and also that they will be careful to sign the slips when borrowing books.

THE PAN ARYAN ASSOCIATION.

The Pan Aryan Association of North America is holding a series of open meetings this winter to which all Barnard students who are interested are cordially invited. The association was formed only a little over a year ago for the benefit of East Indians residing in America and for the furthering of interest in America in behalf of the people of India. At the open meetings the discussions or lectures generally center around some social condition characteristic of the life in India.

At the first public meeting this season on December 14, at which Professor J. B. Clark, LL.D., of Columbia presided, Professor J. W. Knox, LL.D., of the Union Theological Seminary, spoke on "The Place of Woman in the New Orient." and Mrs. Rustom Cama, a distinguished Parsee from Bombay, India, discussed some of the social problems of modern India.

During the winter there will be several meetings of the club, which will be announced in later numbers of the BULLETIN.

Dr. Eliot of the Hudson Guild will speak before the Barnard chapter of the College Settlement Association on January 9, 1908. The association invites all Barnard students interested in settlement work to attend the lecture.
