REGULATIONS FOR THE RESIDENCE LIFE OF BROOKS HALL

The general supervision of the residence life of Brooks Hall rests with a committee known as the HALL COUNCIL, which is subject to the reserve powers of the Dean of the College, and is supposed to confer with a resident of each floor as to the desire.

THE HALL COUNCIL consists of the Hall Mistress, a College officer appointed by the Dean of the College, and the Chairman of the Hall Committee.

THE HALL COMMITTEE consists of the Hall Mistress, ex-officio, and five residents, one resident to be chosen from each floor by the students having rooms on that floor.

The Hall Committee shall be elected during the third week of October and shall elect a chairman from their own number. The members of this committee shall be known as Floor-Representatives. They shall be responsible for the management of the floors and shall, through their chairman, represent the students in conference with the Hall Council.

The Hall Committee shall be empowered to carry out all regulations which concern the management of the floors. For the more efficient administration of this office the following plan has been suggested by the Hall Committee and adopted by the Hall Council:

1. The Hall Committee shall be assisted by five sub-representatives, one of whom shall be elected from each of the five floors by the members of her floor.
2. These sub-representatives shall be elected within the first three days of each month, beginning with November, and shall serve until the end of that month.
3. Each sub-representative shall have the immediate supervision of her floor and shall report to the floor-representative any repetition of an infringement of the regulations.
4. The Floor-representative shall in turn report to the Hall Committee any infringement which she is unable to control.
5. When the conduct of any resident of the Hall seems to call for it, the case shall be referred to the Hall Council. This plan is understood to be tentative only, and can be readily be modified or set aside after suitable trial if the students so desire. The present floor-representatives shall, within the first three days of January, appoint the sub-representatives for January.

Certain ones of the rules and regulations that follow are made by the college authorities and do not come under the jurisdiction of the Hall Council. The others have been

THE SOPHOMORE DANCE

Owing to the small number of people expected, the Sophomore Dance was held this year in the theatre instead of in the Thompson gymnasium. This arrangement proved to be a most fortunate one, for the college presented a festive appearance at the evening of December 20. The combination of class and college flags and Christmas greens in the decorations produced a very happy effect; the red shading of the electric lights toned down the medley of college colors, and even harmonized the brown and yellow flags with their green and red neighbors.

Aside from the decorations, the dance was a success. Miss Weeks and Mrs. Bailey received the guests; the other patronesses present were Miss Maltby, the honorary member of the class of 1910, Mrs. Plaut and Mrs. Woodhull.

The floor was good and the music excellent. The only drawback was the fact that the time limit necessitated extremely short intervals between dances. The number of couples on the floor, too, made dancing rather an exciting process, but this was scarcely a drawback, for it seemed only to increase the general hilarity. In fact the whole dance was characterized by a spirit of Christmastide informality.

The dance-cards were artistically designed; they were enclosed in soft brown covers decorated with a small gold owl.

Praise is due the committee for their skilful management of the dance. Their ability in the matter of driving nails and climbing step-ladders gave them a busy afternoon, but it also gave the guests a most pleasant impression of Barnard.

The committee was: Mary Bailey, chairman; Marguerite Druding, Lilian Egleston, Edna Heller, Ethel Lawrence, and Mabel Palliser and Hazel Woodhull, ex-officio.

DR. GRENPELL'S LECTURE

On Monday, December 16, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the medical missionary who is giving his whole life in service for the fishermen of Labrador, gave a stereopticon lecture on his work in the auditorium of Earl Hall, which was crowded to its fullest capacity. Dr. Grenfell gave an exceedingly interesting account of the difficulties and delights of his mission, and the big audience was so held and absorbed that they never realized that he had talked much over his time. After the lecture many people went forward to speak with him.

Some Columbia students, emulating the example of Harvard and Yale, have pledged themselves to equip and send a boat to Labrador next June for Dr. Grenfell's use.

THE 1910 SEARCHLIGHT

The BULLETIN has an emulator. Inspired by the College Weekly the class of 1910 is publishing a weekly class paper, edited by Grace Reeder, editor-in-chief, Elsie Plant, assistant editor, and Gladys Bonfile, business manager.

That the standards of the Searchlight differ greatly from one number to another is the very outset by the motto of the paper: "Knock and be knocked." So far that little scandal throws its beams; it shines a bad deed in the daily press." Living up to this motto, the Searchlight fills its narrow pages with the relation of all manner of events in the private life of 1910, with personal remarks, grinds, "answers to correspondents," and suggestions to individual members of the class. Many of the knocks, as well as the spirit of the paper, can be appreciated by outsiders, but the choicest bits are probably those passages that pertain to occurrences taking place wholly within the sacred walls of the Sophomore study, and which are unknown to the greater world,—unfortunately for the latter, no doubt. The responsibility of gathering the material for this aspiring periodical rests largely upon the reporters, Naarnie Maison, Marion Montesper and Florence Rose.

The Christmas number of the Searchlight contained an unfinished tragedy in four acts entitled "Mary the Grind, or How She Got an A in German." From the slight hint of the action betrayed in Act I it seems that it would be wise to give the continuation not too great publicity. The "personal notes" in this, the third, number seemed less amusing than those in the previous issues. For the sake of the editors it is hoped that some startlingly new characteristics have been developed among members of 1910 during the holidays.

BARNARD UNION LECTURE

On Friday afternoon, December 20, Mr. Percival Chubb of the New York Ethical Culture School, gave a reading of Dickens's "Christmas Carol" before the members of the Barnard Union. The choice of the date for Mr. Chubb's recital, though highly appropriate, proved unfortunate in that few girls were able to attend. Room 139, in which the meeting was held, was barely half filled. This poor attendance is greatly to be regretted, not only because Mr. Chubb is a man of prominence to whom a heartier welcome is due, but also because those who could not come missed a treat.

DEAN GILL'S RESIGNATION

At the last regular meeting of the trustees of Barnard College, Miss Laura Drake Gill, Dean of Barnard since May 1, 1901, tendered her resignation, which was accepted.

The reasons for Miss Gill's resignation have as yet not been made public.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1908.

The "regulations for residence in Brooks Hall" should be of great interest, not only to the resident students, but to every girl in college. Judging from other colleges the influence of the dormitory life over the whole college will, in all probability, become greater and greater with time. It is therefore essential that the whole undergraduate body help to lay the foundation of the life at Brooks Hall, so that it shall be built on the best principles and shall stand for the highest ideals. It seems to us that the faculty and student committees at Brooks have accomplished a great deal in a short time, and that this fact is little regarded by the great mass of non-resident students. A strong, well organized, self-governing little state is growing up beside, almost within, our own "undergraduate association," and the greater part of the non-residents take it as a matter of course, let it go its own way, hardly glancing at its steady progress, never recognizing that this small community will perhaps be able to rule the whole college in a few years. That the organization of Brooks Hall is as good as we could wish it, does not weaken our argument. We wish to plead for greater recognition of this organization and of its importance and greater interest in its development.

It has been requested that the following notice be inserted in the BULLETIN:

According to the usual custom, the Barnard Calendar is reduced after the first of the year to 50 cents; mailing price 60 cents.

RULES AND REGULATIONS MADE BY THE COLLEGE

- No nails or tacks are to be driven into the walls. A picture moulding is provided from which pictures may be hung.
- All damages, defects, and leakages should be reported to the office at once.
- No alcohol lamps are to be used in the rooms.
- All food kept in the rooms must be kept in tin boxes.
- The maids are not allowed to supply any stores without a requisition slip. These slips may be obtained from the House-keeper.
- No extra service is to be demanded from the maids.
- No fees are to be given to the maids.
- No student shall be absent from dinner, or for the evening, without notifying the office and arrangement at the same time for chaperonage where chaperonage is necessary.
- Guests may not be accommodated in the Hall over night, except by invitation from the Hall Mistress. They may, however, be entertained at meals after proper notification if there are vacant seats. Students who desire guests are earnestly requested to notify the office as early as possible. The following charges are made for meals:
Breakfast, 25c. Luncheon, 35c. Dinner, 50c.
- The hours for meals are as follows:

	Weekdays	Sundays
Breakfast...	7.30 to 8.30	8.30 to 9
Luncheon...	12.00 to 1.30	1.30
Dinner.....	6.30	6.00

 Students are expected to consult the circular for further details about the administration of Brooks Hall and the care of the building.

RULES AND REGULATIONS MADE BY THE HALL COUNCIL

- The Hall shall be quiet from 7.30 to 9.30, and after 10 o'clock p. m.
- Any student in Brooks Hall going to the Library in the evening shall be home by 10.30.
- No student resident in Brooks Hall shall go to any restaurant or hotel for supper after the theatre or other evening entertainments.
- Callers shall be expected to leave at 10.30.
- A resident of Brooks Hall may receive her father in her own room until 9.30 p. m.
- Musical instruments in private rooms are not to be used during the following hours:

9 to 12 a. m.
2 to 4 p. m.
8 to 9.30 p. m.
After 10 p. m.

Students are urgently requested to go to and from the Library in the evening in pairs or groups, if possible.

The Christian Association, through its philanthropic committee, was able to do more Christmas work than usual this year. Seventy-five comfort-bags were made by different students, filled by members of the committee with such articles as sewing material, testaments and calendars, and sent for distribution among sailors to the American Seamen's Friend Society in Wall Street. The New York City Mission was also remembered with a large donation consisting of dolls, toys, books, a type-writer, sewing-materials and holly. Here recognition is due to the co-operation of the College Settlement Association which contributed many of the toys and books, as well as to that of the C. S. M. A., which sent the type-writer. The Christmas decorations in the theatre, put up for chapel services of the week preceding the holidays, were given to the Harlem Branch of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The philanthropic committee wishes to thank very heartily all the students who contributed in any way to this charitable work. Most of it had to be done at a time when everybody was particularly busy, and the efforts of all workers are accordingly much appreciated.

C. S. M. A.

The Church Students' Missionary Association sent two boxes of clothing and presents for Christmas to a mission in the mountains of West Virginia.

CHAPEL

The Christmas service was held on December 17. The theatre was decorated with bunches of holly and laurel, hung from each chandelier, and the stage was draped with Christmas greens. Dr. Grosvenor, one of the trustees of the college, had been expected to conduct chapel, but as he was unable to be present, Acting Dean Brewster read the service.

BROOKS HALL NEWS

On January 10 Professor Rübner of Columbia University will give a musical at Brooks Hall. The resident students are all invited and, moreover, each is given the privilege of inviting a friend. Those students who heard Professor Rübner last year at the reception given by Dean Gill to the faculty and the dormitory girls are looking forward with much pleasure to the coming event.

Miss Weeks is planning to make her Thursday afternoon teas still pleasanter by having music. At the last tea before the Christmas holidays, Mrs. Annie Nathan Meyer, the guest of honor, played the piano. She chose selections from modern Russian music and some MacDowell pieces. The music was greatly enjoyed by Miss Weeks's other guests, and besides their enjoyment, the students appreciated this evidence of Mrs. Meyer's interest in Barnard. The tea was well attended by the students. Mrs. Liggett and a few alumnae were also there.
