BARNARD UNION

The Union has been able to arrange two afternoons devoted to the suffrage question: the first to the anti-suffragists, at which Mrs. Barclay-Hazard will be the chief speaker; the second to the suffragists at which, on ~~April 10~~, Mrs. Florence Kelley will speak. In this way it will not be necessary to crowd both sides in the same afternoon as once was feared.

The afternoon of March 11th promises to be of great interest. Mrs. Annie Nathan Meyer has promised to introduce Mrs. Barclay-Hazard. As she herself has done much work along the line of anti-suffrage, what she tells must be of interest to any audience; for Barnard, Mrs. Meyer always has a special interest. Mrs. Barclay-Hazard will speak on "How Can Women Best Serve the State?"

Many prominent ladies will be at the meeting, and ample opportunity will be given to the students to meet them afterwards at tea. Instead of having discussion from the floor, most of it will take the form of chats. In this way it is hoped that the girls will really get answers to their questions, and at the same time have the satisfaction of speaking personally with people of note.

The Glee Club will be a very pleasant feature of the afternoon. It is hoped that soon this organization will be an important factor at every college. It has this place elsewhere and should have it at Barnard.

Tickets may be secured from any of the following girls: Dorothea Eltzner, '08, Ence Wyeth, '09, Harriet Fox, '10, Elsie Plant, '10, Katherine Gay, '11, and Kate Tiemann, '11.

MRS. FISKE-COLLORD'S DEATH

Mrs. Martha T. Fiske-Collord, who died recently in Cairo, Egypt, and whose funeral was on Friday, Feb. 28th, in New York City, was a trustee and generous friend of Barnard. She was much interested in collegiate education for women, and contributed toward the endowment of a number of them.

To Barnard she gave Fiske Hall, which she wished to have used by the departments of science. At the time the college was opened here, it was deemed best to use it temporarily as a residence hall. When it was needed for academic purposes, she gave the money for remodeling it.

The Department of Physics received from her about $2,850 for special equipment in sound, light, and electrical apparatus, and for the new electrical laboratory in the basement of Fiske Hall.

Mrs. Collord's benefactions were not confined to any one field. She gave to the general fund for current expenses, and founded two scholarships, and gave to whatever cause seemed most in need, always in a very unostentatious way.

MACDOWELL BENEFIT CONCERT

Under the auspices of the classes of 1898 and 1908 a concert was given in Brinkerhoff Theatre last Wednesday, the proceeds of which were to swell the MacDowell Fund. The class of 1898 hoped in this way to show that Professor MacDowell's former kindness to the class had not been forgotten. In 1897, while the 1898 Mortarboard was being printed, the advertising agent whom the editors had employed, absconded with all the money he had collected from advertisers—some $200—and went to the Philippines as a soldier. As the runaway was killed there, 1898 could not prosecute him, and they were thus left face to face with the large debt. Professor MacDowell came to the rescue by giving the class a benefit concert at which such a large sum was cleared that not only the Mortarboard but also other "needy but deserving" organizations profited.

The program for last Wednesday's concert follows:

1. Concerto in D major.....Wieniawski (Allegro moderato—Romanze—Finale alla Zingara)
Mr. Jan Munkacsy
2. Aria Dell 'Ombra (Dinorah):Meyerbeer
Senorita Finita de Soria
3. Furiant.....Smetana
Miss Ludmilla Vojacek
4. a. Romanze, op. 50.....Beethoven
b. Menuet.....Mozart
c. Hungarian Airs.....M. Hauser
Mr. Jan Munkacsy
5. a. The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree.....} MacDowell
b. In the Woods.....} Senorita Finita de Soria
6. a. On the Holy Mount.....} Dvorak
b. Dance of the Gnomes...} Miss Ludmilla Vojacek
7. Witches' Dance.....Paganini
Mr. Jan Munkacsy

Senorita Finita de Soria was unable to appear, and her place was taken by Mrs. Sawyer. Owing partly to the bad weather, partly to inadequate advertising, and partly, —in all probability to the price of the tickets,—the audience was very small indeed.

APPOINTMENT TO FACULTY COMMITTEE

Miss Reimer has been appointed chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Organizations in place of Dr. Shotwell, who resigned recently.

1911

The Freshmen have begun training for the Greek games under the direction of a committee consisting of Ethel Leveridge. Chairman: Lilian Schoedler. Juanita Brown, Helen Coombs, Edith Burne and Millie Bruning.

THE CONGESTION EXHIBITION

On March 9th and the two weeks following there will be at the Museum of Natural History an exhibition demonstrating the Congestion of the Industrial Classes in New York City. This exhibition is of especially great importance to students of sociology. Two days should be of unusual interest to the Barnard students. The first evening—the official evening at which the Italian Ambassador will be present—President Findlay of the City College of New York will preside, and Governor Hughes will speak. Free reserved tickets for this evening may be obtained by application to Marguerite Newland, '08.

March 14th (the other date) will be College day. Delegations will come from many of the colleges outside of New York, and it is earnestly hoped that Barnard will be at least adequately represented. It would be indeed a pity if the Barnard representatives who can get there with so little trouble should not come in good numbers, and show that Barnard is as much or more interested in the great movements of the day as are other colleges.

Arrangements for the Barnard visit are in the hands of a committee consisting of Mrs. Simkowitz, Mrs. Merrett, Gertrude R. Stein, '08, and Florence M. Wolff, '08. Notices of their plans as well as a more detailed account of the exhibit will appear in the next issue of the BULLETIN.

SOCIAL SERVICE COMMITTEE

A university committee known as the Clearing House Committee for Social Work was organized in Earl Hall on February 14th. It consists of two delegates from each of the seven religious or philanthropic societies in the various schools, including the Christian Association and the Newman Society of Columbia, the Phillips Brooks Guild of Teachers' College, and the Christian and College Settlement Associations of Barnard. The purpose of the committee is to arouse general interest in philanthropic work, to conduct special lectures on subjects of interest, and to secure volunteer and paid workers for churches, settlements, etc.

THE SOPHOMORE TEA

To the class of 1910, at least, the Sophomore Tea appeared to be a good substitute for the larger and more formal Undergraduate Tea. The usual attempts at decoration were made, and a general air of coziness in the study was the result. Refreshments were served in the Interclass Study, which was made especially attractive. The yellow candle-shades, decorated with brown owls, were considered extremely original. The theatre was given over to dancing and was well filled all afternoon.

A marked feature of the entertainment

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 1908.

We are very glad to see that two events are appearing on the distant horizon which seem to command the attention of the whole college rather than of any one section of it. We refer, of course, to the Undergrad Play and Field Day. The happy situation of the first was commented on in our columns last week; and it is to the other that we would especially refer to today. The new plan adopted by the Athletic Association of compelling participants in the games to practise regularly twice a week from mid-years till Field Day is a wise one; we remember a number of instances in past years when athletes failed to do their best at the critical time for one of two reasons: lack of time to practice in at all, or overstrain from concentrated practice in too short a time. The moderate, regular practice we are having now will do away with these two tendencies, and ought, furthermore, to make much more proficient competitors than usual. Moreover, the good work that the freshmen and sophomores are getting in for the Greek games ought to tell on Field Day as well as in the classic contests. It behoves the upper classes to look to their laurels.

Another good plan besides the method of practice has been suggested, and we hope it can be properly carried out: that is, to devote Field Day entirely to field sports. The idea is to play off the basketball tournament between the present time and that date. Under such an arrangement it is thought that a couple of hockey teams could be organized, and the new feature of a hockey match added to Field Day. We think this would be an interesting experiment, and one quite worth while provided it attracted new girls and developed more athletes: if it did not, we doubt whether it would be so much worth while, though it would still undoubtedly be interesting! Unless some new material could be worked up for the teams, however, it might be better to try to improve the events upon which the committee has already decided.

BASKETBALL

The third game with Teachers' College was played in the Thompson Gymnasium Tuesday afternoon, February 25. Everyone was of the opinion that it was the best game of the season, not only because Barnard won by a score of 18-6, but because both the teams were in excellent trim and the game was swift and clean. The line-up was as follows:

Teachers' College		Barnard
Miss Strope	} Forwards	H. Smithers	}
Miss Pernesson		J. Prahl
Miss Cutting	} Centers	F. Sammet	}
Miss B. Treat		L. Schoedler
Miss Sherman	} Guards	F. Mastrin	}
Miss Treat		M. Conroy

The two teams showed great skill in their team-work—the guards were steady and sure, the centers swift and active, while the forwards never played a better game. In the first half Miss Strope of Teachers' College made four out of six fouls, and Herlinda Smithers made three field goals and Jo Prahl one for Barnard. In the second half Miss Strope made two out of seven fouls and Miss Smithers made five more field goals, bringing the score to 18-6. Naturally the Barnard girls were very enthusiastic and joyful over the hard-fought victory, for the scores of the other two games were 11-8 and 16-7 in favor of Teachers' College.

MANDOLIN CLUB ANNOUNCEMENT

The Mandolin Club wishes to announce that its membership list is open to all Barnard students who can play any stringed instrument. All girls who play the violin, mandolin or guitar are urged to join even if they are not experts. Candidates should give their names to Rose Levy, '09 (Locker 153, Junior Study).

The Mandolin and the Glee Clubs expect to give a concert on the evening of March 20th.

SOCIOLOGY EXCURSION

Some of the members of Mrs. Simishovitch's sociology course had a very pleasant excursion to the East Side in the afternoon and evening of February nineteenth. During the afternoon the Educational Alliance, the Nurses' and College Settlements and a model apartment were visited. The party took dinner at the University Settlement, where Dr. Hamilton and the other residents of the house entertained them very cordially. After seeing the settlement the girls went to an East Side tenement. The house was packed and the sociologist had an excellent opportunity to study East Side types.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

The Silver Bay Association has invited all the colleges who send large delegations to the summer conference at Silver Bay to contribute one of their respective banners to hang on the walls of the main auditorium. Barnard will send a large blue flag, which has been made expressly for this purpose.

The Silver Bay Committee has been appointed as follows: Bertha Firebaugh, '09, Chairman; Winifred Barrows, '09, Christella MacMurray, '10, and Otilie Prochazka, '11.

The intercollegiate committee, which conducts the correspondence of the association with other colleges consists of Doris Lutz, '10, Chairman, Marie Flint, '10, and M. Shaw, '11.

The revised list of the lecture course now being given is as follows:

- March 9, at 3 P. M.
Rev. Robert B. Kimber.
"What is being done to help the unfortunate people of your city." (Work on Randall's Island, etc.) Given in cooperation with the Church Students Missionary Association.
- March 16, at 3 P. M.
