THE GREEK GAMES

More than one new idea was introduced at this year's Greek Games, which took German Department on Wednesday afterplace last Friday afternoon. The first one moon did not find it difficult to be informal was that of holding them in Thompson as Dr. Braun bade them be, because every-Gymnasium instead of in Brinckerhoff thing was made so pleasant and entertaining Theatre, and in every way the change of by the hosts. location was an improvement. The running track gave plenty of room for the ising composers of the day, played a series spectators, whereas the gallery of the theatre always used to be crowded to suffoca- Braun first read the text for the benefit of tion; and the ample space on the floor allowed two new events: discus throwing the German language. The program was and hurdle racing.

Another entirely new feature was the contest between the two choruses. After the Freshman and Sophomore classes, dressed in the approved classic robes, had taken their respective places on opposite sides of the gymnasium, the Freshmen Chorus entered, keeping time as they marched with cymbals. Their chorus was a translation of a Greek chorus made by Jeanette Steinecke and set to original music by Estelle Elisson. It was accompanied by a slow and stately dance. This was followed by the Sophomore Chorus, a translation of the Love Chorus of the Antigone, made by Elizabeth Nitchie, and set to music by Lillian Egleston. The girls carried garlands of smilax and wore Greek cloaks of yellow over their white gowns, which made a very pretty effect. Sophomores were greatly aided in their costuming by Mrs. T. Leslie Shear. The judges, who were Professors Brewster, Shotwell, Hirst, Abbot and McWhood, decided in favor of the Sophomore Chorus, giving them nine points.

After the choruses came the Invocation to the Gods and the pouring of libations, which were followed by the contest in epic poetry which was rather long drawn out, as there were three contestants from each class. The judges of the poems, Professors Brewster, Shotwell and Hirst, awarded first and second places to Frances Randolph '11 and Louise Allen '11, respectively, and third place to Agnes O'Donnell '10. As in all the other events the different places counted, in points, five, three and one.

The throwing of the discus came next, and was extremely pretty. There were six contestants on each side, and the victorious three were all sophomores: Grace Shaw, first; Mabel McCann, second, and Rosetta Platt, third.

The high jump was not made so much of as usual, as the girls had been weeded out beforehand, and only two tried from each class. Hazel Woodhull '10 came out ahead, tollowed by Lillian Schoedler '11, second, and Mabel McCann '10, third,

The javelin-throwing contest was of a sort totally new to Barnard. The large target was suspended from the running

Mr. Haile closed the program with an amusing encore, introducing barnyard music -the cluck of a hen and the peep of a chicken. The other songs were very individual and characteristic; they illustrated the text most effectively and left distinct impressions in the minds of the audience. The musicale was certainly one of the most enjovable entertainments of its kind ever given in Barnard and everyone was sorry when the time came to close the piano.

After the concert the students were introduced to the guests of honor-Mrs. Calvin, Thomas, Mrs. Wilhelm Braun and Mrs. Frederick Heuser. Refreshments were served by some of the favored students who were allowed to assist the German Department in their rôle of entertainers, of which it would be difficult to find any more cordial and hospitable!

BARNARD UNION

Under the auspices of the Barnard Union Intercollegiate Socialist Society. The purpose of the organization is the study of Socialism in all its different phases, but those who join are by no means necessarily sowelcome to become a member.

The following officers have been elected: tary, Lois B. Westaway, 1909.

BROOKS HALL FACULTY RECEPTION

The Brooks Hall reception to the members of the faculty and their wives was voted a really great success. It was one of those occasions, prevalent in the western college but at Barnard so rare, where the classroom relation is forgotten and the teachers and students meet on an equal social basis.

After passing through the ordeal of the receiving line, the guests were entertained by the residents and every little while sightseeing tours to inspect the college home were -organized.

The great treat of the evening was as unexpected to the hests as to the few remaining guests: Professor Rübner consented to play two delightful piano selections. As usual they were as well chosen as executed.

The ushers and the refreshment committee are to be congratulated on the good management shown throughout the evening. Committees, under the chairmanship of Ruth Stowell and Martha Hamil respect tively, showed that "college does not unfit woman for her social duties."

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Talcott, Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Meyer, Mr. Brewster, Dr. and Mrs. Perry, Dr. Rübner, Dr. and Mrs. Osbrun, Miss Opdyke, Miss Dederer, Mr. Porterfield, Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. Shear, Dr. and Mrs. Sturtevant, Miss Haskall, Miss Rockwell, Mr. Bechert, Dr. and Mrs. Braun, Dr. Reimer, Dr. Richards, Dr. Page, Miss Latham, Dr. Ogilvie, Dr. Hazen, Dr. and Mrs. Dewey, Miss Langford, Mr. Williams, Mr. Krathwahl, Miss Keller and Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell.

The receiving committee were Miss Weeks, Miss Hubbard, Marjorie Harrison (the Hall Council) and Anna Petit, Florence M. Wolff, Lillian Egleston and Marguerite Rayner (the House Committee).

DEUTSCHER KREIS

The following changes have been made in the casts of the German play:

Miss Addie Morgenstern will play Aurora; Mr. Carl Kayser, Dr. Frish; Mr. Goodman, Assessor Hustig.
