Chapel

Monday and Thursday

At the first Monday chapel service Chaplain Knox spoke on the necessity of getting from college the highest it can give. He said that some students come to college to acquire polish and the merely decorative qualities that an education gives, while some come that they may be fitted to fill the more highly paid positions when they become self-supporting. Both of these motives are legitimate, but they are not the highest, nor are they the broadest.

The student who comes to college to attain real self improvement—that is a deeper wisdom, a broader vision and a greater strength for better, more useful living, is the student who will get the best that her Alma Mater has to give, and this student is probably in the meanwhile giving her best to her Alma Mater.

Provost Brewster addressed a large gathering in chapel on Thursday. He gave us some valuable advice for sane and sincere living. He warned us against worrying and said that worry is a kind of lack of self-control. On the other hand, to look ahead with reference to carefully ordering the use of one's time, to plan a wise expenditure of the following day and week makes for more efficient and well-ordered living.

The Provost then warned us against the common fault of denouncing, when we see them in others, the very faults which are our own. This is a kind of hypocrisy, which it is peculiarly easy to fall into, and which we should, therefore, all be especially careful to avoid.

Deutscher Kreis News

The character of the Deutscher Kreis was very much altered at an important meeting of the Club held last Friday. The requirements for entrance into the Kreis were raised, so that now only those students who are taking German 5-5, or a higher German course, and also those who have entered on Intermediate German, are eligible. Membership in the Kreis will hereafter be by invitation only, and will be controlled by a membership committee. Anyone belonging to the Deutscher Kreis may propose new members, but the final decision as to whether they shall be invited to join will rest with the membership committee. This committee consists of Florence Schwartzwalder, '14, Chairman; Mariette Gless, '13; Harriet Wilmot, '13; Florence Harris, '14; Grace Greenbaum, '15; and Virginia Pullevyn, '15.

The plans for the play, which is given annually together with the Columbia Deutsche Verein, are not yet very definite.

Every two weeks the Deutscher Kreis expects to hold informal meetings, at which modern German literature and drama will be discussed, and the members of the German faculty have promised to support these gatherings. It is hoped that these meetings will be as instructive as they are expected to be enjoyable.

On Thursday, October ninth, at four o'clock, the Kreis will give a little entertainment to all the girls in the college who meet the requirements for eligibility in the club. As part of the entertainment a one-act German playlet will be presented.

Owing to the Vice-President of the Kreis having left college, Rhoda Freudenthal was elected to fill that office for the coming year.

The meeting was then adjourned.

The Seniors Marry the Freshmen

To the solemn tones of the Wedding March 1916 and 1914 marched to the altar to be unified in bonds of matrimony. The marriage was most impressive, and even the ushers who led the procession down the center aisle looked very dignified in dress suits and white carnations. The choir boys sang the Wedding March slowly and sedately, and the minister (Louise Fox) followed them in state. Then came four little flower girls in short, white dresses and pink sashes, strewing roses. An embarrassed groom (D. Fitch) and a confident best man (M. Kenny) preceded six bridesmaids and ushers. Each bridesmaid carried a yellow chrysanthemum. 1914's class flower. A very charming bride (C. Lorez, 1916) was led in by her mourning father (J. Mohle) and followed by copiously weeping female relatives.

The groom had to promise to love his bride and to cherish her until graduation should them part and "then some." The bride was to take him for sister and for crush, in baseball and in hockey, in winning or at losing.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the lunch room. Altogether it was probably the most impressive and enjoyable "even" wedding that Barnard has ever witnessed, and best wishes and congratulations go with the bride and groom, for a successful married life.

New Instructors

A number of changes in the staff of instructors at Barnard College have been made since last spring. New appointments are those of Luther H. Alexander, Ph.D., instructor in the Romance languages and literature; Earl W. Crecraft, A.M., instructor in politics; William S. Messer, A.M., instructor in classical philology; Laura C. Brant, A.M., assistant in physics; Ella H. Clark, A.M., and Ruth S. Finch, A.M., assistants in chemistry. The vacancies left by the recent resignations of Niels C. Christensen, lecturer in geology, and Emilie J. Hutchinson, assistant in history, have been filled by the appointment of Freeman F. Burr, S.B., and of Juliet S. Points, A.M., who returns to Barnard after two years study in England.

Alumnae Notes

'07 Anne Carroll will not return to the school at Glencoe, Md., where she has taught for five years. She will live at home, in Schenectady, and teach there.

'07 Irene Adams, who has completed one year at the New York University Law School, did practical work with a law firm last summer.

'07 Amalie Althaus spent the summer abroad traveling and visiting relatives in Germany.

'07 Emily MacEwan went abroad in July with the German teachers of the country.

'07 Elizabeth Tredwell was married in July to Mr. Homer Adolph Stebbins, Syracuse, 1906, a lawyer of this city.

'07 Amalie Lowenthal was married in July to Mr. Wm. Schildgen of Naugatuck, Conn., where he is a scientific agriculturist.

'07 Evangeline Cole is now on the Tribune, and her stories appear on the third page.

'07 Margaret Bailey sailed on the Francia from Boston on July 9. She attended a Student Conference at Swanwich, Derbyshire, and later sailed for China. Her address is 2 Avenue Road, Shanghai. She will teach in St. Mary's School and later do evangelistic work.

'04 Nell Thomas received a B.S. from Teachers' College in June and is teaching this year in the Gilbert School, Winsted, Conn.

'03 Ethel Wilcox was killed in July at Saranac Lake. It is thought that she slipped and fell into the falls, for her body was recovered from the river.

'05 Nan Fisher died from an operation for appendicitis on July 11.

'05 Beatrice Anderson is head of an employment bureau down town.

'08 Bessie Beers was married on June 13 in Jamaica to Mr. Edward R. Carman, a lawyer. Her new address is 13 Avalon Ave., Jamaica.

Ex-'08 Alicia Emerson is now the wife of Dr. Wm. Denton, an army surgeon, now stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Ex-'09 Edna Tompkins-Stillman now has two children. Ruth Margaret was born last Easter day at the Stillman's home in Amity, Ore.

'10 Gladys Bonfils-Rogers has a daughter, Ruth Alden, born on August 2.

'10 Hazel Woodhull graduated with honors from Dr. Sargent's School in Cambridge, and will teach this year in Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill., or Western Reserve College for Women, Cleveland, Ohio.

'09 Mildred Woodhull has announced her engagement.

'10 Grace Reeder is engaged in philanthropic work in Goshen, N. Y.

'11 Juanita Brown received a diploma in Domestic Science last June and spent the summer teaching that subject in Camp Lanier, Me.

'12 Lucy Landru will teach French this year in the Harcourt Place School at Gambier, Ohio.

'12 Edith Morris has accepted the position to teach mathematics and history in the Roselle High School, N. J.

'07 Emma Cole-Young of San Jose, Cal., has a son, Gardner Gilbert.

'05 Abley Leland spent the summer in Alaska.

'09 F. May Ingalls was married to Mr. George Erle Beggs, Columbia, on the evening of September 26 at the Collegiate Church. Mr. Beggs is a bridge engineer, and the couple will make their home in Florida, where Mr. Beggs has a position.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 9th, 1912

Perhaps no issue of the BULLETIN will show more clearly than this the extraordinary diversity of our interests at college. If you turn to the next page you will see records not only of class meeting and student council, but also of the Church Club, the Craigie Club, the College Settlement, and the Philosophy Club. On Friday, between twelve and one, meeting of the BEAR, the Church Club, the Philosophy Club, the College Settlement, Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, and the Deutsche Kreis were all held; that is the record for one hour. Is it strange then that the question comes home pretty strongly, Are we not too highly organized? Are all these clubs and societies justifying their own existence and the time which they take?

Certainly, all of them are interesting to some of the students. All of them have their possibilities, but are any of them fulfilling their possibilities or is it not rather true that most of the students give a hurried, an inthoughtful attention to each of the organizations and little real thought to any. A pretty good proof of this seems to be in the scanty attendance which most of these meetings have. The Philosophy Club had seven members out of about twenty at its last meeting. The College Settlement was even worse off; a quorum of about fifteen was collected with difficulty, and that for a meeting at which officers were to be elected for this year's work. This is the beginning of a new year, when our enthusiasm should be at its height; when the pressure of work is not yet severe, and yet we can show no keener interest in most of our clubs than that cited above. The conclusion that "there is something rotten in the state of Denmark" is hardly avoidable.

There are three courses which may be pursued in regard to this question. We may go on allowing more clubs; if there are enthusiasts in German and French, why not in Spanish? If in Philosophy, why not in Economics? We may cut out some of the clubs altogether, those for instance which cannot show a certain membership, and of that membership, a certain attendance at meetings. Or we may take a middle course and combine some of the organizations. Could not the Suffrage and Socialist clubs do good work together? And perhaps make themselves more valuable to the college at large by discussing some of the problems they raise in the debating club? Could not the philanthropic and religious organizations be more closely associated than by merely having Miss Patchen as their joint supervisor? These of course are only suggestions and would need careful working out and some sacrifice on the part of each club. The present situation, however, does not seem supportable.

Really Important

To the Editor of the Barnard BULLETIN:

Dear Madam—It was surely a great pleasure to be asked to write a Faculty letter for the BULLETIN, but the more I think about the matter, the more I find that moral reflections and other sentiments proper for such an occasion are, for me at present, of the nature of funeral baked meats or cold victuals. What strikes me most after a long absence from Barnard College as being really important are such things as these: That the lawn, after a disastrous summer, has been resown and will presently sprout rye and grass; that the lunch room is exceptionally prosperous; that it is too bad that Mrs. Liggett is away and will not be back for some weeks; that the trees in Milbank Quadrangle are fast becoming stately and umbrageous; that the flag is constantly flying upon the flag pole; that tennis seems to be more popular than ever; that most of the students appear to have had happy and salubrious vacations and are looking very well; that the Committee on Instruction says that they did good work last year; that more students go to Chapel than ever before; that the class studies have lacked lockers; that the halls seem uncommonly quiet for the time of year; that my rubber stamp has got worn; that I am told the fashions in dress this year are not quite as bad as they were a year ago; that 120th Street has been asphalted and consequently tempts more traffic on the north side of the building; that the college seems to be a very happy family; that the Freshmen are very enthusiastic, and the Seniors very wise; and that among many other things I am very glad to be here again, and also to subscribe myself,

Very faithfully yours,

WILLIAM T. BREWSTER.

New Courses

The Department of Romance Languages and Literatures, begs to announce two additional courses, open to all qualified graduate students, given by Monsieur René Galland, Agrégé de l'Université, visiting lecturer in French literature (Foundation of the University of Paris and of the Ministry of Public Instruction of France).

Secretary of the University.

Press Club Notice

There will be a meeting of the Press Club on Friday, October 11th, at 3 P. M., in the Alumnae room to judge the competition for new members in the Press Club.

JEAN EARL MOHLE.

Choir Notice

It has been decided by the Chapel Committee that we are to have this year a smaller and more carefully selected choir, which shall sit apart from and facing the main body of the theatre. Trials will be held shortly. All are urged to come out and try. The exact time and place of the trials will be posted on the bulletin boards. About twenty voices will be selected.

A Warning

To the Editor of the BULLETIN:

Wouldn't college be a better place if less of the girls made absolute idiots of themselves by their ridiculous crushes? Hardly one girl comes to college without the idea that a great part of her college life would be unfulfilled if she did not have at least one crush a month. The Freshmen are sure to get crazy about every Junior who deigns to look at her. If by any accident a Senior should smile at a Freshmen, she would be the object of dog-like affection. After the first glitter of the many crushes has worn off the devoted being will center all her energies on one long-suffering soul. And woe betide the "crushee," not a step may she take without her faithful little shadow. It isn't so awful if the smitten one merely follows the be-gowned and be-caped idol up and down the hall; but when the endeared being goes to chapel and, leaning far over the gallery rail, nearly falls down just to see how her dear one prays, then the limit is reached. The convenient little niche near the entrance of the gallery to the theatre serves a purpose for which it never was built. Many a devoted soul has sat there the live-long day listening for the silvery tones, waiting for the fairy tread of the enchantress. Then, the slaughter caused by Undergrad Show! There the worst damage is done. Supe after supe succumbs to the chains of the hero, the heroine, and even lesser geniuses; and spends the few precious hours for sleep or study, by shifting scenes, mending scenery, or watching the divine being rehearse.

IDIOTIC IMBECILE.

1913 Class Meetings

The first regular meeting of the Class of 1913 was held on Wednesday, October 2nd, at noon. The reports of the secretaries and treasurer and of the regular committees were read and accepted. Miss Molly Stewart resigned from the Entertainment Committee and Sally Pero was elected in her place. Owing to Dorothy Cheeseman's leaving college a new cheer and song leader had to be elected. Imogene Ireland was elected as song leader; Helen Poland as cheer leader. Mary Voyse was elected to hold the office of Undergraduate Sub-treasurer. A motion was made, seconded and carried to send Dorothy Cheeseman a letter from the class and flowers before she left New York. Clara Bittenwiese was appointed to take charge of this. On motion the meeting adjourned.

1914 Class Meeting

On Wednesday, October 4, 1914 held its first regular class meeting of the year. Miss Litch opened the meeting by extending a welcome to the transfers. The reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were then read and accepted. Then followed the election of Miss Rosemarie Wise to the Mortarboard staff and of Miss Juliet Rosenthal as sub-Treasurer. After the reports of the various committees and of Miss Macauley, the business manager of the Mortarboard, the meeting adjourned.

1915 Class Meeting

Nineteen Hundred Fifteen held their first class meeting of this year on Wednesday October 2nd, in Room 339. After the minutes of the four meetings of last May had been read and accepted the class proceeded to the regular business. Anna Paddock was elected sub-treasurer of the Undergraduate Association. Nominations were then in order for cheer leader, which office was left vacant by the absence of Heler Reynolds. Louise Walker was elected Ray Levi, Chairman of the Sophomore Show Committee, then announced that the show would be "His Excellency, the Governor," and urged the girls to come out for parts. As there was no further business the meeting then adjourned.

Japan at Your Doors

Thousands of years before America was discovered, the Orientals were blending with wonderful skill the flowers of the Far East. The Vantine perfumes are the selections of the most delicate, most subtle, most fragrant production of these masters of the world old art.

Vantine's wonderful condements, their world famous crystallized ginger fruits, stuffed dainties, spiced nuts (entirely new) for teas, luncheons, at homes, for the between bites. Their fitted steamer train and gift baskets with their Oriental contents. The little trunks of chow-chow and fruits, everything imported from old Japan. All can be had at

Student Council

Student Council held its regular weekly meeting Friday, October 4, 1912. The Council decided to request the Faculty Committee on Buildings and Grounds for a back stop for the tennis courts on the campus.

The Sophomore Show, "His Excellency the Governor," by Robert Marshall and the Junior play, "Beau Brummel," by Clyd-Fitch, were both approved.

Permission was granted to the Church Club to give a play before Christmas, as it last year, providing the cast was submitted for approval.

Church Club

On Wednesday, the second of October, at four o'clock, the Church Club was at home to Freshmen in the Undergrad Study.

On Friday, October fourth, at twelve o'clock, the first regular meeting of the year 1912-1913 was held. At this meeting the Church Club voted to spend their efforts this fall in doing Christmas work for some hospital.

Philosophy Club

The Philosophy Club held its first meeting at noon on Friday. The Club discussed the new members for this year, and also their plans for open meetings during the year. No speakers have as yet been definitely decided upon. The Club will hold its closed meetings on the last Monday in every month at four o'clock.

Mathematics Club

A meeting of the Mathematics Club was held Tuesday, October 8th, at which the constitution was adopted. Election of officers followed:

Honorary President, Prof. Frank N. Cole

Student President, Edith Balmford, '13

Vice President, Gertrude Raff, '14

Secretary-Treasurer, Catherine Fries, '15

The following were elected to membership on the program committee: Ethel Hawkey, '13, Edith Mulhall, '14, Katherine Williams, '15.

1916 Class Meeting

The first meeting of the Freshman Class was called by the Junior President on October 2nd. The main business transacted was the election of the temporary class officers. Carol Laurenz was chosen temporary chairman, Louise Talbot, the secretary, and Emma Seipp was elected chairman of the Constitution Committee. These girls will hold office until next month, when the permanent officers will be elected.

College Settlement Association

A regular meeting of the College Settlement Association was held on Friday, at 12:30. The business of the meeting was to elect a new President and Secretary. Priscilla Lockwood, '13, who had been elected President last year, and Margaret Peck, who was Secretary, were neither able to hold the offices this year. The minutes of the spring meeting were dispensed with, and the meeting proceeded to the election of officers. Harriet Goldman and Edith Rosenblatt were nominated for President. The latter withdrew her name, and Miss Goldman was unanimously elected. Marietta Gless was the only nominee for Secretary-Treasurer and was unanimously elected. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

Alumnae Notice to Non-Graduates

I would like to again call the attention of non-graduates of Barnard to the conditions governing associate-membership as amended October, 1911. To be eligible for Associate Membership in the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College an applicant must have:

1. Been at least one full year a student at Barnard College.
2. Satisfied all entrance conditions
3. Credit for 26 points to be eligible to enter the Sophomore Class. These points need not be in the required freshman work. (Conditions of 3 refer to students who were only in college one year).
4. Left under conditions of honorable dismissal.

5. Barnard students in good standing who could fulfill conditions, under 1, 2, 3, and 4, who transfer to Teachers College, or to any other institution may be eligible.

All interested in associate membership should communicate with me at once stating exactly how they fulfill the conditions above mentioned.
