Field Day

1914 Wins

On Friday, May 2nd, the Dean granted a half-holiday, in order that Field Day might not conflict with the Suffrage Parade, as it has done for the last three years. The program opened, as usual, with exercises in the theatre. For the first time since Field Day has been established, Mrs. Anderson, who gave Milbank Quadrangle, was present.

Owing to the illness of Sarah Butler, who had been elected as Chairman of Field Day, the office was held by Gertrude Morris, who opened the ceremonies with a short and, as usual, appropriate speech. She spoke of Field Day as our Thanksgiving Day, and this year we have especially to be grateful for Mrs. Anderson's presence, for the half-holiday given us by the Dean, and for the weather which was as clear and warm as a spring day could be. The Dean spoke a few words to us next. She expressed the gratitude we all feel for the generous and far-sighted gift which makes it possible for us to hold our games on a bright and beautiful campus.

Dr. Wood was the third speaker of the afternoon. He emphasized the value of athletics in the education of women; of the self-control of nerve and muscle, which must come with them. The exercises closed with the singing of "Barnard for Evermore."

Then while the capped and gowned students marched in dignified procession to the campus, while the athletes trotted sportily ahead, anxious for the fray. The campus, indeed, may well have made its donor proud, for it presented a most attractive appearance. The black and white of the academic costume made a good background for the bright costumes of the guests, and the rather picturesque athletes in green, brown, red and blue ties. And round about the moving people was the beautiful green of grass and shrubbery, and, indeed, even of the 1910 trees.

The first event was the hurdles. They were run in three heats as follows:

1913—S. Pero, P. Lockwood, H. Crosby.
1914—L. Petri, W. Boeghold, E. Hadsell.
1915—K. Williams, C. Fries. 1916—M. King, G. Pearson, P. Gubner. 1st—S. Pero, '13; 2nd—K. Williams, '15; 3rd—C. Fries, '15.

The next event was the shot put, which was won by Eleanor Hadsell, '14, whose distance was 28 feet, 3 inches. Second place was held by M. Hillas, '15, with 27 feet, 6 inches, and third by F. Markwell, 26 feet, 7½ inches. The entries were as follows:

1913—N. Harris. 1914—E. Hadsell, W. Boeghold, E. Mayer. 1915—F. Markwell, M. Hillas, I. Totten. 1916—J. Jacoby, E. Wallace.

The third event was perhaps the most enjoyable of the afternoon, for high jumping is always spectacular and exciting, and our college champion, Sally Pero, '13, is a very graceful jumper. She easily outclassed the other competitors, winning the event by a jump of 4 feet, 2 inches, taken easily. She did not try for a record, as last year, but saved herself for the dash, which was the next event. The high jump entries were as follows:

1913—S. Pero. 1914—J. Möhle, E. Mayer. 1916 P. Gubner. 2nd—P. Gubner, '16; 3rd—Möhle and Mayer, tied.

The seventy-five-yard dash was run in three heats, and a final. M. Brittain, '14,

Undergraduate Meeting

Dorothy Fitch Takes the Chair

On April 29th, the last Undergraduate meeting of the year was held. In the absence of Sarah Butler, Edith Mulhall read the Secretary's Report, which was approved. The Treasurer's Report was then read, and accepted. Report of the Executive Committee was then read, and accepted.

Article I.—Appropriations. Section 1. That $13.05 be appropriated for printing for the Building Fund. Section 2. That $12.00 be appropriated for flowers.

Article II.—Amendments. Section 1. That in case there shall be more than one candidate for Vice-President of Undergrad. the nominations for Chairman of Executive Committee shall not take place until the day after the election of the Vice-President. The nominations shall be made from the floor and a special meeting of the Junior class on the day after the election of the Chairman of Executive Committee.

Then followed a series of reports. The Undergraduate Play reported as follows:

|---------------------|------------|
| Total receipts..... | $1,170.30 |
| Total expenses..... | 676.75 |

|--|-----------|
| Balance | $ 493.55 |
| Deduction of appropriations and sinking Fund | 129.00 |

|---------------|-----------|
| Balance | $ 364.55 |

It was moved and passed that this money be given to the Endowment Fund.

Miss Peck then made some announcements about the County Fair. The report of the Undergraduate Tea Committee was read and accepted. The Scenery Committee then made a Financial Report:

|---------------------|----------|
| Total receipts..... | $101.50 |
| Total expenses..... | 95.17 |

|----------------------|---------|
| Balance on hand..... | $ 5.34 |

A report of the Song Practice Committee was then read and accepted.

Naomi Harris then read a letter from Miss Weeks, thanking the Association for its appropriation for plants and shrubs on the campus.

The Report of Student Council was then read and accepted.—It consisted of new regulations for next year, which were to be decided by the Faculty and Student Council.

1. All organizations shall be on a charter basis, with 4, 3, 2, or 1-year renewals.
2. Mysteries shall be held on the campus, there shall be a molar, but no hazing.
3. There shall be a Dramatic Association, with charter members from 1913, to regulate dramatics. Freshman Show shall be abolished so that the Freshman Class may devote itself to Greek games. Sophomore Show shall be original, with no more than two rehearsals.
4. There shall be a point system governing everything.

Nominations then took place.
For Vice-President—Margaret Peck.
For Chairman of Executive Committee—Edith Mulhall, Ruth Guernsey, Eleanor Mayer, Elizabeth Macauley. Miss Macauley withdrew her name.

For Treasurer—Sarah Butler, Helen Jenkins.

For Secretary, Carol Lorenz, Mary Powell.

Helen Dana then handed over the gavel to next year's President, Dorothy Fitch, who made a speech of acceptance.

Monday Chapel

Y. W. C. A. Reports

On Monday, April 28th, the chapel hour was given up to reports from the girls who had gone to Richmond to attend the Y. W. C. A. convention there a few weeks ago. Dr. Braun conducted the chapel and Chaplain Knox came to hear the addresses.

Katharine Fox was the first to speak. Her subject was the personelle of the conference, and she told of many interesting people who were present. Among the most important groups were the voting delegates, who represented the local chapters all over the country. The secretaries of the Association were women of ability and charm, who fired the younger girls with their own enthusiasm. It was the sense of working together in a common cause with such inspiring women that Miss Fox emphasized as an important and delightful feature of the convention.

Carol Lorenz told of the great pageant held on the last day of the convention. It was called the "Ministering of the Gift," and 807 members took part while nearly 5,000 people watched it. The Spirit of the Association was the central figure of the play, and the uniting force throughout it. To her came various groups of girls, college girls, country girls, working and stay-at-home girls, all giving their gifts to her, and in return receiving happiness and knowledge of a better life from her. All the conditions and kinds of girls which the association so capably meets and helps were dramatically presented, in this really remarkable pageant, which gave, as no amount of lecturing could have, an idea of the scope and vitalness of the work.

Katherine McGiffert spoke of the foreign work done by the Y. W. C. A. and emphasized the international character of the association. There are foreign secretaries at work in nearly every country. Several of these foreign workers were at the convention and they told of the great need for just such work as the organization could do, in China, in Russia and other awakening countries.

Miss Patchin closed the convention reports with a few words on the general aims of the association. Two important lines of work are now being taken up by them. One for sex education and hygiene another for the advancement of thrift.

Chaplain Knox closed the service with a prayer and the blessing after the hymn.

C. S. A. Meeting

On Wednesday, April 30th, the C. S. A. held its regular meeting in Room 139. Dorothy Kinch, Secretary-Treasurer, read her reports, which were accepted. Before elections, which was the new business of the meeting, several matters were discussed. The question of four o'clock lectures, and the slight attendance which they have had this winter, was brought up. Several plans were suggested, by which the lectures could be made more successful. It was proposed that Thursday chapel should be devoted to speaker asked by the organizations; it was also proposed that the Faculty be petitioned to reserve one hour a week, from 11-12, or from 1-2; in which no classes should be held, but which should be devoted to lectures. This plan was after some discussion, accepted by the meeting, and a request to the above effect is to be sent to the Faculty.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, MAY 7th, 1913

The BULLETIN room and the campus have both suffered lately from the popularity of sundaes and ice-cream cones. Last week two of the little pasteboard boxes which contain sundaes were found in the BULLETIN room, accompanied by two spoons which had been used to consume the sundaes. In the first place, eating out of the lunch room is forbidden, and in the second, if any one chose to believe the BULLETIN unacademic enough to be excluded from that rule, it was bad mannered and beyond words rude to leave unattractive mementos behind them. The appearance of the BULLETIN room improved considerably after our last remarks on the subject, but since the advent of the Mortarboards and the hot weather its condition has been anything but neat.

On Field Day the campus was strewn with papers from the ice-cream cones. We realize that this may have been partly due to guests, but the students themselves were to blame for part of the carelessness. Now that cones are to be sold on the campus on Mondays and Thursdays, we ask particularly that care be taken of the papers. We suggest that a scrap basket be supplied in which they may be thrown.

With the rush of things that Spring brings to be done, it is hardly a wonder that matters which, in comparison with rehearsals and finals, seem relatively unimportant be overlooked, but our manners and the appearance of our college are never unimportant and we may well look to them.

About Examinations

To the Editor of the BULLETIN:

As we are standing once more upon the threshold of final examinations, may I offer to our students, and especially to the students in my own department, a suggestion which is intended to remove a possible misconception on the part of some as to the attitude of the German department toward the honor system of conducting examinations.

When at the time of the last mid-year examinations, after the students had expressed the wish to give the new plan a real try-out, they were still requested in every German examination to occupy only alternate seats and to bring all books and notes to the platform before receiving the question-paper, some seemed to consider it a reflection upon the honorable intentions of the students and an evidence of suspiciousness on the part of the instructors, as though the latter were willing to leave the room and trust the honesty of the students only after depriving them of at least the visible means of departing from what is still supposed to be the best policy. Now, of course, nothing is further from the truth than such an inference. To seat students so that each one may have as much light and air and elbow room as possible under our present cramped conditions seems to be so absolutely reasonable on half a dozen different grounds that it were waste of time to demonstrate it. And as for the bringing of books into the examination-room, that seems to me to be a rather foolish habit which is probably due to the mild form of hysteria which examinations seem to cause. It may be rather good sport to stand in chattering groups until the very last minutes, trying to out-guess the question-paper, and viewed from that side, if it is done outside the examination room, the only objection to the game would seem to be that it leaves the student in no suitable state of mind for the trial of strength which she is to face. But when it becomes necessary for the instructor to say to a student "I cannot give you your examination-paper until you close that book," it becomes somewhat annoying. There seems to me to be no valid excuse for bringing any books or notes whatsoever into the examination-room. They are either laid on the floor to be tripped over, or put upon the nearest chair-arm to be sent clattering to the floor by the first student who has to move from her chair to get another pink book or ask a question.

In a word—examinations, whether under the old or the new system of conducting them, are rather formal functions, tests of mental capacity and endurance. They should be entered upon, first, with all possible composure of mind, and second, with decks cleared for action!

WILHELM BRAUN.

Constance William vonWahl

WHEREAS, The entire college has been deeply affected by the death of one of its former students, Constance von Wahl; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the students of Barnard College, express our heartfelt sorrow in the loss of our friend.

Resolved, That we record among the documents of the Undergraduate Association an appreciation of her whose noble personality was an inspiration to all who knew her, whose energy and ability made for greater efficiency in the life of the college, and whose wide sympathy and vital interest in her fellow students enlisted their loyal and devoted support throughout her administration.

Resolved, That we extend our deep sympathy to her family in their sorrow.

Resolved, That one copy of these resolutions be sent to her family and one to the BULLETIN.

Columbia Column

The plan of instituting the honor system at Columbia seems likely to be adopted. It was submitted to the student body as a referendum and the vote was greatly in favor of trying the system. All that remains now is for the Faculty Committee on Student Activities to pass upon it. It seems likely that they will decide in favor of it, in which case the Final Examinations this Spring will probably be conducted under the honor system.

One of the most far-reaching efforts ever put forth by a university in behalf of the people, is embodied in a recent announcement. It proposes to offer its great educational facilities to a wider constituency, and to bring the general public into closer touch with its work. This it will do through an institute of arts and sciences, providing lectures on history, literature, art, music and ethics, illustrated, travel lectures, dramatic readings and recitals, concerts and recitals by orchestras, operatic singers and other artists. The aim of the institute will be "to furnish a platform for the free and unbiased discussion of current, social, and economic questions, and to afford a thorough programme for general culture; in other words, to provide a system of adult education and National recreation of an educational nature for busy people.

All the public lectures now offered by the university are incorporated in the institute. While many of the 300 lectures and entertainments proposed will be in the various university auditoriums, some of them will be offered at a Harlem centre and others at a downtown centre. —N. Y. Times.

On Wednesday, May 7, Columbia will hold its annual inter-class song-contest on the quadrangle in front of the library. This is different from the Barnard Sing Song in that the Columbia classes devote their energy and voices to songs already in the Columbia song-book. Prominent alumni will be chosen as judges and the winning class will have its numerals engraved upon the Notes and Keys Cup, which is kept in the university trophy room.

It is interesting to notice in the Columbia catalogue for 1913-1914, the tendency toward a freer election of courses. Instead of History A, which has always been required, as it is here, students at Columbia may now substitute any one of three other courses. Neither is English B required any more, seven different courses being offered, any one of which may be substituted for Sophomore English.

1913 Class Meeting

On Wednesday, April 30th, 1913, held a class meeting in their study. The business of the meeting was to accept the Alumnae Constitution, which had been drawn up. The Constitution was read article by article, and accepted almost without amendment.

Gertrude Morris spoke seriously to the class, about the necessity of attendance at meetings, song practices, and all Senior week rehearsals; it is absolutely necessary that every individual feel her responsibility in these things if our final week of college is to be a success.

Bulletin Meeting

At a regular meeting of the BULLETIN, held on Wednesday, April 30, Louise Fox, '14, was elected Editor-in-Chief for next year. The Associate Editors, Alice Waller, '14, Jean Mohle, '14, Sarah Butler, '15, Freda Kerchwey, '15, and Alma Herzfeld '15, were elected to be Managing Editors for the coming year.

Baseball

On Wednesday, Barnard met T. C. for the last time, and came out victorious. The final score was 14-9 at the end of the sixth inning. The game was fairly exciting and attracted quite a number of rooters:

 won the first heat; K. Williams, '15, the second, and S. Pero, '13, the third. The final heat was won also by Sally Pero, in very close competition with Margaret Brittain, who hit the tape only a second after the winner. The Competitors were:
 1913—H. Dana, R. Goldstein, S. Pero. 1914—M. Brittain, E. Hadsell, L. Ros. 1915—F. Markwell, K. Williams. 1916—E. Van Duyn, P. Gubner, G. Pearson.

The discus hurling was won by Marjorie Hillas, '15, who sent the discus straight down the field for a distance of 68 feet. Eleanor Mayer made a good second with 67 feet, 7 inches, and Eleanor Hadsell, '14, third with 67 feet, 5 inches. The discus throwers were:

1913—B. MacDonald, R. Goldstein. 1914—E. Hadsell, W. Boeghold, E. Mayer. 1915—F. Markwell, I. Totten, M. Hillas.

The baseball throw came next, and was closely competed for by J. Möhle, '14, and M. Hillas, '15. The former won.

1914—J. Möhle, L. Petri, E. Mayer. 1915—M. Hillas, H. Blumenthal. 1916—M. Wythe, F. Magid, H. Walther. 1st—J. Möhle, '14; dis., 150 feet; second, M. Hillas, '15, 149 feet, 2 inches; 3rd L. Petri, '16 142 feet.

The relay race was the last field event, and was exciting, as usual. 1915 carried off the honors, with 1914 second, and 1913 third

The teams were:
 1913—S. Pero, H. Dana, E. Oerzen, R. Goldstein. 1914—M. Brittain, E. Hadsell, L. Ros, E. Schmidt. 1915—K. Williams, F. Markwell, C. Fries. 1916—G. Pearson, G. Aaronson, R. Salom, J. Jacoby.

After the race the onlookers were torn between the attractions of an odd-even base ball game, and the tennis match between Edna Hess, '14, and Helen Gilladean, '15. Most of them chose the tennis, fortunately for the baseball was very poor. The tennis, however, was nothing like as good as last year. Both players showed some nervousness, and were distinctly on the defensive. Miss Gilladean's placing, however, was frequently excellent, and there were some pretty shots on both sides. Helen Gilladean won the first two sets, 6-3, 6-0, and is again college tennis champion.

The baseball teams were as follows:
 Odds. Evens.
 E. Astruck, '15 p. L. Petri
 M. Hillas, '15 c. F. Mayer
 H. Blumenthal, '15 1b. L. Ross
 N. Haris, '13 2b. G. Aaronson
 R. Goldstein, '13 3b. S. Levine
 B. McDonald, '13 ss. I. Jacoby
 H. Dana, '13 s. I. Jacoby
 E. Bergen, '13 r. f. E. Straiton
 c. f. E. Hadsell
 F. Markwell, '15 l. f. J. Möhle

The playing was for the most part amusing, because of its faults, and did not even display the ability which is possible in baseball. However, the players seemed to enjoy it. After the baseball and tennis were over, the cups were awarded. The class scores stood: 1914, 61½; 1915, 46 1-6; 1913, 37 1-6; 1916, 10 1-6. The Field Day cup and banner went amid many cheers to 1914. 1913 rejoiced hardly less, however, in the cup for the highest individual score, which went to Sally Pero, for 15 points won by Another important matter was a request from Miss Jane Gillespie, an alumna and a deaconess, that Barnard join in a petition which is being sent to Commissioner Whitney, to have the women in the Blackwell's Island prison supplied with some regular employment. A motion that such a petition go through the C. S. A., was made and carried.

A motion was made, seconded and carried that a vote of thanks be sent to Miss Gildersleeve from the Association for her gift of twenty-five dollars, which she sent at the time of the entertainment.

The new business of the meeting was then taken up. Florence Schwarzwalder, 1914, was elected President for the coming year, and Helen Zagat, 1914, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Association wishes to express its gratitude to Harriet Goldman, '13, who has been elector this year, for her splendid and efficient work in the C. S. A. this year. It has been more active than ever before under her tireless enthusiasm. We feel sure that the Association will continue to flourish under Florence Schwarzwalder, who has worked hard this year as Chairman of the Entertainment Committee. This term there have been entertainments given at three settlements. The Ad. Party was given at Greenwich House, and the Harlem Federation, and a Stunt Party at the Union Settlement.
