What Your "Life Savers" Do.

A single Thrift Stamp will buy a tent pole or five tent pins, a waist belt or hat cord, shoe laces or identification tags; two will buy one trench tool or a pair of woolen gloves. Four Thrift Stamps will buy two pairs of canvas leggings; six will buy five pairs of woolen socks or three suits of summer underwear; twelve will buy a steel helmet.

One War-Savings Stamp will buy one hundred cartridges or a cartridge belt or a scabbard for a bayonet; two will purchase two pairs of woolen breeches or two flannel shirts; two and a half will buy a gas mask. Three War-Savings Stamps will buy an overcoat or two woolen service coats; three and a half will buy three pairs of woolen blankets; four will buy a rifle.

Chinese Lantern for Senior Play.

At its last class meeting the chairman of Senior Week announced that the Play Committee had decided upon "The Chinese Lantern" as the class play. Every effort will be made not to have try-outs for it conflict with those for Wigs and Cues' Spring Show.

All Seniors histrionically inclined will report for duty at Senior play try-outs in the lecture room March 22 and 23 at 4 o'clock. All those wishing to shine in the final performance will please read the play, which is on file in the library, and sign up for the blanks which interest them on the blanks provided for the purpose in Senior study. The blanks will be collected March 20.

Special Government Jobs Filled.

Miss Patterson of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense writes that she has received more applications than she needs for the positions with the Ordnance Department, which were specially opened to college women. The regular positions, clerical and others, open through Civil Service examinations, are of course still available.

Barnard College
 Boathouse Canteen

The Canteen opened on Wednesday. The first two days the attendance was slight; on Friday, however, it picked up and in the evening we had 30 soldiers and sailors. Saturday there were 30 and on Sunday 66. We're doing our best to make all the men sign in our register, but it's very hard when they come in twice a day to make them do it each time.

Will those who have signed for Canteen work and who have not been notified to report for duty please send cards through the Student Mail to Helena Shine, '18, stating address and telephone number and the hours they can possibly give. We are trying to have two shifts of workers each day from 3 to 6:30 and 6:30 to 10. If any of you can give time on Saturday and Sunday there are more unfilled places on those days than on the others, and I think they will prove to be the busiest. Even if you are not called on at once there is a very good chance that most of you will be called on later. We have planned to have a definite number of workers for each hour, but if we keep on gaining at the same rate it will be necessary to add considerably to their number. As yet the list of substitutes has not been made out, and when it is you will be notified.

The Canteen will be open for inspection by members of the college on next Saturday morning, March 16, from 9 to 12 o'clock. Except on that date no one but the workers will be admitted without written permission. If you can't get there that day or want to take your family down there, write on a card the hour you want to go and the names of the people you want to take and leave it in Student Mail for me.

The whole outlook is, I think, very hopeful. Naturally the men are apt to say pleasant rather than disagreeable things, but they appear to be thoroughly at home and in most cases really enjoying themselves. We have writing tables and books, and our victrola is in almost continuous use, so if you have any spare records do let us have them.

ALICE ISABEL JUDSON,
 Chairman of Canteen.

Wigs and Cues Open Meeting.

Not so many weeks ago rumors were ripe about college that Wigs and Cues was deteriorating, growing undemocratic, oligarchic, etc. Unfortunately these rumors have always remained vague and unformulated, and therefore could not be refuted. Yet it seemed unwise to let them grow and spread, not to try to get to the bottom of them,—unwise at any time for any society that has hitherto enjoyed the trust of the undergraduate body, doubly unwise at this time when Wigs and Cues is launching out into a new enterprise for which it needs the whole-hearted, loyal support of all of Barnard College. Wherefore, to clear the atmosphere by doing away with all doubts and misgivings as to the sincerity of Wigs and Cues, all critics, favorable or unfavorable, constructive or destructive, are most heartily invited to attend an open meeting at 12:20 in the lecture room, Tuesday, March 19.

Anyone who wishes to know anything about past policies in play-producing, or is interested in the technical end, is urged to come and find out. The girls who have had charge of the various committees in the past will be only too glad to answer questions. The present Board of Directors will be equally glad to hear suggestions as to coaching, staging, costuming and financing the student plays to be given April 26 and 27. So come, criticise freely,—but, if you please, constructively. Wigs and Cues is not stand-pat, ultra-conservative. Offer it something better than it has now and it will gladly exchange the old for the new. But be definite!

All members of the society are requested to attend this meeting. It is up to them to change the present policies of Wigs and Cues and amend the constitution if need be. A hundred per cent. attendance would be a very effective answer to the criticism that the society is "dead."

HEDWIG A. KOENIG,
 Chairman Board of Directors.

Barnard Farm.

Any girls who want to spend Easter vacation—March 28-April 1—or any part of it, at the Barnard Farm at Bedford, N. Y., please let me know through Student Mail. Board, $1.50 per day; railroad fare, about $1.75. We may be able to make arrangements for work on the farm, and this would mean that part of your board would be refunded.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, MARCH 15, 1918

The Perplexing Y. W. C. A.

For nearly four years we have been meditating on the utility of various college organizations. It would be as well to state now as hereafter that our theories always have a strongly utilitarian hue, that the first question we ask concerning anything or anybody is: "What is he, she, or it good for?" In the course of meditation we came to the Y. W. C. A. Meditation was of no use in solving this problem, so we joined the Y. W., we even went to all sorts of meetings given under its auspices, that is, we did for the duration of a year. At the end of that time the mystery was still a mystery. We began to have something of Mr. Herford's feeling when he said, "Why is the world at large?"

It is obvious enough why the Intercollegiate Community Service Association exists, even why the Newman club, the Episcopal club or any other purely religious club exists, though the wisdom of its presence in college may be questioned. But why, why, why, the Young Women's Christian Association? All we have been able to discover that it considered its life work is in its own quite recent words "to establish amicable relations between all the girls," to provide a means of having "nice little teas where you meet every one worth knowing," and occasionally to discuss at the nice little teas the state of the human soul. Undoubtedly the soul of "one worth knowing" is interesting. The question is would not these discussions amount to a great deal more if carried on in a neutral atmosphere such for example as that of the Philosophy club lately resurrected.

Even more vital to the welfare of the college is this question of "amicable relations between the girls." It has not come to our notice as yet that the relations of the members of Barnard are particularly hostile, but granted they are, is the Christian Association the proper arbiter? Can a distinctly biased organization be a good mediator for people of such varied religious beliefs and non-beliefs as the undergraduates? We have grave doubts which can be stilled only by actual statistics.

If on the other hand the Y. W. did not really mean to insinuate that Barnard resembled the Austrian Empire, if it meant merely that it was possessed of a great desire to be sociable, why did it circulate those quaint letters a short time ago, why, and this is even more perplexing, does it hang up those serious posters about helping to make the world safe for Democracy by making it Christian? Somehow there seems to be something strangely inconsistent about the aims of the Y. W. At one moment it declares itself prepared to rush in to the great social gap in college life, later it takes up the work of the Philosophy club and discusses deep and mysterious questions; finally it sets out to convert the world to Christianity insisting that that is the only basis on which the world may become safe for Democracy. It is difficult not to conclude that the Y. W. C. A. lacks any real work in college, that realizing this fact quite fully it must as a consequence exert so much energy to keep going that it has no time to be consistent or even plausible.

From time to time we hear vague rumours of a sweeping reformation soon to take place. It has never taken place so far as the outside world can see. We have it is true but one means of judging. "By then works ye shall know them," and employing this means we can not help coming to believe not only that the Y. W. C. A.'s organization and politics will never be reformed but what is far more important, that it has no place in college and is therefore not worth reforming.

Community Service Quarterly.

To the Editor:

May I use your columns to call the attention of the college to the January

Academic Chapel.

Dean Gildersleeve took us all into her confidence at Academic Chapel and told us some of her reflections at this time of looking forward to spring. Because her thoughts had a peculiarly intimate connection with the ideal Barnard attitude, we were all deeply moved. For the soldier "over there" spring means the renewal of the offensive and each must say to himself in the words of Alan Seeger, "I have a rendezvous with Death." We over here know that every one of our men will go on to say:

"I to my pledged word will be true; I will not break my rendezvous."

But can each of us echo this in regard to our chosen work here? We must fulfill our obligations. If we are not true to our promises in little things, can we be confident of the strength to meet the larger demands of life? Let us each, then, resolve to keep our pledged word and echo here the cry of the brave and faithful "over there."

Eat in the Conference Room!

Aren't you tired of eating in the lunch room? Just for a change get sandwiches in the Conference Room on Wednesday, March 20, and hear Dr. Elliot of Hudson Guild speak of the work at the guild.

Report of Student Council.

At a regular meeting of Student Council on March 6 the motion was duly passed granting permission to the Senior class to give the "Chinese Lantern" as their class play.

A motion was passed granting permission to the Senior class to hold try-outs for the play and two Saturday afternoon rehearsals before final examinations.

Miss Liander announced that the old undergrad furniture had been bought by the four classes in accordance with the decision of the previous meeting, and that the matter was settled to the satisfaction of all classes concerned.

The meeting was declared adjourned by the chairman.

Respectfully submitted,
SUSANNE A. PAYTON,
Secretary.

End of Basketball Season.

The basketball season closed with the T. C. last Wednesday afternoon. The score will appear in next week's BULLETIN. So far the varsity has played five games, two of which were victories.

T. C. vs. Barnard.....	17—13
H. M. vs. Barnard.....	18—14
T. C. vs. Barnard.....	30—16
Barnard vs. Alumnae.....	18— 2
Barnard vs. Intercollegiate...	12— 8

The interclass games closed with a hilarious banquet last Friday night. Teams and varsity came to cheer the conquering Freshmen. The scores of the games are:

1921 vs. 1920.....	15—12
1919 vs. 1918.....	6— 5
1920 vs. 1918.....	15— 4
1921 vs. 1919.....	10— 8
1921 vs. 1918.....	18— 6
1919 vs. 1920.....	15—10

The scores, however, do not tell the whole story. The interest this year seems to have been greater than before. Many girls came out for varsity and class teams and showed a most commendable spirit in reporting for practice. Next year, when we can start right in early in the new gym with this year's co-operation on the part of the girls, the string of Barnard victories will equal the number of games played!

Fifteen New Camp Theatres Are Being Constructed.

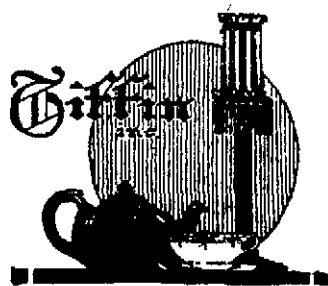

The construction of fifteen more "Liberty Theatres," to be located mainly at the National Guard Camps in the South, has been ordered by the War Department Commission on Training Activities. Added to the sixteen Liberty Theatres already running in the National Army Cantonments, this make a chain of thirty-one theatres to be operated by the Government for the amusement of the soldier.

The new Liberty Theatres are being constructed with remarkable speed. One of the fifteen—that at Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga.—already has been completed within eight working days. They are designed especially for theatrical performances. Stationary benches will be set upon the earth floor of the theatre. Large doors along both sides will open upward, effecting not only more space for spectators' seats on both sides, but excellent ventilation as well. In cold weather each building will be heated.

MANY of our patrons have been curious about our firm name "Tiffin", so we are pleased to explain the meaning of the word and its significance in connection with our shop.

To our mutual friends in England and in the Colonies, afternoon tea has been an institution for many years and particularly so, where military headquarters are located. In India, the custom gave added favor through the influence of climatic conditions—the excessive heat to which English people were unaccustomed caused the interruption of all social life until towards sunset when with decreased heat and glare of the intense sunlight, tea and cake were looked forward to with great relish, which together with the pleasant social accompaniment became, and still is, a function designated by the natives of India as "Tiffin".

New Farmerettes Preparedness Course.

As the farm is now a year old, it is possible to draw some conclusions about the effect of the unusual work upon the health of women. We accordingly sent out a questionnaire to all the "farmerettes" who had been at Bedford Hills Farm last summer, asking them the effect of the work upon their health. In the answers so far received there has been but one girl who stated she had not been much benefitted by the work, and she was so well she couldn't be better. We asked about gain or loss in weight, the quality and quantity of sleep, of fatigue, of the various bodily functions. From the answers received, we feel justified in confidently advising routine farm labor for women.

It is evident that the greatest strain comes in the first two weeks of work, when the muscles are soft. Occasionally extreme fatigue may result, causing a temporary insomnia. To avoid this, the Physical Education Department, with the approval of Miss Ogilvie, is offering a special farmer's preparedness course.

This class is open to all students registering for the Woman's Land Army. From May 6th to 20th, the class will meet three times a week. From May 20th to 31st the class will meet twice a week. Detailed notices of hours will be posted upon the bulletin boards of the departments in Student's Hall. This class will be accepted for regular work in Physical Education. Students who take this course will be put on the same basis as those who were at the farm last year, that is, their salaries will date from the day of arrival.

Mrs. C. S. Baldwin, Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Messer represent the faculty on the new Canteen Committee. Alice Judson, '20, represents the Central War Relief Committee and Helen Higgins, '18, the Canteen Food Committee.

Seniors Buy Plants for the Library.

A regular meeting of the Senior class was held on Tuesday, March 5th. It was voted to appropriate $5 for the purchase of plants for the Library. Owing to the resignation of Mrs. Harris as chairman of Senior Play, Olivia Cauldwell was unanimously elected to succeed her. It was also voted to give $10 to the Boat House Fund.

Musical Club's Concert.

"Glee Club, orchestra, Maitland—good. But, by George, this is really the best, you know!"

We quote from an enthusiastic young sailor-man out in the corridor between dances. We heard the rest, but we stop here. The light was soft, and there was a girl—and under such circumstances—

But we agree with the little blue sailor-man. Glee Club was good, orchestra even better, and Robert Maitland, soloist, more than delightful. And the music and dancing which followed completed, to our mind, one of the most enjoyable and successful evenings of the year.

Mrs. Hier and Miss Lowndes at Y. W. C. A. Tea.

On Monday afternoon in the Conference Room, at the regular weekly meeting of the Y. W. C. A., we were privileged to welcome Mrs. Carol Lorenz Hier and Miss Beatrice Lowndes to speak to us. In the absence of the president, Harriette White, Catherine Cooksey presided. Mrs. Hier spoke first on the attitude that we as members of the Barnard Y. W. C. A. should take at this time toward ourselves, our local association and the world about us. We must think deeply, work conscientiously and earnestly, adapting ourselves to circumstances, to prove to those who need it that the standards of Christianity are adequate for their needs.

Miss Lowndes spoke mainly upon what she thought were to her the most beneficial things Barnard's Christian Association did for her. The outstanding points were, she said, the contact with people both inside and outside of college which came through her activities in it, and the other, the indelible impression of the spirit of Silver Bay.

It was a pleasure to have with us these two former Y. W. C. A. presidents, and presidents of the Undergraduate Association as well. Tea was served and a social half hour enjoyed.

Weekly Bulletin.

During the past week or so there has been a slight lull in the number of calls for workers directed to this office. This has been fortunate for us, in a measure, as we have had an inordinately large number of visitors to attend to: more than 150 in the past week alone. A great number of these women, having finished the course for volunteer, social service workers, came to register with us, to place some of their time and energy at our disposal. Many came for advice in connection with war service. Others came to pledge part of their summer to agricultural work.

A good deal of circularizing was accomplished. We are frequently called upon thus to bring to the attention of the women registered with us the various opportunities for training in war work which would be of probable interest to them. This is a phase of our work the result of which is hard to compute, but which we believe to be valuable.

The calls we have had have come from the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, from the Red Cross Institute, from the National Surgical Dressings Committee, from the War-Savings Stamps Commission and from Exemption Boards.

We know of women agricultural workers who are now busy with the pruning knife. The sap is rising in the grapevines and shrubs. What season will see you at work on the farm?

Old Clothes for France and Belgium.

The following is the text of the appeal made to the members of the Red Cross on behalf of the Commission for Relief in Belgium:

Your spare clothing for the suffering people of Belgium and Northern France under the occupation of the enemy.

These Allies of ours behind the German lines—the rich as well as the poor—with their native stocks of raw materials long since exhausted, and no commercial imports since the first devastation of their country, need—and need promptly—this relief in their destitution. The quantity of raw materials which we have been permitted to import for manufacture into clothing in these parts of Belgium and France has never been sufficient. Even the well-to-do are short of necessities; the poor are in dire need.

As the world is short of so many things it is short of clothing, and of raw materials. We cannot purchase what is needed; we must put our spare garments to the service of the world—a measure of pure economics, conservation and patriotism.

One-third of every shipment will go to the people of the North of France, down close behind the German lines; two-thirds will go to Belgium.

The Commission for Relief has the ships—you have the clothing. In these vessels carrying cargoes of grain and other foodstuffs to the Belgians and the French in the territory occupied by the Germans, there is room for all the clothing you can give. The Commission for Belgium has safe conduct passes for its ships, and the absolute assurance through its own representatives in Brussels that the clothing will be delivered only to those for whom it is intended. The Germans have never at any time seized the personal apparel of individuals.

Only articles appearing on the list of "Garments Needed" will be accepted. Such articles must be of strong, durable material, but need not be in perfect repair.

Here is a list of the garments needed:

Men's Wear—Shirts (preferably of light-colored flannels), undershirts, underdrawers, trousers, coats, work-suits (overalls), suits (3-piece), shoes, overcoats, jerseys, sweater-vests, socks (sizes 10½ to 11).

Women's Wear—Shirts, drawers, corset-slips, petticoats, blouses, skirts, overcoats, suits (2-piece), pinafores, shoes, cloth hats, knitted caps, stockings (sizes 7 and 8), shawls.

Boy's Wear—Shirts, union suits, undershirts, trousers, coats, suits, shoes, overcoats, jerseys, socks (sizes 1 to 9).

Girl's Wear—Dresses, skirts, overcoats, night dresses, drawers, stockings (sizes 1 to 6), undergarments, petticoats, suits (2-piece), blouses, shoes.

Boy's and Girl's Wear—Hooded capes, pinafores, woolen union suits.

Infant's Wear—Swanskin swaddling clothes, cradle chemises, bodices, cradle dresses, bonnets, hibs, neckerchiefs, diapers, shoes, baby dresses, hooded cloaks, jackets, shawls, sweaters, socks.

Miscellaneous—Bed ticks, bed sheets, pillow cases, blankets, mufflers.

Lend your Uncle Sam a quarter,
Honest! don't you think you'd oughter
Count the value of your offer,
Less than lives men freely offer.

Men and money both he's needing,
For a vital cause he's pleading,
Do your bit to stop the slaughter,
Lend your Uncle Sam a quarter.
