Varsity Defeats Faculty

With memories of last year, a large and enthusiastic crowd appeared to witness the Faculty-Varsity baseball game which was played in the gym on last Thursday, and they were not disappointed. The playing lacked skill but the pep and good sportsmanship of both sides were remarkable.

Rolling up the score is the best way in which the game might be summarized. Varsity proved itself most efficient in this art and kept the lead throughout. Their playing was not particularly brilliant and Faculty suffered from lack of practice. Yet the closeness of the score during the entire game kept up the interest even up to the very last inning in which Faculty made seven runs and Varsity eight.

In individual playing Preische at catch and Quinn at short starred for Varsity. Preische's batting included a home run in the fourth inning helping Varsity's score considerably as did that of Johnson. Mullins starred for Faculty. Van Hook's hitting was almost classic. In the fifth inning Hollingworth showed remarkable muscular co-ordination in catching a ball just above Baldwin's head.

Barnacle Under Way

Not long ago it occurred to a few Freshmen that there was need of a paper at Barnard which neither Bulletin nor Mortarboard filled. From this idea has grown the BARNACLE. The Freshman class temporarily elected a business and a literary committee. As soon as it is firmly established, the Barnacle will be turned over to a board composed of members from the various classes.

The literary committee emphasizes the fact that the Barnacle is to be light and humorous—unlike Bear. It will have twenty to thirty pages of short stories, poems, feature columns, play reviews, jokes and cartoons.

The business committee has been extremely active and has already obtained a number of ads. It is expected that this money will cover the cost of production. The income from the sale of the magazine which will cost fifteen cents per copy, will be used as a sinking fund.

Prospects at present indicate that the first issue will appear about the second week of May. This will probably be the only issue this year. Beginning in October the Barnacle will come out monthly.

Many contributions have been put in the Barnacle mail box in the main hall of

STUDENT CONFERENCE HELD

President Meiklejohn of Amherst and Professor Robinson Speak

The Spring Symposium of the National Students' Forum to which delegates from Yale, Harvard, Michigan, Bryn Mawr, Williams, Polytechnic, Vassar, Smith, Teachers College, Wellesley, Hunter, Goucher, Swarthmore, Radcliffe, Mount Holyoke, Union Theological Seminary, Columbia, and Barnard came, was held at Wallace Lodge, Yonkers, on Saturday and Sunday, April 28 and 29. Besides the delegates from these colleges, there were present the foreign students—Hans Tiesler, and Karl J. A. C. Friedrich of Germany, Jorgen Holck of Denmark, Piet Roest of Holland, Antonin Palecek of Czechoslovakia, and Kenneth Lindsay and W. E. Robson of England, who have been touring the country under the auspices of the Forum. President Meiklejohn of Amherst and Professor Robinson of the New School for Social Research were there and each addressed one session of the conference.

President Meiklejohn, who spoke at the first session, on Saturday afternoon, emphasized the importance of freedom both in teaching and study at college. The modern college is bound not only by the college machinery, but by the unwillingness of the faculty—due to conservatism, and of the students—due to inertia—to be free. The mere mechanical changes necessary for freedom, President Meiklejohn felt, were the government of the college—election of a president and arrangement of the curriculum—by the faculty—as soon as it was possible, and the possibility of student suggestion. But far more important than this was the need for enthusiasm for learning. The faculty and students should cultivate learning for its own sake. The college curriculum should be co-ordinated so that students, getting a clear picture of the whole field of knowledge, should be able to develop an enthusiasm for learning. In a democratic country with the burden of educating all types of individuals thrust upon the college, there must be developed a form of education which is truly liberal—which gives scope and freedom to the student at the same time that it stimulates him to develop an interest in and an enthusiasm for learning.

Professor Robinson, who spoke on Saturday evening, extended President Meiklejohn's criticism of the American college. The college, he felt, tends to crystallize thought and to erect a hard and fast system. It aims to give information which has been accepted in the past, and as a result, loses the skeptical frame of mind which is absolutely essential. With the great mass of scientific

Dean Addresses Freshmen and Upper Classmen

Explains New System of Faculty Advisors

Last Thursday noon in the Theatre Dean Gildersleeve talked to the Freshmen about their plans for next year's work. The old system of faculty advisors has been abolished and in its stead the Committee on Instructions has elected a subcommittee, called the Committee on Student Programs. It was thought better to have this smaller committee which should concentrate its efforts on giving students technical advice on requirements and the general outlining of their programs. Professor Gregory is to be chairman of this new committee which will be divided into two groups. One of these groups will meet incoming Freshmen and help them with their programs, and the second group will give its attention to Sophomores, meeting them and advising them as to their courses. The members of this committee are: Professor Hutchinson, Dr. Lamson, Miss Latham, Dr. LeDuc, and Dr. Van Hook. A notice has been posted on the Bulletin Board for groups of incoming Sophomores to meet the committee.

Besides technical advice on programs as a whole, which can be handled better by a smaller group, the students need special advice in particular subjects. For such advice those who have decided on their majors will be referred to that department for advice and suggestions in that and allied subjects. If they have any idea of the profession to be undertaken after graduation, Miss Doty can give useful suggestions as to courses preparing them for such work.

Miss Gildersleeve also addressed the meeting of Sophomores and Juniors called on April 25, where she explained the new system for program making which is to replace that of faculty advisors.

Students are asked to obtain forms from the registrar, to take these forms to an officer in the department of their Major Subject, for suggestions as to courses to be taken in that and allied subjects. In consideration of these suggestions, the programs are to be made out by the students themselves.

Students are urged also to ask their instructors in their various courses for advice as to the progress of their work. It was felt by the Faculty that the system of advisors that we have had heretofore has broken down contact between the instructor and the student, and that by throwing the responsibility back on the instructor this contact could be better maintained.

Miss Gildersleeve emphasized that if there are any questions about requirements or the possibility of taking certain courses, students should always apply to the Registrar.

Miss Gildersleeve announced several new courses to be given next year. In the Fine Arts Department, Professor Murray and Professor De Wald of Columbia will give courses in Ancient and Mediaeval Art, the work consisting of lectures, small group conferences, and trips to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Professor Moley will give an elementary course in government and also an elective course in International, State and Local government. Dr. McGiffert of Union Theological Seminary will give a new course in Religion. Dr. Riley of

Religious Organizations and Social Science Club Amalgamate

R. S. O. to Undertake Social Service; Inter-Religious Forums to Be Held
Hebrew Culture Society, Newman Club, and Y. W. C. A. are to amalgamate next year for the purpose of inter-religious work as well as to undertake the work formerly carried on by the Social Science Club.

The Clubs are uniting in the first place, to carry on their social service work. This is to be placed in hands of a committee on social service, which, among other things, is to function as a Bureau of Placements. This committee will consist of two representatives from each of the religious groups, a chairman chosen from their number. Each of the six members is to supervise a particular phase of social service such as settlement work, or industrial co-operation, as well as the whole field of denominational work in which she is interested. In this way the social service activities which, up to this year, were carried on individually by three religious groups as well as Social Science Club, will be co-ordinated. This concentration of interest in one organization will permit of additional efficiency and initiative. Plans have already been made for alumna co-operation next year, so that the activities of new workers will be directed by experts from our alumnae. There are now over fifty Barnard girls actively engaged in social service work, and as the social service course offered in next year's curriculum

Mr. Leviness

May 9, 1903—May 9, 1923
Wednesday, May 9, is an anniversary of importance for Barnard College. On May 9, 1903—twenty years ago—Mr. Leviness came. To the successive generations of Barnard students whom he has worked with—a Barnard without him is unthinkable. Staging committees without number have come to him for aid and counsel—and have gone back wiser than when they came. Greek Games, Dance Club Recital, A. A. Banquet, A. A. Circus—each college memory is in some way bound up with him. No festival is complete without him, little work is done about college without his participation.

It is very difficult for us to imagine Barnard without the individual factors that together make up college life, and in consequence to come to any adequate realization of the importance of any one of those factors. It is doubly difficult in the case of Mr. Leviness, because of the years he has been here, and as a result, we have fallen into the habit of accepting his services as a matter of course. If we imagine Barnard without him, for a moment, the resultant disorder is very great. We realize clearly his great interest in the students, and value to them.

WIGS AND CUES

The Wigs and Cues party to its members at which it presented a rehearsal of "Ruddigore," was very delightful; it gives reason for regret that, merely because of technicalities as to O.K.'s and the use of the theatre for rehearsals, the college missed what promised to have been a fine performance. Wigs and Cues is to be congratulated on the graceful obsequies of its production.

The practical difficulties under which Wigs and Cues has labored this year make this an auspicious moment for change of some sort. The new plan for reorganization would undoubtedly eliminate all technical handicaps. It merits trial, furthermore, as an experiment in the co-ordination of academic and extra-curricular activities. Much has been said at various times about the need for providing, in the work of the courses, for the interests which have hitherto led to student participation in extra-curricular activity, often to the detriment of both types of work. The new plan is a step in the direction of combining academic and outside interests, and is to be welcomed as such.

The suggested plan may have minor faults, of which only those active in dramatics can judge, or it may disclose weaknesses in method after it has been tried, but the central idea of the plan is commendable. It is thought that Faculty supervision may smother student initiative, but it is equally reasonable to believe that Faculty interest and co-operation will stimulate the students to even more vigorous efforts. An active student group will not be submerged, but will rather avail itself of the added facilities and opportunities for training which the new plan offers.

ENTHUSIASM

The discovery that the etymological meaning of enthusiasm is "full of God," inevitably leads one to ponder on the creativeness of enthusiasm. Little that is truly constructive can be accomplished without enthusiasm. Even those who are most divorced from the implication of emotional bias—the scientists—have enthusiasm as the basis of their achievements, while those who are so absorbed in emphasizing the value of an absolutely cold-blooded weighing of the facts and a calm consideration of all sides of questions may be said to have an enthusiasm for that type of thinking.

Having reached a decision on the basis of the available facts there is no reason why one should not hold that opinion enthusiastically—provided that one is self-analytical enough to understand the basis for the enthusiasm, so that if new facts present themselves a change in opinion is still possible. The ideal of open-mindedness is too often translated into indifference or a continual postponement of decision. The higher ideal would be an open-mindedness which meant the ability to change or modify one's enthusiasms.

R. S. O.

The new arrangement of the work of the religious and social organizations is another progressive change that has been made in the present period of reorganization. The administration of social service work by the joint R. S. O. board will obviate needless duplications and will make possible an efficient Bureau of Placements for volunteer work. The inter-religious discussion groups planned also bespeak a liberal attitude toward the questions which the various clubs treat.

Those who lament the death of the Social Science Club should be comforted by the fact that its functions are to be taken over by the larger and more vigorous organization.

From the Second Balcony
THE ADDING MACHINE

Expressionism as a form of dramatic expression has distinct advantages. It is possible for the expressionist to present a distorted picture of life which is truer—if he is skillful—than any realistic presentation. Expressionism at its best gives an incisive picture of a man's soul—rather than his externals. As a method it is old—Hamlet's soliloquy is after all expressionism.

Elmer Rice has used the method remarkably well in portraying for us Mr. Zero in the "Adding Machine." This enslaved adding clerk rebels for a brief moment to kill his boss, and then in the eternity of time thereafter sinks back into slavery. The play is obviously—fortunately or otherwise—a thesis play, a protest against the mechanization of man, too, by our society. But the thesis has not robbed the people of their savor. The delightful third scene which is almost too obviously a caricature of typical middle class manners and morals, is none the less a spectacle to move that laughter too deep for tears. It is satire which cuts, for it attacks us at our most vulnerable point. As an antithesis to our enslaved society, the author has painted the Elysian Fields—which the critic for one found the most satisfying of all imaginary Heavens. Of course, only the artist can survive the rigid selection of a spot which has no rules, where all must live on their own, and Mr. Zero goes—to a heaven of his own, an enormous adding machine.

Everyone in the play has become sharply individualized, and the author who tried to hide their identity behind the cloak of typical thoughts and ideals has failed of his purpose. They are alive—Mrs. Zero resembles not at all the pompous Mrs. Three, though their thoughts have been cast in the same mold. And this sharpness of character has been preserved admirably by a cast of whom nothing but praise can be spoken.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of BULLETIN.

Dear Madam: The executive committee of the B. O. S. P. began last fall to work out a point system which they thought would be more flexible than the present system and fairer in its distribution of points for extra-curricular work. The plan proposed was published in BULLETIN but aroused no comment from the college at large. Aside from a single editorial, not one opinion favorable or unfavorable was expressed in BULLETIN. This seems to show that the student body is satisfied that the present system is the most practical and workable system possible and that there is no need for reorganization. From a few individuals we have heard general criticisms of all point systems, but no constructive suggestions for our particular problem.

In view of the facts, first: that those opposed to the present point system are apparently opposed to any system whatever;

Second: that the general student body is practically indifferent to a proposed change in the point system;

Third: that it would be very difficult for the new B. O. S. P. to complete the plans of this year's B. O. S. P. when the

CLASSES ELECT OFFICERS

Senior Show Starts

Senior Show was discussed at the last meeting of 1923, Friday, April 27. The plot was outlined, and Seniors were referred to the copy on reserve in the library. Announcement of tryouts will be posted.

The date of Sing Song, May 11, was announced.

The question of the class gift was discussed, after which the meeting was adjourned.

1924 Elects Cheerleader

At the last meeting of 1924 on Friday, April 27, Margaretta Weed was elected cheer-leader. The floor was then open to discussion of the problem of having either a tea-dance or a supper dance. No decision was reached.

1925 ELECTS OFFICERS

At a meeting of the class of 1925 on Friday, April 27, Margaret Irish was elected Editor-in-Chief of Mortarboard. At the next meeting on May 1 a re-election for Junior Show Chairman took place. C. Bradley was elected, Elva French was made Business Manager of Mortarboard and Marion Pinkushohn Chairman of Class Luncheon. The following officers were elected: Vice-president, Madeline Hook; Treasurer, Katherine Browne (unanimous); Secretary, E. Blanc; Historian, D. Hogue; Cheer Leader, M. Melosh; Entertainment Chairman, G. Pertak.

1926

The results of the elections held during the meeting of 1926 on Friday, April 27, are as follows:

Vice-President—Madge Turner.

Secretary—Velma Brown.

Treasurer—Florence Jenkel.

Historian—Elizabeth Lazar.

The meeting was adjourned after the class heard the letter from Garda Brown in appreciation of the silver clock presented to her by 1925 and 1926.

STUDENT ADVISORS

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 7, 8, 9, Student Advisors will be in Even Study from 12 to 1 to help anyone to make out her program for next semester.

THIRTY-DAY SWIMMING

RACE ENDED

The purpose of this recent experiment for Barnard Swimmers was to increase endurance. The results were not as marked as they might have been had more of the participants finished the race. Those who did finish testify with enthusiasm that the steady swimming was beneficial to their endurance, however. The race went on during a period of thirty days or four weeks. Each contestant swam twice a week, the first week for five minutes each time, the second week for seven minutes, the third for nine minutes, the fourth week for ten minutes each time. The number of lengths of the pool covered by each girl was counted and the average taken for the class.

In 1923, no one finished. 1924 made the best showing in numbers. Grace Kahrs finished first in the race and in her class, making 177 1/6 laps. Others of 1924 who finished were Daniels with 149 4/6 laps, G. Giddings, H. Green, L. Millgram. For 1925, H. Tisdale finished alone, with 140 1/3 laps as her score. Two Freshmen, H. Jelliffe, with 167 1/6 laps and E. Kalisher with 137 laps, finished. The average for 1924 was 145.6 laps, for 1925, 140.2 laps, and for 1925, 152 laps.

It is hoped that a similar, shorter race may be held this month, with even more beneficial results for the contestants.

ricula promises additional field workers, it is especially important that all efforts in this field be made most effective.

In their religious activities each of the clubs is to retain its own identity. However, the three are to unite in monthly forums for the discussion of religious subjects. An opportunity will be given each club to express a group opinion, perhaps historically treated. In this way an interchange of ideas will be made possible as well as a deeper understanding on the part of each club of the principles of the others.

As to actual organization, members will join separate organizations, but the joint finances will be managed by an R. S. O. finance board composed of the treasurers of the three clubs. Those who do not wish to join one of the religious organizations but do wish to participate in the other activities may join R. S. O. alone.

Social Science Club will now go formally out of existence as its functions will presumably be taken over by the Forum Committee of B. O. S. P. and the new Social Service committee. Further, R. S. O. by reason of its wide contacts will be particularly fit to undertake any other discussion or field work for which there is a need.

R. S. O. is now to fill a peculiar niche in our college life, and function as an entity. It will co-ordinate all social service activities, arrange for inter-religious conferences, and fulfill any further need for extra-curricula social service. The R. S. O. officers for 1923-1924 are as follows:

- HEBREW CULTURE SOCIETY
- Gertrude Gottschall, President
- Pearl Epstein, Vice-president
- Mary Pincus, Secretary-Treasurer
- NEWMAN CLUB
- May McLaughlin, President
- Madeline Hooke, Vice-president
- Constance Dunne, Treasurer
- Mary Bradley Secretary

WHAT ARE YOU INTERESTED IN?

Student Council Advertises Appointive Offices

In a week or two, Student Council will appoint the following officers. In an effort to make the best possible selections, it is presenting the list to the student body this year and earnestly requesting individuals who are interested in the offices and have fair capabilities for them to apply to Student Council immediately, either in person or through the mail, to Edythe Sheehan.

Chairman Curricular Committee

A flexible office which the chairman can create according to her theory of the relation of the student to the curriculum. There is an opportunity for creating student expression on educational content and method and for joint faculty-student discussion of the problems therein. A knowledge of the curriculum and of educational problems is needed besides tact and organizing ability.

Chairman Student Advisers

The chairman must select, with the approval of Student Council, a list of Student advisers, and make provision for meetings with the students. She must have a fairly wide acquaintance with students and their general and special abilities.

Assembly Chairman

Member of Assembly Committee composed of three faculty members and three students, which formulates the policy of assemblies for the year. The student chairman, working with the faculty chairman, is responsible for carrying out the policy of the committee—by arranging for speakers either individually or through college organizations. A fair knowledge of prominent speakers and contemporary events is needed, and an opportunity for acquaintance with these speakers is furnished.

College Song Leader

She must possess technique in leading songs and must be able to sing fairly well. She must also arrange song practices and gather material for new songs. She must be on hand at all college events.

Vocational Chairman

The student vocational chairman works in connection with Miss Doty and arranges for speakers for assembly and for discussion meetings with alumnae. She may incorporate any new features she desires for bringing vocational opportunities before the college at large.

College Tea Chairman

The chairman is hostess to the college at teas on Wednesdays and during examinations. She must arrange with members of the Faculty to pour and make provisions for refreshments. The success of these functions depends on the geniality and sociability of the chairman.

Book Exchange Chairman

A lucrative position. It needs to be reorganized and therefore calls for initiative besides management and efficiency on the part of the chairman. She must be responsible for the money and perhaps the books—as heretofore—although this point has not yet been decided. The profits are about 10 per cent of the sales.

Bulletin Board Chairman

She is responsible for the appearance of the various notices and bulletin boards, including the stairs in Milbank, and for regulations concerning these.

SPANISH CLUB TO ENTERTAIN

The Club Español will have its grand opening on the evening of May 11. Brinskerhoff Theatre will be transformed into a continental cafe and Señorita Dorado has imported artists who will show something new in the line of costumes and scenery. Jeannette Mirsky will have charge of the production and will coach the singing and dancing.

An added attraction will be the Spanish refreshments served while a typically Spanish revue will entertain. Besides the repetition of the tango from Junior Show, there will be a Maxixe, a serenade, gypsy songs and dances, and several comic numbers. It is hoped that this performance will make up for the annual Wigs and Cues performance, as many of its members have consented to participate in the performance. Reservation of tables for four can be made upon application to Fern Yates.

data coming in each year, the college can serve its function only by developing a questioning mind, by questioning openly everything old, existent, and new, and accepting only those facts which prove true after the most rigid tests.

On Sunday morning, the delegates from the colleges reported on the activities of their liberal organizations. The most interesting report came from the editor of the anonymous "Saturday Evening Post" at Yale, a satiric sheet which holds up to ridicule all the "false gods" of the students. The paper which is free and is distributed to all the students on the campus has thus far met with only praise from the faculty—compliments on its literary style and its earnest desire for academic reform. Opposition has come from the students—not the ten per cent who are actually athletes, but the ninety per cent who look up to the ten per cent.

The foreign students in giving their reactions to American colleges as they had seen them said that the liberal groups were too inclined to talk vaguely and impractically and that much more could be accomplished by small groups of students setting out seriously to study particular problems.

This is one of a number of conferences held by the Forum throughout the country. It is the second to be held in the Northeast; the first was held during the Christmas holidays.

MOTHERS' DAY

Mothers' Day on May 13 will probably be celebrated by Barnard Students, by sending gifts of some sort or another to their homes. In anticipation of this, Y. W. will sell Armenian hand worked handkerchiefs, provided by the Near East Relief in R. S. O. Office on Monday and Tuesday, May 6 and 7, from 12 to 1, for the benefit of the Armenian mothers.

the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities will give a survey of social work. A course entitled Contemporary French Literature is to be given in the spring session by a French woman, Mlle. Mespoulet, and a new Italian course has just been arranged for the fall session.

DANCE CLASSES WILL GIVE PROGRAM

On Tuesday, May 8, at 4:30 the members of the dancing classes will give an informal program in the gymnasium. The college is invited. The program will consist of several numbers given by the national and character dancing classes in addition to exercises, rhythms and dance studies presented by the natural dancing sections.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

ON TUESDAY, MAY 1—
1. THE NEW CATALOGUE will be ready for distribution at MISS LIBBY'S OFFICE.
2. PROGRAM BLANKS may be obtained at THE REGISTRAR'S OFFICE. EACH STUDENT IS REQUESTED TO ASK FOR ONLY ONE SET OF BLANKS AND TO KEEP THAT SET CLEAN.
3. OFFICE HOURS for consultations with major students will be announced on the departmental bulletin boards.

ALL PROGRAMS MUST BE MADE OUT AND FILED IN THE REGISTRAR'S OFFICE BEFORE 4 P. M. ON TUESDAY, MAY-15. They should be planned for the year, not for the half-year only.

PROSPECTIVE SENIORS AND JUNIORS, i.e., all students who will have completed AT LEAST 54 POINTS OF ACADEMIC WORK by the end of the current session, must file in the Registrar's office WITH THEIR PROGRAMS memoranda from the major departments regarding courses to be taken in the major subjects. No further approval of members of the faculty is required on programs of these students.

PROSPECTIVE SOPHOMORES and students who will have completed LESS THAN 54 POINTS OF ACADEMIC WORK by the end of the current session, must obtain the approval of designated members of the Committee on Students' Programs. Students who have decided on their major subjects should also consult an instructor in the major department and file memoranda of the courses suggested, with the proper member of the Committee on Students' Programs.

THE FOLLOWING SUGGESTIONS APPLY TO ALL STUDENTS:

1. Use the NEW CATALOGUE in making out programs. Note changes of hours and points.

2. ALL STUDENTS WHO ARE PLANNING TO TAKE SUMMER COURSES must file lists of their summer elections and marked catalogues of the summer schools if other than Columbia University, WITH THE REGISTRAR BEFORE May 15.

This includes students who are taking the summer courses for the purpose of completing,

(a) the requirements for the Barnard degree before fall, or

(b) the requirements for transfer to other colleges or other schools of Columbia University. Under certain conditions, to be determined in each case by the departments concerned after satisfactory reports have been submitted in the fall, some courses in Botany and Zoology taken at Woods Hole, Mass., may count towards our degree. Students planning to take such courses should consult Professor Richards or Professor Crampton BEFORE entering upon Woods Hole courses.

3. Students who are planning to transfer to other colleges, or to other schools of Columbia University, are requested to notify the Registrar of their plans without delay in order that proper transfer of records may be made at the end of the year.
