College To Hear Gideonse

Economist Speaks Today On Future Reconstruction

Today Harry D. Gideonse, President of Brooklyn College and former professor of economics at Barnard, will address the college assembly on "Economics and Post-War Reconstruction," in a program sponsored by Political Council.

Originator of the University of Chicago Round Table broadcasts, President Gideonse is director and vice-president of the Economists Committee on Monetary Policy and was director of International Student Work at Geneva from 1926 to 1928.

Former Professor Here

American editor of Revue Economique Internationale and of the Public Policy Pamphlets, President Gideonse was also lecturer in economics at Barnard and Columbia from 1919 to 1921. He was later a professor of economics at Columbia and a member of the department of economics and sociology of Barnard from 1938 to 1939.

Included among his books are The Higher Learning in a Democracy, Organized Scarcity and Public Policy, and America in a World Economy.

Second Council Assembly

This will be the second all-college assembly sponsored by Political Council. Last November Sir Norman Angell, British author and lecturer, spoke before the assembly.

Political Council recently joined with the government department and the International Relations Club in sponsoring a lecture by Marshall Dimock, special assistant to the Attorney-General in charge of Immigration and Naturalization.

Other activities of the Council include the two recent Town Meetings on student government at Barnard.

At present the Political Council is considering reorganization on a college-wide basis. According to tentative and partially formulated plans, student membership will be automatic and similar to participation in the Undergraduate Association and the Athletic Association.

Columbia Symphony Plays Saturday

The Columbia Symphony Orchestra, which has a membership of Barnard and Columbia students, will present its spring concert in McMillin Theatre next Saturday evening, March 21.

Herbert Dittler and William Beller will present a program including Rossini's Overture to "La Scala di Seta", Beethoven's Sonata No. 4, and Brahms' Serenade in D Major, Opus 11.

Admission cards may be obtained in 407 Barnard.

Jugoslavian Refugee Tells Of Terror In Hitler Europe

Marcia Tchok '44, Here Five Months, Saw Belgrade Home Destroyed In 1941

By Judith Coplon

Marcia Tchok, a Jugoslavian sophomore at Barnard, whose house was completely destroyed in Belgrade's first bombing, thinks that the most beautiful day of her life was March 27, 1941, the day that the eighteen year old Peter replaced the pro-Nazi Paul as head of the Jugoslavians.

On this day "everybody was happy because every one could say what he meant. Six thousand people were dancing and crying in the student court of the University of Belgrade. They were singing national songs and shouting, "Long live England and Russia . . . down with the oppressor, down with Hitler."

Marcia and her family left their country on English passports. They went to Greece: "It was terrible. We came down to Salonika at night. The Italians were almost there. In the cafe everything was dirty. There were some Greek soldiers sitting around. In the corners, women and children sat crying. You can't imagine how terrible it was. America doesn't know what war is."

From Greece they went to Turkey. Here the train had to go very slowly because all the bridges were dynamited. The sixteen days that they spent here, waiting for an English or a neutral ship, were very lonely. "Everybody spoke nothing but Turkish, the newspapers were in Turkish, the movies were in Turkish. There were some Poles and Czechs there who were coming back to fight for England."

From Turkey the family went to Jerusalem and from there to Cairo where they went on a British ship to Capetown. After staying here four months, they came to America in November on the ship President Monroe. Marcia said that she knew about Monroe and his doctrine.

When she speaks about Jugoslavia, she says that one shouldn't forget that it is a young country

AA Will Sponsor Defense Measures For Health, Safety

Defense Measures for Health and Safety, a project sponsored by the Health Committee of the Athletic Association, will be launched the week of March 23. The aim of this new drive, according to Jane Morrell, Health Chairman, is to make Barnard health-conscious and to demonstrate what we can do for defense along the lines of health.

The project involves a three-point program for observing safety precautions, stressing the possibilities of using substitute foods for defense and the employment of posters and demonstrations to make the college health-conscious.

There will be an exhibit on Jake of dolls, demonstrating eating, sleeping and exercises, and so-called "safety checks" will be distributed.

Give Busch Concert

Second In Series Takes Place Monday

The second of three concerts by the Busch String Quartet will take place Monday evening in the Barnard Gymnasium. Admission cards are available in the Music and Social Affairs offices.

Three quintets for violins, violas and violoncello. Beethoven's Opus 29, Brahms' Opus 111, and Mozart's K. 516, comprise the program. Second violinist will be the son of Gosta Andreasson, regular second violinist of the quartet.

The Collegium Musicum, meeting in the College Parlor at 7:30 Monday evening, will study the three quintets. Students and staff members are invited to attend this meeting, which will adjourn in time for the concert.

Accept New Constitution Revisions

Honor Board Rules To Be Included In Constitution

Discussion of proposed revisions of the undergraduate constitution continued at the meeting of Representative Assembly yesterday, resulting in the temporary acceptance by the Assembly of the remaining sections of Article VI, concerning duties of treasurer and secretary, and a new Article VIII, devoted to the Honor System.

This is the only place rules of the Honor Board are listed, it was explained by Doris Bayer, Honor Board chairman and co-chairman with Joann McQuiston of the Revisions Committee.

Suggestions that both the current and the previous treasurer cooperate in submitting the fiscal report to the Assembly, and that both secretary and treasurer have paid student clerical assistants, are based on a year's experience, Miss Bayer explained.

At next Monday's meeting, Article VIII concerning the Assembly, and further revisions, will be discussed. A special meeting may have to be called for Wednesday of next week, for the conclusion of discussion.

Nation Needs Farmerettes To Supply Labor Shortage

Volunteer Land Corps Seeks College Unit To Work For Army Pay In Vermont

By Martha Messler

Pitching in with its pitchfork, America takes to the farm. And leading the movement are the men and women of America's colleges and universities. Not content to sit through the summer acquiring a tan in the lazy man's fashion, several thousand students will turn out on the farms of Vermont and New Hampshire where they will acquire not only a tan to be proud of, but a great satisfaction knowing that they have in a vital way "asserted their solidarity with the boys at the front and in the camps."

Farmers of America face an acute shortage of labor in the coming seasons, and in an effort to alleviate this situation and to put eager-to-help-students to work where they are most needed, a privately sponsored organization called the Volunteer Land Corps (although it is not on a strictly volunteer basis) came into existence. During the coming planting and harvesting seasons students will be sent out to farms of Vermont and a few in New Hampshire where they will supplement, not supplant, the already existent supply of farm hands. The Community Service Bureau here at Barnard is attempting to organize, through the facilities of the V.L.C., a unit to fit in with that of Columbia College to form the Columbia University unit. Volunteers will be put individually, or in small groups, on farms carefully approved by the V.L.C. where they will live and work as "adopted" members of the families with which they are placed. Girls, who must be eighteen or over, will carry on such activities as canning fruit, milking, and vegetable gardening. Boys will go in for heavier work such as haying and threshing. Through the V.L.C., students will receive twenty-one dollars a month, the same as privates receive in the service, plus board and room.

Surveys made by the Corps have revealed that the farmers of Vermont will welcome "with open arms" their new labor supply, inasmuch as a labor shortage as great as 40% has been estimated.

"Food will win the war and write the peace," said Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture in a statement which reflects the popular belief today. "When the time comes to sit at the peace table the existence here of a great reserve of food will reinforce our views as to what the peace should be."

Gretchen Relyea was elected president of Honor Board by the Undergraduate body in elections conducted last Thursday and Friday. Over 480 votes were cast in the elections.

Other candidates for the presidency were Anne Heene, Joan Borgenicht and Fanny Brett.

At the A.A. meeting Monday, Anne Heene, Ellen Mueser, Gertrude Mulhan, and Ruth Sauer were nominated for president of the Athletic Association.

Thirty-four girls were nominated for the 12 positions as delegates from the college at large to Representative Assembly at the undergraduate meeting yesterday.

Miss Relyea left Friday afternoon on a Glee Club trip to Wesleyan University, Connecticut, before the final voting had been counted. She received the news of her election by telegram Friday night.

Barnard student organizations have, it is thought, made only a partial effort thus far to make club activities more meaningful

Clubs Join War Effort

Bulletin-SLA Will Sponsor Conference

Since clubs at Barnard have not become sufficiently aware of the need of more centralized extra-curricular action in connection with the war effort, a constructive future policy for clubs and other student organizations will be formulated at the special conference, sponsored by Bulletin and Student League of America to be held on Wednesday, March 24, from 4 to 6 in the Conference Room.

The conference will aim to furnish various clubs with constructive ideas for individual activities. Club presidents will present their own suggestions and club members and other interested students will discuss these ideas and their own. Common problems will be discussed in an effort to decide upon plans for joint action.

Blame Lack Of Effort

Barnard student organizations have, it is thought, made only a partial effort thus far to make club activities more meaningful

Add 476 Victory Books To Nation's Total—4 Million

Barnard has already contributed 476 books to the four million collected from all over the country by the Victory Book Campaign, according to Mary Jane Heyl '42 and the New York Public Library. Miss Heyl, who is chairman of the Barnard branch of the nationwide campaign, has also announced that fifty-three magazines have been received. The Public Library states that 450,000 books have been collected in the five-boroughs alone.

There are boxes in Barnard and Milbank halls where students may contribute books and magazines that will be sent to men in the armed forces. Donors are requested to give suitable books,

Several volumes such as Honey-bunch, The Bobsy Trains on a Houseboat, a set of Oriental Mysteries, and Balzac's Droll Tales have been received and turned over to the Waste Paper Consuming Industries of America.

A great number of "pocket" books have been donated. These plus novels, books on elementary mathematics, history, geography and military tactics are listed by the Campaign Headquarters as desirable.

Model League Commissions Are Named

7 Barnard Delegates Confer With Dr. Wood On Conference Plans

Commissions were assigned to seven Barnard delegates to the Model League Conference at Bryn Mawr when they met with Dr. Bryce Wood, faculty adviser to the group, Friday, to discuss plans for the delegation.

Those students who volunteered and were subsequently elected by Representative Assembly to act as delegates are: Eleanor Streicher, who has been assigned to the commission on Colonial Problems; Martha Messler, to Economic Reconstruction; Joan Borgenicht, to Reopening of World Trade and Communications; Sybil Kotkin, to Intellectual Reconstruction; Doris Bayer to Famine and Disease; Phyllis Cross, to Restoration and Maintenance of Order; and Harriet Hirschfeld, to Refugees and Displaced Populations.

Represents Chile

The Barnard delegation, which is representing Chile, will discuss these aspects of post-war reconstruction in relation to the problems and peculiarities of that country.

The general topic of the Sixteenth Model League Assembly will be the Period of Transition, immediately following the war, before the new permanent world organization is established.

Important This Year

The Model League feels that it is particularly important this year to discuss the problems of this period because of their enormous scope and because "it is very likely that the permanent organization of peace may grow out of the temporary machinery set up during the Period of Transition."

Announce Easter Plans For Camp

Camp Committee will arrange to have a group go to camp during the week of Easter vacation, provided that a sufficient number apply, chairman Ellen Meusser has announced. The two weekends enclosing the Easter vacation are reserved for alumnae, but the week is available for undergraduates.

The only open weekend this spring is that of April 24, 25, and 26. That of March 20 is reserved for the Physical Science Club, the next two are for alumnae, the weekend of April 10 is for the Newman Club, and Student Council has reserved the one of April 17. The Spanish Club will be at camp on May 1, 2, and 3, and the German Club the following weekend. From June 5 to June 19 the ninth June Camp Counselor's Course will be given.

On April 26 (during the open weekend), the Spring Barbecue will be given. Barnard students and their friends are invited.

Give French Play

Wigs And Cues Selects Plays

Play Reading Committee of Wigs and Cues, headed by Professor Minor Latham and composed of Nananne Porcher, Mary Jane Heyl, and June Amsden, has chosen two of the three plays which the dramatic club will present this spring. They are "George for Freedom" by Marion Schneider '41 and "Triumph with Tompkins" written by Alice Gershon '42, president of the club. The remaining one will be chosen shortly.

The plays are original ones written in Professor Latham's playwriting class, and, as Miss Gershon points out, they will be presented in the workshop style.

Tryouts and rehearsals for the productions on April 10 and 11 will begin immediately. Anyone at all interested in dramatics is invited to tryout. Announcements of time and place of rehearsals will be found on the bulletin boards.

Assumes New Duty

A new duty, assumed by the Honor Board Chairman under the proposed revision of the Undergraduate Constitution, will consist of a semi-annual report made by the Chairman to Representative Assembly.

Miss Relyea has formerly been Junior Show Chairman, Greek Games business manager in her sophomore year and Greek Games Chairman in her freshman year. She has also acted as librarian and secretary to the Glee Club.

The nominations for Undergraduate Vice-President, Mortarboard Editor and Mortarboard Business Manager will be made by Representative Assembly Monday, March 23. Elections will be held March 26 and 27.

Representative Assembly and members of BULLETIN staff will vote for BULLETIN Editor March 23.

To Discuss Club Unity

In the light of the national emergency. A survey shows that few clubs have done anything constructive to date. As Miss Barbara Fish, president of SLA, has said, their efforts are to be encouraged, and broadened in scope.

The Community Service Bureau, now working in cooperation with the Columbia War Relief Committee, is actively engaged in war relief work. The committee is now issuing an appeal to Barnard students to volunteer to roll bandages, sew, and serve tea at the Allied War Relief headquarters on the campus and the like.

Clubs Plan Programs

The Physical Science Club is planning a program entitled "Science and Defense", in an attempt to make students interested in science more aware of the possibilities of this field in connection with the national emergency.

Through its various sub-committees, the Athletic Association is working to make its programs more valuable. The Folk Dance Committee has held a square dance party to which service men were invited, and is planning other such activities in the future.

Formulation of a constructive program for all clubs is planned. The BULLETIN-SLA conference sponsors urge, will succeed only with the active cooperation of club presidents, members, and the student body at large.

Letter . . .

Dear Madam,

In answer to the queries about the delay in starting the Defense Bond Drive the Central Committee offers this explanation.

First: There has been a re-organization of the Central Committee. The Central Committee is of the opinion that a well organized, concentrated drive starting in the middle of the semester is more advantageous than a badly organized drive starting immediately.

Second: It is better to start the drive at the beginning of the month than at the end of the month when everyone is broke.

Plans for the Benefit, taking place April 23, are also under way. The Benefit promises to be the biggest all star show that has ever been held at Barnard.

The Committee is only too glad to answer any questions people may have. We take it to mean that when the drive starts we will receive overwhelming support from the whole college.

Sincerely,
Anne Gibbons,
Secretary—Defense Bond Drive

Nation Needs Farmerettes To Supply Labor Shortage

It has been pointed out elsewhere that greater and greater are becoming the needs for food and smaller and smaller are the facilities which will supply it. Dorothy Thompson, columnist and one of the VLC directors, lists our use of increased food supplies as "storage, shipping, and immediate consumption."

Start In May

The first "crop" of workers will go onto the farms on May 15; the second on June, and the third on June 15. Everyone will work through mid-September regardless of the time he or she started work.

But no one works all the time, and people with past experience relate with enthusiasm their social activities. Arthur Root, also a director of the Corps, mentions the weekly square dances, lawn picnics, grange meetings, farm-bureau conventions, evening band concerts, and chicken-pie church suppers, as well as participation in local plays and church choirs. In other words, every attempt will be made to fit the summer workers naturally into the ordinary course of community life.

Plan Discussion Groups

The Corps will maintain advisory groups of men and women in each region and through these men and women weekly dinner meetings will be planned to bring the students together and discussion groups in which agricultural experts and leaders in other field will be asked to participate.

Send Applications Now

Miriam Gore '44 of the Community Service Bureau is now receiving applications for this summer work. She is anxious to get a number of Barnard students together to form part of the Columbia unit, whose members will be placed on adjacent farms. Already, Miss Gore points out, a similar group has been formed at Smith. A member of the Smith faculty has volunteered to join the group. Quoting Miss Gore, "We too would welcome any members of the faculty who wish to join us."

which had been under the Turks for five hundred years. At the end of the first world war, several of the Slavic countries were added to Jugoslavia. The ambition of her people now is to unite all the Slavic regions, such as Trieste and Istra. "We look on Russia with great sympathy. They have always been our brother Slavs. They have given us moral support when we were under Nazi domination."

"We are a peasant nation, and because of the social reforms of 1920-30 the people no longer pay the old land fees. The Slavs want to industrialize the country. We have rich raw materials such as coal, magnesium and bauxite. But that will take money, and we are not a rich nation."

Marcia told of her American friend who was ashamed of her because she didn't know Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address." "We have American jazz and American movies, but you must realize that America is very far away from Jugoslavia."
