

Art Meeting Assembles BC Talents

The Barnard College Arts Assembly which took place last Tuesday in the gymnasium, was an exhibition of Barnard talent in all the fine arts. The program started with "A Sonata for Two Flutes and Piano" by Jean Loeillet, performed by Sandra Comini '56 and June Knight '57, with Isabelle Emerson '56 at the piano.

Thurber Duologue

A duologue of a James Thurber short story called "The Macbeth Murder Mystery" in which Marcia Gusten '54 and Barbara Kauder '54 expounded the Shakespearean who-done-it followed. Merrill Skramovsky '54, soprano, and Mona Tobin '56, mezzo soprano, did two duets, "O Quam Tristis" from "Stabat Mater" and "Via Resti Servita" from "The Marriage of Figaro" assisted at the piano by Judith Rubin '55.

The advanced Dance Group under the direction of Assistant Professor of Physical Education, Marion Streng, presented four modern dances. Two solos were performed by Ellie Cate '55 and Judy Mofly '55. The other members of the group were Pearl Canick '55, Donna Click '55, Pat Circelli '55, Hessie Levinson '56, Dawn Lillie '55, Joan Shelby '55 and Kitty Vail '54 with Mrs. Carolyn Norwood at the piano.

Performances

Two excerpts from Ravel's "Mother Goose Suite" were then performed and interpreted by Mirella D'Ambrosio '55 on the piano. Another highlight of the program was Susan Colgan '56 performance of a "Concertino for Clarinet" by Weber with Mirella D'Ambrosio accompanying at the piano. The program concluded with a musical parody executed by the faculty titled "The Musical Adventures of Jack and Jill" in which Handelian, Schubertian, Wagnerian and Italian themes were mimicked by Miss Jeannette Schlotzman, instructor in physical education, Miss Rosalie Colie, Mrs. Naomi Lipman, Miss Inez Nelbach, Mr. Adolphus Sweet and Mr. Johan Smertenko, all instructors in English, with Frances Schmidt at the piano. A collection of art works by Patricia Barry '54, Patricia Pombo '56, Eileen Spiegel '54, Eileen Tobin '55, Evelyne Lang Zuckerman '54, Donna Click '55, Osa Philipson '55, Claudine Friedman '56, Victoria Alexeev '57, Eileen Toban '55, Evelyne Lang '55, Julia Huck '56, Irene Lafel '57, Karen Sethur '57 and Professor Eugenio Florit of the Spanish Department, was exhibited.

Four Barnardites Vie On College Bowl Quiz

Four Barnard girls are competing against students from Washington and Lee University in the weekly College Bowl Quiz, which will be recorded tonight at 8:30 and broadcast next Sunday, over NBC.

The girls are Geraldine Kirshenbaum '54, an American Civilization major; Margherita Valguarnera de Niscemi '54, Rael Isaacs '54 and Barbara Kauder '54, all English majors. Barnard students are invited to attend the quiz recording this evening in Brooks living room.

Elect Class Presidents, Undergrad Veep, Sec'y

GISELA VON SCHEVEN

ELIZABETH HEAVEY

Gisela von Scheven '55, Elizabeth Heavey '56 and Ruth Jacobs '57 were elected senior, junior and sophomore class presidents at the election which was completed yesterday. Janet Moorehead '55 was chosen Undergraduate vice-president and Teri Kaplan was selected Undergraduate secretary in the run-offs for those positions which were tied last week.

Thirty-nine percent of the school, 436 students, voted in the elections. Twenty-one percent of the seniors, thirty-nine percent of the juniors, forty percent of the sophomores, and fifty-one percent of the freshmen voted in the elections.

Moorehead

Janet Moorehead was elected on a platform which advocated an increase in club membership and in participation in activities by having club officials send out "dynamic programs of events" to the student body.

Secretary-elect Teri Kaplan proposes that a monthly summary of meetings and elections be posted and that the files of the campus committees and drives be opened for inspection to those who are interested. She believes that this platform will promote an "awareness and understanding of the government for the entire school."

Miss von Scheven will represent the senior class interests on Student Council and Representative Assembly, and hopes to make senior class events a culmination of four years at Barnard.

Miss Heavey, as incoming junior president, will draw from the experience she gained as secretary of the Undergraduate Association, as freshman class social chairman, and as a member of the Vocational Committee.

Frosh Prexy

"Give and Get!" the slogan of Ruth Jacobs, will be applied to mean greater participation by the class of '57 in all of Barnard's activities, and a policy whereby the class will get acquainted with the incoming class of '58.

Stephanie Horton '56 was elected chairman of Social Council at the Representative Assembly held yesterday. She was one of the original planners for the new organization of social activities, and is currently social chairman of the sophomore class.

Elections are yet to be held for the officers of Residence Halls, remaining positions in the classes.

Barnard Entertains Visiting Students with Campus Tour

Barnard will play host to out-of-town high school delegates and their advisers attending the thirtieth annual convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association this afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30.

French Department Extends Invitations To Zola Exhibition

The French Club in conjunction with the French department has invited both students and faculty to attend an exhibit of the life and works of Emile Zola. The exhibit, a photographic one, has been lent by the cultural division of the French embassy, and can be seen every afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00 in room 12, Milbank.

The exhibit, which is running only through Friday, portrays Zola, a leading figure in the French school of realism, not only in his role of novelist, but in his role of art critic as well. His association with the Dreyfus case is also presented. The background of all these activities, the France of the late 19th century, is represented in a series of photographs.

Both the opening of the exhibit and the new French room were inaugurated in a ceremony Tuesday afternoon during which Professor Leroy Breuning, head of the French department, spoke.

The girls will be greeted in Brooks Living Room, where tea will be served. Members of the Barnard faculty and administration will be present, and students from Student Council, BULLETIN, Focus, and Motarboard will conduct the visitors on tours of the Barnard campus. The tours will inspect physical education classes, the library, Milbank Hall, the resident dining room, the second floor of Hewitt, and the BULLETIN office.

Nearly four thousand school editors and faculty advisers will attend the convention at Columbia, which will reach its climax at the annual luncheon on Saturday at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Highlights of the convention will include talks by Dr. Grayson Kirk, President of Columbia, by Fendall Yerxa, city editor of the New York Herald Tribune, and other leaders in education and journalism.

Dr. Joseph M. Murphy, CSPA director, will act as chairman of the major sessions. At the several hundred smaller sessions that are planned, every aspect of school publications will be discussed.

Registrar Revises Registration Policy

Procedure Includes Filing of Tentative Programs In April, of Permanent Programs in September

A new registration procedure will go into effect this spring, Miss Margaret Giddings, Barnard Registrar, has announced. The new procedure will dispense with the present system of filing final forms, entailing much paper work, in November and April for the following terms, in favor of a system requiring students to file tentative programs only.

Consultation with advisors will take place over a ten-day period as heretofore, but programs will be made out on thin sheets of paper, with perforated slips for course elections, instead of on white triplicate program forms and elective cards. Signatures of major and class advisors and of the section checker on all programs will be required. There will be a ten dollar penalty for late filing of the tentative programs.

Final Program

In the fall final programs will be filed. Those students making changes will have an opportunity to consult their major advisers in the Library during the period September 20-22 and to see their class advisers and the section checker at any time between the opening of college and the deadline date for filing. The dates for filing this year will be Wednesday, September 29 for students with names A-I; Thursday, September 30 for students with names J-R; and Friday, October 1 for students with names R-Z.

There will be no penalty for changes made after the tentative program has been filed provided the final program is filed by the stated date. However, any change made after that date will entail an automatic fee of five dollars. There will be ten dollar penalty for late filing of the final program.

Registration

Directory cards will be filled out by students and their tuition status checked by the Bursar on one of the three days immediately preceding the start of classes in September. Bills will be mailed to parents, as at present. Registration will be held in the gymnasium and the completed directory card will be taken first to the Bursar's table where, if all is in order, it will be given to the student. After clearance by the Bursar she will file the directory card at the Registrar's table and her registration will be considered final and official. The registration schedule for 1954 is as follows: For day students, Monday, September 20—for students with names A-L; Tuesday, September 21, for students with names M-Z; and Wednesday, September 22 for all dorm students.

Adams Addresses Thursday Meeting

Dr. George P. Adams, visiting professor of philosophy, will address today's Noon Meeting in the College Parlor on the question, "Is Plato a Fascist?"

Professor Adams is a retired Mills Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy at the University of California in Berkeley, having taught there from 1908 to 1953. He has been a guest lecturer at Cornell and Columbia Universities and has written two books "Idealism and the Modern Age" and "Men and Metaphysics." He was co-editor of "Contemporary American Philosophy."

Morison Talks On US Military History, Policy

Dr. Samuel Eliot Morison, Jonathan Trumbull Professor of American History at Harvard University, will speak on "New Viewpoints on American Military History and Foreign Policy," in the third of a series of lectures in American civilization sponsored by Barnard College, this evening at 8 o'clock at the Casa Italiana.

Professor Morison has taught at Harvard since 1915. He was appointed historian of United States naval operations of World War II in 1942 and holds the rank of rear admiral in the United States Naval Reserve. An authority on American maritime history, his book, "Admiral of Ocean Sea," published in 1942, was awarded a Pulitzer prize. His most recent book, "By Land and By Sea," was published last year.

Following the lecture there will be a panel discussion, with Dean Thomas P. Peardon of Barnard as chairman. Two staff members of the Office of the Chief of Military History, United States Army, Stetson Conn, deputy chief historian, and Louis Morton, chief of the Pacific section, will serve as panel members.

The Carnegie Corporation of New York, through a five-year grant of funds, is supporting an experimental program in the study of American civilization at Barnard, of which this lecture series is a part.

AA Camp Schedule Includes Twentieth Anniversary Picnic

The Athletic Association has announced the spring schedule for Barnard Camp. A sign-up poster is now on Jake for the March 19 weekend, which is open to the entire school. The cost is five dollars for day students and three dollars for dorm students.

Alumnae and undergraduates are invited to help celebrate the twentieth anniversary of Barnard Camp on March 26, 27, and 28. The Twentieth Anniversary Picnic Dinner, open to alumnae, undergraduates, and guests, will take place on Sunday, March 28. A bus will probably be chartered for this date. The dinner will cost one dollar per person.

The Spanish Club has reserved the April 2 weekend, and the Chinese Club the weekend of April '10. Anyone interested in botany can attend the weekend beginning April 23 sponsored by the Botany Department.

The Spring Co-Ed Barbeque, to be held May 2, is open to all undergraduates and their guests. A bus will be chartered for the day.

Dates for the Annual June Leadership Training Course have not yet been announced.

State Assemblywoman Holds Barnard Position

Dr. Marlatt, B. C. Graduate, Teaches Public Speaking Class, Practices Law

By Regina Horowitz

If you're walking on the fourth floor of Barnard Hall some Thursday afternoon and you hear loud voices emanating from room 405, declaring that the voting age be lowered to eighteen or that the Bricker Amendment shouldn't be adopted, don't be surprised. It's only the Public Speaking course conducting its weekly session in debating and speechmaking.

This fascinating class is given by Dr. Frances Marlatt '21, an equally fascinating person who has had a most interesting and varied career in the fields of law and politics since her graduation from Barnard.

State Assemblywoman

At the present time Dr. Marlatt is a state assemblywoman from Mt. Vernon, one of seven women in the State Legislature, has a busy law practice, and teaches Public Speaking at Barnard. As an undergraduate at Barnard, Miss Marlatt was a member of the Intercollegiate debating team and BULLETIN staff for four years and was News Editor of BULLETIN.

Graduated from Barnard

Miss Marlatt received her B.A. from Barnard in 1921, her Master of Arts degree in Sociology from Columbia in 1922, and in 1925 she received her Juris Doctor of Law from New York University Law School, where she was the first woman editor-in-chief of the N.Y.U. Law Review.

After graduating, Dr. Marlatt went to work for Miss Bertha Rembaugh, an outstanding woman attorney, where she had the opportunity in court almost every day for five years. When asked if she found any prejudice against her because of her sex, she answered, "I never found any prejudice and maybe it's because I never looked for it."

Started Law Practice

Miss Marlatt went on to start her own law practice, was president of the Mount Vernon chapter of the League of Women Voters, and represented the Westchester newspapers as an attorney. As a result of this last job she was asked to moderate the Westchester Newspaper's Radio Forum, which she did for seven years.

During World War II Dr. Marlatt did a great deal of public speaking as president of the New York State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and as legal adviser for the national federation. In view of this experience Miss Virginia Gildersleeve, Dean of Barnard asked her to come back to Barnard and teach the Public Speaking course.

Miss Marlatt has been active in the Republican party in Westchester for many years and in 1949 the Republicans decided to have a woman on the ticket since they realized that women cast more than 50 per cent of the vote. Frances Marlatt was chosen and was elected Supervisor from Mount Vernon. In November 1953 she was elected to the State Assembly on the Republican ticket.

Women in Politics

Dr. Marlatt finds being in the state assembly fascinating work because it provides an opportunity to introduce legislature she believes in. She feels that more women should go into politics; they have a definite point of view and contribution to make.

"Law is a wonderful field for women provided they realize that it is not an easy profession and that there is a tremendous amount of preparation involved," says Dr. Marlatt. "Furthermore, a lawyer must be interested in people and their problems, and have infinite patience in dealing with people."

Dr. Marlatt thinks that a good preparation for the field of law can be obtained in debating, public speaking, psychology, sociology, government, and economic courses. She also found her Barnard education a wonderful foundation for everything she wanted to do, and that everything she learned has been of some use, including trigonometry.

NSA Travel Program Stresses Student Role In International Affairs

By Jane Were-Bey

The summer travel program of the National Student Association's Educational Travel, Inc., serves to carry out the basic ideology of NSA. They believe that the student plays a unique and vital role in national and international affairs, and that the exchange of ideas between students of different nations can promote world understanding and a basis for world peace.

NSA began a summer travel program in 1948, but Educational Travel Inc. was not organized until 1950. Immediately before it was set up, students ran the tour program, with Miss Helen Bryan, a student of Sarah Lawrence College, as travel organizer. NSA chartered the Norwegian ship, Svalbard, which was inspected in Norway by NSA and it was understood that the ship was in good condition and would be allowed to sail from New York. The Svalbard docked in New York and 800 students were eagerly awaiting their departure, when the New York Port Authority condemned the ship and the students were left stranded. President Truman ordered a U.S. Victory Ship in place of the Svalbard, and the students left for Europe, after an unexpected stay in New York, all expenses paid by NSA.

Professionals Needed

After this incident, NSA realized the necessity for professional travel people to organize the summer program, and Educational Travel Inc. was formed. The Board of Directors of the NSA Travel Bureau are the officers of NSA, and the President of the Board is President of NSA. These officers are all students, elected by the member colleges. Thus, although the office is not run by students, the activities of the Travel department are student controlled. The only adults serve in a purely advisory capacity, and the list of advisers is impressive, including such notables as Edward R. Murrow and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

The first impression one receives upon entering the Travel department's offices at 48 West 48th Street, is the collegiate appearance of the people working there. Mr. C. Edwin Lacks, the Travel Director, informed me that they try to keep employees as close to student age as possible, and they are almost all recent college graduates. The staff consists of Mr. Lacks, the director, and five full time employees, who are trained in positions ranging from the travel business to secretarial work.

Spoke in James Room

Mr. Lacks, who, with his assistant, Lucien Felton, spoke in the James Room a few weeks ago about the NSA travel program, attended George Washington University, which he admitted, "is a non-member school." But he attended summer sessions at Harvard and Columbia.

Many of the tours, work camps, and study groups are handled entirely by student officers, and student guides help to carry out those plans. NSA combines an effort to keep costs at a minimum with an effort to win international understanding, by working with the student unions of the countries visited. Tours are guided by European students (an English guide in England, French in France, etc.). The price of the tours runs from $500 to $850, including transportation, food, lodging, and items such as theater and concert performances.

The travel department noticed that there are very few European students visiting America and Mr. Lacks said that a program is under way to have four groups from Europe participate in NSA functions this year.

NSA is the only organization offering tours to Europe, dealing specifically with European student groups, which are counterparts to NSA. This offers Americans in Europe direct contact with students there since all guides on NSA tours are European students. Americans can gain much more understanding, not only of the country, but of the students as well.

Tour Program

The tours vary from a Central European tour covering six countries, to a Tri-Nations tour. A Sociology Study tour is offered covering Holland, England, the Scandinavian countries, Germany and France. Aside from sociological study, the group will have time for a great deal of sight-seeing. There is also an Economics and Politics Tour, a Music Festival tour, and a Painting and Sculpture group. The art tour will spend enough time in Holland and Belgium to see some of their famous art works, and then move on to France to see museums, art schools, and sights in general. Then the group will travel to Italy and inspect the Renaissance masterpieces, and finally go on through Austria and Switzerland. (Anyone interested in the tours can contact Marge Gallanter, campus travel agent).

NSA provides friendly, inexpensive tours of Europe and allows not only the opportunity for American students to meet each other, but also for them to meet European students, and promote better understanding among nations.

MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Editorial Board of BULLETIN today from twelve to twelve-thirty, in room 1 of the annex. Promptness is requested.

Registration

The new registration procedure as outlined on the front page of BULLETIN today goes far in correcting a grave fault of the present system. Students were reluctant to commit themselves to a choice of program months away from the next semester and too many of them were forced to change their programs, causing much trouble for the Registrar's Office and often costing the students money. This new system will eliminate the problem of early registration but we hope that it does not in turn raise greater problems for the student.

We have always viewed with great alarm the registration procedures of most other schools and have shuddered at the stories of long lines and much waiting at registration time. We hope that the proposed registration procedure will not cause the students more inconvenience than has been the case in the past by forcing her to wait on line to get the approval of the Bursar before proceeding with other parts of her registration. Of course an adequate staff would remove this possible bottleneck.

Another problem which may arise concerns the dormitory students who have to arrive days in advance of the beginning of the term in order to register. We are sure that all efforts will be made to see that they can enter the dormitory at that time and that the practice of allowing them to register last is continued.

But what ever problems arise from this new system, there is no doubt that the advantages in it are great. We are glad to see a new system in effect which we know will be helpful to both the student body and the administration.

Arts Assembly

BULLETIN would like to thank all of the performers in Tuesday's Arts Assembly for a very enjoyable hour. We feel sorry for all of those who, because of other commitments or shortsightedness, missed the wonderful example of Barnard talent displayed by faculty and student participants.

We are glad to see that the Arts Assembly is becoming an annual event. In too few activities at Barnard do both faculty and students participate although the Athletic Association has tried to remedy the situation somewhat through numerous sports events. Certainly the student-faculty softball games each spring and fall are some of the most popular events at Barnard.

An Arts Assembly where the entire Barnard community works together to produce an hour of taste and talent was a fine idea and we are glad to note that last year's success was repeated Tuesday. We look forward to next year's Assembly with anticipation.

AROUND CAMPUS

Meets Explore Spiritual Sides Of CU Theme

A month of lectures on "Faith and Freedom," in which students and faculty members of Columbia University will explore the spiritual aspects of the Bicentennial theme, "Man's Right to Knowledge and the Free Use Thereof," has been announced by Reverend John M. Krumm, Chaplain of the University.

The series of lectures, which are arranged for the end of March and early April, are being preceded by preliminary meetings, the next of which will be held on Tuesday, March 16. This will be a lecture by Professor George S. Counts of Teachers College and Professor Edward O. Dowey, of the Department of Religion, Columbia, who will speak on "Freedom."

The purpose of the lecture series is to discuss the significance of Columbia's Bicentennial theme. Among the distinguished speakers chosen are Dr. William G. Pollard, Director of the Institute of Nuclear Studies; Dr. John A. McKay, President of Princeton Theological Seminary; Charles Malik, Minister from Lebanon to the United States and Delegate to the United Nations, and Dr. Theodore M. Greene, Professor of Philosophy, Yale University.

Professor Bove Leads Student Group On Study Tour in Italy this Summer

Professor Maristella Bové of the Italian Department, will conduct an Italian study tour this summer under the auspices of the Students' International Travel Association.

The aim of the tour is to introduce the American student to Italian life, and to the Italian language, if they are not previously acquainted with it. The group will leave on June 28 from New York on the SS Zuiderkruis, receiving Italian instruction during the trip, and arrive in Holland the first week in July. They will then travel through Germany and Switzerland, reaching Florence by July 14.

In Florence, the students will live with Italian families, meet with Mrs. Bové every morning for advice and help in their studies, and attend classes at the University of Florence for which they may obtain credit through arrangements with Fordham University. On weekends they will make excursions to major Italian cities. The all-inclusive cost of the trip is $750. Further information may be had from Mrs. Bové.

Placement Office Discusses Job Prospects for '54 Grad

A senior class meeting conducted by the staff of the Placement Office will be held in room 335 Milbank on Monday, March 15, from 12 to 1. The questions to be discussed concern job prospects, beginning salaries, training courses and company interviews.

The Placement Office has received offers of jobs for 1954 graduates from the New York Life Insurance Company and the Municipal Civil Service Commission. The former is sending a representative to Barnard on Tuesday, March 16, to interview seniors interested in research positions. They provide a training period and a starting salary of $60.70 per week.

Seniors interested in the Municipal Service Commission's job of Housing Assistant must file an application between March 9 and March 24, to take a preliminary examination. The application blanks are available at the Placement Office. A $3 examination fee is required at time of filing

IRC Library Shelf Features Foreign Relations Material

At a meeting of the International Relations Club last week, final arrangements were made for a shelf in the library which will contain pamphlets and other printed matter on foreign relations.

The shelf is located in the North Alcove, and the material it contains may be used by all Barnard students in the library. These pamphlets, says IRC president, Cherie Gaines '56, will be found useful by students of foreign areas in writing papers, and by the remainder of the student body for the general information they contain. The shelf will be under the supervision of Bhinda Malla '56.

The next scheduled meeting of the IRC, the week of March 15, will be devoted to art. Bhinda Malla '56, whose home is in Nepal, will discuss the Purposes of Eastern Art, and contrast them to the aims of western art. The exact date of this meeting will be posted on Jake.

"What Students Can Do for the UN" will be the topic of the April 26 meeting, to which all Barnard students are invited.

applications. The applicant must be a resident of New York State. The starting salary is $3260 per year with permanent civil service tenure. No particular major is required for either position.

'Gondolier' Players Postpone Production

The Gilbert and Sullivan Society's production of "The Gondoliers," scheduled for March 11, 12, and 13 has been postponed until November because of the incompletion of the construction on the Minor Latham workshop.

Bernd Brecher '54C, business manager of the group, explained that no other theater on campus was available for the original date set and that the only feasible solution was to postpone the performance to next semester. This decision was made by Merrill Skramovsky '54, president, Mona Tobin '56, musical director, and Mr. Brecher.

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

In plane or train, in boat or car,
While traveling through the day,
For cleaner, fresher, smoother taste
Smoke Luckies all the way!

In cigarettes you look for taste—
Now here's a tip you'll like:
Go out and buy that fresh white pack
Of smoother Lucky Strike!

Jerry Kass
Columbia University

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason... enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better... always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy—Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.

Lucky Strikes have better taste!
In flavor they are grand!
So, whether for yourself or friends,
Keep Lucky Strike on hand!
