

Seniors Elect Alumnae Officers; Pres. Speaks McIntosh Offers Vocational Advice; Questionnaire Invites BC Appraisal

Patricia Barry was elected alumnae president of this year's senior class at a meeting held last Tuesday afternoon. Pamela Lewis and Caroline Look were chosen alumnae vice-president, and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

President Millicent C. McIntosh and Mrs. John F. Reilly, secretary of the Barnard Alumnae Association, addressed the group. Mrs. Reilly described the function and the scope of the alumnae organizations in terms of its plans and its relation to its members. Mrs. McIntosh cited the role of Barnard graduates to the school's development.

The President discussed the growth and the achievements of the college in the past four years. She urged that this graduating class which witnessed the rebuilding of Milbank and the establishment of the Minor Latham Drama Workshop spread the information of the new Barnard to all parts of the nation.

"We want a student body that represents the nation," she asserted. "It is necessary that we eliminate those applicants who choose Barnard only because of its location in New York City and not for its educational facilities."

A senior questionnaire covering all phases of academic life was distributed among all the members of the senior class at the meeting. Mrs. McIntosh stated that she hopes that the answers will reflect a sincere criticism which will aid in the study and the revision of certain college policies.

The meeting concluded with the President's remarks on post-graduate jobs and attitudes that are often assumed by graduates. Many students entering jobs tend to feel discouraged because "they find themselves at the bottom of the ladder." Very often they make the mistake of accepting any job, one which a bright high school graduate might assume, Mrs. McIntosh said. Students must choose their careers carefully keeping in mind the future of the field.

Classes Elect Officers, Fill Vacant Posts

The freshman, sophomore, and junior classes met during the past week to elect class officers for the coming year.

Irene Epp and Doris Joyner were elected treasurer and social chairman respectively, by the incoming senior class, at a meeting held last Tuesday. Miss Epp defeated Dorothea Touraine and Eva Nourenberg while Miss Joyner ran against Vita Bogart. Barbara Lapchick was chosen Honor Board representative and Judith Lewittes was selected as business manager of the Junior Show.

At a meeting held last Friday the class of 1956 elected Toni Crowley as chairman of the Junior Show. Anita Favata was chosen as social chairman while Cathy Comes was elected to Honor Board. President Elizabeth Heavey urged that everyone who was interested in working on Junior Show volunteer her services.

The future sophomore class, meeting last Tuesday, elected Ann Lord chairman of Greek Games. At the same meeting, Arlene Berg was chosen as social chairman, and Krystyna Kowalska was chosen Honor Board representative. Sue Levi was elected chairman of the class ring committee and Hannah Shulman was selected as editor of the Freshman Orientation booklet published by Sophomores.

Faculty Wins In Traditional Softball Game

The faculty won a 36-8 victory over the students in the semi-annual faculty-student softball game held Monday, May 3, in the gymnasium.

The game featured on the faculty team: Dr. Albert G. Prodell, physics instructor; Aubrey Gorbman, associate professor of zoology; John A. Moore, professor of zoology; Edmond La B. Cherbonnier, assistant professor of religion; Miss Jeannette Schlotzman, instructor in physical education, and Miss Barbara Lane, instructor in physical education.

The score showed a drop in the softball abilities of the Barnardites, who last term lost by only 8-1. The faculty victory can be partially attributed to the talents of Dr. Prodell, who easily stole extra runs for his team as he strolled from one base to the other, and to the skills of the physical education instructors.

The game is a Barnard tradition of the past twenty-five years.

By Rayna Schwartz

Professor Lucyle Hook of the English department plans to leave on May 23 for a world tour and to return to the United States in January 1955, in time to take advantage of a fellowship granted her by the Huntington Library in San Marino, California. First on her itinerary will be five weeks in England, where she will do research on restoration music and drama at Reading, Cambridge, and the British Museum.

Visits to Paris, Rome and Athens will occupy the next few weeks of her time. At the invitation of the Cultural Attaché of the United States Embassy, Professor Hook will deliver two lectures to the Iran-American Club in Teheran. After side-trips to Calcutta and Hong Kong, Miss Hook will spend time on the Chinese Nationalist island of Formosa. Lectures to English classes at the "University in Exile" at Taipei on the island, and talks with women interested in welfare work there, will occupy her time.

Following a visit to the Philippines, Professor Hook will spend three months in Australia, at the Universities of Melbourne and Sydney. She will lecture on the American drama and on the Bicentennial theme, and then conduct a seminar at the Women's College of the University of Melbourne.

In January, Professor Hook will work at the Huntington Library on the completion of her book about Restoration actresses. The book will be published early in 1956, and may be the basis for a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer movie.

Professor Raymond J. Saulnier of the Economics Department, will spend his leave of absence (Cont. on Page 3, Col. 1)

Assembly Discusses '55 Budget

Allot 'Focus' Funds, Choose CUSC, NSA Reps

Representative Assembly made a motion allotting "Focus" an immediate grant of $1,150 to print its first two issues next year, and set aside a reserve fund of $350 which would be used for a third issue if the first two appeared regularly before March 1, 1955.

This proposal was a compromise between the original demand that "Focus" made for an appropriation of $1,500 and the motion that "Focus" print two instead of three issues. Rhoda Edwards '56, incoming editor-in-chief of "Focus," opposed the motion to limit "Focus" to two issues and stated that at least three issues a year should be published to keep the student body aware of "Focus." This is necessary in order for it to become an important organ of the school and to stimulate interest among contributors, she added.

Three Issues

Miss Edwards said that she was in full accord with the motion passed by the Assembly as it provides for three issues and enables her to realize her plans for "Focus" next year. In order to publish each issue, "Focus" requires $565, she continued. The only sources of revenue are Representative Assembly and advertisements.

At the meeting Edith Tannenbaum '56 and Eleanor Murray '55 were chosen as Columbia University Student Council delegates, and Karen Sethur '57 and Carol Shimkin '57 were selected as alternates.

NSA Delegates

Elected as National Student Association delegates were June Fisher '55, senior delegate, Cherie Gaines '56 junior delegate, and Majorie Gallanter '56 and Marion Bachrach '57 as alternates.

The Assembly did not have sufficient time to review the 1954-55 budget. The appropriations of Mortarboard and Representative Assembly are yet to be reviewed.

Exam Changes

The Registrar has announced that in order to have senior grades available for Commencement which comes early this year (Tuesday, June 1) the examination schedule has been drastically changed to give several examinations on Monday, May 17.

Examinations originally scheduled for Saturday morning, May 22, will be given on Monday morning, May 17. Examinations originally scheduled for Saturday afternoon, May 22, will be given on Thursday morning, May 27. Examinations in Psychology RI and 8 will be given on Monday afternoon, May 17. Examinations in Chemistry 2 and 2a will be given on Saturday morning, May 22.

Students, Professors Receive 18 Scholarships, Fellowships

Both Barnard students and Columbia University professors have been awarded fellowships within the past month.

Barbara Kauder '54 has received a fellowship in English from Rutgers University. A Fulbright scholarship to study drama in London has been awarded to Rael Isaacs '54, while Elena Ottolenghi '54 has won a medical scholarship from the Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Bryn Mawr College has offered three fellowships to Barnard graduates. Mary Jupenz '50 has been awarded a $1700 resident fellowship in German. Lydia Halle '54 has received a $1000 resident graduate scholarship in Latin, and a similar award has gone to Percy B. Sheats '54 for study in Political Science.

Abby Blum '54 has received Honorable Mention for her entry in the sixteenth annual Fashion Fellowship competition of the Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion careers in New York City.

Guggenheim Fellowship Awards, designed to assist the fellows to advance to higher levels of accomplishment in their fields by enabling them to carry on independent research, have been awarded to eleven Columbia (Cont. on Page 3, Col. 3)

This Week

Barnard-Columbia will hold a joint coffee hour this afternoon from 4 to 6 in John Jay Lounge. Everyone is invited to attend.

Members of the class of 1954 who are interested in receiving next year's "Mortarboard," are asked to contact Charlotte Monastersky '55.

The Shaw Collegiate Chorale will present Brahms' "Requiem" tomorrow evening at 8:30 in St. John's Cathedral.

The Reverend Walter E. Wiest, Counselor to Protestant students, will speak on "Looking Backwards" at the University Christian Association Open House this afternoon. The meeting will take place in the Dodge Room at 4 p.m.

Father William Lynch of "Thought" magazine will talk at the Graduate Newman Club tomorrow evening at 8 in the Earl Hall Auditorium.

The Department of Nursing, Faculty of Medicine, Columbia University is holding Open House this afternoon from 2 to 4. The Open House includes a demonstration of teaching nursing, a visit to the Bacteriology Lab, Surgical and Orthopedic Wards, Premature Care Unit, several short films, and an afternoon tea. Those interested should sign immediately in the Placement Office.

Dr. Corliss Lamont, author and lecturer at Columbia, will speak tonight before a mass meeting under the auspices of the American Labor Party, at Manhattan Center at 8. Dr. Lamont's topic, "The Congressional Investigation," will summarize his criticism of the McCarthy, Jenner and Velde Committee's actions.

Appointments

We would like to commend the new Student Council on continuing the policy of having sign-up posters on Jake for those interested in appointments made by the executive body. This poster enables Student Council to choose from a wide slate and insures that all those who are actually interested in the job are considered for it. The purpose of this policy is to provide a remedy for the oft-heard complaint that many extra-curricular jobs are rotated among the same few people. The initiative now lies with the students.

Curric Report

The Student Curriculum Committee has introduced a plan which we believe to be an excellent answer for the student who wishes to do more individual research and have a greater opportunity for independent thought in her major field. (See Curriculum Committee Report, Col. 4, this page.)

The proposal for a Special Studies Program for Majors has raised the objection that it encourages too much specialization. This is a valid consideration. However, it must be pointed out that the student is free to enter or not to enter the program as she pleases. This program would be an alternative to the regular majoring system. The Special Studies Program allows the student much time for electives as well as the advantage of intensified work. During the first two years, the student need only take the basic courses in her major, which most students do anyway. Even during her junior year, she would have a chance to take a few electives.

Aside from the value of considering one topic thoroughly, and knowing a great deal about that one area, individual research is important in itself; it gives the student experience in gathering a great deal of facts and opinions, evaluating them, and coming to her own conclusions.

We also believe that the combination of seminar and independent work in the senior year is excellent in providing the student with the opportunity for both intensive and extensive work. In her independent work she will be able to study one facet of her major thoroughly, while in the Seminar she will be able to integrate the advanced courses within the entire scope of the major field.

The sole objection we have to the program is that the six points of independent work is too much. We think that three would be sufficient for the writing of an extensive research paper, thus realizing the aim of the program for individual work without demanding full concentration on one's major during the senior year.

Letters to the Editor

Focus Reply

To the Editor:

"Having read the issue which appeared last week, we have confidence in the new managing board and its policy to include critical as well as literary contributions." So reads the editorial regarding "Focus" which appeared in last Monday's issue of the newspaper. If the editorial board will take time from its busy schedule to peruse the title page of the magazine, it will become manifest that the managing board for both the first and second issue of "Focus" was one and the same. To save you from any future errors, the managing board for the third issue will be the same as that for the first and second. Furthermore, the editorship of "Focus" is not a sinecure. The use of my name signifies that the publication is to a great extent, the product of my work and the policy of the magazine is my policy arrived at in cooperation with the managing board (names of the guilty parties appear on the last page of this issue). Unlike other college organizations, the new "Focus" staff does not take office until the start of the new academic year.

I am pleased that you enjoyed our new issue.

Very truly yours,

Judith Kaufman
Editor-in-Chief
Focus

Step-Singing

Dear Editor:

I should like to explain why, after careful consideration, the Senior Week committee decided not to include step-singing among the senior week events, following a policy initiated by last year's committee.

In the past, everybody has felt very sentimental about step-singing, but no one has come to rehearsals. At the end of the term people have too much to do to be bothered practicing songs and formations. Step-singing itself is usually poorly attended and the singing, as finally performed, hardly worth the effort. We do plan to include singing at the Ivy Planting ceremony on Sunday, May 30 and at the Class Day ceremonies on June 1. We hope that as many underclassmen as can will attend the former ceremony with us and join in our informal song-fest.

But poor attendance and performance are not the chief reasons for eliminating the ceremony. There simply is no time for it. Exams end Friday. Saturday is the prom Sunday is the Baccalaureate Service and the Ivy Planting. Monday is a legal holiday, but at considerable expense and difficulty we are nevertheless having the Senior Banquet that night. Tuesday is Class Day and Commencement. Columbia insists on having graduation at the first possible moment, so Senior Week activities have to be curtailed. Frankly, we cut out the ceremony that to us seemed least important.

Sincerely,
Barbara Kauder
President, Class of 1954

AA Sign-up Needed

To the Editor:

I would like to bring to the fore some of the facts concerning one of Barnard's most vital institutions: the Athletic Association.

AA's total membership is we, the student body. Its Board members are Annette Wilbois, Peggy Dunlap, Nancy Aub, Dolores Johnson and the chairmen of the eleven committees which are archery, badminton, basketball, volleyball, tennis, swimming, games, folk dance, modern dance, camp and publicity.

The function of AA is encouragement of student interest and participation in recreational athletics. It organizes a program covering a wide range of extra-curricular activities. This program is possible only because of the work of the chairmen and their committees, planning together the playdays, interclass and interschool competition, folk dances, demonstrations and many other AA sponsored activities. An enthusiastic and cooperative committee is essential.

Next year's activities are being planned now and the committee sign-up poster is on the AA bulletin board on Jake. We encourage all who are interested, whether skilled or not, to sign up for a committee. You will be sure to find it a rewarding job and a great deal of fun.

Very sincerely yours,

Marge Gallanter
Publicity chairman of AA
Annette Wilbois
President of AA

Annex

To the Editor:

The warm spring weather which brought so many of us out to the lawn for picnic lunches, also created a problem. Accustomed to buying our lunches in the James Room, we had to climb all the way up to the fourth floor of Barnard Hall, get our food and come down again, hoping that the sandwiches would be in one piece by the time we arrived.

The same inconvenience is encountered when meetings are held at the noon hour, and could be easily solved by allowing the Annex to remain open for at least part of that hour.

Committee Poses Curric Problems

By Sandy McCaw

The members of the Curriculum Committee under the chairmanship of Holly Stabler '54 spent the past academic year in formulating a Special Studies Program for Majors. This plan has been presented to the faculty and will be presented to the student body on Friday noon, May 7, at an open meeting of the Curriculum Committee.

This project was undertaken by the Committee because it had been noticed that there is a feeling of dissatisfaction among the students concerning their major programs. This dissatisfaction is believed to arise from the present inadequate opportunities for grasping the basic principles of a field or to comprehend the unifying concepts of a major.

Remedy

The Curriculum Committee has tried to remedy this situation by proposing an alternate majoring program for those students who are qualified and interested in undertaking and profiting from more independent work. This program, as it stands at the moment would not be an honors program. After having studied the honors programs at various colleges, the committee decided that their proposed program should permit the average interested student, as well as the exceptional student to work in her major field outside of her formal course routine. Neither is this program a revision of the present majors program; it is offered as an alternative to the present system.

The purpose of this proposed plan for majors is to enable the student to obtain a broader perspective of her field by pursuing a comprehensive plan of correlated independent reading and research, tutelage, and group discussion. It is also felt that this plan will make the courses of the junior and senior years less static and will produce an atmosphere of creative activity during the last two years.

Flexible Admission

This plan is flexible, both in admissions policy and in the general academic requirements within the plan: it will begin during the second semester of the junior year. At this time the student will be notified of her admission into the Special Studies program for her senior year, this acceptance will depend on her performance in the Junior Seminar.

The seminars will continue throughout the senior year with the student taking at least six additional points of individual work. The purpose of these seminars is to preserve the contacts of the participants with one another, as well as to assist the student in sharing the fruits of her individual research. In addition, to the major comprehensives taken by all seniors, the student in Special Studies will take an oral examination based on her independent work. As the program stands at the moment, the student participating in this program will not be working for a special honors degree.

Work of the Seminar

The work of the seminars will be devoted to reading, discussion, the preparation of reports and papers and in science departments, will be devoted to research projects. During the summer between the junior and the senior year, the students in the special studies program will complete a program of reading assigned by each department. The senior seminar will not be as intensive as that so organized as to contain the students of exceptional merit as well as those of less outstanding, but adequate abilities. Three point seminars will be held exclusively for the participants of the program, during the second semester of the junior year, in which emphasis will be placed upon progressive specialization of the student.

Qualifications

A student will be qualified for this program if she has 30 points of B work completed by the end of her Sophomore year. She will be advised to finish all of her college requirements by the end of her junior year, especially those of science and language. In addition she will be urged to indicate an interest in participating in the program as early as her sophomore year. Applications for admissions into the program will not be accepted, however, until November of her junior year. At this time she will indicate her reasons for wishing to join the program and her ideas concerning the course of study she hopes to follow. She will then be accepted either fully or on probationary status into the junior seminar, to be of the junior year. Common readings and reports will be required, though the emphasis will be on group discussions of common topics to which each student will contribute her knowledge of her special area. If the faculty deems it advisable the student would be allowed to take more than six points of individual work.

Two-Fold Purpose

The Committee has invited all students to the College Parlor tomorrow not only for discussion of the proposed Special Studies Program for majors but for suggestions pertaining to next year's activities as well.

Professors Go On Leave

in Washington as special consultant to the Council of Economic Advisers, an agency created in 1946 to advise the President on economic affairs. Professor Saulnier will give special emphasis to the growth and stability of the economy.

In addition to his work in Washington, Professor Saulnier will continue to give time to his writings and research in connection with the National Bureau of Economic Research, a non-profit organization. He also intends to complete a book on Federal Lending Agencies.

Professor Gladys A. Reichard, Executive Officer of the Anthropology Department, plans to spend the winter continuing research among the Navajo Indians, a project which she began in 1923.

Studies Navajo

Among the many books which Professor Reichard has already published about Navajo religion are Sandpainting on the Navajo, Shooting Chant and Navajo Medicine Man. Miss Reichard will live in Flagstaff, Arizona, at the Museum of Northern Arizona, a research center for archaeologists and anthropologists, while conducting her studies among the Indians.

While on vacation, Professor Reichard also plans to begin a book on the unwritten literature of primitive people. At present she is teaching "The Study of Folklore," a course in which she advances the opinion that primitive literature, although unwritten, has style and form, which permits it to be classified as literature.

Plans Text Book

During his winter semester leave, Professor Richard Youtz, Executive Officer of the Psychology department, will do preparatory work on an introductory psychology text book. He plans to emphasize the scientific method and the learning theory in his text.

Miss Clara Elliot, Assistant Professor of Economics, plans to enjoy her first leave since 1938. Although she has developed no definite plans, she "is ready and anxious to go to Europe or Australia."

Other members of the faculty who will be on leave include Miss Tatiana Greene, Instructor in French, Miss Carolyn B. Loughborough of the Music Department, Professor Rauch of the History Department, Mrs. Ruth A. Roosa, lecturer in Russian Studies, and Mrs. Isabel De Wyzewa, Assistant Professor of French.

The four faculty members who will be absent on leave for the spring semester only are: Associate Professor Ursula M. Niebuhr of the Religion Department, Associate Professor Emma D. Stecher of the Chemistry Department, and Professor Chilton Williamson of the History Department, and Professor Eugenio Florit of the Spanish Department.

Celler Addresses Society on India

"Indians understand us as little as we understand them," said Mr. Emanuel Celler, member of the United States House of Representatives, in an address to the India Society of Columbia University in Fayerweather Lounge last Friday night.

Mr. Celler was introduced as a man who has contributed greatly to the betterment of United States-India relations, and was influential in establishing the Gandhi Memorial.

During his recent tour of India, Representative Celler found that most Indians think that Americans are naive, are unnecessarily frightened by the Soviet threat, and are quickly losing their civil liberties because of men like Senator McCarthy.

The major problem shared by the United States and India revolves around material aid. Indians are insulted because they feel that the United States gives their country aid in order to use her as a pawn in the East-West struggle. Unless we help India simply to help India, instead of "help India or lose her to the Reds," our relations with her will not be improved, Mr. Celler concluded.

Treasurers

All treasurers are asked to report to the Undergraduate Treasurer's Office not later than May 14 to close their books for this year. Office hours are on Tuesdays and Fridays from twelve to one and by special appointment with Cynthia Bachner during the exam period.

Trumpeter Sues Highlights Freshmen's Brauhaus Ball

LEONARD SUES

Trumpet star Leonard Sues will be crowned King of the Brauhaus Ball tomorrow night, May 7 in John Jay Hall.

The dance, to be presented as a beer garden event, is being sponsored by the class of '57 of Barnard College and Columbia's Ted Kremer Society.

Tickets at $2.50 per couple may be obtained on Jake now.

Registration Opens For NSA Seminar

Less than a week remains for participation in NSA's International Students Relations Seminar to be held this Summer in Boston, Massachusetts, and Ames, Iowa.

Barnard students are eligible to apply for the twelve national scholarships which are offered to students who are interested in acquiring a specialized knowledge in the field of international students relations.

Further details about the seminar and application blanks can be obtained from Marjorie Gallanter '56 via Student Mail. The deadline for applications is May 10.

YOUNG SKIN AND FAIR

To nurture and protect skin's original freshness is the goal. For many, the first major hazard comes during the years of adolescence when sebaceous and sweat glands at the roots of the facial pores overproduce and clog, bringing on blackheads, enlarged pores and pimples. Elisabeth Ungar works miracles with this type of skin. Her unique and revolutionary method is based on a galvanic electrical current and a special skin solution which causes a chemical reaction in the skin itself, gently releasing impurities and refining its texture. ## 800 Alumnae Meet At Class Reunions

Traditional class reunions will take place this year on June 2. Over 800 alumnae from the classes of 1904, 1909, 1914, 1919, 1924, 1929, 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949, and 1953 are expected. The program will begin on Wednesday afternoon with a tour of the renovated Milbank and Barnard Halls including a visit to the Emily Gregory Laboratory of the Botany department.

Later at the annual meeting, Mrs. Madge Turner Callahan '26, the outgoing president will induct her successor, and President Millicent C. McIntosh will speak.

Dramatics Students Present Comedy for CUBicentennial

"The Suspicious Husband," a comedy of manners not performed since the days of David Garrick, will be presented by Columbia Theatre Associates at Brander Matthews Theatre from May 5 to 8 at 8:40 for the evening performances and 2:40 for matinees.

The play, written by Dr. Benjamin Hoadly who was also a physician, mathematician, and scientist, was presented in 1754, the year of the University's founding, by Hallam's Company in New York. This is the fourth of a series of Hallam plays staged in honor of the Columbia Bicentennial under the direction of Dr. Milton Smith, Director of the School of Dramatic Arts, and Mrs. Gertrude Keller, dramatic arts instructor.

The cast of "The Suspicious Husband" first popularized by an illustrious eighteenth century cast including David Garrick, will be composed of present and former students of the School of Dramatic Arts.

2. PUREST AND BEST filter made. Exclusive with L&M. Result of 3 years of scientific research... 3 years rejecting other filters. This is it!

3. MUCH MORE FLAVOR... MUCH LESS NICOTINE L&M Filters are the first filter cigarette to taste the way a cigarette should. The premium quality tobaccos... and the miracle filter work together... to give you plenty of good taste.

Exclusive L&M miracle filter tip contains Alpha Cellulose... for most effective filtration. Much more flavor... much less nicotine.

Now Every Smoker can afford L&M... America's highest quality Filter Cigarette

Since L&M Filters were put on sale across the country they have gained a nation-wide demand never before equalled by any other cigarette in so short a time.

So naturally... down goes the price to you of L&Ms — America's highest quality and best filter tip cigarette.

Thousands of dealers in America's largest cities (New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and Los Angeles) in signed statements report L&Ms their largest selling filter tip cigarette.

Why have L&M Filters rolled up

sales records like this? For the first time filter tip smokers are getting what they want... much more flavor and aroma... with much less nicotine. After the first few puffs from an L&M, most smokers sum it up this way,
