Invocation and Libation to Demeter

Goddess thou of hope and harvest,
Strong Earth-mother, patient-wise,
Graciously vouchsafe thy presence,
Hither come in kindly guise;
Hearken, O Demeter, hearken,
As to thee our hymns arise!
Hearken, O Demeter, hearken,
As to thee our hymns arise!

Now once more the freed earth waking,
Casts aside the winter's chain,
Now Persephone emerges
From dark Pluto's realm again,
Hearken, O Demeter, hearken,
Hearken to our suppliant strain!
Hearken, O Demeter, hearken,
Hearken to our suppliant strain!

Not for wealth we ask thee, Mother;
Strength and wisdom covet we,
So in reverence to offer
At thy shrine our victory;
Make us, O Demeter, make us
Worthily to strive for thee!
Make us, O Demeter, make us
Worthily to strive for thee!

I

By the waters of the Hudson,
By the shining deep sea waters,
Hastening to the Great Bear's tepee
On a cool September morning
Come the braves of Nineteen-Fifteen.
Green they were, the tender Freshmen,
Green as shoots of corn in summer.
Brave their hearts and full of promise;
Glad to join the mighty Odd tribe.
Soon they knew the long dark hallways,
Knew them as their native forests;
Learned to stalk the lurking soph'more
Thru the classrooms, down the stairways,
To the Muskoday, the Campus.

II

Nineteen-Fifteen, youngest Odd tribe,
Guarded by her sister Thirteen,
Met the nations now in concourse
Called by mighty Annemeekee.*
Dancing there for them was given
By the fairy spirit Cheeseman;
Dancing light as rippling wavelets,
Or of slowly swaying cornfields.
Music, too, of reeds and tom-tom;
Reeds so musical and mellow
That the Nations ceased from whisp'ring,
Listened while theirheart-strings fluttered

III

Now began the mighty warfare
On the tribe of Nineteen-Fourteen.
From their studies, from their classes,
Poured the braves of Nineteen-Fifteen,
Painted like the leaves of autumn,
Painted like the sky of morning.
Wildly glaring at each other,
In their faces stern defiance,
In their hearts the feuds of ages,
The hereditary hatred
Of the Odd Tribes for the Evens.

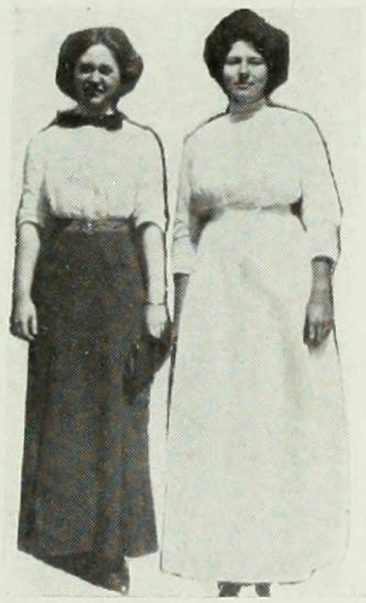
Chief among them rose a warrior
Whom they made their mighty chieftain.
Called him Strongheart, Soangetaha.
Swift they drew their bows and arrows,
Chased the coward tribe of Fourteen
Till they crowded, sad and breathless,
In the dark hole of the theatre.
Then was Nineteen-Fifteen proven—
Proven one of Undergrad Tribe.
Swift they washed off all their war paint;
'Neath their books their clubs they buried;
Buried all their warlike weapons,
Smoked the Calumet, the peace pipe.

V

Ye shall hear a tale of wonder;
Ye shall hear how all the classes
Made for Soangetaha feasting.
Sumptuous was the feast they offered,
Merry were the games they showed him.
Happy was the class of Fifteen,
Glad to be among their kindred.
How the theatre rang with laughter!
How they whirled in joyous dances!
Pantomime for them was given,
All to show how much the classes
Loved their youngest sister, Fifteen.



VI

Scarce had died the cheers of feasting
When a dead black pall did settle
On their gay and bubbling spirits,
As from out their dusty corner,
Hidden in the stern Prof.'s office,
Pounced the dreadful tribe of Midyears.
Math. and Hist'ry A did lead them,
Hollow-eyed, sad, wraithlike giants.
Short and dreadful was the conflict,
For Fifteen, bright eyed, triumphant,
Soon stood high, with flying colors,
On the gory necks of Midyears.

Ye shall hear how Pau Puls Palmer,
How the handsome maids of Fifteen
Danced at Soangetaha's feasting,
How the sweet voiced Chibia Krause—
She the sweetest of musicians—
Sang her songs of love and longing;
How Baboo, the clever mimic—
She the marvelous story teller—
Told her tales of strange adventure,
That the feast might be more joyous,
That the time might pass more gayly,
And the guests be more contented.

Then did Fourteen challenge Fifteen
To great feats of strength and daring.
Races swift as flying arrows,
Hurling heavy stones far from them.
Kwasind Midge, our mighty strong one,
Excelled in strength all Nineteen-Fourteen.
Now came Spring, when Undergrad Tribe
Met in feasting all her followers,
Danced her maidens in the grasses,
Sang her, sweet voiced, in the theatre,
And Baboo, the story teller,
Wove her tales of wild adventure.

Now the four tribes met in contest,
Each to prove itself the strongest.
On the Muskoday, the campus,
Gay with green of summer leafage,
Black, with crowds of cheering watchers,
Kwasind Midge, the discus thrower,
Left all others far behind her.
Laughing Gilleaudeau, the skilful,
With her swift and blinding tactics
Drove the ball now hither, thither,
Stunned, bewildered her opponent,
And became the tennis champion.

Soon came June with her sad partings,
When to ocean, lake or mountain
Soangetaha's braves were scattered.
Swift they left their books behind them,
Banished all their ink-stained garments,
Danced around the leaping fires
Piled with all their hated pink books—
Pink books marked with sad, strange blots
Now in birch canoes with paddles
Sped they up the flowing river,
Vanished in the dim blue distance,
Vanished till the moon September.

Then the day of doom came swiftly,
When the mighty Nineteen-Fifteen
Did in triumph squelch the Freshmen.
Each one seized a white-faced victim,
Trembling like a leaf in autumn.
In grim silence then they led them
Down the long, dark, deathlike hallway,
Down into the pit together;
There to groan and shout and stifle.
When they cried and begged for mercy,
Fifteen danced and sang before them,
Taking eats of peace together.

Soon there dawned in dazzling splendor
That great day of Nineteen Fifteen,
When with hearts aglow with high hope
They did watch the stars among them,
In strange garb and stranger voices,
Play behind the brilliant footlights,
Play to assembled Odds and Evens.
Then their Bab did hold them laughing,
And their Ray the governor mighty.
Then the theatre rang with cheering,
With applause and happy laughter
For the show of Nineteen Fifteen.

Incidental Singing by Estelle Krause and Grace Perlman

Gay the hearts of Nineteen-Fifteen,
Gay the hall with flags and banners,
Bright with light and happy faces,
Sweet with scent of softest flowers,
When to music wild and throbbing,
Soft and sweet with rhythmic cadence,
Danced their brave young men and maidens
In a flashing, glittering rainbow
Of living, moving lights and colors,
Till a rude hand, hostile, ruthless,
Hid the hall in deepest blackness,
Hid their hearts in deepest sorrow.

Soon the solemn challenge sounded
From the class of Nineteen-Fifteen
To the young and tender Freshmen.
Then they strove in solemn contest
Each to reverence best Demeter,
With the sweetness of their voices,
With the lightness of their dancers.
Soon the lovely priestess, watching
O'er the flick'ring, dancing smoke flames,
Called Soangetaha victor,
Placed the twined wreaths of laurel
On the brows of Nineteen-Fifteen.

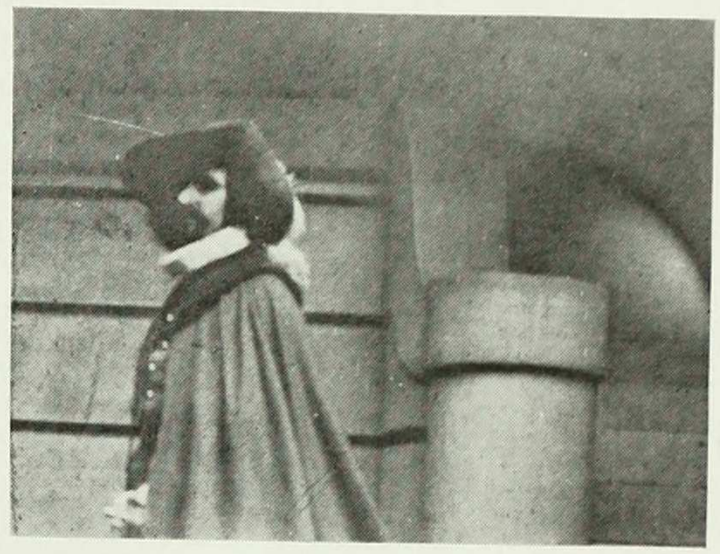
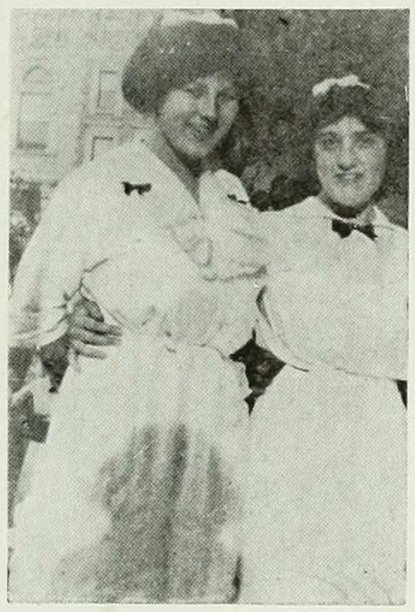
Proud their hearts with further triumphs
When from all stars, Odds and Evens,
Nineteen-Fifteen's braves were chosen
For the play of Undergrad Tribe.
When in her all-conquering grandeur,
Cyrano (Ray) held all spellbound,
Then there came that warm, bright season
When, upon the green-clad campus,
Vied in blithesome sports together
All the Odd Tribes and the Evens.
Fifteen's champions, still unconquered,
Made Soangetaha foremost.





Swifter then and swifter flying
Sped the days and weeks before them,
Till the final day came sadly
When in one last parting frolic
Fifteen bid farewell to Thirteen,
To their ever-loving sisters;
Then in feast and song together
They did bid them go forth boldly
In the great world, wide, far-reaching,
Bearing with them deep engraven
On their hearts the love of Fifteen,
The warm, true friendship of their sisters.

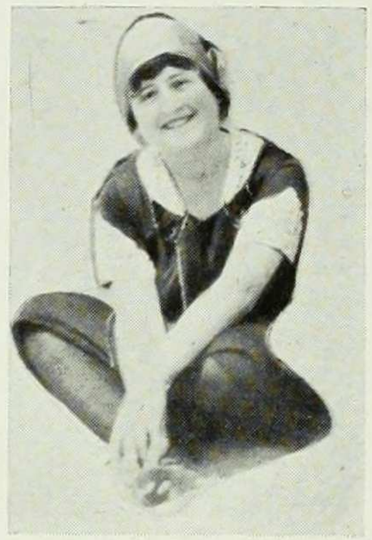
In the long, warm Indian summer,
There to distant sea and mountain,
Where the ceaseless sea spray rises,
Where the tall blue smoke wreathed mountains,
Raise their mighty pine clad shoulders,
Rang the call of Great Bear's Teepee,
Thrilled the hearts of Nineteen Fifteen,
Stirred their sleeping hearts within them.
Soon they left their sleepy hollows,
Left behind them all their playthings,
In their birch canoes exulting
Paddled back to Great Bear's teepee.

Then once more did Annemeekee
Greet with joy the new arrivals,
Welcomed Seventeen among them,
Called her mighty braves to meet them.
Again she held her song and dancing,
Sang our Nawadaha, Ella,
Sang to help the Great Bear's teepee,
Sang till all her listeners softened,
Opened wide their beaded pouches,
Heaped upon her gifts of wampum
Till she held to Great Bear's teepee
Both hands full of loving off'rings.



Gitche Manito, the mighty,
Called the Great Bear's clubs together,
Said that strength was in their union,
Had them meet in feasts together
All their young men and their maidens.
First they danced a solemn measure
In and out among the couples,
Past the Dean and all the watchers,
Then more swiftly and still swifter,
Whirling, spinning round in circles,
While the beating music swayed them,
Till the stars grew pale in daylight.

Once again behind the footlights,
With the braves of Undergrad tribe
Stepped two stars of Nineteen Fifteen,
Played with skill for all the Nation.
First there came the blustering beadle
Pushing, driving all before him,
"Walkerette" well known in Fifteen,
Lucie Howe, the frivolous dandy
With her airs and her "Eh, Georgie!"
Made the theatre shake with laughter,
Won new fame for Soangetaha,
Set upon his brows the laurel.

Who shall say what thoughts and visions
Fill the fiery hearts of Fifteen?
Who shall say what deeds of valor
Shall be done by Soangetaha
In the happy year that follows?
Soon 'twill be farewell forever,
Soon farewell to Soangetaha,
In the glory of their sunset
Shall depart to unknown regions,
To the land of the Alumnae,
To the land of the Hereafter,
The well loved class of Nineteen Fifteen.

MARGINAL UTILITY

To Demeter

By Rhoda Erskine.

Fair lies the harvest, fair the fostering sun
That smiles in ruddy splendor on the wheat,
But fairer still her beauty who, from heaven,
Spreads like a mantle over all the earth
Her loveliness. Was it not yesterday
We knew her for the wayward maid of Spring,
Child of the sudden showers, dewy-eyed,
And fitful in her promised womanhood?
Through the long, lazy summer sped the days,
Weaving her robe of regal loveliness,
Until now Autumn lays the crown on all.
Men thought her lovely in her Spring, but lo!
Lovelier now, and wiser, and more kind.
Mothering love sits shrined in her eyes—
Eyes that could drown the sorrows of the world,
And still show beauty in their limpid depths.
Poppies, for sleep, are twinéd in her hair,
Shadowy-black, but glinted here and there
With the wild glory of the burnished hills,
Swept into flaming beauty at her touch.
Softly she passes, passing, casts behind
Some strange, warm beauty, wild and strong and sweet,
To witness to her presence. Men behold
And wonder, and are stirred, and understand.

Comic Lyric

By Margaret Carr and Helen Jenkins

I

Great Jove sat bowed in angry thought:
"Oh Gods of Ancient Greece!
Polish my rusty thunderbolts,
Now is no time for peace
While ignorance on earth below
Our mighty sport profanes,
One of our number down must go—
Show Barnard real Greek games!"
"Here!" Demeter raised her hand
"As a Freshman I will go!"
"Going down!"—the swift clouds hurried her
To Barnard's portico.

II

Then sniffing down our classic halls
The lunchroom to discover
She jumped at Mrs. Ligget's voice—
It could have been no other!
"Miss Demeter! Your bill is late!
Come right in here with me
The college needs the money—
Did you pay your entrance fee?"
Escaping from the Bursar's room
To Roman Life she hurried.
She took a front row seat and stared
Till Doctor Knapp was worried.
"Upon this point Euripedes
And I do not agree."
"I'll set you right!" Demeter cried.
"You can't! Sit down!" said he.

III

Demeter ran across to Brooks,
In mud she found Miss Hirst,
"Jolly good weather here for ducks—
"But horrible," she cursed.
"My dear Demeter," said Miss Weeks
"Grant coöperation—
You can not do the one-step here,
Now you're on probation!"
Demeter scurried to a class
One minute after nine,
Then Curtis gazed reproachfully:
"Please try to be on time!"
"Don't ask what use Mathematics is—
Then an expectant hush—
"I tell you you have to take it!"
A murmur rose, "Oh, slush!"

IV

Mrs. Haskell passed out postals
"Here's the Jungfrau!" she read.
Demeter slipped it in her bag—
"I'll mail that to Jove!" she said.
"Now to work! Bitte Demeter!
Welche Casus hat Tisch?"
"Mrs. Haskell, please don't ask me!
I'm not Dutch 'nough for this!"
From German class Demeter tripped
To hear how Gerig speaks
"La litterature française," he cried.
"But what about the Greeks?"
"Ah elle n'est pas française mais grecque."
He sobbed, "la pauvre jeune fille."
He waved her back a smile, a shrug—
"Ah! Madamoiselle, Ci! Ci!"

V

"Address the class. Don't look at me!"
And Mr. Haller stood,
"Er—er did Rob Burns drink? Of course!
Er—er, all poets should!"
Demeter thought, "I should have sent
God Bacchus in my stead,
I'll transfer into Baldwin's class,
He has a Shakespeare's head."
Then Baldwin stared at Demeter,
His hand upon his cheek.
"I don't advise an English course,
Until you know some Greek!"

VI

Now Brown addressed his class in Psyc.
"Put all your books away—
My children tore up all my notes—
Experiments to-day.
Now concentrate upon this dot,
It really is quite simple."
Demeter couldn't find the spot,
So focused on his dimple.
Once to the chapel Demeter went
And raised her voice to sing,
She shared her book with German Braun,
Her ears began to ring.
His deep voice soared above the rest
And left them far behind.
It soared up to Olympian heights,
Till Jove cried, "There's a find!"

VII

Miss Beegle said, "Your heart is weak,
You're about to faint, girl!
Be careful of your complexion,
Try to mind the paint, girl!
You do not throw the discus well,
Your form the whole class shames;
Standing position's worse than poor;
My! You can't make Greek games!"
"By Jove!" Demeter stamped her foot.
"Olympian heights for me!
They'll tell me next I'm not a Greek—
What fools these mortals be!"

Three Prayers to Demeter

By Freda Kirchwey.

I.

One mad, sweet day in Spring I made a prayer;
It brooded in the grass, caressed the trees;
It wantoned with the tender, heartless breeze,
And drank wild rapture from the brimming air.
"Goddess," I sang, "sweet mistress of the earth,
Langorous, longing, sweet and full of fire.
Goddess of clinging peace, of passionate mirth,
Of gentle friendliness, and hot desire,
Take those to your great heart and soothe and bless—
O maker of the madness of the Spring—
Who hold the breathless, fainting happiness
That only lovers know and lovers sing."
And then I heard light murmurs in the air
And knew the gods were laughing at my prayer.

II.

One growing, stirring day I prayed again.
Out of my swelling soul my words I flung,
I hurled them to the splendor of the sun,
And sang them to the hearts of little men.
"Goddess," I cried, "Creator, Seeress high,
Weaver of life that comes, enchants, and passes
Under the flashing gladness of the sky,
And in the small, cool caverns of the grasses.
Cherish, O Goddess, men who yearn and build,
Dream little dreams and fashion little things.
Cherish them, for they work as you have willed,—
Creator of a thousand, thousand Springs."
Again I heard light murmurs in the air,
And knew the gods were laughing at my prayer.

III.

One weary, clouded day I bent my head,
And in the darkness of my heart I prayed.
On my belabored soul a terror weighed,
And from my eyes all springtime joy had fled
"Mother, great mother of the lonely heart,
Pity my vagrant thought, my careless prayer,
You who have borne the wildest, fiercest smart
That ever pricked the dullness of despair.
The happy flowers wither to the ground
Before the parching tempest of your pain.
—O mother of a daughter lost and found,
Help those whose daughters never come again."
And then I heard low murmurs in the air,
And knew the gods were weeping at my prayer.

Mushroom Growing is a good, sound, paying proposition. Mushrooms bring from 50c to $2 a pound. 70 pounds and more raised on small beds which cost practically nothing to make. Can be grown at home in basements, barns, sheds, chicken houses, etc. Take little care; don't interfere with your regular occupation. Your whole family can help in raising them. Send for beautifully illustrated booklet about mushroom culture.

HEADQUARTERS FOR BARNARD COLLEGE

.22 RIFLES

The Little Rifles—Big in Quality

YOU are going to buy a .22 calibre rifle, single shot or repeater—you'll find that many well known crack shots started with a Remington .22.

Their advice now would be "By all means, get a Remington" because they know that there is a tendency in some quarters to look upon these models as only "a small boy's rifle" and to cheapen them so that they can be sold at a price.

You have just as much right to expect full shooting value in your .22 calibre arm as in your $75 big game rifle.

You want the Remington single shot at from $3 to $6, .22, .25-10 or .32 calibre, made by the same people who make the famous Remington Autoloading Rifles.

Or, if you prefer the repeating rifle, the Remington slide action .22 repeater with its easy take-down and special safety features, shooting .22 short, .22 long or .22 long rifle cartridges, at $10 and up, is your arm.

Sold by live dealers of this community — the most popular small calibre rifles in America.

GRAY & DAVIS

STARTING-LIGHTING SYSTEM

This system has brought even the highest-powered cars within the scope of the feminine driver. You get in your car, sit behind the wheel, press a foot-pedal and away you go. If at night, you turn a switch on the dash and all or part of the lamps are lighted—just as you desire. The Gray & Davis system has revolutionized the operation of the gasoline car for women. Be sure to demand this system on the car you purchase.

New Idea Garments for Spring and Summer

The handsome new outing dress pictured here is made of Government-finish khaki. It has six pockets, in every one of which you will have something to put when in the woods or out on a tramp. Price, carrying charges prepaid, $3.50.

Then, there are other garments—HATS, separate BLOUSES and SKIRTS, a "HIKING OUTFIT," SERGE DRESSES and other things that you need now or will need soon. All these articles have been indorsed by the Camp Fire Organization, not only for the use of Camp Fire Girls, but for all other girls as well.

Visit our store at the address given below or write for our catalogue. Either will please you. We know it from what thousands of other American girls and young women have told us.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS' HANDBOOK

If you wish to know about this wonderful new movement and see pictures of members in the midst of their activities, send to us for the handsome manual.

What Cora Manning Says.

"And, oh, Jack! we're out of Jell-O again. Order a dozen and bring a package of Strawberry Jell-O with you. The Mannings are coming for dinner and Cora Manning says there is nothing so lovely as my desserts."

The Mannings and their friends, like other sensible people who can afford expensive luxuries, do not deprive themselves of good things because they are cheap.

The charm of the Jell-O dessert is felt in every home, and it costs only ten cents!

Plain but delicious desserts and elaborate and delicious desserts are made of Jell-O—and most of them can be made in a minute.

There are seven delightful pure fruit Jell-O flavors: Strawberry, Raspberry, Lemon, Orange, Cherry, Peach, Chocolate.

10 cents each at any grocer's.

A beautiful new Recipe Book, with brilliantly colored pictures by Rose Cecil O'Neill, author and illustrator of "The Kewpies," will be sent free to all who write and ask us for it.

THE GENESEE PURE FOOD CO., Le Roy, N. Y., and Bridgeburg, Can.

The name JELL-O is on every package in big red letters. If it isn't there, it isn't JELL-O.
