Man's Right to Knowledge

is the theme of the bicentennial anniversary which Columbia University will observe next year. The principle is not a new one for the institution. Since 1754, when King George II of England granted the original charter to King's College, its students and teachers have lived and worked in an atmosphere of free inquiry and discussion. They have learned to regard it as the natural right of all men, and are, today, pleading for the universal recognition of this idea.

We, at Barnard, know how important this is. Our 53 years of close association with the schools across the street, and the conduct of education inside our own green gate, have taught us the value of intellectual freedom.

In presenting this yearbook, the Class of 1954, the bicentennial class, joins with its older brothers and sisters of the Columbia family in affirming the principle, and celebrating the occasion, of the two-hundredth anniversary of our venerable university.

Dedication

Let us have a fanfare of drums and the ringing sound of applause as we start our celebration of the bi-centennial anniversary of Columbia University by awarding our highest medal to Professor Helen Phelps Bailey. She has gently guided us along the scholastic path, generously lent a sympathetic ear and shoulder to our personal problems, and, most important of all, has formed a class out of fragments, a vital living unit out of unsettled human parts. Her great devotion has obtained the deep gratitude and affection of every member of the class of 1954.

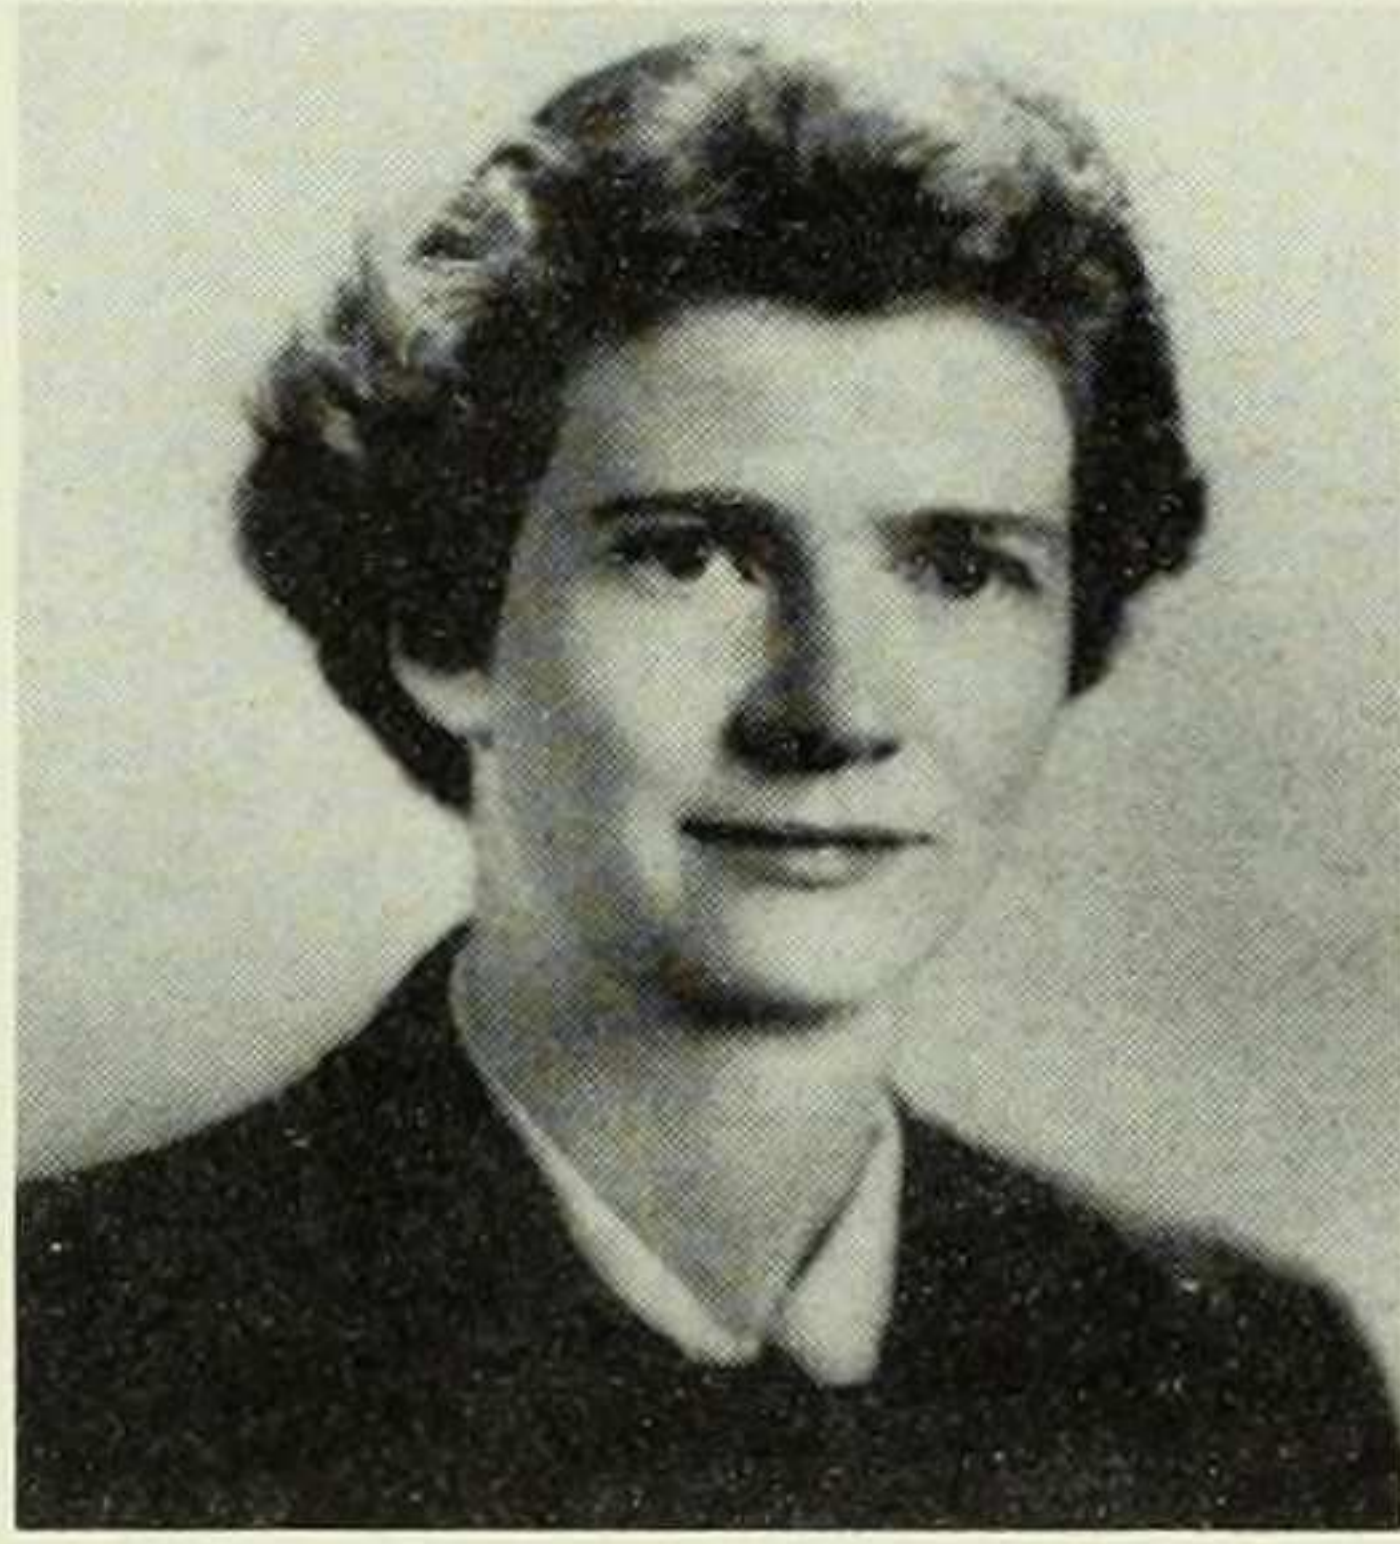

PROFESSOR HELEN P. BAILEY

We take this opportunity to welcome our new President of Columbia University, Dr. Grayson Kirk, who has always had the interest of our University in his heart and who now assumes the leadership of this institution as we celebrate its 200th anniversary as a symbol of universal knowledge. We place our confidence in Dr. Kirk, a true believer in the inseparability of freedom and knowledge.

Janus-like we are poised between the past and the future, searching for guidance in the past and facing the future with hope. From our Dean and President Mrs. Milicent Carey McIntosh we have received continual encouragement to build our youthful dreams of the future; never failing in our search for the right, guided by her faith in us and the goals she has realized in the advancement of woman's right to knowledge and the free use thereof.

EASY STREET - 1953

Take off and leave those old-fashioned ideas about travel behind. This year, broaden your horizons by traveling the bright blue high way TWA Skyliners fly. It can be your road to greater success in business; your pathway to greater pleasure in vacation days ahead. For swift, dependable TWA Skyliners can help you see more and do more no matter where in the world you want to go.

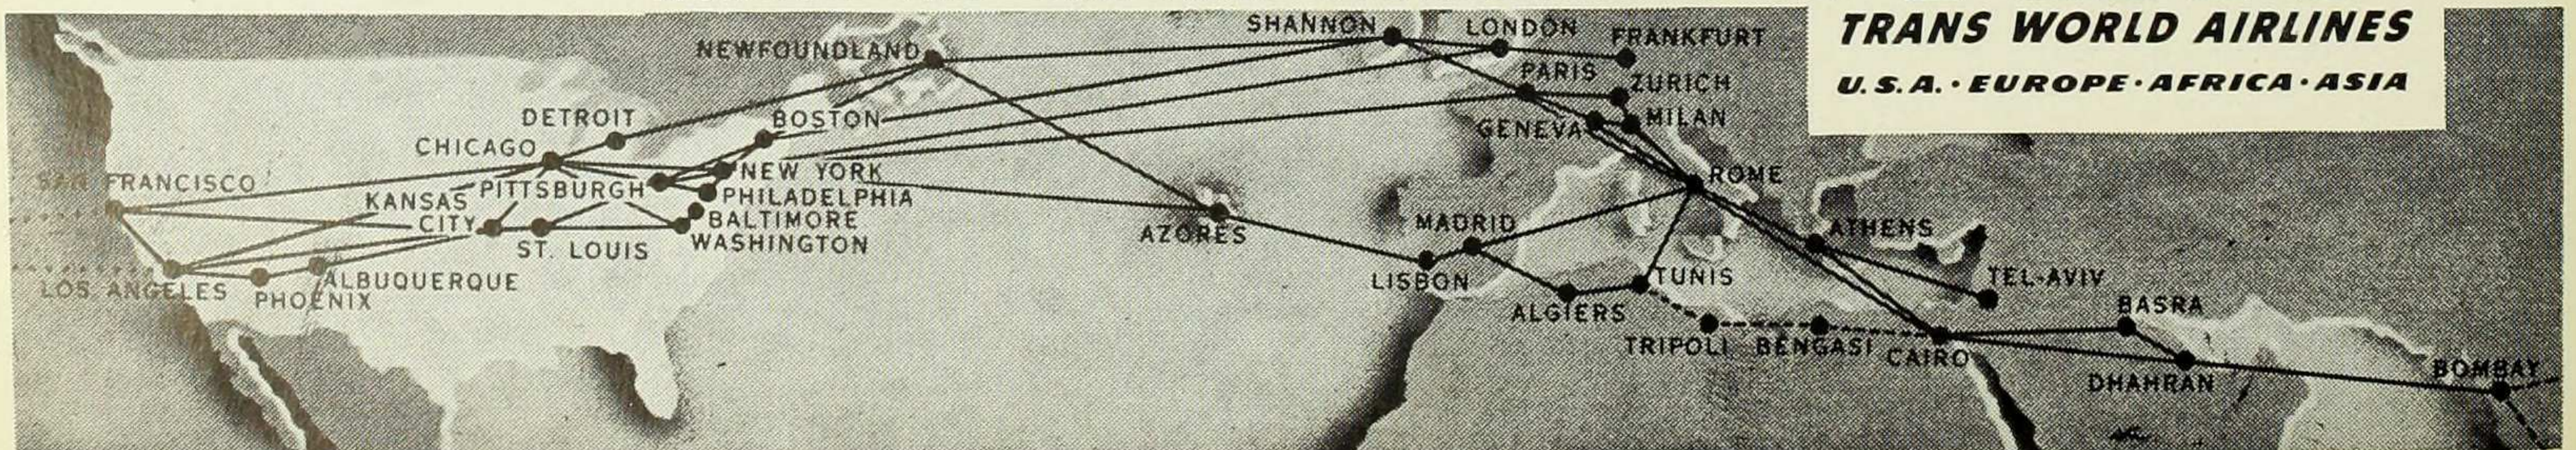

Where in the world do you want to go? For information and reservations, call TWA or see your travel agent.

Distortions are fun!

... but a good college annual must reflect a true picture of the tempo, activities and life of each individual campus and class.

Capturing this atmosphere in plan and design and preserving it with sparkling reproduction has made Comet a leading producer of fine annuals * for more than three decades.
