

ALUMNAE

MONTHLY

Barnard

College

BARNARD ADMISSIONS OFFICIALS MAKE TOURS

Students of public and private high schools in Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and New York state are learning about Barnard through the visits of Miss Marian W. Smith, director of admissions, and Mrs. John Adams, assistant director.

Mrs. Adams recently completed a tour of thirty-seven secondary schools in New Jersey towns near New York, and in Princeton, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Wilmington and Buffalo.

Seven schools in the Hartford, Connecticut, area and the high schools of Norwalk, New Canaan and Darien will be hosts to Miss Smith, November 7, 8 and 9. During the month of November she will visit also schools in Long Island, Westchester County, Greenwich and Stamford.

The visiting tours include talks with guidance officers and interested students, and meetings with Barnard alumnae groups in the various areas.

BARNARD ALUMNAE, FACULTY HONORED

So far this year, nine Barnard alumnae and two members of the Barnard faculty have received Fulbright awards. The recipients and a report of their plans follow:

Sylvia Caides '49 will teach English at a French Lysee; Louise Volcker '40, who is now a medical social worker, will study social planning at the Radcliffe Infirmary in Oxford, England; Maude Hopkinson Traas '49 will study French language and French literature at the University of Paris; Judith Jarvis '50 will study philosophy at Cambridge; Virginia Potter '50 will study philosophy at the University of Bordeaux, France; Joan Terry White '50, will study French language and literature at

(Continued on page 6)

A NEW COLUMN

Beginning with the next issue of the Monthly, a special column will appear in these pages called "The Dean Says . . ." In it, Dean Millicent C. McIntosh will discuss matters pertaining to the College of special interest to alumnae. If you have any suggestions or questions you would particularly like to have answered, please address your letters to the Alumnae Office, 301 Barnard Hall, and they will be forwarded to the Dean.

It may not be possible to answer all requests, but topic selections will be made on the basis of general interest.

CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT IS COMMENDED BY A.C.S.

The American Chemical Society recently announced that Barnard's Chemistry Department has been adjudged fully qualified to offer professional training in chemistry.

At a meeting of the Society's Committee on Professional Training it was stated that Barnard students who have majored in chemistry and who have fulfilled the minimum requirements for professional training adopted by the Society are eligible for full membership in the Society within two years following graduation and after two years of experience in the field of chemistry.

All the faculty members in the department belong to the Society, according to Professor Emma Dietz Stecher '25. Three members of the class of 1950 have been accredited by the Society. They are Roselin Seider, who is doing graduate work in chemistry, and Joan Weiss and Pauline Gostinsky, both in medical schools.

In a letter to Dean McIntosh, the Committee expressed its approval of the

(Continued on page 3)

FOUR FUND CAMPAIGNS OPEN IN OCTOBER

Opening meetings to launch local campaigns for the Barnard College Development Fund have been coming thick and fast lately. The most recent of these was the Hudson Valley opening meeting, held in the home of Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt in Hyde Park, New York, on Saturday, October 28, at 4:00 P.M. Mrs. Roosevelt, Dean Millicent C. McIntosh, Helen Goodhart Altschul '07, National Chairman for the Fund, and Barnard's General Secretary Jean T. Palmer addressed the meeting. Margaret Myers '20 presided, substituting for Claire Schenck Kidd '20, Hudson Valley chairman, who was unable to be present. Florence Mackie Goshorn '39, Field Director for the Fund, district leaders for the area, and other members of the Barnard College staff were among those present.

On Thursday, October 26, the Boston opening meeting was held at the Harvard Faculty Club in Cambridge, Massachusetts, with Juliette Kenney Fager '42, chairman for the Boston area, presiding. Dean McIntosh spoke on "Women, Wisdom, and the Future," and Mrs. Altschul reported on Fund progress to date. On Thursday, October 19, the Essex County opening meeting was held at the Church House of the Central Presbyterian Church in Montclair, with Essex County chairman Dorothy Brockway Osborne '19 presiding; Dean McIntosh and Mrs. Altschul ad-

(Continued on page 3)

PLEASE REMEMBER . . .

To send in your reservations for the Alumnae Conference, to be held at the College on November 17 and 18, by Tuesday, November 4.

BARNARD COLLEGE ALUMNAE MONTHLY

Published by Barnard College once a month, except in August and September, through the cooperation of the Associate Alumnae and the Public Relations Office of Barnard College, 3009 Broadway, New York 27, New York.

Deadline for next issue: November 13.

Volume XL, No. 2

November, 1950

ALUMNAE CALENDAR

Saturday, November 4

Barnard-in-Westchester Dessert Bridge and Fashion Show.—Greenville Community Church, Scarsdale, N. Y.

9:00 P.M. "Harvest Hop," sponsored by the Barnard Athletic Association.—Gymnasium, Barnard Hall. (Tickets may be purchased at the door.)

Monday, November 6

8:00 P.M. Folk Dance-Square Dance.—Gymnasium, Barnard Hall. (Tickets may be purchased at the door.)

Saturday, November 11

Barnard-in-Pittsburgh Luncheon Meeting.

Friday, November 17

and

Saturday, November 18

POLITICAL INSTITUTE AND ALUMNAE CONFERENCE

Tuesday, November 21

1:10 P.M. Annual Thanksgiving Service for Columbia University. The Reverend Robert James McCracken of Riverside Church will direct the service.—St. Paul's Chapel, Columbia University.

Tuesday, November 28

1:10 P.M. Barnard College Assembly. Alumnae are invited to attend.—Gymnasium, Barnard Hall.

Wednesday, November 29

8:15 P.M. Forum on "Preparation for Successful Citizenship," sponsored by the Barnard-in-Bergen Club.—Woman's Club of Hackensack, N. J.

Thursday, November 30

Friday, December 1

and

Saturday, December 2

8:30 P.M. "Olympia," by Ferenc Molnar will be performed by members of Wigs and Cues. Tickets may be purchased at the door.—Theater, Brinckerhoff Hall.

Monday, December 4

8:00 P.M. Barnard-in-Westchester Christmas Party. Professor Robertson, of the Barnard College English Department, will be the guest speaker.—At the home of Mrs. Julius Silver (Roslyn Schiff '27), Greenhaven Road, Rye, New York.

FACULTY NEWS

A list of new Barnard faculty members follows:

Jean A. Bede, Agregée, Professor of French
Helen B. Funk, M.S., Assistant professor of History

Eleanor Tilton, Ph.D., Assistant professor of English

Tatiana Greene, M.A., Instructor in French

Fritz Steinhardt, A.M., Instructor in Mathematics

John Benjamin Stewart, Instructor in Government

**Edith Haggstrom Nagel '33*, Ph.D., Associate in Physics

**Mary O. Callaghan '50*, A.B., Assistant in Psychology

Maria Teresa Escobal, Assistant in Spanish

Barbara Hockey, A.B., Assistant in Sociology

Charlotte Laube, A.B., Assistant in Botany

Lise Mezger, A.B., Assistant in Zoology

**Gertrude Neumark '48*, M.A., Assistant in Chemistry

Betty O'Neill, A.B., Assistant in Anthropology

Natalie Robinson, M.A., Assistant in Economics

Lois Jean Smith, A.B., Assistant in Zoology

Marjorie Vosgian, A.B., Assistant in Chemistry

**Joanna E. DeMuro '48* A.B., Lecturer in Spanish

Sidney A. Burrell, A.M., Lecturer in History
Linette Fisher, M.A., Lecturer in French
Georges Guy, Lecturer in French
Antoinette Noel Hoffherr, Lecturer in French
Alfred Intemann, M.A., Lecturer in German
John L. Thomas, M.A., Lecturer in English

The following new titles have been conferred:

Thomas P. Peardon, Ph.D., Professor of Government and Associate Dean of the Faculty
Lorna F. McGuire, Ph.D., Associate Professor of English and Associate Dean of Student Administration

John A. Kouwenhoven, Ph. D., Professor of English

Marion Lawrence, Ph.D., Professor of Fine Arts

Richard P. Youtz, Ph.D., Professor of Psychology

Rene Albrecht-Carrie, Ph.D., Associate Professor of History

**Virginia D. Harrington '24*, Ph.D., Associate Professor of History

Julius S. Held, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Fine Arts

Margaret Holland, A.M., Associate Professor of Physical Education

Ursula M. Niebuhr, M.A., (Oxon.), Associate Professor of Religion

**Gertrude Braun Rich '27*, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Philosophy

David A. Robertson Jr., Ph.D., Associate Professor of English

John A. Moore, Ph.D., Professor of Zoology

**Emma Dietz Stecher '25*, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Chemistry

**Helen Phelps Bailey '33*, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of French and Freshman Class Adviser

Jane Gaston-Mahler, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Fine Arts

Bernice Wenzel, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Psychology

**Fern Yates '25*, A.M., Assistant Professor of Physical Education

**Lucille Holljes Altschule '39*, A.M., Instructor in Chemistry

Adolphus J. Sweet, M.A., Instructor in English

Ursula S. Lamb, A.M., Associate in History

New members of the Barnard College staff are Miss Harriet Bensen, Director of the Residence Halls, Miss Joyce Seigan, Assistant to Director of the Residence Halls, and Mrs. Marian Reed, Assistant to the Director of the Residence Halls and House Supervisor.

New staff titles are: Miss Dorothy E. Fox, A.B., Associate Registrar and Adviser to Foreign Students; Mrs. Elinore F. Mullen, Assistant to Director of Student Affairs; and Mrs. Leslie M. Johns, Assistant to Director of Residence Halls.

* Barnard alumnae are starred.

THE THRIFT SHOP

Now that the contents of your closets are sorted, it's time to remember Everybody's Thrift Shop, at 922 Third Avenue, where old clothes, jewelry, furniture, housewares—whatever you can spare—will be warmly welcomed by members of Barnard's Thrift Shop Committee. Last year the Committee, headed by May Parker Eggleston '04, turned over the proceeds of Thrift Shop sales to the College for scholarships, and the total amount was $3,000.

Just wrap your bundle, address it to the Thrift Shop, and mark it "For Barnard." Or, if you live in Manhattan below 96th Street, a call to ELdorado 5-9263 will bring a porter to your door. Receipts will be mailed to donors upon request. Please notify the Committee by telephone if you have furniture.

FUND RAISING DISCUSSED IN NEW BOOK BY ALUMNA

Of particular interest to those who are involved in raising funds for any organization, from the American Red Cross to Barnard College, is a new book by Margaret M. Moses Fellows '17, and Stella Akulin Koenig, "How to Raise Funds by Mail."

The book has special value for those who are professionally employed in fund raising activities, but it should also have great appeal for the volunteer. Mrs. Fellows, who is director of fund raising and public relations for the Children's Aid Society, and Mrs. Koenig, director of fund raising, secretary and assistant treasurer of the Henry Street Settlement, have highlighted all the essentials of a good mail approach.

They have also laid down certain fund raising and public relations principles which are important regardless of the technique employed, principles which apply to fund raising on a small scale for your own League of Women Voters unit, or on a larger scale in, for example, a building fund program for your church or favorite charity. Professional directors of fund raising enumerate these principles from time to time, but reading them yourself and understanding the thinking that produces them will be well worthwhile.

Fund raisers themselves seem to be happy to have this new handbook. Mrs. Fellows, who is a member of Barnard's Alumnae Public Relations Advisory Committee, and Mrs. Koenig were feted recently at a luncheon meeting of the Financial Secretary's Group at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, at which two fund raisers and a publisher were the speakers. Although the theme of the meeting had been "The Authors Meet the Critics," all of the speakers joined in praise of the book, and pointed out the lack of literature on the subject. The McGraw Hill Book Company is the publisher. You may find it useful for your local library or for your personal bookshelf.

FUND CAMPAIGNS OPEN

(Continued from page 1)

dressed the meeting. The Northampton opening meeting was held on Tuesday, October 17, at the home of local chairman Doris Williams Cole '41; Mrs. Goshorn was the guest speaker.

The New York City committee of the

A BRAND NEW ARRIVAL is the Barnard College calendar, just in time to solve your Christmas gift problems, and a perfect way to wish yourself a happy New Year! Priced at $1, plus 10c for mailing charges, your calendar(s) will be sent to you immediately if you will write to the Alumnae Office, Barnard Hall, and make your wants known. Please enclose a check made out to Barnard College.

Fund held a special meeting on Tuesday, October 31, in Barnard Hall. The purpose of the meeting was threefold: to reorganize the final stages of the New York City campaign; to present plans and give workers a clear picture of procedures; and to give each worker a chance to exchange ideas with group leaders and other workers.

On Thursday evening November 2, the Nassau County opening meeting will be held in the Garden City Hotel, with chairman Marian Churchill White '29 presiding, and Dean McIntosh, Mrs. Altschul, and Mrs. Goshorn as guest speakers; on Tuesday, November 14, Miss Palmer will address Cleveland, Ohio, district workers at the home of local chairman Florence Haber Warschawsky '23 in Shaker Heights.

CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT

(Continued from page 1)

"high research interest which exists on the part of the faculty members of the Department of Chemistry." "We should like very much to compliment the department in this respect and to express the hope that this active research interest will continue and will be shared by all members of the department," the letter said. "This seems particularly important to us in that it stimulates each faculty member and thereby enables each to keep well informed of the various advances being made in chemistry and in turn to provide for the student a greater stimulation and knowledge of the progress in chemistry."

Pointing out the Society's commendation of the high number of Barnard's chemistry majors who go forward in their profession, Professor Stecher said that of the department's seventy-nine graduates of the past four years, thirty are in laboratory work, twenty-three in medical schools, eleven in graduate work, six in chemical writing and two in teaching.

JOIN THE DANCE?

A class in modern dance and rhythmic fundamentals is being given for alumnae every Tuesday evening from 7:45 to 9:15 P.M. in the Dance Studio in Barnard Hall with Martha Howe '49, as instructor. The fee is $10 for twelve sessions, and you may register and join in the dancing on Tuesday, November 14. Please bring with you a medical statement certifying your ability to participate in all activities. For further information, call Miss Smith, Barnard Physical Education Department, extension 713.

Anthropology—Studied, Taught, and Practiced

A Description of the Department at Barnard and an Outline of the Careers of Two Alumnae

A MAJOR'S VIEW:

A Barnard graduate of the class of 1939, Dorothy Bramson Hammond is an anthropology major who has combined marriage with a teaching career, and is now Assistant Professor of Anthropology at Hunter College in New York City.

"As for my relations with anthropology," she says, "the whole business began with a book, contrary to Mayor Walker's famous remark. When I was twelve someone gave me a book that entranced me; on the title page it stated that the author was a professor of anthropology. When I saw the Barnard catalogue, the anthropology listing almost jumped out at me, and I ended up as a major in the Department."

No "Consulting"

When the time came for the young Miss Bramson to choose a major, she had already made up her mind, and, instead of "consulting" the chairman of the Department (Professor Reichard), she simply walked into the office, stated her decision, and left!

"This," she explains, "saved me from the spiel that was considered necessary at that time to discourage majoring because it was so profitless. Despite the discouragement, there were four of us majors in my year, and that was considered a large number. Of the four, only one has completely dropped from my ken. Marcia Meeker (now Mrs. Arthur Friedman) went on to graduate work at Chicago, and Natalie Sampson and I went to Columbia. Marcia is working now, and Natalie married an archaeologist (Richard B. Woodbury) and works with him, last year in Guatemala."

When she entered the Columbia graduate school, she met with discouragement from all sides; it was, at that time, almost impossible to make a living in the field of anthropology. The graduate students were few in number, and, quoting Mrs. Hammond, "to come in at all they had to feel a real sense of dedication and a willingness to starve."

"I had the sense of dedication all right," she adds, "to say nothing of Papa if it came to starvation. It is quite different now that the graduate departments are all very large and there are all kinds of jobs for students when they are finished. But then, in that small and very chummy Department, we all felt that we were doing something very special and exciting. And it was fun."

From the second year of her graduate study until she was through, she was the assistant in the Anthropology Department at Barnard, and she says that she has never ceased being grateful for that job. "The experience was invaluable. It is very difficult to learn to be a college teacher and I am doubtful that it is the kind of thing that can be taught in a course. Nevertheless, to start right in teaching a college course with no experience behind you must be completely demoralizing. The assistantship at Barnard was an apprenticeship which is the ideal way, I think, to learn how to teach. It was experience in teaching, but with supervision and guidance, and without the full responsibility which can be somewhat paralyzing. In any case, after that experience, I have not found teaching difficult; instead I have almost always found it rewarding and stimulating."

While she was still in graduate school, Miss Bramson married Alexander Hammond—between semesters, so that they could take time for a honeymoon; she still had to take some Barnard examination papers along to grade however. "As you can see," she adds "I have a husband who has always been most sympathetic to my work. Otherwise this marriage and career business would be out of the question. Babies, however, are much more conservative. In fact mine seem downright reactionary!"

DOROTHY BRAMSON HAMMOND '39

Sense of Dedication

Now she is teaching in the evening session at Brooklyn College, and this arrangement, she says, is working out very well. "That is the story as of today. It has been, by and large, a very happy relationship between me and anthropology. I hope to teach anthropology as long as I work, because I think teaching is what I do best. Even though I am not so sure as I once was that in anthropology lies the salvation of the world, I do still feel that it is worth learning and worth teaching to others. And I do realize now, that, despite the inevitable loss of what is known as youthful illusions, some of the sense of dedication does remain."

BARNARD'S DEPARTMENT:

Barnard was famous for its courses in anthropology long before the Anthropology Department offered a major for the first time in 1924, according to Professor Gladys Reichard, present-day head of the Department and Barnard's sole instructor in the field.

Under the direction of Clark Wissler, later director of anthropology at the American Museum, Livingston Farrand, who subsequently became president of Cornell University, and Franz Boas, Barnard students had been given an opportunity to study anthropology long before the study became generally popular. At the turn of the century, very few people had even heard the word anthropology.

When Miss Reichard first began to teach at Barnard twenty-three years later, only seven or eight colleges and universities had an anthropology department and very few gave incidental courses; in 1949 the Anthropological Association published a list of seventy-nine colleges and universities in the United States and Canada which give graduate degrees in anthropology.

This year approximately ninety-three students have registered for courses in the field. Of this number, only eighteen ave studied anthropology before. The number of majors (this year there are four) is not a reliable yardstick of the Department's activities, since, as Miss Reichard explains, the purpose of the Department is not primarily to turn out anthropology majors, but to supplement and expand the knowledge of students specializing in other fields.

One of the Department's greatest steps forward in recent years is the acquiring of a much-needed "place to work." Another innovation, which took the form of an experiment, was the establishing of a major in linguistics. This major, instigated at the request of the students, finally had to be discontinued because it was too popular! Miss Reichard found the demands of two departments too overwhelming for one person. A course in introductory linguistics has been retained in the Anthropology Department, however, and is, as far as Miss Reichard knows, the only one of its kind.

Courses offered in the Department, other than introductory anthropology and introductory cultural anthropology, also include "Social Life of Primitive Peoples," "Religion in Primitive Society," "Problems of Race," "The Art of Primitive Man," "The Study of Folklore," and a seminar for the discussion of anthropological problems by students who have done previous work in the field.

Miss Reichard

Miss Reichard herself is very much interested in the unwritten languages and in methods of language teaching. An authority, also, on the language and customs of the Navajo Indian, Miss Reichard is now working on a project to bring higher education to the Navajos; a scholarship fund is now being formed for that purpose. She is the author of thirteen books and numerous articles on a variety of anthropological subjects. Miss Reichard has also served since 1947 as convenor of the Award Committee of the International Federation of University Women. In addition, she says, she is involved in a large number of miscellaneous activities. An example of this is the time she undertook, at a friend's request, the ordering of lumber and other equipment for a Grand Central Palace exhibit on "Arizona, Unlimited." Her main interest and chief concern, however, is always the Anthropology Department at Barnard.

"All courses in the Department," Miss Reichard states, "lay greater stress upon thought than upon memory. However, it is always borne in mind that without facts, accurately selected and applied, logical and convincing thought is impossible. Facts are therefore presented as a means to an end, not as an end in themselves. Emphasis is laid on the ability to find facts rather than on tabulation and memorizing.

"The Department tries at all times to point up the subject of anthropology as a whole, and particularly to show the inter-relationship between all of man's interests. This of course extends into contemporary society. Without the related methods and conclusions of biology, geology, archaeology, literature, linguistics and the social sciences, anthropology has no raison d'être."

CAREER IN THE FIELD:

From the headquarters of the United Nations World Health Organization in Geneva comes the following information about Cora Du Bois '27, anthropologist, writer, teacher, and world traveler. Miss Du Bois, who is attending the World Health Organization's meeting as a social science consultant, majored in history at Barnard, but her subsequent achievements in the field of anthropology make her story a logical selection for this issue.

After leaving Barnard, where she attended the anthropology classes of Franz Boas, Miss Du Bois took her M.A. in history at Columbia, specializing in medieval thought and culture. Because anthropology had by then emerged as her major interest, Miss Du Bois took her Ph.D. in cultural anthropology at the University of California in 1932. For the next five years she taught in the Anthropology Department there, doing intermittent field work among the west coast Indian tribes. Then, for a year, she worked in New York City and Boston as a National Research Council Fellow, investigating the type of psychiatric training suitable for professional anthropologists. In 1936 she taught at Hunter College; this was followed by two years of field work in Indonesia on problems in personality and culture as a Columbia University Social Science Research Council fellow.

From 1939 to 1942 she taught at Sarah Lawrence College, relinquishing her post there to become chief of the Indonesia Section of the Office of Strategic Services' Research and Analysis Branch; she was also acting chief of the Political Subdivision there. In 1944 she became chief of the Research and Analysis Branch of the Office of Strategic Services in the Southeast Asia Command in Ceylon. For the next four years she served with the State Department's Office of Intelligence Research in the Division of Research for the Far East; there she was chief of the Southern Areas Branch, planning and executing research on political, economic and social problems and supervising the professional staff in those fields.

Cora Du Bois '27

Other Activities

While at the State Department she also found time for a variety of other activities. She lectured on anthropology at Smith College, the Georgetown Medical School, the University of California, and the Foreign Services Institute. She was, for the academic year 1948-49, a member of the faculty of the Washington School of Psychiatry, where she lectured on cultural anthropology. She has been a member of the Social Science Research Council's World Fellowship Committee, and the committees on Asian Anthropology and Oceanic (CIMA project) of the National Research Council; this year she is vice president of the American Anthropological Association.

She is the author of twenty-one books and articles on anthropological subjects,

(Continued on page 6)

INTRODUCING . . . Mis Blenda Larson, newly-appointed assistant to Florence Mackie Goshorn '39, Field Director for the Fund. Miss Larson, left, was formerly employed by the American Red Cross. Here she is conferring with Mrs. Goshorn.

ALUMNAE HEADLINES

The newly-elected president of the Medical Women's International Association is Dr. Ada Chree Reid '17. The election was held on September 11 at the Association's Sixth Congress. Dr. Reid is also editor of the Journal of the American Medical Women's Association, and is attending cardiologist at New York Infirmary.

* * *

Adele Franklin '18, director in charge of the All-Day Neighborhood Schools in New York City, is co-author with Agnes Benedict of a book called "The Happy Home."

* * *

The 1950-51 edition of Who's Who in America includes the biographies of fifty-one Barnard alumnae. Of these, twenty-one are writers and editors, and twelve are educators. Other fields in which these alumnae are active include newspaper work, politics, criminology, government work, labor relations, economics, art, social work, law (domestic relations), and archeology.

* * *

Members of the National Council of the "Crusade For Freedom," which began on Labor Day, include Virginia C.

Gildersleeve '99, Dean Emeritus of Barnard, and President Dwight D. Eisenhower of Columbia University. Chairman of the Crusade is General Lucius D. Clay. Mr. Frank Altschul, husband of Helen Goodhart Altschul '07, is the head of "Radio Free Europe," a committee which is planning a series of European radio programs; the Crusade is also working to make this possible.

The chief goal of the Crusade, however, is to give everyone in America the opportunity to sign a declaration of belief in world freedom and peace on Freedom Scrolls circulated throughout the country.

* * *

Luella L. Bovard '05, retiring after thirty-nine years as office manager of Delta Upsilon fraternity on October 7, was feted by the trustees, officers, and directors of the fraternity. She was also "adopted" by the fraternity brothers, who said she "knows more about Delta U. than any of us."

* * *

Amy Loveman '01, associate editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, received an honorary degree from Wheaton College during Wheaton's graduation ceremonies last June. Miss Loveman received the degree of Doctor of Letters.

HONORS COME

(Continued from page 1)

the University of Aix, France; Carolyn Ogden '50 will study government at the University of Liverpool; Phyllis Reiss Mellon '50 will study French historiography at the University of Lyons, France; and Elisabeth Stadulis '48 will study at the London School of Economics.

Professor W. Cabell Greet, executive officer of Barnard's English Department, who is on sabbatical leave this year, will be a visiting professor in France; and Professor Aubrey Gorbman, of the Zoology Department, will divide his time between the College de France and the National Museum of Natural History in Paris. Professor Gorbman will leave for Europe in February.

Another kind of honor has come to Professor Ingrith J. Deyrup '40, of the Zoology Department, who has been named the recipient of a research grant of $610 from the Public Health Service. The award was approved by the Surgeon General on recommendation of the National Advisory Health Council, and may be renewed at the end of the year which begins this November.

Also—Mary Mandeville Ferris '49 and Alice Kaman '48 have been granted fellowships for the academic year 1950-51 by the French government.

ANTHROPOLOGY

(Continued from page 5)

in addition to many reviews printed in professional publications.

Next year Miss Du Bois' career will reach still another height when she becomes head of the Department of Anthropology at the University of California.

FOR DECEMBER 25

Don't wait till manana to order your Barnard Christmas cards! Appropriately inscribed on the inside, and topped with a sketch of the Helen Hartley Jenkins Geer Memorial Gate, the folding cards are priced at eight for $1, plus $.10 for mailing. Send your order, with a check made out to Barnard College, to the Barnard Alumnae Office, Barnard Hall.

NEW PLACEMENT BUREAU

Barnard is one of nineteen eastern colleges which, together with some representatives of business and industry, are sponsoring a new, non-profit placement bureau in New York City called "The Woman's Placement Bureau, Inc." The Bureau will serve primarily as the Manhattan office for its member colleges and will endeavor to get new graduates jobs in the fields for which they are trained. It will also, however, be open to any woman college graduate who wishes to find a new job or change her field, as well as to any experienced professional woman.

The head of the Bureau is Miss Alice V. King, who was formerly with the Placement Office at Bryn Mawr. Miss King has also served as assistant head of the Brearley School and as Women's supervisor at Pratt and Whitney Aircraft. The address of the new office is 41 Madison Avenue.

YOU ARE INVITED!

When you're planning a meeting, a weekend of winter sports, a wiener roast, or a hike—or when you're simply yearning to exchange the city's bustle for some country peace and quiet—don't forget about the Barnard College Camp near Ossining, New York. Alumnae and their non-Barnard guests are welcome there every weekend during the College year, including those weekends "reserved" for undergraduates, when camp facilities permit.

The camp's facilities for cooking have been modernized and many changes have recently been made in the building itself. Further modernization has been planned, but action awaits evidence that the College community—the alumnae, students, and faculty—are sufficiently interested in using the Camp to make these expenditures worthwhile.

The following weekends in this semester have been reserved for alumnae: Thanksgiving weekend, Christmas weekend, and the weekends beginning January 19 and January 26. Reservations for these weekends and complete details about the Camp can be obtained by calling Cozette Utech '39 at Mo. 2-1163.

If you would like to visit the Camp on a weekend other than those listed above, please call the Barnard Physical Education Department, University 4-3200, extension 713.

CLUB NOTES

• BROOKLYN

Barnard-in-Brooklyn held its first meeting of the season at the Neighborhood Club on October 3. Professor Lucyle Hook of the Barnard English Dept. spoke on the New York theatre.

A benefit dessert bridge party for the Barnard-in-Brooklyn Scholarship Fund was held on October 28 at the Brooklyn Woman's Club. Dorothy Houts '49 and Joan Norton '48 were the co-chairmen.

• LOS ANGELES

The Barnard Club of Los Angeles County met at the home of the president, Ruth Triggs Ingham '37, on October 7. Dr. Theodore Chen, head of the Asiatic Studies Department at the University of Southern Calif., spoke on "China Today." He is the father of Helen Chen who was recently awarded the Seven Colleges Scholarship to Barnard.

Mrs. Ingham announced that a dinner would be held for Columbia alumni at the Beverly Hills Hotel sometime in November.

Ruth Weill '24, was unanimously elected treasurer of the club.

Those members present at the meeting were: Edith London Boehm '13, Helen Beery Borders '31, Jessie Brown '02, Carol Grimshaw Dupy '18, Eva Glassbrook Hanson '22, Helen Goldstone Kitzinger '23, Flora Landen '28, Nancy Chollat-Namy Lenney '44, Sylvia Kamion Maibaum '31, Susan Swartz Martin '46, Olive Moore '19, Elinor Taylor Oaks '19, Margaret Kutner Ritter '12, Winifred Roe '22, Ruth Weill '24, Hazel Woodhull Cline '10.

• PITTSBURGH

Joanne Fisher, a Barnard junior, was the special guest of the Pittsburgh club's opening luncheon on September 23 at the College Club.

On October 19 the club had a table at the luncheon meeting of the Columbia Alumni Association at which President Eisenhower was the guest speaker. The next meeting, a luncheon, is scheduled on Saturday, November 11.

Those attending the Sept. 23 meeting were: Hazel Burkholder '12, Margaret Hatfield Breckenridge '26, Rosemary Casey '26, Natalie Nicholaus Courter '42, Elizabeth Jordan Cox '38, Gertrude Cahill Hollinshead '23, Margaret Southerton Hough '12, Althea Goeltz Jones '28, Maxine Rothschild Male '31, Frances Rogers Morton '39, Judith Wasser Politzer '46, Ruth Abelson Seder '31 and Hattie Sondheim '14.

• SAN FRANCISCO

The American Association of University Women held a luncheon at the men's University Club on September 30 to which representatives of Barnard-in-San Francisco and other college groups were invited. Edyth Fredericks '06, Marcelle Meyer Bier '27, Florence

Smith Arnold '37, Edna Siems Thorpe '19, Mathilde Drachman Smith '21, Betty Shoor Klein '30 and Susan Minor Chambers '11 attended for Barnard.

• WESTCHESTER

"The Croft," Ossining home of Henrietta Swope '25, was the setting for the first fall meeting of the Barnard-in-Westchester Club held Saturday afternoon, September 30. About sixty members heard a talk on "The Trouble with Modern Writing" by Professor John A. Kouwenhoven of the Barnard English Department.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Elizabeth Gaw Comeau '30, who introduced the new Executive Board. Edith Jeffrey Warren '43, membership chairman, welcomed new members. Tea was served by a committee headed by Patricia Curtin Beaudouin '42. The program for the afternoon was under the direction of Claire Murray '38.

On October 20 the club held its annual Sub-Freshman Day to which Westchester high school girls interested in Barnard were invited to attend. They toured the campus, saw movies on Barnard, and went to a tea where they were able to talk informally with the Admissions Office staff.

For the benefit of the club's Scholarship Fund, a bridge and fashion show will be held on Saturday, November 4, at the Greenville Community Church in Scarsdale.

CLASS NOTES

• JOBS

'35 Thomasine Campbell Brooks, associate editor, Junior League magazine, N.Y.C. . . . Ruth Bedford McDaniel, Finch Junior College admissions committee secretary. . . . Georgiana Remer, with U.S. Embassy, Tehran.

'38 Ruth Frankfurter Lehr, teacher, Mineola, N.Y., Cooperative Nursery School.

'42 Dr. Barbara Fish has opened her office for the practice of psychiatry at 799 Park Ave., N.Y.C.

'44 Chiyo-ko Oguri Miyabara, chemistry lab assistant, Dr. Oscar Bodansky, Memorial Hospital, N.Y.C. . . . Alice Smith, mineralogical lab, Atomic Energy Commission, N.Y.C.

'46 Mary P. Vipond, chemical librarian, Texas Co., N.Y.C.

'47 Shirley Kamell, research assistant, zoology dept., Columbia. . . . Marguerite Gallman, assistant, manager of group administration, Home Life Insurance Co.

'48 Elizabeth Eastman McGiffert, case-worker, Family Service of New Haven. . . . Alibeth Howell, librarian, U. S. Army, Nurnberg, Germany. . . . Anne Layton, secretary, Brazilian Embassy, Washington, D. C. . . . Roberta Tunick, physical education teacher, Dalton School, N. Y. C. She received M.S. and teaching certificate, Wellesley College, June.

'49 Olive Tamborelle, co-ordinator of work with young people, Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore. Just received M.A., library service, Columbia. . . . Joanne Young, teacher, Museum of Natural History, N. Y. C. . . . Genevieve Wightman, library assistant, N. Y. Public Library.

'50 Secretaries: June Feuer, International Labour Office, Lake Success. . . . Gail Gould, Barnard School for Girls, N. Y. C. . . . Betty Krueger, C.B.S.-TV, N. Y. C. . . . Cora Lambie, to director of admissions, Brearley School, N. Y. C. . . . Elaine Wiener, Henry Holt & Co., N. Y. C.

Elizabeth Aschner Laster, Spanish translator for a journalist starting a magazine, N. Y. C. . . . Eva Bain, American Broadcasting Co., music dept., N. Y. C. . . . Trudy Busch, Knoll Associates, N. Y. C. . . . Rosemary Beeching, statistician, American Tel. & Tel., N. Y. C. . . . Susan Bullard, service representative, N. Y. Telephone Co., N. Y. C. . . . Hadassah Dunitz Stein, office assistant, Common Council for American Unity, N. Y. C. . . . Adele Estrin, assistant, Spanish Dept., Barnard. . . . Joan Fitzmaurice, with Curtis Brown Publishing Co., N. Y. C. . . . Marian Freda, assistant copy editor, Harper's Publishing Co., N. Y. C. . . . Rita Graham, personnel dept., B. Altman & Co., N. Y. C. . . . Myra Koh, assistant editor, children's books, American Book., N. Y. C. . . . Doris Halvorson Kroner, correspondent, American Tel. & Tel. Co., N. Y. C. . . . Beatrice Laskowitz, assistant, curator of Altman Collection, Metropolitan Museum of Art, N. Y. C. . . . Irma Meincke and Belle Notkin, correspondents, Book-of-the-Month Club, N. Y. C. . . . Marie Noyes, research clerk, F.B.I., Washington, D. C. . . . Norine McDonough, editorial assistant, Merrill, Anderson Co., advertising, N. Y. C. . . . Margaret Rittershaus, Duane Jones, Inc., advertising, N. Y. C. . . . Claire Raick, research trainee, Time, Inc., N. Y. C. . . . Iris Roven, promotion and public relations dept., Charm magazine, N. Y. C. . . . Marilyn Dodds Russell, pharmaceutical research, Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick, N. J. . . . Jean Scheller, civilian recreation worker, Pacific area, U. S. Army.

• DEATHS

'16 Beatrice Rittenberg Gross, Sept. 25.

'30 Virginia Downs Smythe, Sept. 30. . . . Margaret Graff, secretary-treasurer of the Barnard Albany Club since its origin, July 16.

• BIRTHS

'34 Mary Dunican Pabst, first child, William George, April 20.

'36 Sonya Turitz Schopick, third child and second son, Philip Jonathan, Sept. 27.

'40 Margaret Pardee Bates, third son, Anthony Stewart, June 21. . . . Faye Henle Vogel, first child, Frederick Raphael, June 10.

'41 Louise Giventer Cohen, Madeline Rose, Aug. 21. . . . Nancy Wagner Landolt, second son and third child, Peter Kenny, Sept. 23. . . . Marjorie Ullman Hawksworth, William Douglas, Aug. 29.

'42 Dorothy Eckley Straub, fourth child and first son, Eugene Bernard, June 19.

'43 Roma Northcutt Finch, third daughter, Barbra Dale, July 22. Her husband, a specialist in obstetrics and gynecology, just opened an office in Sarasota, Fla.

'44 Marilyn Collyer Holohan, fourth child and third daughter, Nancy Joan, Sept. 17.

'45 Ellen Hirschland Triest, Frances Sue, Sept. 30.

'46 Audrey Middlebrook DeVoto, second son, Thomas Cicardi, Sept. 12.

'47 Barbara Fraser Lawlor, second daughter, Patricia Ann, June 19. . . . Marguerite Traeris Harris, Keith Edward, June 30.

'48 Nathalie Lookstein Schacter, first child, Stephen, Sept. 14.

• ALSO—

'06 Jessie Condit, executive secretary of the Children's Aid Society of Newark for the past thirty five years, retired on Sept. 29.

'18 Helen Stevens, service director, Iran Foundation, is now in Teheran studying that country's medical program in order to further cooperation between Iran and the foundation. She carried with her plans for the erection of Nemazee Hospital, the first unit of the medical center in Shiraz being built by the foundation.

'39 The Democratic candidate for State Assembly from Westchester County, 4th A.D., is Flora Ginsburg Chudson. She reports that her husband is with U.N. and that she is the mother of Paul and Lucy.

• MARRIAGES

'18 Katharine Pott Tappen-Daniel Mungall.

'37 Elizabeth Puckett-Alba B. Martin, Harvard University alumna, with National Labor Relations Board, Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.

'40 Dorothy Needham-John S. Weber.

'43 Suzanne Keljik-John Hasslacher, June 3.

'45 Eileen Hellawell-Louis A. Collins. . . . Joanne Kuth Frank-Chat Paterson, Democratic candidate for the twenty-second District Congressional post, Sept. 9. She is also an alumna of Western Reserve University Law School.

'46 Marie-Anne Phelps-Paul Seabury, Columbia College Government Dept. teacher, June 3. . . . Frances Holmgren-Edward N. Costikyan, Columbia Law School alumna, now law secretary to Judge Medina, U. S. District Court, Sept. 23. . . . Mary Graham-Dr. Burton H. Fern, Harvard and N. Y. U. College of Medicine graduate, resident physician, pediatrics dept., Lincoln Hospital, N. Y. C., Sept. 16. She is an editoria assistant, American City magazine. . . . Susan Swartz-Hugh J. Martin Jr., Calif. Institute of Technology alumnus, Sept. 13.

'47 Mary Seymour-Sidney H. Paige, Amherst and Harvard Law School graduate, with Kopper's Coke Pittsburgh office Sept. 9. . . . Dorothy Scheer-Lee H. Hill, Jr. Cornell electrical engineering graduate, with General Electric, Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 9. She is an engineering assistant, General Electric.

'48 Elsie Koerner-John Youtcheff.

'49 Patricia Curran-William P. Dowd, Columbia University graduate, now a building contractor, Sept. 16. She is a statistical assistant, Standard Oil Co. of N. J. . . . Keinath Davey-Roy L. Dupuy. . . . Clara Farkas-Donald Johnson, Aug. 27. . . . Ann Bushnell-Charles W. Bailey. . . . Nicole Weil-Raymond Bigar.

'50 Marcella Lawlor-Richard B. Towle, Chief Warrant Officer, U. S. Army, stationed in Germany, Sept. 9. . . . Phyllis Maxfield-John Feit. She is a service representative, N. Y. Telephone Co., N. Y. C. . . . Josephine Nicastrro-Robert W. Ronnow, Columbia alumnus, Sept. 9. . . . Sally Salinger-Hubert Lindsay, Sept. 9. . . . Marilyn Winter-John H. Bottjer, Columbia and Haverford College graduate, with Irving Trust Co., N. Y. C., Sept. 3.

• GRADUATE STUDY

'41 Evelyn Harrison, Ph. D. Greek archeology student, recently returned to Richmond, Va., after 22 months' study, American School of Classical Studies, Athens, Greece.

'43 Sybil Nurco Pinco, M.A., N. Y. U.

'44 Gladys Neuwirth Feldman, M.L.S., Carnegie Library School.

'45 Margaret Bunce, M.A., T.C.

'46 J. Patricia Smith, student, New School for Social Research, N. Y. C. and secretary to vice president there.

'48 Rosalie Joseph, U. S. Public Health fellowship. . . . Helen Archibald, Union Theological student, in charge of religious education, Church of St. Matthew and St. Timothy, N. Y. C. . . . Constance Hinman, third year University of Penn law student.

'49 Ruth Clark, University of Wisc. math dept. assistant and M.A. student. Anne Fessenden, M.A. student, Middlebury College. . . . Lucille Frackman, granted University of Aix-Marseille diploma after study on Fulbright scholarship. . . . Mary Ferris, French government fellowship. . . . Irene Theophanis Hanson, M.A. student, Columbia.

'50 Pauline Gostinsky, N. Y. U. College of Medicine, Bellevue Medical Center student—not Long Island College as stated in previous issue. . . . Nancy Karl, Columbia School of Library Science student.