Professor Mary V. Wetherell and See Larson, Bernard Phlebology Department, have organized the Burn Injury Services section of the Committee on Responsibility. The organization intends to bring badly burned or mutilated Vietnamese children in the United States for treatment.

The U.S. Government has agreed to the Committee's plan stating that the children would suffer "functional damage" if separated from their families and familiar surroundings. A member of the United States government has indicated willingness to provide facilities for the treatment.

The estimated cost of treatment for each child is between $15,000 and $20,000. These are a month on June determining information. Contributions can be made to the Children's Aid Society of the United States.

Next fall Bernard College will be given the opportunity to prove that its educational programs are effective. Bernard's experimental School of Education will be one of the following schools, depending on the outcome of the recent negotiations with Notre Dame, Seattle, Washington, and the University of Illinois.

A school can accept a maximum of five students on the show. For each student, the program will receive a $1,500 scholarship grant from General Electric. For the School, the program is written passing program.

According to Miss Wallace of the American Field, the party will be "straight fun," with no speeches or formalities. She reported that the program is considered to be a credit to the show's name and one of the Committee's national sponsors stated that the Committee's position on the issue is to help establish a program that is not to be damaged to remove the damage.

In addition to Dr. Sabo, the local sponsor of the organization founded by a group of business partners, also includes Dr. Benjamin Spock, pediatrician, and the Rev. John C. Benner, president of Union Theological Seminary in New York. The Rev. Dr. Sabo reported that it was impossible to "get a group of people to go over there" but that several experienced plastic surgeons had told him that they would be glad to treat the children if they were brought to the United States. Aside from the shortage of physicians in Vietnam, the lack of modern medicine and medication was a problem. The students agreed that a party would be more enjoyable now that the program will be "straight fun." No speeches or formalities.
